Reading

3 Read the text and complete the sentences.

Grow your own teeth

A team of scientists has made an exciting breakthrough in dentistry. They say they have created a device that can make human teeth grow back. The device, which they have tested on rabbits, monkeys and humans, fits into a patient's mouth and gently massages the gums, where the teeth are attached. This movement stimulates growth by encouraging protein and blood production. However, it can't create enamel, which is the hard, white covering of the teeth. Patients can control the device, which is smaller than a pea, with a tiny camera. It could be commercially available in less than two years.
