Sudbury Valley School in Massachusetts, USA, is an interesting school. Every day, students there do their favourite activities. If students hate maths, they don't study it. They go to a different class!

When they aren't in class, students can check emails in the ICT room, or they can play an instrument or go to drama practice. They can also walk or play sports in the school garden. There is always something to do!

There are some rules. Students can't do anything dangerous in school, and they can't stay at home every day! But many students are very happy. Sudbury is a popular school!

Elephants eat a lot of fruit and plants – they eat between 100 and 300 kilograms every day. They also love water. When they're drinking at a river, they often swim and play in it, too! Elephants live for about 50 or 60 years in the wild, and about 80 years in safari parks. They're very intelligent, and they can memorize lots of information. Elephants sometimes attack smaller animals or humans, but they aren't usually dangerous. Humans are a lot more dangerous! People hunt and kill between 10,000 and 20,000 elephants every year.

Many people think elephants are important, fascinating animals and they want to help them. At the moment, safari parks and zoos are protecting some elephants from hunters. There are 90 elephants in British zoos!

Game shows are very popular television programmes. One famous British show is Who wants to be a Millionaire? On the show, people answer questions. The questions are easy at first, but they become more difficult. Between 1998 and 2008, fifteen players won the top prize of £1,000,000! People also played this show in many different countries, such as the USA, South Africa and Japan.

The first ever TV game show was in 1938. It was a British show called Spelling Bee. The presenter was a man called Freddie Grisewood. He had short, dark hair and glasses. Freddie asked people on the show to spell words. The show wasn't very exciting because the game was really easy!

In many modern game shows, like The X Factor, people try to win prizes and become famous by singing. The musician Noemi didn't win first prize on the Italian version of the show. GOING WILD!

Bear Grylls is a British TV presenter and an explorer. His real name is 'Edward'. When he was a child, people named him 'Bear' because he was quite big – and he wasn't very quiet! Luckily, he was also much friendlier than a bear! At school, Bear was good at languages, especially French, and he loved PE. But his main interest was geography.

Bear climbed Mount Everest in 1998, when he was twenty-three, and in 2003 he explored the icy Arctic. In 2007, Bear made a TV programme. On the programme, Bear travelled to hot, dangerous deserts and forests with only a camera. He didn't take any food, drink or tents! On the programme, Bear ate snakes, alligators, flies and frogs. He hated eating the insects! On future programmes, he's going to take his own food – and a stove!
