A DREAM JOB?

A lot of young people have a job because they need money. But Laura Johnson does her weekend job because she loves it. Laura works as a helper at a zoo twenty minutes away from her town.

The zoo where Laura works is large and modern and there are lots of open spaces where the animals can run. 'Every day we prepare the animals' food and clean the animals' sleeping areas. I don't enjoy that so much – it's quite dirty!'

Laura loves working with the animals. 'The elephants are the biggest animals here, and they're wonderful. They're really intelligent and it's true that they have excellent memories – they never forget anything! I love the monkeys too, but you must remember that they are wild animals. People think they're friendly, but in fact they're quite aggressive, and they've bitten some of my friends.'

Laura loves spending time with the animals. 'When you know the animals well, they're the same as people,' she says. 'We've got two bears here and they're completely different. One is moody and the other is easy-going and patient.'
