WORKING WITH ANIMALS

A lot of young people have a job because they need money. But Laura Johnson does her weekend job because she loves it. Laura works as a helper at the zoo in her town.

'Every day we prepare the animals' food and clean the animals' sleeping areas. I don't enjoy that so much – it's very dirty!' But Laura loves working with the animals. 'The elephants are my favourites. They're very intelligent! I quite like the monkeys too, but you must remember that they're wild animals, so be careful. People think they're very friendly, but in fact they're quite aggressive, and they've bitten some of my friends.'

Laura loves spending time with the animals. 'When you know the animals well, they're the same as people,' she says. 'We've got two bears here, and they're completely different. One is clever but a bit moody, and the other is friendly and very patient.'
