 My favourite hotel is in London. It's called Hotel Camilla and it's on Bassington Street, near the centre of town. It's a small hotel – about ten rooms – but it isn't very expensive and it's very good. Three museums

The National Railway Museum in York, UK, is open from ten o'clock to six o'clock every day. It's five minutes walk from York station. There are over 100 trains in the museum and there's a lot of art. The museum is very good for children and there's a restaurant, a gift shop and a café. The museum is free, but the car park is £9 per day.

The Money Museum in Colorado Springs, USA, is open from half past ten to five o'clock. The museum is next to the Colorado Springs Fine Arts Centre. There are coins and paper money from all over the world. There is also an American dollar from 1804. The museum isn't very big, but there is a gift shop. It is $5 for adults.

The Museum of Bad Art (MOBA) in Dedham, near Boston, USA, is about twenty years old. It is in the basement of a theatre, next to the toilet. The museum is open from two o'clock to nine o'clock. There are over 400 pieces of bad art in the museum. Some of the art is really bad. There aren't any staff in the museum (it's very small) and there isn't a café, but there's a café upstairs in the theatre and the museum is free.
