WARMER

Write these places to shop on the board: market, department store, shopping mall, small local shop, supermarket, online shopping. Put students into pairs to discuss where they prefer to shop and when they last went to these places. Exchange information as a class.

ABOUT YOU

Ask students to write key words in answer to the questions. Put them into pairs to exchange information and monitor and encourage them to extend their answers with reasons and examples. Nominate individuals to tell the class about their partner and ask if others do or think the same.

VOCABULARY Shopping

- 1 Ask students to look at the photos. Set a short time limit for them to write a list of items they can buy at each place before putting them into pairs. Check answers and give pronunciation practice where necessary, e.g. clothes /kləʊðz/, shoes /ʃu:z/, vegetables /ˈvedʒ.tə.blz/ and fruit /fru:t/.

Possible answers

- A plants, shoes, fruit and vegetables, jewellery, wool
- B clothes, shoes, kitchen goods, books, jewellery, stationery
- C fruit, vegetables, meat, cheeses, sweets, pastries, bread
- D clothes, books, DVDs, music, computers, video games
- E designer clothes, DVDs, books, furniture

- 2 Read the instructions aloud. Tell students that the following are the first part of some words they will hear in the recording and see if they can predict the word: fav(ourite), mon(ey), clo(thes), dep(artment), we(ather). Write students' predictions on the board but do not feedback at this stage. Play the audio, pausing after each speaker to give students time to reflect on what they heard and understood. Invite two or three students to give answers and ask if the class agrees before feeding back. Students could check their predictions with the audioscript on page 00.

Answers

A Daisy B Rose C Iris D Sean E Alec

- 3  Check students understand the vocabulary in the box and ask which can be both a noun and a verb, i.e. charge, discount, exchange, purchase, refund, shop. Model the pronunciation of the following words so students will find it easier to recognise them when they hear them: charge, charges, discount, promotions, purchases, receipt and refunds. Put students into mixed ability pairs and do the first item as a class (see Answers). Monitor as pairs continue and encourage stronger students to explain why they think a word or phrase is correct. Play the audio for students to check their answers, pausing after each one. Nominate pairs to give answers and see if the class agrees before confirming or correcting.

Answers

- 1 shop, spend, charge
- 2 online shopping, charges, send (it) back
- 3 discount, refunds
- 4 purchases, promotions, serve, service
- 5 exchange, receipt

- 4 Put students into pairs or groups to discuss the questions. Monitor and help them communicate their ideas. Encourage students to give full answers and to reuse the words from the unit so far. Invite two or three students to tell the class about their shopping experiences. Alternatively, you could do the exercise in open pairs. Nominate a student to choose a question and to name another student to answer it. The second student asks a question and nominates another. Continue until several students have had a turn. Give extra pronunciation practice as necessary.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

The number of people who shop online is increasing. The top three countries which spend the most money shopping online are the United States, the United Kingdom and Sweden. In Britain, people usually go to the shops to have a look at things they want to buy, and then compare prices online. Clothes shoppers often return to a shop to buy, whereas those who are buying cell phones, tablets and computers will buy from online sites. Internet shopping is thought to have begun in 1994 and both Amazon and eBay started their online shopping service one year later, in 1995. Currently, Amazon is growing in popularity with boys, but falling for girls. Meanwhile, eBay is falling in popularity for both boys and girls.

- 1 Read the question and the first line of the article and elicit some suggestions from the class. Write key words on the board. Set a short time limit of about three minutes for students to read the article quickly to check their ideas. Tell them to ignore the gaps and to guess the meaning of new vocabulary at this stage.

PREPARE FOR THE EXAM

B1 PRELIMINARY FOR SCHOOLS

Reading Part 4

In this part, students read a text from which five sentences have been removed. They have to choose the sentence which fills each gap from eight sentences. The five sentences are not given in the same order as they appear in the text. Part 4 tests reading for gist and understanding of text structure.

Tips Ask students to read the text first to understand the general idea. Read all eight sentences carefully before starting the activity. Advise them to read the information before and after each gap before deciding which option is the best fit and tell them to read the whole text again to check it makes sense.

- 2 Tell students to read the instructions for this part of the Reading exam carefully and ask true/false questions to check they have understood (for example: There are five sentence spaces in the text – true; There are the same number of sentences as spaces – false). Ask students to read sentences A–H carefully and do the first item together as a class. Elicit or point out the connections between words in sentence B and the ideas either side of the gap. For example, 'there' refers to 'coffee shop' in the sentence before the gap, and 'do some online shopping' is typically connected to 'finding the latest fashions on Pinterest or Instagram.' after the gap. Put students into pairs to continue, and monitor and encourage them to analyse the information in the text and match it up with information in the sentences. Invite volunteers to give answers and see if the class agrees before confirming. Encourage students to explain their choices.

Answers

1 B 2 D 3 C 4 H 5 F

PREPARE FOR THE EXAM TEACHING NOTES AND ANSWER KEY TB PAGE 252

- 3 Ask students to read the meanings 1–6 and check vocabulary if necessary. Point out that two of the highlighted phrases are found in the sentences that have been removed from the article. Do the first item as a class, asking for a volunteer to suggest an answer. Re-read the section of the text before and after the gap, and substitute the highlighted word or phrase for a meaning from 1–6. Students should check that it makes sense generally, and not look for a perfect grammatical fit with the surrounding sentence. Point out that this is a technique that students can use to help them check their answers. Monitor and help as students continue individually before inviting individuals to give answers and see if the class agrees before feeding back. Ask for volunteers to give reasons for their choice.

MIXED ABILITY

For weaker students, monitor and point to information in the main text that could help them intuit the meaning of some of the highlighted words or phrases. For example: good value for money – get them when 'they're on sale a few weeks later'; checkout – 'when you're paying'; can afford – 'wait until there's a special offer, when you can get two games for the price of one'; special offer – also 'you can get two games for the price of one.'

Answers

1 can afford 2 checkout 3 second-hand 4 special offer
5 good value for money 6 keen on

FAST FINISHERS

Ask fast finishers to find the words cool and stuff in the text and write their own meanings. They compare with other fast finishers and decide which definition is best before checking in a dictionary. Nominate students to tell the class what each word means.

TALKING POINTS

Before students discuss the questions, put them into pairs to write some notes of useful vocabulary. As students discuss in pairs, monitor and encourage them to add examples of situations or reasons to expand on their answers. Give positive feedback where possible. Bring the class together to share ideas.

COOLER

Write the words and phrases from Vocabulary, Exercise 3, on page 10 on the board. Give students one minute to study the words and phrases, then erase them. Tell students to write down the words they remember. Find out who remembered the most, and ask them to come and write them on the board. Ask the class if there are any missing words, and add them to the board. Check spellings and pronunciation as a class.

READING

- 1 Read the title and first line of the article. What do you think Olivia and her friends do in town? Read the article quickly to check.

SHOPPING: TEEN TRENDS

It's Saturday morning and Olivia, 16, is going into town with some friends like they usually do.

Their day begins in a coffee shop. 'We have frappuccino coffees and chat,' Olivia says. ¹ _____ 'We like finding the latest fashions on Pinterest or Instagram.' Like adults, many teens want good value for money. 'If there's something new I want, but it's too expensive, like these cool trainers I saw the other day, I won't get them till they're on sale a few weeks later. ² _____ And you can sometimes get discounts at the checkout when you're paying,' says Olivia. Although girls are more likely to spend money on jewellery or make-up, both sexes are into looking good and buy high-quality hair and body products. ³ _____ This means downloading apps is a favourite activity.

Teens shop on the internet because 'online companies don't always charge you as much money and it's easy,' says Olivia. ⁴ _____ 'For example, sometimes we go to a gaming store and try out several new games. A lot of games cost more than we can afford, so we wait until there's a special offer, when you can get two games for the price of one and that kind of thing. ⁵ _____ There's no brand new stuff on them but you can save a lot of money.'

After that, Olivia and her friends go for lunch. 'I love any healthy food, especially organic stuff,' says Olivia. 'We go anywhere that serves it – plenty of places do, but it can be expensive. After that, I don't usually have any money left!' laughs Olivia.

PREPARE FOR THE EXAM

Reading Part 4

- 2 Read the article again. Five sentences have been removed from the text. For each space choose the correct sentence. There are three extra sentences which you do not need to use.
 - A Some people I know send everything back.
 - B While they're there, they also do some online shopping.
 - C They're also keen on keeping their mobile technology up to date.
 - D You can usually get anything new that way if you're prepared to wait!
 - E You can get refunds online but it takes longer.
 - F There are plenty of second-hand websites, too, where stuff's even cheaper.
 - G I'm not really interested in buying things like that.
 - H But they still enjoy looking around the shops.

- 3 Match the highlighted words and phrases in the article to the meanings.

- 1 have enough money to buy something
- 2 where you pay for your goods
- 3 not new; already used in the past by someone else
- 4 a price that is lower than usual
- 5 the amount you paid for something was right
- 6 very interested in or enthusiastic about something

TALKING POINTS

Do you think people spend too much time looking at things they'd like to buy online?

Do you think it is important to buy good-quality products which are more expensive, rather than buying cheaper items? Why? / Why not?

GRAMMAR

Determiners

1 Read the examples and look at the nouns after the words. Which are countable and which are uncountable?

- Olivia, 16, is going into town with some friends.
- After that, I don't usually have any money left!
- There's no brand new stuff on them.
- They don't charge you as much money.
- Like adults, many teens want good value for money.
- There are plenty of second-hand websites, too.
- Sometimes we go to a gaming store and try out several new games.
- A lot of games cost more than we can afford.

2 Complete the table with the words in the box. Use the examples in Exercise 1 to help you.

some any a lot of many much plenty of no several

	Countable	Uncountable
Positive	some
Negative		any
Questions

GRAMMAR REFERENCE AND PRACTICE PAGE 147

3 Listen to the short conversations. Add more determiners to the table.

4 Choose the correct word to complete the sentences.

- Last weekend I got a / some / any great discounts on clothes.
- My brother buys much / a lot of / many clothes online.
- I got a discount on a / some / no headphones online.
- I bought a / some / much jeans yesterday.
- Have you got any / much / several BeBop trainers?
- We don't eat some / any / no special food.

5 Complete the conversation with the words in the box.

any many much no plenty several some some

- A: What are you doing?
B: I'm looking for ⁰ some information about ¹ _____ trainers. I looked on a few websites but there weren't ² _____ in my size – not even one pair!
A: I'm surprised. There are ³ _____ of websites where you can buy trainers. Have you tried this site?
B: Not yet! I can't see ⁴ _____ places that sell the trainers I want!
A: Look here. It looks like there are ⁵ _____ models listed here in fluorescent green. How ⁶ _____ money were they in the shop?
B: About £50, I think.
A: Oh dear, there are ⁷ _____ trainers in your size!

6 Complete the questions with the correct words. Then ask and answer the questions with a partner.

- How _____ pairs of trainers do you have?
- Do you have _____ sunglasses?
- How _____ time do you spend shopping online?
- Do you know _____ websites where you can get discounts?

VOCABULARY

any

1 Read the examples. Complete the rules with the words in the box.

- They aren't doing anything.
- We go anywhere that serves healthy food.
- Has anyone seen my new trainers?

negative positive question

- With a _____ verb, any has a positive meaning.
- With a _____ verb, any means the same as no.
- Use any in a _____.

2 What other words or phrases do you know with any?

3 Complete the sentences with the words and phrases in the box.

EP

any any better any good any longer any more anyone anything anywhere

- I don't mind what colour the trainers are – any colour will do.
- Maria doesn't work in this shop _____.
- Is there _____ in this shop that would be a good present for your mum?
- This book isn't _____ – it's so boring. I won't finish it.
- Has _____ got David's number? I need to call him today.
- Tony isn't feeling _____ today – the boss wants me to work this afternoon.
- Is there _____ near here where I can buy some speakers?
- I can't eat _____. I'm full. That was delicious!

4 >> Work in pairs. Turn to page 135.

WARMER

Dictate the following words: teens, friends, make-up, food, games, hair, websites, discounts, money, shops. Draw two columns entitled 'countable (C)' and 'uncountable (U)' and ask students, in pairs or small groups, to classify the words. Ask for suggestions and write the words in the appropriate column. (C = teens, friends, games, websites, discounts, shops; U = make-up, food, hair, money).

- 1 Read the instructions and do the first item with the class. Monitor and help as necessary, encouraging stronger students to say when a noun is countable or uncountable. Invite students to write words and phrases in the appropriate columns on the board to check answers.

Answers

1 countable 2 uncountable 3 uncountable 4 uncountable
5 countable 6 countable 7 countable 8 countable

- 2 Copy the chart onto the board and put students into pairs to complete it. Check answers by asking students to write the answers on the board. Nominate individuals to make different sentences about their town e.g. There are some new shops opening in town.

GRAMMAR REFERENCE AND PRACTICE ANSWER KEY TB PAGE 265

- 3 Play the conversations and pause after each one for students to suggest different determiners. See if the class agrees and play the conversation again if necessary. Add the determiners to the chart on the board.

Answers 2 and 3 (Words in italics are from the conversations in Exercise 3)

	Countable	Uncountable
Positive	some, a lot of, many, several, plenty of	plenty of, a lot of, some
Negative	many, no	much, no
Questions	any, some, a lot of, plenty of, many	any, much,

AUDIOSCRIPT TB PAGE 284

- 4 Direct students to find the noun (discounts) in item 1. Nominate a student to give the answer (some) and see if the class agrees before confirming. Monitor and encourage stronger students to complete the exercise without looking at the chart. Check answers as a class, and point out that we don't use a double negative in English, for example 'We don't eat no special food', item 6, is wrong.

Answers

1 some 2 a lot of 3 some 4 some 5 any 6 any

- 5 Ask students to read the conversation quickly, ignoring the gaps, and say whether or not the shopper found trainers in the right size on the website (No). Remind them to look at the information before and after the gap before they continue individually. When you check answers, make sure that students understand the difference in meaning between several (some, but not a lot) and plenty (more than enough, a large amount).

MIXED ABILITY

Ask stronger students to cover the box and complete the spaces. Help weaker students to decide if the noun is countable or uncountable and to use the information on the board to help decide which determiner to use.

Answers

1 some 2 any 3 plenty 4 any 5 many, several, some 6 much 7 no

- 6 Do the exercise as a class, directing students to the chart in Exercise 2 for support. Check students understand why there are two possible answers for item 4. Nominate two strong students to take turns asking and answering in open class pairs to demonstrate the activity, and give positive feedback for accuracy and/or informative answers.

Answers

1 many 2 any 3 much 4 any / many

GRAMMAR WORKSHEET UNIT 1

VOCABULARY

any

- 1 Write the word any on the board and ask students to think of words with any. Ask which word is used to talk about a place (anywhere); an item (anything); a person (anyone). Go through the exercise with the class. Read sentences 1–3 and the words in the box.

Answers

a positive b negative c question

- 2 Read the question and ask students for suggestions, without looking at their books. Write answers on the board.

Possible answers

any more, any longer, any better, any good

- 3 Go through these phrases from the box and elicit or explain meaning. Use simple sentences to help students understand: any better = Today's school dinner isn't any better (the structure 'isn't any' + an adjective strengthens the negative, so that it means something like not at all). This applies to the following phrases in the box: any good and any longer. Monitor as students continue individually and nominate individuals to give answers.

Answers

1 any longer / any more 2 anything 3 any good 4 anyone
5 any better 6 anywhere 7 any more

- 4 Direct students to page 135. Ask students to read the first question and nominate stronger students to ask and answer as open pairs for the class. Give feedback after each turn, encouraging students to continue with informative and interesting answers. Put them into same ability pairs to continue.

VOCABULARY WORKSHEET UNIT 1

WRITING A short text

- 1 Direct students to read the information about the competition. Invite two or three students to answer the question and write key words on the board.

Answers

Students have to write about: the last cool thing that they purchased; where they bought it; whether their friends like it or not.

- 2 Read the question and elicit or remind students of the meaning of cool (good, stylish or fashionable). Tell students to read the texts quickly to answer the question. Ask for a show of hands to see which item the class think is the coolest, and encourage individuals to explain why. Help them communicate their ideas.

FAST FINISHERS

Ask fast finishers to write two sentences about where they would buy the items. Invite them to tell the class after you have checked answers to Exercise 2.

Answers

Students' own answers

- 3 Go through the instructions and direct students to the Prepare to write box and read the information aloud. Monitor and help as students continue individually. Fast finishers compare answers. Ask students to compare in pairs before checking as a class.

Last week, I bought some really cool sunglasses from a shop in my town called Eyewear. It's a great shop that only sells sunglasses. There are a lot of styles to choose from but I chose these ones because I just loved them! There was a promotion that day and I got a 10% discount. I forgot the receipt, so I went back to get it and the assistant gave me a free case to keep them in. Great customer service!

Emily, Ireland

Mum was going to get these cute trainers for me at the end of the month, but I couldn't wait any longer, so I bought them myself. I got them from the local sports shop near my house. Several of my friends already had pink ones, but I wanted to be different. So I got some orange and blue ones! Plenty of people have asked me where I got them, but I'm not telling anyone my secret store!

WRITING

A short text

- 1 Read the introduction to the magazine competition. What do you have to write about?

COMPETITION!

Tell us about the last cool thing you bought. Where did you buy it? Do your friends like it? Email us at itsallaboutyou@weareteens.co.uk. We'll include the best stories in our magazine next month!

Maksim, Russia

Last week, I bought some really cool sunglasses from a shop in my town called Eyewear. It's a great shop that only sells sunglasses. There are a lot of styles to choose from but I chose these ones because I just loved them! There was a promotion that day and I got a 10% discount. I forgot the receipt, so I went back to get it and the assistant gave me a free case to keep them in. Great customer service!

Emily, Ireland

Mum was going to get these cute trainers for me at the end of the month, but I couldn't wait any longer, so I bought them myself. I got them from the local sports shop near my house. Several of my friends already had pink ones, but I wanted to be different. So I got some orange and blue ones! Plenty of people have asked me where I got them, but I'm not telling anyone my secret store!

JD, UK

Last week, I was at the shopping centre and I went into Soundz, which is my favourite shop. They have an online store, but I prefer to go to the shop so I can try the things on sale. You can find a lot of cool stuff there like headphones, speakers and MP3 players. I saw these great Bluetooth headphones. I put them on and listened to several songs from my phone. They were expensive, but I got a 10% discount because of a promotion. My friend is saving up for a pair now!

- 2 Read the three texts. Which thing do you think is the coolest?

- 3 Read the Prepare to write box. Read the texts and underline the following in each one:

Maksim's message: shopping vocabulary
Emily's message: all the determiners from page 12
JD's message: two different tenses

- 4 Read JD's text again. Underline the sentences that answer the competition questions. What extra information does she add?

- 5 Read about the competition again. You are going to write a short text about something you bought recently. Plan your ideas and make some notes. Here are some ideas to help you.

- What is the last thing you bought?
- Where did you buy it?
- Why did you choose it?
- What do your friends think?
- Extra information?

- 6 Write your own short text.

- Use the tips in the Prepare to write box.
- Write about 80 words.
- Remember to check your spelling and grammar.

BEST FRIENDS FOREVER

VOCABULARY

Personality adjectives

- 1 Read the quiz. Choose the five sentences that are most true for you.

ABOUT YOU

- 01 Watch the video and then answer the questions.
How important are friends to you?
What makes a good friend, in your opinion?

WHAT KIND OF A FRIEND ARE YOU?

I sometimes feel a bit anxious in situations where there are lots of people.

When my friends are annoying, I tell them. But I am sensitive to their feelings.

I hang out with my friends if I have spare time.

I don't like planning too much. Let's just see what happens!

I prefer to listen to other people's ideas, although I sometimes have good ideas too.

I love hanging out with a big group of friends.

If my friends have a problem, then I'll listen.

I love laughing, especially when I feel silly!

My friends trust me with their secrets.

I love my friends, but I really love being on my own.

I'd do anything to help my best friends.

I have lots of best friends – girls and boys!

- 2 Read the descriptions. Do you agree with what the quiz says about you?

1 MOSTLY ORANGE Brilliant best friend

You're a reliable best friend. And you're also kind, honest and caring, and your friends know how sensible you are! You're a thoughtful and sweet person, and it's no surprise that you love having people around you.

2 MOSTLY YELLOW The cheerful chum

You've got loads of friends and you're easygoing! You love having fun and you'd never be cruel to anyone. You are never jealous of other people, and everyone likes that! People love having you at parties! Go, social you!

3 MOSTLY GREEN The perfect pal

You prefer to have a few close friends rather than lots of friends. You're confident, talented and loyal to your friends. You love hanging out with your friends but you also like to spend time alone.

- 3 Match the words in Exercises 1 and 2 to the meanings.

EP

- 1 making you feel angry

WARMER

Write these questions on the board: What kind of friend are you? Why? Ask students to discuss them with a partner. Nominate pairs to report back to the class and write any useful vocabulary for the lesson on the board, e.g. adjectives such as kind and fun. Encourage them to give reasons and examples of things they do to justify their description, e.g. He was very kind to me when I was ill. He brought me chocolate and other presents. Check meaning and pronunciation of new vocabulary as necessary.

ABOUT YOU

-  You can begin the class and introduce the topic of the unit by showing the video and asking students to complete the video worksheet. Then, read the questions in the About you box and tell students to make a note of useful words and phrases that will help them answer the questions. Ask students to exchange ideas in pairs, then ask for volunteers to give answers and make a note of key words on the board.

VOCABULARY Personality adjectives

- 1 Read the instructions and check students understand the concept most true. Direct them to look at the first sentence and ask 'Does this sentence describe you? Do you always, usually, sometimes or never like to do this?' Tell students to try to guess the meaning of the words in blue, but not to worry if they don't know all the words at this stage. Monitor and help as necessary as students continue the activity.

Answers

- 3 Read the instructions. Ask students to read meanings 1–12 and check any unknown vocabulary. Do the first item as a class (annoying). Put students into same ability pairs and monitor and help as they continue before checking answers.

MIXED ABILITY

Ask stronger students to work individually and weaker students to work in pairs. Monitor and encourage weaker students to use the notes on the board to help them.

Answers

1 annoying 2 reliable 3 sensible 4 sociable 5 anxious 6 easygoing 7 silly 8 talented 9 loyal 10 thoughtful
 11 jealous 12 sensitive

- 4 Read the instructions and play the recording once. Allow students to compare their answers before checking as a class. If they found the listening challenging, break it down by playing it again, pausing occasionally for students to compare ideas. Check answers as a class and play the audio again if necessary.

Answers

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

There are many different ways that people can now keep in touch via social media. Facebook is one of the most widely-used social networking sites, and it was the first one to have over 1 billion user accounts. People also use Facebook to sell online, and market and promote businesses. WhatsApp is an instant messaging platform; it was bought by Facebook in 2014 for $19 billion, and now has approximately over 1 billion active users every month. With about 400 million users every month, Instagram is used to share photos and videos and it allows you to post them to Facebook and Twitter. Those who are interested in music can keep in touch with others by using Myspace, which has about 20 million active users.

- 1 Ask students to write a list of differences between their online and real friends. Ask for volunteers to suggest one difference each and encourage them to give reasons and explanations as they share their ideas. Write key words and phrases on the board.

Possible answers

You see your real friends at school. You only see photos of your online friends, you don't see them in real life.

- 2 Set a short time limit of about three minutes for students to read the text and see if any of the class ideas were mentioned, ignoring any new vocabulary at this point. Tell students to compare their answers with a partner before giving suggestions. Ask students if they remember other differences and add key words to the board.

- 3 Ask students read questions 1–5 and check vocabulary as necessary. Put them into mixed ability pairs to answer. Monitor and help before asking for volunteers to give answers. Help with pronunciation as necessary.

FAST FINISHERS

Tell fast finishers to make notes to describe an online friend and a face-to-face friend as an example of their answer to question 5. They can share their information with the class after you have checked answers to Exercise 4.

Answers

- 1 By sending you a text, a message or just liking your post.
- 2 You check their posts, and you try to remember all the photos and then you ask your friend about them when you see them.
- 3 Your body produces oxytocin, which makes you feel good. You feel trust and love.
- 4 You copy their gestures, and they smile if you smile.
- 5 Both are good, in different ways.

- 4 Do the first item as a class. Show or remind students to check their answers by substituting the highlighted words and phrases in the text with the appropriate meaning from 1–5. Tell them that to check their answers they should re-read the new sentence to see if it makes sense. Put students into mixed ability pairs to continue with the activity. Nominate students to give answers and see if the class agrees before feeding back.

TALKING POINTS

Put students into pairs to discuss the questions. Monitor and encourage them to justify their opinions. Give positive class feedback and examples of interesting comments. For homework, students could ask four other people for their opinions on the questions in Talking points. In the following class, students could discuss their findings in small groups.

COOLER

Tell students to put the highlighted words in the article in order of difficulty, with the most difficult first. Encourage reflection by asking individuals to give reasons for their grading. Ask them to write one sentence each for the two words they find most difficult.

READING

- 1 Make a list of the differences between your online friends and your real friends.
- 2 Read the article quickly. Were any of your ideas mentioned?

FRIENDSHIP IN THE 21st century

ENTERTAINMENT | STYLE | HEALTH & FITNESS | TECH | RELATIONSHIPS

Scientist Dr Russell Carley is interested in finding out about friendship in the 21st century. He started by trying to answer the question: Can online friends be as good as face-to-face friends?

Surprisingly, he found that the answer is a big YES! A friend is someone who gives you honest advice and support, and, of course, an online friend can do that. Online friends can also be close friends. Our real friends can't be with us 24 hours a day, but the online community never sleeps! When you feel anxious in the middle of the night, there's always someone who can give you support through a text, a message or just a 'like'. Having online friends is good for your memory, too. There's a lot of information to check every day. When you see an interesting holiday picture, you make a note in your mind to ask your pal about it next time they're online, or when you're together in person.

Also, you can find friends who have the same interests as you more easily. If you're interested in Japanese comics, there will be plenty of people who love that too. For most of us, the online community provides support, it builds our confidence, and we feel loved.

So, if online friends are so good, do we need real friends? Interestingly, Dr Carley's research suggests that we do. As he points out, with your real friends, you are in the same physical space; you create memories together as you experience and enjoy doing things with each other. You have to be more responsible with your real friends, as you can't just 'unfriend' them if you disagree with them!

Dr Carley explains the science. 'When you are with your friends, you get hugs and high fives. Hugging is good for us because our body produces a chemical called oxytocin that makes us feel good and we also feel trust and love. Chatting to your best pals, you copy their words and gestures. When they smile, you smile too! So, in conclusion, both real friends and online friends are great – they just help us in different ways.'

NEXT WEEK: Are you good at staying in touch with your friends?

3 Read the article again. Answer the questions.

- 1 How can an online friend support you at night?
- 2 How do online friends help your memory?
- 3 What happens when you hug a friend?
- 4 What happens when you talk to people face-to-face?
- 5 According to the article, which are best for you: online or face-to-face friends? Why?

4 Match the highlighted words in the article to the meanings.

- 1 friend
- 2 movements of your hands, arm or head to show a feeling
- 3 remove someone from your social media account
- 4 when you put your arms around someone because you like them
- 5 getting more information about something

TALKING POINTS

Do you think you will have the same online friends in five years' time? Why? / Why not?

Do you think you will have the same real friends in five years' time? Why? / Why not?

Online friendships

Many people have an opinion about online friendships, especially parents. It can be really boring and ¹_____ to talk about it. They always say the same thing! Last year, Mum had an ²_____ surprise – an old classmate contacted her and started posting old photos of her online. My sister and I thought it was funny, but Mum didn't! Fortunately, Mum just closed her page and the classmate ³_____. Another friend told me about someone who was writing ⁴_____ things about her on her wall. That's not nice! I'm very ⁵_____ because nothing like that has happened to me. But I ⁶_____ when people say you have to be careful about the online world.

WARMER

Write the following words on the board and put students in pairs to make a sentence: touch / keeping / some / good / are / people / really / at / in / (Some people are really good at keeping in touch.). Check students understand the meaning of keeping in touch by giving an example of one friend who phones or texts another regularly and another who doesn't. Underline the -ing.

- 1 Go through the activity with the class. If your students find the language point challenging, write further example sentences on the board, for example, You love doing sports. Going to the cinema is fun. Most people are keen on using social media. Ask students to match the sentences on the board with the rules a–c. Underline the verb forms.

Answers

- 2 Direct students to the words in the box and ask for volunteers to give the spelling of the -ing form and model pronunciation if necessary. Tell students to read the sentences first to get a general idea of meaning before they choose the word from the box. Ask students to complete the exercise individually and compare in pairs before nominating individuals to read a completed sentence.

MIXED ABILITY

Put students into mixed ability pairs to do Exercise 2. Monitor and ask stronger students to say which of the words in the box should be used in which sentence before they complete the sentences with the -ing form.

Answers

1 going 2 Learning 3 preparing 4 working 5 reading

- 3 Do the first item as a class, pointing out that the preposition of is used after the word afraid. Set a short time limit and put students into pairs to match the sentence halves. To check answers, say the adjective at the end of the phrases 2–5 and nominate stronger students to give the preposition. Ask students to review their answers before feeding back.

Answers

1 b 2 e 3 c 4 a 5 d

- 4 Tell students that there are mistakes in the verb forms or prepositions in sentences 1–7 and do the first item together as a class, pointing out that the correct versions of each sentence should contain an -ing form. Remind students to look back at Exercises 1 and 2, along with the Grammar Reference section on page 148 for help before they continue individually. Monitor and encourage stronger students to answer from memory and help weaker students as necessary. Nominate volunteers to read full sentences as you check answers.

Answers

Listening Part 3

In this part, students have to locate and record specific information. Students listen to a monologue and have to complete six gaps. They complete the numbered gaps with one or two words, a number, a date or a time.

Tips Tell students to read the sentences before they listen, and to predict the content. Remind them not to change the words they hear.

- 2 Read the questions and put students into mixed ability pairs to decide the type of word needed to complete the gaps (e.g. a number, a date, a time). Monitor and help as necessary before checking answers as a class. In feedback, ask students to say how they decided on their answers. Do not over-correct for accuracy, but help them get their ideas across.

Answers

5 Carnaby Street first became popular for modern fashion.
6 There are football fields in the Westfield shopping centre.

3 Match the highlighted words in the text to the meanings.

- 1 new, modern and in fashion 4 extremely large
2 for people who are walking 5 tables to sell things, often outdoors
3 very bad, terrible

4 Listen to a report on teenagers' shopping habits in the UK. Number the questions in the order you hear them.

- ___ Have you bought anything online in the last three months?
___ Where do you usually get the money from when you go shopping?
___ How often do you go shopping?
___ Do you count shopping as one of your hobbies?
___ Do you shop more in-store or online?
___ What do you buy when you go shopping?

5 Listen again and match the pie charts to five of the questions (1-6) in Exercise 4.

CULTURE VIDEO AND CULTURE VIDEO WORKSHEET: Shopping in London

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

As well as being famous for its shops, London has many street and indoor markets selling an amazing array of goods. One of the largest indoor markets is Alfie's Antique Market, which sells vintage clothes from the 1930s and 1940s. The stall holders, who have been there for years, enjoy talking to visitors and it's possible to find things on sale priced from £3 to £20,000. Another, very different, indoor market is Covent Garden Market, which was a world-famous 1970s fruit and vegetable market housed in a 19th century piazza building. It's a tourists' favourite now, where you can buy handmade jewellery, hand-painted T-shirts and crafts, including handmade soap. There's even a magician's stall.

WARMER

Books closed. Put students into pairs and dictate the questions in Exercise 1 and ask students to answer them about their home town. Ask students to take turns to share their partner's answers with the class.

- 1 Set a three-minute time limit and ask students to read the texts quickly to decide which place they would like to visit. Ask for volunteers to give answers and to say why. Read the second part of the question and situations 1–3 and ask students to underline key words to direct their reading. Ask them to read the texts again, and to suggest answers to the questions. Take a class vote on the best answer for each question.

Answers

Students' own answers

- 2 Ask students to read sentences 1–6 and to underline key words to help them locate the information in the text. Tell students to ignore any unknown vocabulary at this stage. Remind them that they should then read the relevant part of the text carefully to decide if the statement is true or false. Nominate individuals to give answers and to give reasons. See if the class agrees before feeding back.

Answers

- 1 false (typical, prices are quite good)
- 2 true (open-air markets and stalls)
- 3 true (punk, goth or retro fashion)
- 4 false (it's pedestrianised, so only people on foot can go along it)
- 5 true (became famous for its trendy shops selling new, modern fashion)
- 6 false (the shops have an area equal to 30 football pitches)

MIXED ABILITY

As you monitor, offer support where needed by telling students that three of the sentences in Exercise 2 are true.

-  The Reading text is recorded for students to listen, read and check their answers.

- 3 Put students into pairs and ask them to look carefully at the highlighted words in the text and to match each one with a meaning 1–5. Monitor and help as necessary before nominating students to give answers. Help with pronunciation as necessary and ask stronger students to explain their answers (see Answers).

Answers

- 1 trendy ('trendy' associated with being 'new' and 'modern')
- 2 pedestrian ('pedestrian' means a person walking rather than travelling by car, and there are no cars on Carnaby Street)
- 3 awful ('awful' suggests 'bad', for example, cold and wet and this is why people would shop indoors)
- 4 huge (a place which sells everything will be very big)
- 5 stalls (the text describes outdoor markets, which usually have stalls or tables)

FAST FINISHERS

Ask fast finishers to find other words and phrases they don't know, and to use the context to guess meaning. Go over these after you have checked answers to Exercise 3.

-  08 4 Tell students they will listen to somebody giving a presentation on their shopping habits. Ask them, in their pairs, to work together and identify and underline key words in questions 1–6 to direct their listening. Ask for volunteers to give suggestions (for example, a bought, online, three months; b where, get money; c how often, shopping; d shopping, hobbies; e more in-store, online; f what, buy, shopping). Play the audio for students to sequence the questions and nominate individuals to give answers.

Answers

- 1 How often do you go shopping?
- 2 What do you buy when you go shopping?
- 3 Do you count shopping as one of your hobbies?
- 4 Do you shop more in-store or online?
- 5 Have you bought anything online in the last three months?
- 6 Where do you usually get the money from when you go shopping?

-  08 5 Ask students to say what type of information we might expect to hear as a reply to a wh- question (when – days or time words, what – items or things, where – a place, how – the manner or method of doing something), and a yes/no question (a percentage). Tell students to look at the pie charts and, in pairs, to match them to five of the questions in Exercise 4. Then play the recording again and ask students to check their ideas.

- 6 Tell students that, for the Project, they will be doing a survey on their friends' shopping habits and then they will present their results. Direct students to the Useful language box and tell them that the language will be useful for their survey. Put them into mixed ability pairs and ask them to complete the phrases in the Useful language box. Check answers before asking students to identify which phrases are useful for doing the survey (1, 2, 3, 4), and which are useful for presenting the results (5, 6). Give pronunciation practice if necessary, making sure students sound polite when asking the questions.

PROJECT An interview about shopping habits

Organise the students into small groups or pairs and tell them they are going to create a survey by writing a short questionnaire to find out about their friends' shopping habits. Read through the instructions and topics before asking students to write about 6–8 questions and tell them that they can use the questions in the exercise or write their own. Remind them to look at the Useful language box and monitor and check for accuracy and help with ideas if necessary.

Next, the students should interview at least 10 other teenagers – these can be students in their class or their friends. Remind them to make a note of the answers as they will use these to make pie charts.

If appropriate, show the students how to create pie charts using a computer. Finally, ask them to produce a report on their results and show it to the rest of the class. Encourage the class to look at all the reports and write some sentences about the similarities and differences between the results.

PROJECT EXTENSION

Ask students to look at the answers to the questions given in the Project notes. Divide the class into seven groups and allocate one question to each group. Tell students to collate the information from other students and to make a new pie chart to reflect the results of answers from everyone interviewed. Ask students to elect a spokesperson to report the results to the class. Encourage students to comment on similarities and differences between their group results and those of the whole class.

02 CULTURE VIDEO: Shopping in London

When students have completed the lesson, they can watch the video and complete the worksheet.

COOLER

Students write their own answers to the survey questions and compare them to their group results.

SHOPPING IN LONDON!

What do you say?

We asked our London Life readers about their favourite places to go shopping in London. Here are some of their answers!

My all-time favourite place for shopping in London is Oxford Street. It's got more than 300 shops, including the most typical high street brands. There are also some huge department stores, too. They sell everything from clothes and shoes to electronics and books, and the prices are quite good. The only problem with Oxford Street is that it's always really busy. About 500,000 people go there every day!

Melissa

If you're into alternative fashion, then Camden is one of the best places to go in London. It's a historic neighbourhood near Regent's Park and not far from King's Cross Station. Camden is famous for its open-air markets, which have many shops and stalls. There are lots of second-hand clothes for sale and some shops also specialise in punk, goth or retro fashion.

Kyle

I love shopping with friends in Carnaby Street, near Oxford Circus. It's a pedestrian area, so there aren't any cars. Carnaby Street became famous for its trendy shops selling new, modern fashion in the 1960s, but now you can find all types of clothes and accessories there. If you get hungry, there are also lots of cafés and restaurants. While you're in the area, you can also visit Hamleys on Regent Street. It's the largest and oldest toy shop in the world. The first Hamleys shop opened more than 250 years ago!

Paula

When the weather is awful, I prefer to shop indoors where it's warm and dry. My favourite place to go is Westfield, in White City. It's the largest shopping centre in London, with 150,000 m² of shops. That's about the size of 30 football pitches! There are also four food halls with more than 80 different places to eat, including fast food and international restaurants. After you finish shopping you can also see a film at the 14-screen cinema. Don't forget to buy popcorn!

PROJECT

An interview about shopping habits

Create a survey to interview your friends about their shopping habits. Write questions about the topics below and your own ideas.

- who people go shopping with
- how often people go shopping
- where people get their money
- if people prefer to shop online or in-store
- things that people usually buy
- how much people spend a week
- when people usually go shopping

Interview at least 10 friends and take notes. Make pie charts and present your results to the class.

ABOUT YOU

03 Watch the video and then answer the questions.

- Do you prefer team sports or individual sports? Why?
- Which new sport or activity would you like to try?
- How important is it to do sport regularly?
- Why do you think people like to take part in sports competitions?

VOCABULARY Sports phrases

1 Look at the photos. Discuss the questions.

- 1 Which are individual sports? Which are team sports?
- 2 Which of these sports can you do at your school?

2 Listen to three people talking about sport. Which sports do they talk about?

3 Listen again. Choose the correct words to complete the phrases.

- EP
- 1 enter / join a competition or tournament
 - 2 win / score a prize, medal, game or match
 - 3 score / win a goal or point
 - 4 give / lose a game or match
 - 5 win / beat the other team
 - 6 have / join a go at something
 - 7 join / enter a club
 - 8 give / join (someone) the chance
 - 9 miss / enter an opportunity to do something

4 Complete the email with some of the phrases from Exercise 3.

Hi Helen,

I've just got more information about the tournament at the local tennis club next week. I think I'm going to ¹ _____ the _____ because I like tennis, and it looks like fun. The tournament isn't only for people who are good at tennis. They want to ² _____ people the _____ to play, even if they aren't very good at it. Why don't you ³ _____ a _____ at playing a few matches? It's all friendly and just for fun, so it doesn't matter if you ⁴ _____ all your _____. But if you do very well, you might ⁵ _____ a _____!

I think they're looking for members for their club, too. I hope you can make it – we don't want to ⁶ _____ the _____ to take part.

Text me if you want to know more.

Emma

5 Discuss the questions.

- 1 Have you ever won a medal? How did you feel?
- 2 Have you ever scored a goal or a point in a game? How did you feel?
- 3 Which clubs have you joined or would you like to join? Why?

WARMER

Draw two columns on the board, headed Team sports and Individual sports. Put students into small groups and set a three-minute time limit for them to make a list of as many examples of each type of sport as they can. The winning team is the one with the longest lists.

ABOUT YOU

 You can begin the class and introduce the topic of the unit by showing the video and asking students to complete the video worksheet. Then, read the questions in the About you box and tell students to make a note of useful words and phrases that will help them answer the questions. Ask students to exchange ideas in pairs. Nominate individuals to tell the class about their partner and see if others do or think the same.

VOCABULARY Sports phrases

- Put students into pairs and direct them to the photos. Draw two columns on the board, headed where (a) and equipment (b). Say the following words for students to indicate which column they belong to: 'track, bat, pitch, racket, stick, rink, pool, puck'. Alternatively, you could write the vocabulary on the board, ask students to match the words they know to the photos and then to check in their dictionaries.

Answers

- Individual sports: A swimming, C judo, E tennis (singles), F some athletics, such as sprinting, high jump, hurdles, etc.
Team sports: B ice hockey, D football
- Students' own answers

-  Tell students that they will hear three people talking about different sports. Play the recording once and ask students to compare their answers with a partner. If they need more support, play it again, pausing after each section to check answers. Elicit any words or phrases students remember which helped them answer the questions.

Answers

1 swimming 2 football/soccer 3 ice hockey

-  Do item 1 together as a class. Before students listen to the recording again, ask them to guess the answers. Play the recording again for students to listen and check. Point out to students that some of the verbs have similar meanings and might be used with different nouns in their language.

Answers

- Tell students to read the email quickly and say why Emma wrote it (to tell Helen about the tennis club and encourage her to join). Ask for three reasons why Helen should join the club (it's fun to do, you don't have to be good at tennis). Monitor and help students check for possible verb/noun collocations in Exercise 3 as they continue individually. Nominate individuals to give answers and see if the class agrees before feeding back.

MIXED ABILITY

Give weaker students the collocations (verb/noun pairs) to use in the answers in a jumbled order on a slip of paper.

Answers

1 join / club 2 give / the chance 3 have / go 4 lose / matches
 5 win / prize 6 miss / opportunity

FAST FINISHERS

Ask fast finishers to write two sentences to reply to Emma, each one including a gap for a verb/noun pair in Exercise 3. Students can read their sentences to the class after checking answers to Exercise 4.

- Put students into pairs or small groups to discuss the questions. Monitor for accurate vocabulary use and give positive feedback when students correctly use verb/noun pairs from Exercise 3. Invite two or three students to report their discussions for each question to the class. Encourage others to express agreement or disagreement in open class discussion.

READING

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

The Paralympic Games is a major international sporting event for athletes with a range of disabilities. The first official Paralympic Games was held in Rome in 1960, but the first Winter Paralympic Games was held in Sweden in 1976. Since the 1988 Summer Games in Seoul in South Korea, the Winter and Summer Paralympic Games have been held after the respective Olympic Games. It is one of the largest international sporting events today and is a fantastic event which shows how people with different disabilities can achieve athletic success.

- 1 Read the question and ask students for suggestions. Write key words on the board. Set a short time limit of about three minutes to read the article quickly to check their ideas. Tell them to ignore new vocabulary at this point. Nominate students to give answers. Before moving on to Exercise 2, pre-teach the following words: amputee, medallist, blades, disability. Write them on the board and ask students to say what they think they mean and help them express their ideas: amputee = a person who has lost an arm or a leg; blades = the metal parts on ice-skates; medallist = somebody who has been given a medal; disability = a physical or mental condition that limits what a person can do; prosthetics = artificial parts of the body, like an arm or a foot. Ask students to read the text again carefully, and to underline the words on the board.

Possible answers

He's an athlete / a Paralympian.

B1 PRELIMINARY FOR SCHOOLS

Reading Part 3

In this part, students' ability to understand both the detailed and global meaning of a text is tested. Students also need to demonstrate understanding of the writer's purpose, attitude and opinion. This part consists of a long text followed by five four-option multiple-choice questions.

Tips Tell students that questions 1–4 focus on detailed meaning, following the order of the information in the text. There is usually one question per paragraph and at least two questions from 1–4 focus on opinion/attitude/feelings, rather than facts. Question 5 tests global meaning, and the information in each of the options will come from different parts of the text. Advise students that they should always read the text quickly to get the general idea, before reading more carefully a second time.

- 2 Do item one together as a class. Ask students to read the question and options A–D. Check students understand the vocabulary in the options. Ask students to underline key words in the options (suggestions: A upset, can't do; B not let challenges worry; C grateful for opportunities; D prefer, big competitions) and to read the first two paragraphs carefully to find the correct option (B). Ask for volunteers to say why the other options are wrong (points not mentioned). Monitor and help as necessary as students continue individually and ask fast finishers to decide why other options are wrong. Check answers as a class, and direct students to the relevant part of the text where they can locate the answer. Nominate fast finishers to say why options are wrong.

Answers

- 1 B
- 2 A (Para 3 – 'Ntando doesn't like to say much about his talent')
- 3 D (Para 3 – 'He would love to get there ... but is realistic.')
- 4 B (Para 4 – 'then everyone watching him ... can respect each other ...')
- 5 C

 The Reading text is recorded for students to listen, read and check their answers.

- 3 Ask students to read the given meanings 1–5 and check vocabulary as necessary. Do the first item as a class, asking for a volunteer to suggest an answer. Re-read the section of the text before and after the gap, and substitute the highlighted word or phrase for a meaning from 1–5 to check it makes sense. Remind students that this is a technique they can use to help them check their answers. Monitor and help as students continue individually before inviting individuals to give answers and see if the class agrees before feeding back.

Answers

- 1 competitors

- 4 active
- 5 compete

TALKING POINTS

Put students into pairs to write some notes of useful vocabulary to use before discussing the questions. As students discuss in pairs, monitor and encourage them to add examples of situations or reasons to expand on their answers. Give positive feedback where possible. Bring the class together to share ideas. Do not over-correct for accuracy and help students get their ideas across where necessary.

COOLER

Books closed. Say verbs from Exercise 3 on page 20 for students to write the corresponding noun. Check answers and see who has the highest score.

READING

- 1 Look at the photo of Ntando Mahlangu. What does he do? Read the article quickly and check your ideas.

MEET Ntando Mahlangu, PARALYMPIAN

In 2016, aged 14, Ntando Mahlangu, an amputee runner, did what many people his age would love to do: he became a silver medallist at the Paralympics in Rio. Ntando is from South Africa, where, in 2012, he received his first blades – the equipment he wears which helps him run – from Jumping Kids. This organisation gives young people like Ntando the chance to do something they were unable to do before.

In an interview Ntando says his disability has never been a problem for him: 'I was always active.' But before he got his running blades, Ntando couldn't walk for long distances. He played football with his friends, but he was shorter than them 'and sometimes there were disadvantages,' he says. Just four years after getting his blades, however, Ntando was one of the youngest competitors at the Rio Paralympics and he now often takes part in competitions for para-athletes.

Ntando has been very successful. He's won several medals and has broken a world record in his sport. Although he's making excellent progress at the moment, Ntando doesn't like to say much about his talent. 'If I achieve my goals, I always say that I am honoured to do that,' he says. Ntando knows that some sportspeople would love to reach their goals but aren't able to. Ntando could do even better in future Paralympics in Tokyo and Paris. He would love to get there and win more medals but is realistic. He understands that there is always the possibility of injuring himself beforehand, like there is for any athlete. Some athletes say they're definitely running at the next Paralympics, but this is something Ntando doesn't say: he knows he can't be sure of that.

For Ntando, it's people who are more important than medals. He wants to show people that he respects others. If he can respect the person he's running next to, he says, then everyone watching him on TV at home can respect each other, too. Ntando believes anyone can make a change in society and that it isn't necessary to be the president of a country. At the time of writing, Ntando is planning to compete at another important para-athletics competition.

Good luck, Ntando!

PREPARE FOR THE EXAM

Reading Part 3

- 2 Read the article again and the questions below. For each question, choose the correct answer.
- 1 What do we find out about Ntando in the first two paragraphs?
A He feels upset that he can't do some activities.
B He does not let challenges worry him.
C He feels grateful for opportunities he is given.
D He would prefer to enter big competitions than small ones.
 - 2 What does Ntando say about his success?
A He prefers not to talk about it.
B He likes to share it with other athletes.
C He never expects to win a competition.
D He wants to encourage other people to do well, too.
 - 3 What is Ntando's attitude towards competing at future Paralympics?
A He hopes that he will not hurt himself there.
B He is unsure whether he wants to compete there.
C He wants to beat his last achievement there.
D He accepts that he may not get there.
 - 4 In the final paragraph, Ntando says he hopes
A to have an important role in his country one day.
B other people will follow his good behaviour.
C to run in as many competitions as he can.
D his fans will support his plans for the future.
 - 5 What would another athlete say about Ntando?
A He's good at all kinds of sports.
B He is disappointed when he doesn't win.
C He's a talented guy and nice, too.
D He'll improve even more with new blades.

- 3 Match the highlighted words in the article to the meanings.

- 1 people who are in a competition
- 2 participates in an activity with other people
- 3 has done something better than anyone has done before
- 4 doing a lot of things or moving around a lot
- 5 be in a race or competition

TALKING POINTS

Why is it useful to have a positive attitude in life? Do you think it's important to be competitive? Why? What do you think makes someone want to be the best at something, such as a sport?

GRAMMAR

Present simple and continuous

1 Match the examples to the rules.

- 1 This organisation gives young people like Ntando the chance to do something ...
- 2 Some athletes say they're definitely running at the next Paralympics.
- 3 He now often takes part in competitions for para-athletes.
- 4 He's making excellent progress at the moment.
- 5 He wants to show people that he respects others.

We use the present simple:

- a to talk about something that we do regularly.
- b to talk about a fact, system or process.
- c with state verbs (want, like, love, etc.) which describe what we like, think and feel.

We use the present continuous:

- d to talk about things that are happening now.
- e to talk about future plans and arrangements that we are sure about.

▶ GRAMMAR REFERENCE AND PRACTICE PAGE 149

2 Choose the correct verb forms.

- 1 Most athletes begin / are beginning their day with exercise.
- 2 Wow! This is an exciting final. Everyone is playing / plays so well.
- 3 I meet / 'm meeting Maria later today.
- 4 I usually am getting up / get up at about 7 o'clock.
- 5 The new fitness coach speaks French and is coming / comes from Canada.
- 6 Our class is visiting / visits a castle tomorrow.
- 7 Do you think / Are you thinking you really know all your friends on your social media sites?
- 8 My brother likes / is liking the same music as you.

3 Read the sentences. Which have a mistake?

Correct the mistakes.

- 1 Tonight we go to the cinema.
- 2 I'm writing to invite you to a picnic in the park on Saturday.
- 3 Those flowers are smelling really lovely.
- 4 That's the reason why I speak to you today.
- 5 I'm really pleased you are visiting my country.
- 6 Su-Jay is wears his new trainers today.
- 7 This evening, I'm going to a beach party with my friends.
- 8 My dad's company is producing material for NASA.

4 Think about a famous sportsperson. Find out about him or her and make some notes. Present your sportsperson to the class. Try to use the present simple and continuous.

Garbiñe Muguruza is from Venezuela but now lives in Switzerland. She is a famous tennis player and plays for Spain because her father is Spanish. She posts regularly on her Instagram account and you can also follow her on Facebook. Next month, she's taking part in an important international tennis competition.

- 4 Ask students to underline the following key words they could use to help them give the presentation. Garbiñe Muguruza / Venezuela / lives / Switzerland / famous tennis player / Spain / father / Spanish / posts on Instagram / follow / Facebook. / next month / taking part in / international / tennis competition. Tell students to make a note of key words about a famous sports person. Ask for volunteers to present to the class. The class can listen and count the uses of the present simple and continuous verbs forms.

Model answer

Mo Salah / Egyptian footballer / lives / UK / plays Liverpool / Egyptian national team / is married to Magi / one daughter / currently appearing in / anti-drugs campaign / took part in / the 2018 world cup

MIXED ABILITY

Pair students of the same ability to brainstorm information about a famous sports person. You could give weaker students the model answer to guide their note-making and give them time to practice presenting to each other before presenting to the class.

» GRAMMAR WORKSHEET UNIT 3

VOCABULARY

Suffixes: -ist, -er, -or

- 1 Books closed. Write the suffixes -ist, -er, -or in three columns on the board and set a two-minute time limit for students in pairs or small groups to write words for the appropriate columns. Give an example for each column: medallist, footballer and visitor. Elicit suggestions and write the words in the appropriate columns.

Do Exercise 1 as a class and point out the doubling of the final consonant 'n' in runner. Explain or elicit that in words of one syllable, ending in a consonant and preceded by one vowel, the consonant is doubled before a suffix beginning with a vowel. This also applies to words of more than one syllable whose final syllable is stressed, e.g. begin / beginner.

Answers

1 runner 2 competitor

- 2 Direct students to the suffixes in the box and explain that the suffix -er is used more frequently than the others to make nouns for people. Say each word in the box for students to call out the correct suffix. Add the words to the appropriate columns on the board. Highlight any spelling changes.

Answers

canoeist climber footballer sailor spectator surfer swimmer winner

- 3 Tell students to complete the words with the correct suffix individually. They compare in pairs before you check answers as a class. Nominate individuals to spell the word and ask the class to say if the answer and spelling is correct or not before accepting the answer.

Answers

1 player 2 competitor 3 cyclists 4 losers 5 supporters

- 4 Ask students to look at item 1 and say what the difference between final and finalist is (They are both nouns: final refers to the event, and finalist the person). Do the first item together before students continue individually.

Answers

1 final 2 finalist 3 medal 4 medallist

» VOCABULARY WORKSHEET UNIT 3

- 1 Read the instructions aloud and elicit or remind students of the meaning of blades. Ask students to read the introduction and to look at the photos. Ask a volunteer to give an answer.

Answers

It's an organisation that raises money to provide special equipment (prosthetics) to children with leg amputations.

- 2 Read the instructions and ask students to read items 1–6. Check students understand the meaning of the word link (join or connect) before asking them to read the comments and make notes to answer the questions. Put students into mixed ability pairs and monitor and help as necessary as students continue individually. Ask them to underline key words and phrases in the text which answer the questions. As you check answers, ask students to say which words and phrases in Zoe and Nat's online comments helped them answer the questions.

Answers

- 1 a non-uniform day, when students pay £1 to be allowed to wear their own clothes
- 2 All the students could wear something green.
- 3 She uses and and In addition.
- 4 a sponsored run
- 5 Three: there are lots of runners in his school; people like doing things for charity; it's a good way of telling the community about Runners Inc.
- 6 He uses Also and as well.

- 3 Go through the instructions and read the Prepare to write box aloud. Ask students to find phrases to make suggestions in Zoe and Nat's comments and write them on the board. Ask students to give examples of other phrases for making suggestions and add these to the board. Tell students to read the comments again and give examples of positive words and phrases to recommend something (it's a great way to; I'd really recommend ... it's a really good way of ...)

Answers

Zoe: Why don't we ..., We could ...
 Nat: Why not ..., We can ..., What about ...
 Other phrases: How about ..., Shall we ..., Let's ...

- 4 Ask students to read the information about the task. Put students into mixed ability pairs and ask them to write some ideas for each of the points. Monitor and check and help with ideas if necessary. Ask students to choose some expressions and link words and to add them to their notes. Invite individuals to share their ideas with the class before asking students to revisit their notes and add further ideas.

- 5 Tell students to write their comment and to check their spelling and grammar before swapping with a partner and checking each other's writing. Encourage students to give supportive comments on each other's writing, checking each other's work using the Prepare to write box. Bring the class together and ask for volunteers to tell the class about their suggestions.

COOLER

Write the following names of people who have appeared in the unit on the board or on sets of cards so you have enough for each group: Helen, Emma, Ntando, Garbiñe, Nat, Zoe. Put students into small groups and ask them to place the cards face down. They take turns to turn a card over or choose the next name and say what they can remember about the person. Monitor and make a mental note where extra help might be needed for the use of the present simple and continuous, suffixes with people nouns and verb/noun pairs. Students can check their ideas by looking back at the unit.

WRITING

An online comment

- 1 Ntando received his first blades from an organisation called Jumping Kids. There are many organisations that do similar work. Read a post on a school website about Runners Inc. What is it? Don't read the comments yet.

RUNNERS INC.

Runners Inc. gives children with leg amputations the chance to lead full and active lives by giving them special equipment to help them walk and run. At our school we're trying to raise £1,000 by the end of the year to donate to the organisation. What do you think we could do to raise the money? Post your ideas.

COMMENTS

ZOE

Why don't we organise a non-uniform day? We each donate £1 so that we don't have to wear our school uniform for one day. It's a great way to raise money for Runners Inc. and we get to wear our own cool clothes as well! In addition, we could all wear something green, because that's the organisation's colour. I'd really recommend that.

NAT

Why not encourage people to do an activity like a sponsored run? We can ask our family and neighbours to give us £1 for each time we run around the school sports field. There are lots of runners in my school and most people like doing something for charity. Also, it's a really good way of telling the community about Runners Inc. What about posting it on social media? That would be helpful as well, in my opinion.

- 2 Read Zoe's and Nat's online comments. Then answer the questions.

- 1 What does Zoe suggest?
- 2 What extra suggestion does she make?
- 3 How does she link her suggestions?
- 4 Which activity does Nat mention?
- 5 How many reasons does he give for his idea?
- 6 How does he link his reasons?

- 3 Read the Prepare to write box. What phrases do Zoe and Nat use to make suggestions? What other phrases could you use to suggest something?

PREPARE TO WRITE

Suggestions and comments

When you post your ideas online:

- explain your ideas and reasons clearly and link them, using phrases like in addition, also, as well.
- use different phrases for making suggestions.
- use positive words and phrases to recommend something.

- 4 Read the task below and plan your ideas.

We're planning a new sports club in this town.

We want ideas for sports for teenagers to do.

- > Suggest one sport the club should offer for teenagers.
- > Explain why you think teenagers would enjoy this sport.
- > Say why this sport would be good for the club.

Send us your ideas today!

- 5 Write your comment.

- Use the tips in the Prepare to write box.
- Write about 70 words.
- Remember to check your spelling and grammar.

WARMER

Write these words on the board: hot, wet, dry, cold. Ask students to name a country that experiences each type of weather (e.g. Thailand, Belgium, Morocco, Sweden) and to describe the weather in their country. Ask students what the term extreme weather means and if they have ever been in a snowstorm, tornado or thunderstorm.

ABOUT YOU

Check students understand the term weather forecast before putting them into pairs to discuss the questions. Monitor, encouraging students to give informative answers, and give positive feedback for interesting answers where possible.

VOCABULARY Extreme weather

- 1 Ask for different volunteers to say what is happening in the photos and write key words and phrases on the board. Ask students to vote for the scariest situation and ask volunteers to give reasons.

Possible answers

A a forest fire / trees are burning B a flood in a town
 C (heavy) snow D an earthquake or tornado / buildings have collapsed

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

Worsening weather events tend to be linked with global warming. An increase in temperature and humidity cause heatwaves, which increases evaporation and dries the soil in the summer. This makes it more difficult for people to grow food. When there is more moisture in the atmosphere there are more hurricanes, which damage homes and threaten lives. Also, global warming causes colder winters and a rise in sea levels. Melting ice in the Arctic and Antarctic is threatening wildlife; for example polar bears and penguins are losing their natural habitat, and this is putting them in danger of extinction.

- 2 Tell students they will hear four people describing extreme weather situations. Play the recording once. Ask students to compare their answers with a partner before checking as a class. If they need more support, play the recording again, pausing after each speaker to check answers.

- 3 Direct students to the boxes and ask which one contains nouns and which one contains verbs. (Nouns – first box, verbs – second box). Model pronunciation to help students recognise the words when they listen. You could ask students to close their eyes, say the first syllable of words from the boxes for students to guess and call out the complete word. Do not explain meanings of the words in the boxes at this stage. Ask students to read sentences 1–11 and check vocabulary as necessary. Play the audio and pause after each speaker and check answers.

PREPARE FOR THE EXAM

B1 PRELIMINARY FOR SCHOOLS

Reading Part 5

In this part, students are mainly tested on vocabulary, including precise meaning, collocations, fixed phrases and phrasal verbs. Some grammatical knowledge may be tested e.g. knowing which preposition comes after the correct word. The text contains six numbered spaces followed by a four-option multiple-choice cloze question for each space.

Tips Tell students that before they answer the questions, they should read the whole text to get an idea of the topic and general meaning. They should then look at each question, choosing the correct word for each space. Tell them to read the whole text again with their answers to check that it makes sense.

- 3 Direct students to the example space (0) in the second article and options A–D. Do the example item as a class. Explain that once students have decided on the correct answer, they should check that the remaining options do not fit in the space. Continue as a class, helping students explain the meanings of the words.

Answers

In the phrase even higher ... than there used to be the missing word is number. The sentence refers to the fact that Australian firefighters put out many fires, but we are not told the exact number of fires. It makes sense in this context. Also, number collocates with higher. The other options are wrong – sum and total are used to refer to an amount when several smaller numbers are added together. Figure is used to refer to the symbol for a number or an amount expressed in numbers.

1 C 2 B 3 D

- 4 Tell students to complete the exercise individually, then to compare their answers with a partner, checking the remaining options do not fit. Advise them to read the whole text at the end to check it makes sense. Nominate individuals to give answers, and others to say if they agree or not.

Answers

1 B 2 C 3 A 4 D 5 A 6 C

MIXED ABILITY

You could reduce the number of options for each item from four to three to help weaker students, although in the exam there will be four options. Monitor and tell them which one of the options is definitely wrong, for example: 1 A, 2 B, 3 C, 4 C, 5 B, 6 A.

FAST FINISHERS

Ask fast finishers to make notes to explain why options are incorrect. They can check in their dictionaries.

- 5 Advise students to underline key words in the questions to help them find the answers in the text. Tell them to answer the questions individually. Check answers.

Answers

- 1 Because they were near a large area of pine trees.
 - 2 Because the firefighters couldn't get to them.
 - 3 Fast-moving winds and storms which accompanied the fire.
- 6 Ask students to read the meanings 1–5 and check vocabulary as necessary. Do the first item as a class, asking for a volunteer to suggest an answer. Re-read the section of the text before and after the gap, and substitute the highlighted word or phrase for a meaning from 1–5 to check it makes sense. Remind students that this is a technique they can use to help them check their answers. Monitor and help as students continue individually before inviting individuals to give answers and see if the class agrees before feeding back.

TALKING POINTS

Put students into pairs to discuss the questions. You could write the following words on the board to give support: easy topic, strangers, damage, people, animals, rain clouds. Monitor and help with vocabulary as necessary. Encourage students to give reasons for their answers. Feed back as a class.

COOLER

Tell students to identify the words in Exercise 4 that are new for them and then to write the words in alphabetical order. Ask them to make a note of the meaning and write an example sentence for each one. They could check their work in a dictionary for homework.

READING

- 1 Read the fact file about bush fires in Australia. Answer the questions.
 - 1 When and why do bush fires happen?
 - 2 How are the fires important to Australia?

Australian bush fires

Australia's wild fires, or 'bush fires' as they are known, happen every year and have an effect on large areas of the country. Some fires are caused on purpose, some by accident, and others start because of natural causes, such as lightning. The hot, dry climate keeps fires burning and they can cause a lot of damage, both to property and to life. However, the fires have become an essential part of the country's ecology. Old wood is cleared away when it burns, and after the fire the soil contains a lot of good nutrients which help plants grow and keep the forests healthy.

- 2 Read the article below quickly and decide on the best title (A-C). Don't worry about the spaces yet.
 - A Firefighters in Australia take a break
 - B Canberra's hot weather is likely to continue
 - C Weather conditions create something unusual

In the past, summer fires were common in Australia. Now, because of climate change, there's an even higher ⁰ _____ than there used to be. And they're larger, too. Recently, one fire grew so powerful that it ¹ _____ a tornado nearly 500 metres wide. It destroyed many homes in the capital city, Canberra. These unlucky houses were situated less than 100 metres from a large ² _____ of pine trees on the edge of the city.

Several individual fires started burning and, because it was difficult for firefighters to ³ _____ them, they continued to burn. When the wind speed suddenly ⁴ _____ a few days later, the fires joined together. Scientists now ⁵ _____ this Australia's first 'fire tornado'. This was an extremely rare ⁶ _____ in Australia's history and was produced by storms which accompanied the fire.

1 Match the examples to the rules.

- In the past, fires during the summer months were common in Australia.
- It destroyed many homes in the capital city, Canberra.
- Last summer, one fire grew so powerful that it created a tornado nearly 500 metres wide.

We use the past simple to talk about:

- a single completed past action or event.
- something that happened at a particular time in the past.
- things that happened regularly in the past.

2 Look at the past simple verbs in Exercise 1. What are their infinitive forms?

3 Complete the text with the correct form of the verbs in brackets.

4 Match the examples to the rules.

- My family used to live just outside Canberra.
- As kids, we used to spend every August with our grandparents.
- Before electricity, how did people use to keep warm during the long, cold winters?
- Generally speaking, forest fires didn't use to be as common as they are now.
- Nick didn't use to come snowboarding with us, but now he loves it.

We use used to to talk about:

- something that happened or didn't happen regularly in the past.
- a permanent situation in the past that is no longer the case.

Dad asked me the next morning. I did, as I was exhausted! The next morning was all about 'self-rescue' – they ¹⁷ _____ (put) us in different groups and we ¹⁸ _____ (find) our way back to the main building. It was the best present ever!

WARMER

Books closed. Ask students about the weather, e.g. 'What was the weather like last Monday? Did it rain?' Nominate a strong student to ask another about the weather sometime last week or last month. The second student answers, asks another question, and nominates a different student to answer. The class listens to judge if the answers are factually correct. Continue until several students have had a turn.

- 1 Read sentences 1–3 and check students' understanding. Direct them to statements a–c and do the matching activity as a class. Give further example sentences for each of the rules ('The streets were flooded after the rain; It rained a lot last Wednesday; It snowed a lot in 1976').

- 2 Refer students to the highlighted forms of the verbs in 1–3 and ask for the infinitive forms. As you check answers, monitor for correct pronunciation, particularly for the extra -ed in created. If necessary, students could look back to Exercise 4 on page 25 and say which past tense forms of the verbs have an extra -ed syllable pronounced (succeeded, lifted, created) and why (the infinitive form ended in a /t/ or /d/). Write succeeded and lifted on the board, underlining the extra syllable.

Answers

- 3 Ask students to read the text, ignoring the spaces, and answer the question 'How did the writer feel about the 24-Hour Family Course?' (Very pleased – It was the best present ever!) Go through the example, and do item 1 together as a class. Remind students that with the past simple negative they should use didn't. Tell students to complete the exercise individually and check answers. Monitor for the pronunciation of -ed in hiked and crossed and add included and needed to the board. Ask if anyone has been on a similar course and what it was like.

- 5 Go through the first item together as a class before asking students to continue in mixed ability pairs. Monitor and help where necessary. Nominate individuals to give answers and see if the class agrees before feeding back. As you feed back on each item, give students extra information to help them understand the problem (see Answers).

Answers

- 1 we used to play (the letter 'd' has been omitted, it is not clearly heard when used to is pronounced so it's easy to forget.)
- 2 did you watch cartoons (the question form is made with the auxiliary did. The past continuous were watching is wrong as it would be used to refer to an activity in progress at a certain time in the past.)
- 3 it used to rain (the verb to be is not used with used to. Be careful not to confuse this with be used to which means you are familiar with something.)
- 4 where people used to go (used to is followed by the infinitive form of the verb.)

FAST FINISHERS

Ask fast finishers to write three sentences about themselves, including one sentence which is false. They read their sentences to each other (or the class) for others to guess the false information.

- 6 Direct students to page 135. Put students into same ability pairs to do the exercise. Students give their own answers.

>> GRAMMAR WORKSHEET UNIT 4VOCABULARY*Phrasal verbs

- 1 Ask students to read sentences 1–6 and to underline key words before and after the gap, to help them understand the sentence and choose a verb with an appropriate meaning. Do the first item together as a class, checking for the correct past tense form of the phrasal verb. Monitor as students continue individually and ask for volunteers to suggest answers.

Answers

1 burned down 2 put out 3 blew away 4 came out

B1 PRELIMINARY FOR SCHOOLS Listening Part 4

In this part, students have to understand detailed meaning and identify attitudes and opinions. It consists of an interview, with six three-option multiple-choice questions. They hear the recording twice.

Tips Each question asks about a different event. Students should focus on listening to information about the particular event to find the answer.

- 14  2 Ask students to read the six questions and underline key words. Tell them to compare in pairs and check vocabulary as necessary. Play the recording for students to answer the questions, but do not check at this stage. Then, ask students to compare their answers and play the recording again for them to check answers before whole-class feedback. Ask for volunteers to say why the other options are wrong (see Possible answers).

PREPARE FOR THE EXAM

B1 PRELIMINARY FOR SCHOOLS Speaking Part 1

In this part, students are tested on their ability to use general interactional and social language. They may have to answer questions about their past experiences.

Tip Remind students to use expressions from the Prepare to speak box as it will help make them sound more fluent and give them time to compose their answers.

- 4 Give students two minutes to write key words and phrases they could use to answer the questions. Choose a strong pair of students to do the activity in front of the class, taking turns to be the 'examiner' asking the questions in Exercise 1. Remind them to use the phrases in the Prepare to speak box before putting the class into pairs to ask and answer. In feedback, ask students to tell the class any interesting things they learned about their partner.

Possible answers

My favourite outdoor activity when I was a child was roller-skating in the summer and playing in the snow in the winter. Let me see, I used to play games outside every day until it got dark at night.
Do you mean when it was hot? When the weather was good I used to go to the local park and play tennis and that kind of thing with my friends.

COOLER

Ask students to look back over the unit and find all of the verbs which have irregular past tenses. Write these on the board. Ask students to choose five verbs and write down their infinitive forms. Read out the past form of the verbs one by one in any order. If students have written down the infinitive form, they cross it off. When they have crossed off all five words, they shout 'Bingo!'

PREPARE FOR THE EXAM

Listening Part 4

- 2 You will hear an interview with a teenage boy called Jake, who got lost on a snowy mountain in Oregon, USA. Read the six questions. Then listen and try to answer the questions, choosing A, B or C.

- 1 What happened to Jake's skis?
A He carried them down the mountain.
B He left them where they came off.
C He hid them both in the deep snow.
- 2 Jake stopped walking down the mountain because
A it was too dark for him to reach the bottom.
B there was still a lot of snow falling.
C he couldn't remember what to do from the TV shows.
- 3 What was good about Jake's snow cave?
A It was built on flat ground.
B It allowed him to remove his gloves.
C It kept him completely out of the wind.
- 4 Who was out looking for Jake that evening?
A a single helicopter
B groups of people on foot
C both of his parents
- 5 What part of Bear Grylls' advice did Jake follow in the woods?
A search for tracks in the snow
B look for lights to aim at
C walk on your hands and knees
- 6 While Jake was missing, his mother
A tried to contact him on her cellphone.
B thought that not enough people were looking for him.
C stayed positive by thinking about him.

LIFE SKILLS COLLABORATION

WORKING AS A TEAM

LIFE SKILLS

Working as a team

Projects and other activities can be easier if we work with other people as a team. We can do tasks more quickly if we share the work and help each other. Different group members can combine their talents and work on tasks they enjoy, while teaching other people how to improve.

1 Ask and answer the questions with a partner.

- 1 How often do you work in teams in your classes?
- 2 Do you do any team activities in your free time?
- 3 Do you like working in teams? Why? / Why not?

2 Read the text on the opposite page quickly. Why does Jenny enjoy team projects? What role does she like?

3 Match the sentences with the introduction or tips 1–5 in the text.

- 1 Some people may want to choose tasks they are good at doing.
- 2 Everyone has to be responsible and complete their own tasks.
- 3 If you don't understand the instructions, check with the teacher.
- 4 Think carefully about the best order for doing the different tasks.
- 5 When team members don't work well together, projects are more difficult.
- 6 It's more successful if team members each have a special part to play in the team.

4 Match the highlighted words in the text to the meanings.

- 1 look carefully for something
- 2 making you feel nervous or worried
- 3 divide a thing into smaller parts
- 4 use something in a careless way
- 5 any time or always

5 Look at photos A–C. What project topics could they represent?

6 Listen to a conversation. Which topic from the photos does David like for the team project?

7 Listen again and complete the sentences.

- 1 Anna thinks they should do a project about ...
- 2 David's mum thinks he should stay ...
- 3 David's mum suggests that he asks his teacher ...
- 4 David's first idea for the group project was ...
- 5 Last year, David took a course about ...

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

Nowadays, it is usual for people to work as a team in almost every industry, for example, in information technology, food services and business services. Employees are expected to be able to work well with others, and this is made clear in many job descriptions, where the phrase 'team player' can be found. The top teamwork skills include being able to communicate, managing conflict, listening well, being reliable and showing respect for people and their ideas.

WARMER

Write life skills on the board and put students into pairs or small groups to discuss what the phrase might mean. Ask for suggestions and examples and write key words and phrases on the board. Tell students that working as a team is an example of a life skill.

LIFE SKILLS

Working as a team

Tell students to read the information and check vocabulary as necessary, for example, share and combine. Invite students to say if they agree or disagree with anything in the text and to give reasons.

- 1 Put students into pairs to discuss the questions. Monitor and help individuals get their ideas across and give positive feedback where possible. Bring the class together and ask for volunteers to share ideas on each of the questions. Do not over-correct for accuracy and add more key words and phrases on the board.

Answers

- 2 Read the question and check students understand the meaning of the word role (the part that someone plays in something). Ask students how they are going to read the article (read quickly until they locate relevant information and then read carefully). Nominate individuals to give answers and ask individuals if they agree with Jenny.

Answers

She enjoys team projects because she likes sharing ideas with other people (and she gets bored when she works alone). She likes finding information.

- 3 Do the first item together as a class to demonstrate the activity. Ask students to underline key words or phrases to help focus their reading (for item 1, key words could be choose, good at doing) and these words or close synonyms occur in tip 3. Monitor and help as students continue individually before checking answers.

Answers

- 1 Tip 3: Team members can choose tasks they do well or enjoy.
- 2 Tip 5: Do your fair share, so other team members don't have to do your work for you.
- 3 Tip 1: If you're doing a class project, you need to check the teacher's instructions carefully and ask questions whenever something isn't clear.
- 4 Tip 4: List all the tasks and think about when each one must be finished.
- 5 Introduction: In fact, they can be stressful if people don't know how to work well together. Here are some tips to make team work easier.
- 6 Tip 2: Teams work better when people have roles.

MIXED ABILITY

For Exercise 3, offer more help where students appear to be challenged by rephrasing parts of items 1–6 using the words in the text where appropriate as you monitor. For example, 1 good at doing = do well; 2 own tasks = own work; 3 don't understand = isn't clear; 4 best order = list all the tasks; 5 projects are more difficult = they can be stressful; 6 a special part to play = have roles.

The Reading text is recorded for students to listen, read and check their answers.

- 4 Tell students to complete the exercise individually, and to compare their answers with a partner. Advise them to read each sentence and substitute the highlighted word with the correct meaning (1–5) and check it makes sense. Nominate individuals to give answers, and others to say if they agree or not.

PROJECT A team presentation

Focus students' attention on the four project ideas and ask them to suggest useful vocabulary. Write these vocabulary items on the board. Put students into small groups and ask them to choose a topic for their project, either from the list given in the book or an idea of their own that the group agrees on.

Go through the checklist of points 1–6 and check understanding where required before asking students to prepare their presentation. Monitor and help with discussions if necessary, and remind students to use some of the phrases from the Useful language box where appropriate.

Ask the class to make a note of the answers as other students give their presentations. These could be useful for the project extension task.

PROJECT EXTENSION

Ask students to reflect on the process of preparing for their project, and to say what they thought was good or what they would do differently on another occasion. Tell students to review the product of their work and how they think it could be improved. Also, ask students to refer to the notes they took during other students' presentations and to decide if their classmates' ideas could be incorporated into a future presentation. Students could choose another topic, apply their reflections and give another presentation in a later class.

COOLER

Ask students to look at the paragraph headings in Team work tips, to put them in order of importance and compare their ideas (there is no right or wrong answer). They write five key words or phrases associated with each point.

TEAM WORK

If you're like me, you do a lot of team projects at school. For example, last term, I did a school presentation about recycling with some classmates and it was much easier and faster than doing everything alone. I enjoy team projects because I'm a sociable person. I like sharing ideas with other people and I get bored when I work alone. Of course, team activities aren't always easy. In fact, they can be stressful if people don't know how to work well together. Here are some tips to make team work easier.

tips

By Jenny Larkins

1 Know the goals:

Make sure everyone understands the goal of the project. If you're doing a class project, you need to check the teacher's instructions carefully and ask questions whenever something isn't clear. There's a popular saying: 'If you don't know where you're going, you probably won't get there.'

2 Assign roles:

Teams work better when people have roles. For example, there should be a leader who helps everyone make decisions. There might also be a note-taker who writes down the team's ideas during meetings, and a time-keeper to make sure people don't waste time chatting. That was my role for the recycling project! Other roles might be fact-checker or group representative for speaking to the class.

3 Divide the work:

For large projects, we can divide the work into smaller tasks for particular people. Team members can choose tasks they do well or enjoy. I always volunteer to find information because I like to read and search for facts on the internet. Other people might be good at writing or making computer presentations. Of course, you shouldn't always do the same task. It's good to try new things, even if they're difficult!

4 Make a plan:

After you split up the work, write down a plan on paper. You can use a chart or a calendar to help you. List all the tasks and think about when each one must be finished. For example, I had to find the facts for my recycling project before my teammates could start the presentation. For that reason, it's important for everyone to follow the plan. And if you can't finish your part on time, tell the others as soon as possible.

5 Be respectful:

When you're working in a team, respect is essential. Listen when others are speaking and don't interrupt. Do your fair share, so other team members don't have to do your work for you. Finally, try to stay positive and enjoy yourself. Everything is easier when you're having fun!

Reading Part 6

In this part, students are mainly tested on knowledge of grammatical structures, and also phrasal verbs and fixed phrases. Students read a short text with six words missing. They complete each gap with one word.

Tips Advise students to read the text, ignoring the gaps, to get a general idea of the meaning. Tell them to focus on each gap and decide which type of word is missing (for example, a verb, article, preposition, linking word, part of a phrase, adverb, etc.) before deciding on the word that fits best. Tell them to read the sentences with the gaps again to check they make sense. Point out that students should only write one word and write an answer for each question as they will not lose marks for a wrong answer.

- 2 Point out that the missing words belong to different parts of speech, and that students should focus on the type of word needed for each gap, according to the context; for example, an auxiliary verb that is part of a tense or an adjective that is followed by a preposition.

WARMER

Put students into mixed ability teams and give each team two or three of the following verbs: create, customise, design, decorate, fix, invent, mend, rebuild, recycle, stick, sew. Ask them to use their dictionaries to write a definition for each word. Ask a volunteer from each team to teach their words to the class.

Possible answers

create (make something exist), customise (change something to make it suitable for a particular purpose), design (draw or plan something before making it), decorate (make something more attractive by putting things on it), fix (repair), invent (design something that has never existed before), mend (repair), rebuild (build something again), recycle (put used paper, glass, etc. through a process so that it can be used again), stick (join things together, usually using glue), sew (join things together with a needle and thread).

Direct students to the title of the unit and tell them that as well as its literal meaning, it is an idiom meaning to succeed at something or to arrive at your destination.

ABOUT YOU

04 You can begin the class and introduce the topic of the unit by showing the video and asking students to complete the video worksheet. Then, read the questions in the About you box and put students into pairs to exchange information. Monitor and encourage students to use some of the vocabulary from the Warmer and extend their answers with reasons and examples. Nominate individuals to tell the class about their partner and see if others do or think the same.

VOCABULARY Verbs for making things

- Put students into pairs to take turns to describe the photos. Monitor and encourage them to help each other describe things if they don't know a word. Bring the class together and invite two or three students to describe a picture. Write any useful vocabulary on the board and check understanding by asking for a description, miming or giving a translation of the words.

Possible answers

- A before = tyres; now = plant pots
- B before = a wooden pallet; now = a go-kart
- C before = pipes, springs, clock/timer/compass; now = a musical instrument
- D before = plain trainers; now = customised trainers

- 18  2 Tell students to listen to the three teens and match each one with a photo. Play the recording. Elicit answers and see if the class agrees before confirming.

- 18  3 Read sentence halves 1–3 and a–c aloud to familiarise students with the pronunciation. Ask students to match the sentence halves and play the first part of the recording to check answers. For Leah and Will's turns, ask students to 'say' the sentence halves in their head so they can prepare themselves for listening. Play the recording, pausing after Leah's turn for students to reflect on what they heard and check answers. Play Will's turn and check answers.

- Put students into pairs to read the questions and to number them in order of interest. Tell them to start their discussion with the most interesting question and remind them to expand their answers with examples and reasons. Put students into different pairs and ask them to tell their new partner about anything interesting they learned about their previous partner.

READING

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

Nowadays, many people turn their hobbies into a job, providing products or services usually working from home. One area is photography. People with a good eye and cameras can take photographs of weddings and other special occasions. Another area is making handbags and T-shirts. With the increase of online shops, it's easier for people to sell their goods. People who are interested in exercise and fitness can train and get a certificate to become a personal trainer. Social media platforms such as LinkedIn, Facebook, Pinterest, Instagram, Google+ and Twitter have made it easier for people to market and sell their products or services and make professional connections.

- 1 Read the instructions, direct students to look at the photo and title and set a short time limit of about three minutes for students to read and say what they think the text is about. Ask for three volunteers to make suggestions and see which is the most popular if there are differences of opinion. Tell students to read the first paragraph and find a word which means 'cool, casual clothes' (streetwear). Ask students to give examples of words for items of streetwear (for example, jeans, hoodies, shorts).

B1 PRELIMINARY FOR SCHOOLS

Reading Part 4

In this part, students read a text from which five sentences have been removed. They have to choose the sentence which fills each gap from eight sentences. The five sentences are not given in the same order as they appear in the text. This part tests reading for gist and understanding of text structure.

Tips Advise students to read the information before and after each gap before deciding which option is the best fit. Tell them to read the whole text again to check it makes sense. Remind students that they should never leave an answer blank as they won't lose marks for an incorrect answer.

- 2 Ask students to read sentences A–H carefully and do the first item together as a class. Elicit or point out the connections between words in sentence C and the ideas either side of the gap (loved trainers; spent the money they earned ... on really good ones; built up a collection). Put students into mixed ability pairs to continue. Monitor and encourage them to analyse the information in the text and match it up with information in the sentences. Invite volunteers to give answers and see if the class agrees before confirming.

FAST FINISHERS

Ask fast finishers to make notes to explain their choices. Nominate them to explain their choices and help them express their ideas.

Answers

- 19  The Reading text is recorded for students to listen, read and check their answers.

- 3 Ask students to read the meanings 1–5 and check vocabulary if necessary. Do the first item as a class, asking for a volunteer to suggest an answer. Re-read the relevant section of the text and substitute the highlighted word or phrase for a meaning from 1–5 to check it makes sense. Remind students to do this to help them check their answers. Monitor and help as they continue individually before inviting individuals to give answers and see if the class agrees before feeding back. Ask for volunteers to give reasons for their choice.

TALKING POINTS

Before discussing the questions, put students into pairs to write some notes on useful vocabulary. As students discuss in pairs, monitor and encourage them to add examples of situations or reasons to expand on their answers. Give positive feedback where possible. Bring the class together to share ideas. Write key words and phrases to describe advantages and disadvantages of having a job which is a hobby on the board, and take a vote on whether or not the class thinks it's a good idea or not.

COOLER

Write the words and phrases from Vocabulary, Exercise 3, on page 32 on the board. Give students one minute to study the words and phrases, then erase them. Ask students to write down the words they remember. Find out who remembered the most, and ask them to come and write them on the board. Ask for suggestions of other missing words and add them to the board. Check spellings and pronunciation as a class.

READING

- 1 Look at the title of the article and the photos. What do you think the article is about? Read the text quickly and check your ideas. Ignore the spaces.

From hobby TO JOB

Twins Chet and Betts DeHart have achieved what many young people only dream of – they've made it in the fashion world. When they were just 15, they created the streetwear brand Lucid FC, which now sells worldwide.

As kids, the boys loved trainers. ¹_____ Slowly, they built up a collection. Betts, the twin with the business brain, knew all about the trainers he wore, how many were sold and where they were being produced. ²_____ He set up a YouTube channel, Sole Brothers, where he reviewed trainers in the twins' collection.

While they were still at school, the twins decided to make their own trainers. They sold their collection to raise money for their brand, communicated with manufacturers overseas and finally released a shoe. Unfortunately, it didn't sell well. ³_____ The result of these conversations led to the production of a shoe decorated with a logo, which looked good and became popular.

After a couple of years, the boys decided to rename their brand Lucid FC and launch their first collection, which included items of clothing. While they were studying the fashion business at college, they looked for manufacturers who could make their products. ⁴_____ The next challenge was to find stores to sell their products. The twins were shopping at the fashionable VFiles clothing shop when they were offered jobs and their manager later decided to stock the brand.

Celebrities were soon wearing it, too. One of their first customers, Rihanna, was wearing a Lucid FC jacket and cap at a basketball match in 2015 when someone took a photo of her. ⁵_____ Today, the business continues to grow and the brothers have great plans for the future.

Model answer

I decided to make a gift for my friend, Ella. It was her fifteenth birthday the following week.

What present could I give Ella? I didn't have much money to spend and I wanted it to be something special. While I was thinking, I suddenly had a brilliant idea. I could create a book about her life so far.

I had an empty photograph album and filled it with different photos of Ella and our school friends. Then I decorated the cover with pictures of her favourite animals and music stars.

As Ella was opening the present, I said, 'I hope you like it'.

And yes, she did!

WRITING A story (1)

- 1 Do you enjoy reading stories? What makes a story interesting?
- 2 Read Evie's story quickly. How many people had the same sunglasses?

'The same sunglasses' by Evie

My brother and I were planning a holiday to Spain and we wanted some good sunglasses. Last week we decided to go to the shopping mall. We were walking past our favourite shop, when I saw they had a sale! First, we tried on lots of pairs of designer label sunglasses. Next, we each picked out a pair. We both chose the same pair of really cool sunglasses. When we were leaving the shop, we saw our best friends, Poppy and Harvey. Suddenly, we started laughing at each other because we were all wearing the same pink and blue sunglasses! It was very funny!

- 3 Read the Prepare to write box. Then read sentences 1–3 below.

- 2 Ask students to look at the quiz and say what they think it's about (how much they know about keeping yourself and others healthy). Take a vote on the most popular suggestions. Put students into mixed ability pairs and do the first word together as a class. Ask students to read the question and the three possible answers. Ask them which words and phrases give them clues about the word in bold, burn (for example, hot pan, ice, cool water). Monitor and help as necessary as students continue in pairs. Check answers as a class and help students express their ideas. You could use gesture and mime to help where necessary.

Possible answers

burn = hurt by heat or fire cut = break the surface of the skin bleed = to lose blood blow your nose = use a tissue to clear your nose blink = close and open eyes quickly coughing = pushing air out of your throat or lungs injure = physically hurt recover = go back to the normal state aches = gives continuous pain, not strong yawn = take a lot air into the lungs when tired or bored breathe = to move air into and out of the lungs beating = the regular sound the heart makes

- 3 Ask students to do the quiz together and monitor and advise them to choose the closest alternative if necessary.
- 4  Model the words in blue before students listen so they are aware of the pronunciation and can recognise them more quickly. Play the recording and pause after each question to check answers. Also, ask students what else they remember from the text and play the recording a second time if you think they need more practice.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

According to the BBC, children aged between five and sixteen spend an average of six and a half hours a day looking at a screen, with some teenage boys spending an average of eight hours. Although research figures vary, there is general consensus that young people are spending far too much time on screen-based activities. It is also agreed that engaging in screen-based activities before bedtime has a large and negative effect on children's sleep, including young people having insufficient and poor quality sleep.

- 1 Nominate students to answer the questions and calculate the average number of hours for each question. If there is a difference, invite students to suggest reasons why. Do not over-correct for accuracy, but help students get their ideas across.

Answers

- 2 Go through the instructions and ask for suggestions. Set a short time limit of about four minutes for students to read the text quickly. Ask students to explain their answers and say why they ruled out others.

Answers

- 3 Read the instructions and do the first item as a class. Ask students to say which words or phrases in paragraph A are topically connected to the title (suggestions: devices, blue light, sleep hormone, melatonin, sleep patterns, circadian rhythms). Help students understand the general meanings where necessary. Put students into mixed ability pairs to complete the activity and monitor and help where necessary.

 ²¹ The Reading text is recorded for students to listen, read and check their answers.

- 4 Ask students to read the meanings 1–5 and check vocabulary if necessary. Do the first item as a class, asking for a volunteer to suggest an answer. Re-read the section of the text and substitute the highlighted word or phrase for a meaning from 1–5 to check it makes sense. Remind students to do this to help them check their answers. Monitor and help as they continue individually before inviting individuals to give answers and see if the class agrees before feeding back. Ask for volunteers to give reasons for their choice.

Answers

1 feature 2 mood 3 concentrate 4 devices 5 wondering

MIXED ABILITY

For weaker students, monitor and point to information in the main text that could help them intuit the meaning of some of the highlighted words or phrases. For example: devices = like phones or tablets; concentrate = brain, harder to learn; mood = sad or anxious; wondering – why ..., how ...; feature = night-time setting.

 TALKING POINTS

Put students into same ability pairs to write a note of useful vocabulary to use before discussing the questions. As students discuss in pairs, monitor and encourage them to add examples of situations or reasons to expand on their answers. Give positive feedback where possible. Bring the class together to share ideas.

FAST FINISHERS

Ask fast finishers to give each other advice to improve the quality of their sleep. Listen out for their use of modal verbs and make a note of problems for the next class. Do not over-correct for accuracy as students share these with the class.

COOLER

Write the highlighted words and phrases from Vocabulary, Exercise 2, on page 36 on the board. Give students one minute to study the words and phrases, then erase them. Tell students to write down the words they remember. Find out who remembered the most, and ask them to come and write them on the board. Ask the class to look again at page 36 to see if there are any missing words, and add them to the board. Check spellings and pronunciation as a class.

SCREEN TIME at BEDTIME

Do you find yourself yawning all day at school? You probably need more sleep – according to doctors, teenagers have to get at least nine hours' sleep a night. However, it's not just how much sleep you get that's important. What you do before you go to bed also has a huge effect on how you feel the next day. If you spend time chatting to someone on social media, or reading a book on your e-reader, you are not alone. However, you ought to reduce your screen time at night. Although scientists are only just beginning to understand the full effects, the main message is that using devices like phones or tablets before bedtime is not good for your health.

A All devices' screens give out a large amount of blue light. That isn't a problem unless you want to go to sleep. This blue light affects the body's production of the sleep hormone, melatonin, which can change your sleep patterns, or circadian rhythms. So it isn't just getting to sleep that becomes hard, but the quality of your sleep also suffers. The result is that you can wake up several times during the night, and have difficulty getting up in the morning.

B Sleep is food for the brain, so not sleeping well can be a serious problem for anyone, but is especially bad for teenagers, because their brains are still developing. When you don't sleep well, it can be difficult to concentrate at school, which makes it harder to learn and get good grades. It can also affect your mood, making you feel sad or anxious.

C So, it's clear you shouldn't use your phone or tablet before you go to sleep. Why not leave your phone in another room? You mustn't worry about your friends. Nothing on social media is so important that it can't wait a few hours! You should rediscover paper books and enjoy feeling tired and sleepy before bedtime rather than wondering why your best friend hasn't liked your photo! How will you wake up? You don't have to use the alarm on your phone. Go and buy yourself an old-fashioned alarm clock!

D The negative effects that screen time is having on sleep has been in the news a lot recently, so manufacturers of smartphones and tablets have added a feature to their devices that can help reduce these. Most new phones have a night-time setting that changes the colour of the screen so that it gives out less blue light. So, if you really can't avoid going onto social media at bedtime, you ought to think about turning on this setting on your phone.

- 3 Match the titles to paragraphs A–D. There is one extra title that you don't need.

- 1 What are technology companies doing about this?
- 2 The dangers of not getting a good night's sleep
- 3 What you should eat before you go to bed
- 4 How to reduce your screen time
- 5 The science of sleep and technology use

- 4 Match the highlighted words in the article to the meanings.

- 1 an important part or characteristic of something
- 2 the way you feel
- 3 think about the thing you are doing and nothing else
- 4 pieces of electronic equipment, like phones or tablets
- 5 trying to understand the reason for something

TALKING POINTS

What was the last thing you did before you went to sleep last night? Do you have a routine before going to sleep? Do you think you should change your bedtime routine? In what ways?

Put students into pairs or small groups to make suggestions for getting a good night's sleep. Ask for suggestions and to choose a column for it. Monitor for the use of have to, don't have to, should and ought to and make a mental note of where students might need extra guidance.

- 1 Ask students to read sentences 1–6, check vocabulary as necessary and go through the exercise with the class. Check answers and ask students to say which of the four columns they would put the advice in (a good idea – 4, 5; a bad idea – 6; necessary – 1, 3; not necessary – 2). Ask students to make similar sentences to talk about how to avoid the health problems in Vocabulary, Exercise 2, page 36. If necessary, remind students that have to is different to the other modal verbs in that the auxiliary do is required for questions and negatives.

CULTURE VIDEO AND CULTURE VIDEO WORKSHEET: Sports in Canada

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

The red maple tree was considered important from the times of the aboriginal people who inhabited the territory, and was first recognised as a symbol of Canada in 1700. The leaf was adopted as the official national symbol when Canada's national flag was created on 15th February 1965. Before that time, the flag was red, with the Union Jack at the top left. The maple leaf was described as the King of the Canadian forest, as well as the symbol of the people. The leaf itself has 11 points, and represents no particular species of maple.

WARMER

Brainstorm some sports onto the board and encourage the students to complete this table:

Sport	Equipment	How do you play it?
football	ball, two goals	Players kick the ball and score goals

Ask students, in pairs, to ask and answer questions about their favourite sports. Write these questions on the board to help them: What's your favourite sport? How do you play it? How often do you play it? Do you play in a team?

ABOUT YOU

Ask students to write key words in answer to the questions. Put them into pairs to exchange information and monitor and encourage them to extend their answers with reasons and examples. Nominate individuals to tell the class about their partner and ask if others do or think the same.

- 1 Direct students to the photos of the equipment A–F and ask if anyone has ever played or seen a game of lacrosse. Say each of the words for students to call out the corresponding photo letter.

Go through the instructions with the class. Direct students to look again at the topics of the sentences in Exercise 5 and to suggest the type of information they could include in their answers to the Project questions 1–6. Write useful key words and phrases on the board. Monitor and help students make notes as necessary, and encourage them to use the phrases from the Useful language box. Put students into pairs and give them the opportunity to practise making their presentations with each other using their notes before they give their presentations to the class. Suggest that students make notes of interesting ideas that could be used in the project extension activity.

PROJECT EXTENSION

Organise the students into groups or pairs and tell them they are going to produce a text about a national sport similar to the Team Sports in Canada article. Ask them to look at this text again and ask: 'How is it organised? Are there headings?' (There is an introduction and four headings relating to different sports.)

Tell the students to choose a national sport and find out about it. They should make notes in a table and could include any interesting information they learned from other students' presentations. Then ask them to write about the sport, including an introduction and headings relevant to their article, and decorate their notes with any photos they have been able to find. Display their work around the classroom.

TEAM SPORTS IN CANADA

Many Canadians enjoy team sports. Some are amateurs who play in their free time, while others are professional athletes. Team sports also attract lots of spectators, especially when there is a national or international championship.

ICE HOCKEY

is Canada's official winter sport and the most popular sport on TV. In this cold, northern country, many people learn to skate as children, at public ice rinks or on frozen lakes. Many boys and girls sign up for junior hockey and continue playing as adults. Canada has seven professional teams that play in the National Hockey League. The NHL also includes 24 teams from the USA. Every year, these teams compete for the Stanley Cup, which is the oldest hockey award in North America. It's named after Lord Frederick Stanley, who established the competition in 1893.

CANADIAN FOOTBALL

is another popular spectator sport in Canada. It's quite similar to American football because the players wear helmets, shoulder pads and other types of protection. However, Canadian teams have twelve players (instead of only eleven) and the playing field is larger. Many Canadian high schools and universities have football teams that compete in regional and national championships. There is also a Canadian Football League with eight professional teams. The most important CFL competition is the Grey Cup, which millions of fans watch on TV every year.

BASKETBALL

isn't the most popular team sport in Canada, which is surprising because a Canadian teacher invented the game in 1891. James Naismith was working at a school in the USA when he had an idea for a new team sport. Nowadays, Canadian students often play basketball in PE class and it's also a typical after-school activity. At the moment, there is only one professional basketball team in Canada – the Toronto Raptors – which competes in the NBA. There are also Canadian players on other NBA teams.

BASEBALL

is an iconic sport in the USA and many Canadians also enjoy playing and watching the game. Many young people play baseball in their leisure time and softball is also popular. Softball is similar to baseball, but the ball is softer and bigger, so it's easier to hit with a bat. At the professional level, Canada has one major league baseball team – the Toronto Blue Jays. They compete against teams in the USA and have won the World Series championship twice, in 1992 and in 1993. There used to be another Canadian team in Montreal, called the Expos, but they moved to Washington D.C. after the 2004 season.

PROJECT

A presentation

Prepare a presentation about a national sport. Use the topics in Exercise 5 and the questions below to help you.

- 1 Where is the sport popular? Who plays it?
- 2 How is the sport played?
- 3 What special equipment do players use?
- 4 Is the sport similar to any other sports?
- 5 What is the history of the sport?
- 6 What are the biggest competitions?

Make your presentation to the class.

WORKBOOK: pages 28–31
PHOTOCOPIABLE WORKSHEETS: Grammar worksheet Unit 7; Vocabulary worksheet Unit 7
TEST GENERATOR: Unit test 7; Term test 1

WARMER

Write the title of the unit on the board and see if students know what it means (to check instruments and equipment before a music performance). Ask students what their favourite kinds of music are (e.g. rock, pop, jazz, rap) and write the top five on the board. Set a time limit of three minutes and put students into pairs to list as many performers for each category as they can. Ask the pair with the longest list for each type of music to read it to the class.

ABOUT YOU

Tell students to make notes to answer the questions before putting them into pairs to discuss their ideas. Model the activity by giving your own responses and encourage students to extend their answers with reasons and examples. Invite students to tell the class what another student thinks and feels about music and when and where they listen to it.

VOCABULARY Music

- 1 Ask students to look at the photos and answer the questions. Write any interesting or useful music vocabulary and key words and phrases on the board, including the places where the music events are taking place: TV/radio studio, concert hall, festival, recording studio.

Possible answers

- A The band is recording a music video.
- B The people are musicians and are at Sydney Opera House concert hall.
- C The person is in a music recording studio at a mixing desk. He may be a sound engineer or a producer.
- D The crowd is at a music festival. They may be listening to a gig or waiting for a band / singer to start.
- E The people are in a radio studio. There is an interview taking place.

- 2 Tell students they will hear five short conversations and play the recording for students to match the speakers with the photos. If you feel students need more support, pause the recording after each of the texts and elicit answers. You could ask students to recall what they can remember about each conversation before asking them to listen again and follow with the audioscript.

Answers

1 E 2 D 3 B 4 A 5 C

- 3 Books closed. Read the words and phrases from the box and check students understand meanings. Monitor and help with pronunciation as this will make it easier for students to recognise the words when they hear them. Ask students to open their books and read items 1–15, ignoring the gaps, and check vocabulary as necessary. Monitor and help if necessary as students complete the sentences individually. Ask students to compare answers with a partner before checking as a class.

Nominate individuals to give answers and model words for pronunciation where necessary. Point out the difference in pronunciation in the word live /laɪv/ (seen or heard as it happens) and live /lɪv/ (have your home somewhere).

MIXED ABILITY

Ask stronger students to complete the sentences without looking at the box first. They can then check and make any necessary changes.

- 4 Put students into pairs to read the questions. Remind them to expand their answers with examples and reasons as they discuss the questions. Monitor and give positive feedback for detailed and/or interesting information. Bring the class together and report any interesting comments. Students give their own answers.

FAST FINISHERS

Ask fast finishers to choose two questions from Exercise 4. They should write a paragraph about their partner using as much vocabulary from Exercise 3 as possible. They can read it to the class after Exercise 4.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

Technology developments and social media have had a huge effect on the music industry. More and more music is available for free or very cheaply and thousands of songs are uploaded every day onto the internet using music streaming apps such as Amazon Music, Apple Music or Spotify. However, while many people pay to use these services, some stream music illegally and deprive musicians of revenue. Musicians are much more independent now; they have more control over the distribution of their music and are able to cultivate their own audiences. Music fans have much more variety and choice than ever before.

- 1 Read the question and elicit some suggestions from the class. Encourage students to use opinion phrases from Unit 6 and write key words on the board.

Answers

Students' own answers

- 2 Ask students to make suggestions about the significance of the numbers. Help them express their ideas and add more key words to the board.

Answers

Students' own answers

- 3 Before students read the article, pre-teach follower, social media and posts. Write the words on the board and give the following definitions: 'a piece of writing published online, like a blog' (posts); 'someone who chooses to see a person's posts or messages' (follower); 'websites and applications for people to share information' (social media). Set a short time limit of about three minutes for students to read the article quickly to check their ideas for Exercise 2. Tell them to guess the meaning of new vocabulary at this stage. Brainstorm answers as a class.

Answers

- A the year he became famous
- B the number of minutes it took for his debut EP to reach number 1 on iTunes
- C 10.8 million – the number of followers on Twitter in 2014
- D The number of 'likes' he had on Vine after he posted his version of the Justin Bieber song As Long as You Love Me

- 4 Do the first item together as a class. Ask students to read the question and options A–C and check vocabulary as necessary. Ask students to underline key words in the options (suggestions: A – lessons; B – watched videos; C – friend taught) and to read the first paragraph carefully to identify the correct option (B). Ask for volunteers to say why the other options are wrong (suggestion: points not mentioned). Monitor and help as necessary as students continue individually and ask fast finishers to decide why other options are wrong. Check answers as a class, and direct students to the relevant part of the text where they can locate the answer.

Answers

1 B 2 C 3 A 4 B 5 C

The Reading text is recorded for students to listen, read and check their answers.

- 5 Ask students to read the meanings 1–5 and check vocabulary as necessary. Do the first item as a class, asking for a volunteer to suggest an answer. Ask students how they can check their answers (by re-reading the section of the text before and after the gap, and substituting the highlighted word or phrase for a meaning (1–5) to check the sentence makes general sense). Monitor and help as students continue individually before inviting individuals to give answers and see if the class agrees before feeding back.

TALKING POINTS

Put students into pairs to write some notes on useful vocabulary to use before discussing the questions. As students discuss in pairs, monitor and encourage them to add examples of situations or reasons to expand on their answers. Give positive feedback where possible. Bring the class together to share ideas.

COOLER

Write the words and phrases from Vocabulary, Exercise 3, on page 42 on the board. Give students one minute to study the words and phrases, then erase them. Tell students to write down the words they remember. Find out who remembered the most, and ask them to come and write them on the board. Ask the class if there are any missing words, and add them to the board. Check spellings and pronunciation as a class.

Shawn Mendes

Our series of your favourite young celebrities continues. This week Rachel Mead writes about Canadian singer-songwriter Shawn Mendes.

This is a true story of success. Shawn Mendes was like any other teenager who went to school and did sports activities like ice hockey and football. He also really loved music and he wanted to be able to play the guitar. So he taught himself from watching YouTube videos and practised every day. At the same time, he worked really hard on his singing. He's not only a great singer, he performs really well, too! In 2014 he shot to fame, thanks to social media. The story began with the launch of the video sharing service Vine. Mendes added a short clip of himself singing a version of the Justin Bieber song As Long as You Love Me. When he checked his account the next day, he saw that he had 10,000 likes.

He soon moved to the bigger channel, YouTube, where he uploaded more and more clips, and his follower count grew. He interacted with his fans by asking them to tell him what to sing.

2014 was a big year for Mendes. He had 2.4 million followers on Vine, 10.8 million followers on Twitter and almost a million subscribers on YouTube. He signed up with a record company and his four-track debut EP reached number one on iTunes in 37 minutes! A year later, he was included in a list of the 25 most influential teenagers, and in 2016 he was in the Forbes' annual list of '30 under 30' – the 30 most important celebrities under 30 years old.

Mendes is young, but he's already achieved so much. He's opened for one of Taylor Swift's world tours, he's modelled for an agency and he's had an acting part in a TV show, The 100. He's received awards for his music and in 2015 he won the MTV Europe Music award.

I've just become a Mendes fan. But some of my friends have followed him from the beginning and still love him now. The special relationship with his fans has just grown and grown. On his website there is a section just for us, the fans – Shawn Access, and that's where you can get a ticket for the small gigs he holds. I'd love to attend a live show – it must be amazing!

SOUND CHECK 43

GRAMMAR

Present perfect and past simple

1 Match two examples to each rule.

- I've just become a Mendes fan.
- The next day he checked his account.
- Mendes is young, but he's already achieved so much.
- He practised every day.

- a We use the present perfect to talk about something in the past that has a link to the present.
- b We use the past simple to talk about completed actions in the past. It only refers to the past.

2 Complete the sentences with the past simple or present perfect of the verbs.

- Mike _____ (buy) his ticket for the music festival two months ago.
- He _____ (pay) a lot of money for it.
- He _____ (not / see) his favourite band live before and so he's excited.
- Mike's mum wants to help, so she _____ (offer) to take him to the stadium.
- Mike doesn't need a lift from his mum because he _____ (organise) a lift with a friend.
- Mike _____ (call) his friend last night to make the final arrangements for their trip.

3 We often use the adverbs just, already and yet with the present perfect. Read the examples and complete the rules with just, already or yet.

- Zara has just sent me a text.
- We've already learned how to record a singer.
- I haven't had time yet.
- Have you started your school project yet?

With the present perfect, we use:

- a _____ when something has happened at some time before now.
- b _____ when something happened a short time ago.
- c _____ in questions and negative sentences when something has (possibly) not happened.

GRAMMAR REFERENCE AND PRACTICE PAGE 153

4 Read the examples in Exercise 3 again. Which adverb is used at the end of a sentence? Where are the other adverbs used?

5 Correct the mistake in each sentence.

- I just seen your advertisement.
- Yesterday I have bought a new album.
- A new student, Maria Vaz have joined our class.
- Did you already decide to buy the festival ticket?
- I haven't seen the clip yesterday.
- I didn't see the band play there yet.

6 Complete the sentences with the present perfect form of the verbs. Put the adverbs in the correct place.

- I _____ an advertisement for The X Factor – I think I'll apply! (see / just)
- Some of the singers _____ in front of a large audience. (sing / already)
- They _____ who the judges are _____. (not announce / yet)
- It's two hours to show time and the performers _____ their costumes on. (put / already)
- Jake _____ in public _____. (not perform / yet)
- Our town _____ its annual music festival. It was last week. (hold / just)

7 Ask and answer these questions with a partner.

- Have you listened to an artist on social media recently? Who was it?
- When did you last listen to music by your favourite artist? Did you listen to a track or the whole album?
- How many artists have you seen live?

VOCABULARY

Word families

1 Look at the words in the examples. What kind of word are they?

- I'd like David to help me to check it first.
- He's really helpful.
- If you need any help, give me a call.

2 Complete the table.

EP	Noun	Verb	Adjective
	music / musician	–	1
	performance / performer	2	–
	3	advertise	–
	entertainment / entertainer	4	5
	6	achieve	–
	7	record	–

3 Talk about a musician you like for 30 seconds. Try to use at least one form of each of the words in Exercise 2.

WARMER

Books closed. Nominate individuals to answer these questions: 'Have you been to (local place)? When did you go?'. Continue until two or three have given their answers and write both questions on the board.

- 1 Read the rules aloud and do the exercise as a class. Focus on sentences 2 and 3 and ask about the time each one is referring to (sentence 2 = a moment in the past, sentence 3 = before now).

Answers

1 and 3 a
2 and 4 b

- 2 Put students into mixed ability pairs to do the exercise. Monitor and focus on accuracy, especially negative structures and subject/verb agreement, helping as necessary. Nominate individuals to give answers and ask the class to say if they are correct before confirming. Nominate stronger students to say why the present perfect has been used in sentences 3–5 (rule a in Exercise 1).

Answers

1 bought 2 paid 3 hasn't seen 4 has offered
5 has organised 6 called

- 3 Focus on the words in bold and tell students that each one gives extra information about the way in which a past action is connected to the present. Do the matching activity as a class, emphasising the difference in meaning in options a–c.

Answers

a already b just c yet

» GRAMMAR REFERENCE AND PRACTICE ANSWER KEY TB PAGES 265–266

- 4 Books closed. Write sentences 1–4 from Exercise 3 on the board without the adverbs. Say an adverb and a sentence number and ask a student to say the sentence with the adverb. Ask the class to listen and say if the adverb was in the correct position. If so, add it to the sentence.

Answers

Yet is usually used at the end of a sentence. Already and just commonly come at the beginning of a sentence, after the auxiliary verb and before the main verb.

- 5 Tell students to read the sentences and check any new vocabulary. Ask students to do the exercise individually and monitor and check for accuracy. Allow them to compare their answers with a partner before checking as a class. See if the class agrees before confirming.

Answers

1 I have just seen 2 Yesterday I bought 3 has joined 4 Have you already decided 5 I didn't see 6 I haven't seen

MIXED ABILITY

Put students into same ability pairs to write sentences about past events using just, already and yet. Weaker students write affirmative sentences and stronger ones write negative or question forms. Ask for volunteers to read a sentence for the class to say if it is correct. If it isn't correct, the class suggest changes.

- 6 Do the first item together as a class before students continue in mixed ability pairs. You may need to explain apply (request something officially), judges (people who choose the winner of a competition) and annual (every year). Monitor and help as necessary before checking answers.

Answers

1 've just seen 2 have already sung
3 haven't announced ... yet 4 have already put 5 hasn't performed in public ... yet 6 has just held

- 7 Put students into same ability pairs to discuss the questions. Monitor and give positive feedback where possible. Students give their own answers.

» GRAMMAR WORKSHEET UNIT 7

VOCABULARYWord families

- 1 Tell students to look at the example sentences and the words in bold. Ask 'What have they got in common?' (they all contain the word help). Draw three columns on the board, headed Noun, Verb and Adjective and do the exercise as a class. Write the words in the appropriate columns.

Answers

1 verb 2 adjective 3 noun

- 2 Put students into mixed ability pairs to complete the table. Invite students to give answers and monitor and check for pronunciation. Point out the difference in syllable stress in REcord (noun) and reCORD (verb).

Answers

1 musical 2 perform 3 advertisement 4 entertain
5 entertaining 6 achievement 7 record / recording

- 3 Give students about three minutes to write some key words to talk about a musician. Put students into pairs or small groups to give their mini presentations.

Possible answers

My favourite artist is the musician Lorde. She has performed all over the world. She doesn't play any instruments but she sings beautifully. She achieved world fame at a very young age. She has just recorded a new album called Melodrama. I like her music but it doesn't entertain my parents!

FAST FINISHERS

Ask fast finishers to write anagrams of the vocabulary in Exercise 2. Tell them to swap papers with another fast finisher to guess the word.

» VOCABULARY WORKSHEET UNIT 7

- 1 Ask students to read Sophia's email and say if she enjoyed playing music on the stage (yes, she did). Ask students which three questions Jacob asked (Where did it take place? What was it like? How did you feel?) and if Sophie answered all of them.

Answers

Yes, she does.

- 2 Ask students if Sophia's letter is formal or informal (informal, it's written to a friend). Read the question aloud. Direct students to the Prepare to write box to identify which of the phrases Sophia uses.

Answers

Dear; Write soon; great

- 3 Read the instructions and ask for an example of a short form (e.g. I've in the eighth sentence) to check understanding. Set a short time limit for them to find the short forms.

Answers

can't; I've; I'll

- 4 Do the first item as a class before monitoring and helping as students work individually and rewrite the sentences. Nominate individuals to give answers and ask the others to monitor for the pronunciation of short forms. Give pronunciation practice if necessary.

Answers

- 1 He's never been to a music festival.
- 2 We're going to give Amy a lift at 8 pm.
- 3 Do you know who's going to perform next?
- 4 I'd really like to see a live classical music concert.
- 5 They haven't bought their tickets yet.
- 6 Dan and Gemma couldn't find a place to park near the concert.

- 5 Do the first item together as a class before asking students to continue individually. Monitor and help as necessary. Say each of the words in turn for students to call out the more informal equivalents from the text and write the answers on the board. Ask students to close their books and see if they can remember the more formal equivalents before asking them to make true/false statements about themselves using informal phrases. The class identify the false statements.

B1 PRELIMINARY FOR SCHOOLS

Writing Part 1

In this part, students are required to reply to an email which has been annotated. They write about 100 words and must use all of the notes in their reply.

Tips Tell students to look at the tenses used in the email from Alex, and to use this to help them with their replies. Advise students to think about the conversation that would occur face-to-face using the information in the notes. Remind students to check their language is informal and to revise their grammar and spelling.

- 6 Give students a time limit (for example, 15 minutes) to write their email and tell them to revise their work when they have finished. Pair students who finish at the same time to read each other's emails. They can comment on which things from the Prepare to write box their partner has included.

Model answer

Hi Alex,
 It sounds like you had a really great weekend with your mates at the festival in the countryside.
 I went to a really cool music festival in Spain last year. The weather was fantastic. Loads of people stayed at the campsite but we stayed in a small village near the festival site.
 There were two fields with different music playing in each one. There were loads of famous musicians and it was great to be able to choose the type of music you wanted to listen to.
 Like you, I've never performed on a stage and I don't want to!
 Love Annie

WRITING

An email (1)

- 1 Read part of an email that Sophia has received from her friend Jacob. Then read Sophia's reply. Does Sophia answer all Jacob's questions?

Last night, I went to an awesome concert in our town with my brother. It was amazing!

Tell me about a concert you enjoyed. Where did it take place? What was it like? How did you feel?

Dear Jacob,

It was our school concert last week! And our band played!

It took place in the school hall and there were loads of great performances from different year groups.

I performed at the concert with my mates. When I first walked on stage, it was dark and scary – you can't imagine how nervous I felt! Then the lights came on and we played our music. It was awesome! We had such a cool time and I've never seen so many people clap – for us! We recorded it, so I'll send you a recording.

Write soon,
Sophia

Hi,

I went to a music festival in the countryside at the weekend. We camped in a field for two days and went to lots of concerts. It was fun!

Have you ever been to a music festival?

What did you enjoy most about it?

I've never performed on a stage, have you? I'm too scared!

Write soon!

ABOUT YOU

06 Watch the video and then answer the questions.

- What is your favourite building?
- Do you prefer old or modern buildings?
- How important is it to have local facilities near your home?

VOCABULARY

Describing buildings

1 Match the sentences to the houses in photos 1-3 on the opposite page.

EP

- a The solar panels and glass walls on this house make it look brand new. Its original shape is spectacular to look at. It's more contemporary than the other houses.
- b This house is unusual because it's very narrow. Inside this home is very stylish thanks to its bright, fresh design.
- c This house is a classic example of a historic tower. Its design is very traditional but it could be quite cosy inside. It's not as modern as the other houses.

2 Complete the chart with the adjectives from Exercise 1.

Age	Opinion
brand new	unusual

3 Look at the photos again. Discuss the advantages and disadvantages of living in each building.

4 Listen to two people talking about the buildings in Exercise 1. Do they mention any of your ideas?

5 Discuss the questions.

- 1 How much space do you need to live in? Why?
- 2 What sort of house would you like to live in?
- 3 Describe the most unusual building you have ever visited or read about.

PREPARE FOR THE EXAM

Reading Part 2

1 The five students below are learning about unusual homes around the world. Each student wants to find out more about one unusual home, which they will write about for an architecture project. Read the information about each student and underline the things they are interested in. The first one has been done for you.

- 1 Marcelo loves all kinds of sport and wants to find out about a modern home that has been designed for a famous sports person. He loves buildings by the ocean, too.
- 2 Gloria is very interested in old buildings. She would like to write about one which is in the countryside, and has fantastic views of the landscape.
- 3 Harry wants to find out about a well-known architect who designed a building which the architect then lived in. He also has an interest in furniture.
- 4 Sofie is keen to learn about a building that is the smallest of its kind. She likes city buildings and wants to find one that is located in an interesting neighbourhood.
- 5 Kurt wants to learn about a modern home that is better for the environment than other buildings and has won competitions because of its original architecture.

2 Read the descriptions of eight unusual homes (A-H) quickly. Which two are shown in the pictures on the opposite page? Decide which home would be the most suitable for each student (1-5) to write about.

WARMER

Set a time limit for students to write size, shape, age, colour and materials adjectives to describe different homes or apartments, e.g. small, modern. Then ask them to write one sentence to describe a place using two or three adjectives from their list. Students read their sentences aloud to the group, who take a vote on which one sounds the most interesting.

ABOUT YOU

-  You can begin the class and introduce the topic of the unit by showing the video and asking students to complete the video worksheet. Then, read the questions in the About you box and tell students to make a note of useful words and phrases to answer the questions. Check students understand the word facilities and give them the following examples: 'parks, sports clubs, leisure centres, cinema, libraries, shops', if necessary. Put students into pairs to compare notes before asking for volunteers to give answers.

VOCABULARY

Describing buildings

- 1 Do the activity together as a class. Ask students to match the descriptions to the photos of the houses before checking vocabulary as necessary.

Answers

1 a 2 c 3 b

- 2 Direct students to the chart and the examples. Ask for one more word for each column. Allow them to compare their answers in pairs before checking as a class and writing the adjectives in the corresponding columns on the board. Help with pronunciation as necessary; for example check students don't insert an unnecessary vowel sound before spectacular /spek'tæk.ju.lə/, and that syllable stress is correctly placed on traditional /trə'dɪʃ.ən.əl/.

Answers

Age: recent, brand new, historic, modern, traditional, original
 Opinion: unusual, fresh, spectacular, classic, cosy

- 3 Tell students you will say one advantage and disadvantage of living in one of the houses and they should guess which house you are talking about. Direct students to the photo of the other houses and invite two or three students to comment on what it would be like to live there. Help students express their ideas and write any new adjectives on the board. Put students into pairs to do the activity and give positive feedback where possible.

MIXED ABILITY

Monitor and encourage stronger students to complete Exercise 3 without looking at the chart or the board. Direct weaker students to the chart and help as necessary.

-  4 Tell students they will listen to two people talking about the buildings and that they will use some of the vocabulary in the chart. Choose six adjectives to model for the class, and ask them to indicate which syllable is stressed. This will prepare them to recognise some of the vocabulary in the audio. Tell students to write very brief notes or to underline words in the chart as they listen. Play the recording, pausing after each speaker if necessary. Ask for volunteers to give a summary of what each speaker said.

» AUDIOSCRIPT TB PAGES 291–292

- 5 Put students into same ability pairs or small groups to discuss the questions. Invite pairs to discuss the questions in front of the class.

Reading Part 2

In this part, students' ability to read for specific information and detailed understanding is tested. They match five descriptions of people to eight short, factual texts.

Tips Tell students to read the descriptions of the people carefully before reading the eight texts. Advise students that there are three texts that they will not need to use and tell them to re-read the description and chosen text again to make sure that all of the things given in the description are included.

- 1 Read the instructions and the example with the class, encouraging students to guess the meaning of new vocabulary if necessary. Put students into mixed ability pairs to read texts 2–5 and monitor and help as necessary. Compare answers as a class.

Answers

- 2 Gloria is very interested in old buildings. She would like to write about one which is in the countryside, and has fantastic views of the landscape.
- 3 Harry wants to find out about a well-known architect who designed a building which the architect then lived in. He also has an interest in furniture.
- 4 Sofie is keen to learn about a building that is the smallest of its kind. She likes city buildings and wants to find one that is located in an interesting neighbourhood.
- 5 Kurt wants to learn about a modern home that is better for the environment than other buildings and has won competitions because of its original architecture.

- 2 Ask students to read the descriptions on page 47 quickly and to say which are shown in the pictures. Then ask students to read the first house (description A) very carefully and say who they think it would be suitable for (Sofie). Advise students to read the remaining descriptions very carefully and to underline any matches they find as they read. Remind them that they should check that all the requirements of each person have been met. As you check answers, nominate individuals to give the information in the text which helped them make the match.

Students discuss the questions in pairs. Monitor and encourage them to justify their opinions, and report examples of interesting comments to the class.

FAST FINISHERS

Ask fast finishers to write a brief description of another person who is interested in one of the homes C, F or H. They exchange descriptions with another fast finisher and say which house they could write about.

COOLER

Ask students to write a list of age and opinion words they could use to describe their house or another house they know.

UNUSUAL

HOMES AROUND THE WORLD

A Keret House

Keret House could be the world's narrowest home and is just 122 cm at its widest point! A Polish architect living in the country's capital walked past the space between a house and an apartment block one day and decided to build something there. The area around it is full of things to do and see.

B Crossway

Located in the most beautiful part of England, this home was designed by architect Richard Hawkes to live in. Less than 20 years old, it is a 'passive' house: it uses little energy, the sun produces all its electricity, and it has a 'living' roof which reduces pollution. These unusual features have earned the house prizes.

C House NA

The architects who built this house wanted to feel like they were living in the trees. This led to a modern house made of glass in a quiet part of Tokyo, Japan. The floors are at different levels, like branches, making it easier for the people who live there to move around – and it's good exercise for them, too!

D Freston Tower

This historic tower in southern England has lasted for several centuries. There are six floors with a single small room on each one. The sitting room is right at the top of the building, and from here, you can see the beautiful river, where people go sailing, and the fields beyond.

E Pas House

This unusual house near the beach in California, USA, is divided into three separate spaces, each ideal for skateboarding: the floor, walls and ceiling join together into one enormous tube. The idea came from a former world champion, who wanted somewhere exciting to live.

F Old Light

Located off the coast of England, the Old Light is situated in one of the least busy areas of the country. The building was once a lighthouse, which warned ships at sea of nearby rocks. The house is now divided into two guest flats. The lighthouse is not as tall as some, but is in a beautiful position near the sea – perfect for swimming!

G Gropius House

Other architects may be more famous, but the buildings Walter Gropius created are among the most important of the last century. He designed Gropius House in the USA as his family home which can now be visited. Inside there is a collection of chairs and other items which belonged to the family.

H The Heliodrome

This recently built original house is situated in peaceful countryside in France. It was built so that its rooms, furniture and paintings are in the shade during summer. Even better than this is that in winter, the sun does enter through the windows, making the house warm without heating – and therefore cheaper to live in!

GRAMMAR

Comparative and superlative adjectives

1 Read the examples and write C for comparative or S for superlative.

- This is certainly not the world's biggest house! S
- The floors are at different levels, like branches, making it easier for the people who live there to move around.
- Kurt wants to learn about a modern home that is better for the environment than others.
- It's only 122 cm at its widest point.
- Located in the most beautiful part of England ...
- The Old Light is situated in one of the least busy areas of the country.
- Other architects may be more famous.
- ... making the house warm without heating – and therefore cheaper to live in!
- Most houses without views are less expensive than those with views.
- Keret House is as narrow as a car.
- We've just read about a house that is narrower than any other.

» GRAMMAR REFERENCE AND PRACTICE PAGE 154

2 Read Exercise 1 again and answer these questions.

- Which adjective is irregular?
- What do we add to regular adjectives with one syllable?
- What happens to adjectives like big?
- What happens if a one-syllable or two-syllable adjective ends in -y?
- How do we form positive and negative comparatives and superlatives for most adjectives with more than one syllable?
- What do we use when we want to say that two things are the same?

3 Complete the sentences with the correct form of the adjective in brackets.

- I picked this house because it's _____ than the houses in the city centre. (quiet)
- My parents would be _____ in the countryside than in the busy town. (happy)
- I think my town will be _____ in 20 years' time. (big)
- In Spain, one of _____ festivals is in January. It's Día de los Reyes Magos. (popular)
- Henry is _____ person in our class. (intelligent)
- My cousins live _____ from my grandparents than me. (far)
- I think this is _____ advice I can give you. (good)
- This mirror is _____ than that one. I think I'll take both! (cheap)

4 Rewrite the sentences so that they have the same meaning. Use the words in brackets.

- My house is bigger than Maggie's. (not as)
- The design wasn't as traditional as I thought. (less)
- Homes with sea views are more expensive than all others. (most)
- Both films were entertaining but I preferred the first. (more)
- Our new house is closer to shops than our old house. (far)
- My old bike wasn't as good as my new one. (better)

5 Answer the questions about your town or city. Talk to your partner. Do you have the same ideas?

- Which is the biggest building?
- Which is the oldest building?
- Which is the most unusual building?
- Which is the most beautiful building? Why?
- Which is the least attractive building? Why?

VOCABULARY

Strong adjectives and adverbs

1 Look at the photos and the captions. Which adjective has a stronger meaning?

2 Put the adjectives in the correct column to make pairs.

EP	ancient	brand new	bad	big cold	enormous	exhausted
	freezing	good	new	old spectacular	terrible	tired

Normal adjectives

old

Strong adjectives ancient

3 Read the examples and complete the rules.

The house was absolutely spectacular.
It had incredibly big windows.
The family was very happy with their new house.
It was extremely difficult to find the house.

With normal adjectives we use the adverbs _____, _____, incredibly, really.
With strong adjectives we use the adverbs _____, really.

GRAMMAR

Comparative and superlative adjectives

WARMER

Write the following adjectives on the board: tall, cold, nice, entertaining. Put students into small teams and ask them to write sentences comparing two or three things using the adjectives, for example, January is the coldest month. Ask for examples from each of the teams and see if others think the sentences are grammatically correct. Write one example for each adjective on the board.

- 1 Read the instructions and do the first two items as a class. Ask 'Which word is used to compare one thing with all the others?' (biggest – a superlative) and 'Which word is used to compare one thing with another?' (easier – a comparative). Monitor and help as necessary as students continue the exercise individually. Check answers and see if the class agrees before confirming.

4 ends in consonant + y so drop the -y and add -ier
5 Use more/most or less/least. 6 as ... as

- 3 Remind students to decide how many things are being talked about so they can use the correct form of the adjective. Tell students to read item 1 and say if a comparative or superlative adjective form is needed and why (comparative – one house compared to some, but not all, other houses). Ask for a volunteer to say the complete sentence. Put students into pairs to continue and monitor and help with pronunciation as necessary. Nominate individuals to give answers.

Answers

1 quieter 2 happier 3 bigger 4 the most popular
5 the most / least intelligent 6 further 7 the best 8 cheaper

- 4 Tell students to read items 1–6 and check vocabulary as necessary. Go through the first item as a class to demonstrate the activity and write the answer on the board. Point out the change in the position of the noun phrases my house and Maggie's in the original sentence, and that the elided house needs to be added. Put students into pairs to continue and monitor and help as necessary. Nominate stronger students to give answers and check the students agree before feeding back.

MIXED ABILITY

Help weaker students by giving them the first three words for sentences 2–6.

Answers

- 1 Maggie's house isn't as big as / is not as big as my house.
- 2 The design was less traditional than I thought.
- 3 Homes with sea views are the most expensive.
- 4 The first film was more entertaining than the second.
- 5 Our old house was further from shops than our new house.
- 6 My new bike is better than my old one.

FAST FINISHERS

Ask stronger students to underline examples of comparative and superlative adjectives in Unusual homes around the world on page 47 to present to the class after you have checked the answers to Exercise 4.

- 5 Give students about three minutes to make a note of their answers to the questions before putting them into pairs to ask and answer. Bring the class together and nominate one student to ask a question, and to nominate another to answer. Continue for each of the questions. Students give their own answers.

- 2 Copy the table on the board and add big and enormous from Exercise 1. Continue the activity as a class, helping with meaning and pronunciation as necessary.

Answers

Normal adjectives: old, bad, big, cold, good, new, tired
Strong adjectives: ancient, brand new, enormous, exhausted, freezing, spectacular, terrible

- 3 Ask students to read the examples and to notice the adverbs of degree (absolutely, incredibly, very, extremely). Point out that adverbs of degree are placed before the adjective and ask students to decide if the following adjectives are 'normal' or 'strong' (normal = big, happy; strong = spectacular, difficult).

Answers

Normal adjectives: very, extremely Strong adjectives: absolutely

CREATIVE WRITING

LIFE SKILLS

Creative writing

Many young people enjoy writing in their free time. It can be fun and it also helps people develop their creativity and imagination. For these reasons, students should also do creative writing tasks at school. With practice, they become easier, even for people who don't write as a hobby.

1 Ask and answer the questions with a partner.

- 1 What do you enjoy reading in your free time?
- 2 What was the last book or story that you read?
- 3 Do you ever write or imagine your own stories?

2 Read the article on the opposite page about how to plan a story. Do you use a similar process for writing stories? Complete the sentences in the article with the words in the box.

main middle person time true

3 Complete the sentences about the article with two or three words.

- 1 There are ways _____ the creative writing process.
- 2 The villain is someone who _____ for other characters.
- 3 Sometimes the narrator knows what a character _____.
- 4 The setting includes facts about the _____ of the story.
- 5 Most writers revise and _____ many times before they are happy.

4 Match the highlighted words in the text to the meanings.

- 1 unusual or unknown
- 2 well-known and easy to recognise
- 3 work to find an answer
- 4 the feeling of a situation
- 5 working in the best way
- 6 think or believe that something will happen

5 Listen to Sam and Kate. How does Sam describe the genre of his story for English class?

6 Listen again and answer the questions.

- 1 Why hasn't Sam finished writing his story yet?
- 2 What location is Sam thinking about for his story?
- 3 Who are Sam's four main characters going to be?
- 4 What happens when they go down to the basement?
- 5 Why can't the characters call the police for help?
- 6 What type of ending is Sam planning for his story?

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

Creativity is a skill that everyone can develop, by being open-minded, thinking differently and considering new perspectives. One approach that can be taken is to challenge our own assumptions by thinking about a different way of approaching a situation. Doing this can throw up a new set of possibilities. Another approach is to make connections between ideas. This can be generated by using a mind map, putting a key word or phrase in the middle of a page and writing ideas around the key idea or topic.

WARMER

Write creativity and innovation on the board and put students into pairs or small groups to discuss what the phrase might mean in the context of films and novels. Ask for suggestions and write key words and phrases on the board.

LIFE SKILLS

Creative writing

Tell students to read the information and check vocabulary as necessary. Invite students to say if they agree or disagree with any of the points in the text and to give their reasons. Encourage open-class discussion and help students make connections between their contributions.

- 1 Put students into pairs to discuss the questions. Monitor and help individuals get their ideas across and give positive feedback where possible. Bring the class together and ask for volunteers to share ideas on each of the questions and to give examples and details.

Answers

Students' own answers

- 2 Go through the instructions and direct students to Writing a story on page 51. Do the first item together as a class and monitor, encouraging students to ignore any new vocabulary as they complete the activity individually. Ask for volunteers to give answers and see if the class agrees before feeding back.

Answers

1 true 2 main 3 person 4 time 5 middle

- 3 Ask students to read items 1–5, ignoring the gaps, and check they understand key vocabulary (for example, villain, narrator and setting). Ask for examples of each one to check comprehension. Remind students to make sure their suggested answers are grammatically correct by thinking carefully about the words on either side of the gap.

Answers

1 to plan 2 causes / makes problems 3 is thinking
4 place and time 5 change their work

MIXED ABILITY

For Exercise 3, write the answers on the board in a random order. Stronger students complete the activity without looking at the board.

The Reading text is recorded for students to listen, read and check their answers.

- 4 Tell students to complete the exercise individually, and to compare their answers with a partner. Advise students to read each sentence and substitute the highlighted word with the correct meaning 1–6, and check it makes sense. Nominate individuals to give answers, and others to say if they agree or not.

Answers

1 strange 2 familiar 3 solve 4 mood 5 efficient 6 expect

FAST FINISHERS

Ask fast finishers to make a note of any other vocabulary they are unsure of and to use the information in the text to guess meanings. Ask students to report to the class after checking answers to Exercise 4.

-  5 Read the instructions, check students understand the meaning of genre (a style or type of text) and ask for examples (fiction, science fiction, romance, crime, fantasy, mystery, suspense, non-fiction). Play the audio and check answers. Ask students to say what else they remember from the conversation.

Answers

It's a mystery and also a suspense story.

-  6 Ask students to read questions 1–6 and check they understand basement. Ask students to underline key words and phrases to focus their listening. Play the audio and then ask students to compare their answers in pairs. Give them the option of another listening before checking answers.

Answers

- 1 The homework was only to plan the story.
- 2 an old house in the country, maybe in Scotland
- 3 two boys and two girls, friends or cousins
- 4 The door closes and they can't get out again.
- 5 The story takes place in the past, when people didn't carry phones.
- 6 He hasn't written the ending yet.

» AUDIOSCRIPT TB PAGE 293

- 7 Tell students that using narrative connectors is important as they help the reader follow the sequence of events in a story. Direct students to the Useful language box and monitor and help as students do the matching activity individually. Nominate individuals to give answers.

Answers

- 1 First of all
- 2 Next
- 3 A while later
- 4 All of a sudden
- 5 Luckily
- 6 In the end

PROJECT A story

Read the instructions and check students understand the terms for the different genres. Draw two columns on the board entitled mystery and romantic. Go through questions 1–6 and ask students for suggestions for the two genres and write key words in the appropriate columns on the board.

Put students into pairs and monitor and help as they write a first draft. Help with suggestions for revisions if necessary before students read their stories to the class. Tell the class to make notes on answers to questions 1–6 as they listen to the other projects. They could use these to help improve their stories in the project extension task.

PROJECT EXTENSION

In pairs, students write answers for questions 1–6 for a different genre on a slip of paper. Collect the slips of paper and redistribute them. Pairs write a first draft and present their story to the class. The class shares their ideas about changes that could be made.

COOLER

Ask students to answer questions 1–6 for their favourite film on a slip of paper. They could swap pieces of paper for another student to guess the name of the film.

WRITING A STORY

How to plan a story

Have you ever written a story for school or for fun? Did you find it hard to get started? Creative writing can be hard, but there are ways to plan the process so it's more efficient.

1 Choose a genre. The genre is the type of story you want to write. There are fictional stories that writers imagine and ¹ stories about events that really happened. Fiction includes specific genres, such as mystery, fantasy, science fiction, romance and suspense. Try a genre that you enjoy reading so it will be familiar to you.

2 Think about characters. Most stories have one or two ² characters. They are the most important people, but they aren't always good characters, or heroes. They can also be villains who make problems for other people. Some genres also have typical characters that readers expect to find in the story. For instance, in mysteries there are generally criminals and detectives, while science fiction has robots, spaceships or aliens from other worlds.

3 Who's the narrator? The narrator is the ³ who tells the story. It might be a character who describes his or her experiences by saying something like, 'I was walking in the woods when I heard a strange noise.' The narrator can also be an observer who reports events but doesn't play a role. In that case, the narrator could say, 'Laura was walking in the woods when she heard a strange noise.' In some stories the narrator also knows what characters are thinking.

4 Choose a setting. Most stories take place in a particular place and ⁴, or setting. It can be very simple, such as 'a rainy day in the countryside' if the events are more important than the setting. In other cases, the setting can be very specific, with facts about the location, historical period and weather. The narrator can also describe how the setting feels, with words like cold, dark and sad. This helps to create a mood for the story.

5 What's the plot? The plot is the sequence of events in a story, from beginning to end. In the ⁵, there is often a problem that the characters have to solve. This problem grows and develops until the most important moment of the story, called the climax. In a mystery, this is when the detective solves the crime. After the climax, the story comes to an end, which can be happy ... or maybe not. That depends on the writer, of course!

Once you've finished planning, you're ready to start writing your story. But remember, most writers revise and change their work many times before they are happy with the result. Good luck, and happy writing!

PROJECT

A story

Plan a short story. Then work with a partner to compare ideas. Use the story ideas and the questions below to help you. Share your plan with a partner. Give each other ideas to make the stories better.

- A mystery story in a strange town
- A romantic story in an exciting city
- A science fiction story in outer space
- A fantasy story in a magical forest
- A suspense story in an old castle

- 1 Who are the main characters of the story?
- 2 What is the general setting of the story?
- 3 What happens at the beginning?
- 4 What problems do the characters have?
- 5 What is the most important moment?
- 6 What type of ending will the story have?

Write a first draft of your story. Then revise the draft, making corrections and any changes that are necessary. Read your story to the class.

WARMER

Write the following words on the board: burn, stylish, festival, design, original, recycle, studio, bleed, rebuild, cut, clip and classic. Ask students to classify the words according to the following topics: verbs for making things, health, music and architecture.

VOCABULARY

- 1 Ask students to look at the words in the box and the sentences 1–7 and to decide which one of the following topics connects them: architecture, health, making things, music (making things). Do the first item together, advising students to read the entire sentence before choosing the correct word.

Answers

1 repair 2 sew 3 recycle 4 design 5 create 6 rebuild
7 customise

- 2 Direct students to item 1. Ask them to find the appropriate sentence half and nominate a strong student to say which words are topically connected (cough, cold). Follow up by asking students to say why the correct half is most appropriate (use of adverb in the first half, matched by when + present simple in the second).

FAST FINISHERS

Tell fast finishers to think about why the correct half is most appropriate and ask for explanations as you check answers (see Answers).

Answers

1 c (cough and cold are topically connected words)
2 d (look and blink are topically connected words)
3 a (legs and running are topically connected words)
4 b (tired and yawn are topically connected words)
5 f (recover and illness are topically connected words)
6 e (Be careful! is a warning, pan is hot and burn are topically connected)

- 3 Ask students to underline key words and phrases in definition 1 which will help them identify the appropriate word in the box (famous, entertainment business). Tell students to continue with the exercise in the same way.

Answers

1 celebrity 2 festival 3 musician 4 studio 5 lyrics 6 live

GRAMMAR

- 1 Write these two sentences on the board: I walked to work yesterday / I was walking to work yesterday when .... Ask students to say what the difference between the verb forms is and when they are used. Direct students back to Unit 5 page 34 to review the rules if necessary.

Answers

1 rained, didn't have 2 was watching, received
3 was texting, was reading 4 missed, forgot
5 decorated, saw 6 was listening, called

- 2 Write or say the following phrases: a good idea, a bad idea, necessary, not necessary, important not to do something. Ask students to give you a modal verb from the box which matches each one (a good idea = should/ought; necessary = have to; not necessary = don't have to; important not to do something = mustn't). Ask students to say what is different about ought (it is followed by to).

Answers

1 should 2 mustn't 3 don't have to 4 ought 5 have to

- 3 Ask students to look at items 1–5 and identify the language area of focus (past simple and present perfect). Do the first item together as a class and direct students to Unit 7 page 44 to revise if necessary.

Answers

1 visited 2 has eaten 3 've just bought 4 hasn't given
5 added

- 4 Tell students to think about the noun they are describing and to make sure they choose an appropriate adjective. Also, remind them that some forms will also need words like more, less, than, as and the. Review comparative and superlative forms by asking students to give examples using the words from the box (for example, enjoyable = more enjoyable than / the most enjoyable; fresh = fresher / the freshest, good = better / the best). Do the first item together.

MIXED ABILITY

Ask stronger students to use the words in another sentence.

Answers

1 the narrowest 2 more reliable 3 fresher 4 better
5 the thickest 6 as tired as / more tired than 7 less stylish
8 the least enjoyable

- 5 Advise students to look at the two options in each sentence and to think about the grammar rules associated with the use of each one (1 past simple and continuous, 2 modals verbs, 3 superlatives, 4 present perfect). Remind students to read the entire sentence before deciding which option is correct. Do the first item together and ask students to say why the other option is wrong (the present perfect continuous is used for an action in progress which is interrupted by a short action).

Answers

1 was walking 2 mustn't 3 loveliest 4 yet

- 6 Ask students to identify the grammar focus of each sentence (1 present perfect, 2 articles, 3 past simple, 4 superlatives). Tell students to read the sentences very carefully to find the mistake, and ask them to explain why the sentence is wrong when checking answers (see Answers).

Answers

- 1 I have just bought a new phone. (the past participle of the verb to buy is required here).
- 2 The fresh air of the countryside is the most important thing for me. (the definite article is used to make the superlative form)
- 3 I went to Spain on holiday last year. (the simple past is used with a definite past time)
- 4 I love my town and the best thing is the new shopping centre. (best is the superlative form of good)

PREPARE FOR THE EXAM

1 B1 PRELIMINARY FOR SCHOOLS Reading Part 5

Briefly review what students need to do in this part of the exam and if necessary read out the information about the task and the tips on page 46.

Ask students to read the text, ignoring the gaps, and to say what the writer thinks of the importance of diaries and blogs (they are important records and will be interesting for people to read in the future). Remind students to think about the difference in meaning and use of each of the options for each gap and to think about the type of words which normally come before or after each one.

WARMER

Write the following items on the board: mobile phone, smartphone, tablet, TV, laptop. Ask students to put the items in order of preference and explain their rankings to a partner, for example, I prefer a tablet to a laptop because it is easier to carry. Take a class vote to see which item is the most popular. Ask students to say what they think the title of the unit means (it refers to something that was imagined in the past but is happening now).

ABOUT YOU

Ask students to write key words in answer to the questions. Put them into pairs to exchange information and monitor and encourage them to extend their answers with reasons and examples. Nominate individuals to tell the class about their partner and make a note of the most important electronic devices mentioned by students. Ask for a show of hands to see which is the most popular.

VOCABULARY Technology

- Put students into pairs and direct them to the photos. Set a short time limit for them to compare their suggestions and monitor and help as necessary. Ask for suggested answers and give pronunciation practice where necessary.

Possible answers

A petrol or diesel car at the petrol station. You can also see petrol pumps.
 An electric car which is charging at the charging station
 A prototype of a self-driving / driverless car

- Read the instructions and introduction to the quiz, and ask students to answer the questions. Tell them to guess the meaning of any new vocabulary. Students give their own answers.

- Ask students to compare their answers in pairs before playing the recording for them to check answers. Go through each of the questions and check students understand the following: itself (Q2), feature (Q5), internet connection (Q5). Nominate stronger students to explain meanings: itself – used to emphasize the subject, – the car; feature – a typical quality or important part of something; internet connection – linked with someone or something else on the internet.

Play the recording again if you feel students need a second listening to understand the answers to the questions.

WARMER

Books closed. Write the following words on the board: I, 'll, after, phone, 'm, tonight, phoning, him, going, to, later, lunch. Put students into small groups and set a short time limit for them to make three sentences. Tell them they can use the words more than once, and do not have to use all the words. Invite two or three students to write their sentences on the board and the class to decide if they are grammatically correct. (Possible answers: 1 I'll phone him tonight; 2 I'm phoning him later; 3 I'm going to phone him after lunch).

Ask 'In which sentence is the speaker making an offer or a promise?' (1), 'In which sentence is the speaker talking about a definite future arrangement?' (2) and 'In which sentence is the speaker talking about a plan or intention?' (3).

- 1 Do the exercise as a class. Read each sentence in turn and tell students to suggest the corresponding rule from a–d. Give further examples if necessary if they find some of the rules challenging, for example, She's leaving next week; We'll do the washing up; We won't be able to travel to Mars very soon; I'm going to watch a film tonight.

Books closed. Write or dictate the following words on the board: creatures, environment and jungle. Model pronunciation, e.g. creatures /'kri:tʃəz/, environment /ɪn'vaɪ.rənmənt/ and jungle /'dʒʌŋ.gl/, and give pronunciation practice if necessary before asking students to guess the topic of the unit.

ABOUT YOU

 You can begin the class and introduce the topic of the unit by showing the video and asking students to complete the video worksheet. Then, put students into mixed ability pairs to discuss the questions in the box. Bring the class together and ask students to report on their discussions.

VOCABULARY Nature and wildlife

- 1 Put students into same ability pairs to look at the pictures. Monitor and help them express their opinions as they discuss the question. Bring the class together and invite two or three students to give and justify their answer. Make a note of any useful theme-related vocabulary on the board, e.g. extinct.

Possible answers

bluefin tuna: too much fishing; tigers: forests are being destroyed; bees: a fall in the number of flowers; snake: habitat is being destroyed
The tiger is thought to be most at risk.

-  2 Read the question and play the recording. Pause after each speaker to give students time to write notes. Ask students to compare their answers with a partner before listening again to check. Ask for volunteers to give answers, encouraging them to add any other information they remember. Do not over-correct for accurate use of conditional forms at this point.

Answers

Daniel: The population of honeybees is lower than it used to be, and because they help our crops to grow, this means there won't be as many plants and flowers, and food will be more expensive.

Ruth: The bluefin tuna is endangered because of overfishing. If we don't stop this, the balance of the ocean environment will be damaged forever.

Tommy: 95% of tigers have disappeared, and the area of the jungle where they live is getting smaller.

-  3 Put students into mixed ability pairs and ask them to underline key words or phrases in sentences 1–11 which they think will help them complete the sentences (see Answers). Monitor and encourage stronger students to give reasons for their ideas. Play the recording for students to check their answers before feeding back as a class.

Answers

- 1 rainforest (clue: collocates with save)
- 2 population (clue: lower, reference to size)
- 3 crops (clue: collocates with grow)
- 4 creatures (clue: in the sea)
- 5 endangered (clue: this is an adjective)
- 6 environment (clue: the ocean is a type of environment)
- 7 humans (clue: an action is something done by a person)
- 8 hunting (clue: hunting is another challenge for tigers)
- 9 landscape (clue: trees are part of the jungle)
- 10 jungle (clue: smaller, a jungle is a mass)
- 11 habitat (clue: a noun referring to something which can get smaller)

- 4 Put students into pairs or small groups to discuss the question. Monitor and help students express their ideas. Bring the class together and invite two or three students to report the conclusions of their discussions. Take a class vote on which animal students think is most important to humans.
- 5 Put students into small groups and elicit examples of animals living in the wild (e.g. polar bears in the Arctic), before they discuss the questions. Ask each group to nominate a spokesperson to report a summary to the class, and write key words on the board. Check vocabulary as necessary.

READING

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

The orangutan is considered to be a status symbol, so many Indonesians try to capture them and keep them in their homes. Some people even hunt them for food. Even though the animals have had legal protection since 1931, the law is not effectively enforced. Females give birth every eight or nine years, and this means their populations are greatly affected by any loss and they may soon become extinct.

In addition to hunting, the orangutan's habitat is disappearing as a result of fires and agricultural development. Despite great concerns about falling numbers, there is a plan to build a major road through northern Sumatra which will mean their natural habitat will possibly disappear even more quickly.

- 1 Tell students to look at the photo and say what they think Sumatra is like (hot; tropical; lots of jungle, animals and insects). Ask students to look at questions 1–3 and guess the answers. Tell them to read the fact file and check their ideas. Compare answers and help with vocabulary as necessary.

FAST FINISHERS

Ask fast finishers to suggest one reason why the survival of the orangutan is in doubt. They give their suggestions after you have checked their answers to Exercise 1, and the class vote for the best suggestion.

Answers

- 1 High in the trees. Males live alone and females live with their young.
- 2 Yes, they do.
- 3 Seven of the nine species could survive.

PREPARE FOR THE EXAM

B1 PRELIMINARY FOR SCHOOLS

Reading Part 5

In this part, students read a short factual or narrative text. They choose the correct vocabulary items to complete six gaps. They are given four options to choose from.

Tips Tell students to read the complete text first for gist. Advise them to look carefully at the options and to think about meaning and the types of language normally found before and after the word. Then tell them to look at the other options and decide why they are wrong. Ask students to re-read the whole text when they have finished and check their selected answer makes sense.

- 2 Ask students to read the text, ignoring the gaps, and to say where the wildlife experts in Indonesia take orangutans in trouble (a rescue centre). Do item 1 together as a class, advising students to look either side of the gap and take a vote on which word they think best describes something negative which has happened to a forest (damaged). Ask for volunteers to say why the other options are wrong (see Answers).

Monitor and help as necessary as students continue individually. Encourage stronger students to give reasons for their decisions when you check answers.

MIXED ABILITY

Make a note of one wrong option for each item and write this on slips of paper. Give weaker students a slip of paper and tell them to ignore these words as they do the exercise.

Answers

- 1 C The other words would not be appropriate to use for a forest.
 - 2 A The other words do not convey the idea of being restricted to an area or section (of the island).
 - 3 B The other words do not contain the idea of falling numbers.
 - 4 D The word keep is used as part of the phrase 'keep pets'.
 - 5 A 'discover' has the meaning of 'find', the other words don't convey that idea.
 - 6 B The other words do not convey the idea of moving something from one place to another.
- 3 Tell students to read the meanings 1–5 and monitor and help as they match them to the highlighted words and phrases in the texts. Tell students to compare ideas in pairs before asking for volunteers to give answers. See if the class agrees before feeding back.

Answers

- 1 habitat 2 survive 3 long term 4 tropical 5 the wild

 The Reading text is recorded for students to listen, read and check their answers.

TALKING POINTS

Before discussing the questions, put students into same ability pairs to write a note of useful vocabulary. As students discuss in pairs, monitor and encourage individuals to add examples of situations or reasons to expand on their answers. Give positive feedback where possible. Bring the class together to share ideas.

COOLER

Write the highlighted words and phrases from the texts on page 59 on the board. Give students one minute to study the words and phrases, then erase them. Tell students to write down the words they remember and to look back at the texts to check spellings.

READING

1 The photo shows the Sumatran orangutan. Read the fact file and answer the questions.

- 1 Where do Sumatran orangutans live and who with?
- 2 Do orangutans feed at the same time as each other?
- 3 Are the orangutans likely to become extinct in the future?

PREPARE FOR THE EXAM

Reading Part 5

2 Read the text about the Sumatran orangutan. For each question, choose the correct answer.

- 1 A injured B cut C damaged D hurt
- 2 A limited B closed C stopped D controlled
- 3 A leaving B decreasing C removing D losing
- 4 A stay B hold C save D keep
- 5 A discover B realise C look D recognise
- 6 A change B transfer C travel D pass

3 Match the highlighted words and phrases in the texts to the meanings.

- 1 the natural environment in which an animal usually lives
- 2 continue to live
- 3 for a long time
- 4 from or in the hottest parts of the world
- 5 a natural environment where there are no humans

SAVE THE

SUMATRAN ORANGUTAN!

At one time, orangutans lived in tropical rainforests across the whole island of Sumatra. Unfortunately, because humans have ¹ _____ much of this forest, the orangutan population is now ² _____ to the north of the island. Besides the fact that their habitat is disappearing, their numbers are quickly ³ _____ too. Unless we do more to help them, the 7,000 which are left will disappear completely.

People are not allowed to ⁴ _____ orangutans as pets in Indonesia, and if wildlife experts ever ⁵ _____ them in people's homes, they take them to a rescue centre. When the animals are healthy enough, the experts ⁶ _____ them to a safe area in a national park, and eventually put them back into the wild.

If we protect orangutans now, they will have a future. If we do nothing, they may not.

TALKING POINTS

What effect does our lifestyle have on animals in the wild?
Does it matter if certain animals disappear forever? Why? / Why not?

GRAMMAR

Conditional sentences

- 1 Look at the examples. Which tenses are used in each pair? Match each example to rule a or b.
- 1 If wildlife experts ever discover them in people's homes, they take them to a rescue centre.
 - 2 When the animals are healthy enough, the experts transfer them to a safe area in a national park.
 - 3 If we protect orangutans now, they will have a future.
 - 4 They won't have a future if we do nothing.

- a We use the zero conditional for events or situations that actually happen. We use:
If / When + present simple + present simple.
- b We use the first conditional to imagine what is likely to happen. We use:
If + present simple + will / won't.

- 2 Match the sentence halves. Which sentences use the first conditional?

- 1 If there is better protection for tigers,
 - 2 When people clear an area of jungle,
 - 3 If the area of Arctic ice gets smaller,
 - 4 If an animal has a bad injury,
 - 5 When there is more tourism in an area,
- a they often use the land for farming.
b it has many benefits for local people.
c their numbers will probably increase.
d there won't be many polar bears left.
e it isn't able to hunt for food.

- 3 Complete the second example in each pair of sentences so that it means the same as the first. What do the examples tell you about the meaning of unless?

- 1 Unless we do more to help orangutans, they will disappear completely.
If we _____ more to help orangutans, they will disappear completely.
- 2 Unless we protect the rainforests, many species will lose their habitat.
If we _____ the rainforests, many species will lose their habitat.

- 4 Complete the sentences with if or unless.

- 1 Polar bears won't find enough to eat _____ we do more to protect their environment.
- 2 _____ we don't protect these animals now, they will die out.
- 3 Many birds will suffer _____ sea levels continue to rise.
- 4 _____ we control whale fishing, there'll be no whales left soon.
- 5 Elephant numbers will continue to fall _____ governments do more to protect them.

Second conditional

- 5 Read the examples and the rule. Which example uses the second conditional?

- 1 If bees disappear completely, we will all suffer.
- 2 If bees disappeared completely, we would all suffer.

We use the second conditional to talk about something that is unlikely to happen or is imaginary. We use:
If + past simple + would.

GRAMMAR REFERENCE AND PRACTICE PAGE 156

- 6 Choose the correct verb form to complete the sentences.

- 1 If you'll go / you go on holiday with your parents, it'll be fun!
- 2 If I were you, I will / would go with my friends.
- 3 If you would go / you went to the beach with your parents, you'd be bored.
- 4 If you'll agree / you agree, we can visit you on Monday.
- 5 If I had to move, I will / would move to the USA.
- 6 If I have / I'll have enough money, I'll go shopping with you.
- 7 I think that if we meet / we'll meet at 8 pm there's enough time before the film starts.

- 7 Complete the sentences so they are true for you.

- 1 If I had the chance to see any animal in the wild, ...
- 2 When I read about animals in danger, I ...
- 3 If I saw an injured animal on the road, I ...

VOCABULARY

Phrases with at

- 1 Read the examples and match the phrases to the meanings.

- 1 At least 95% of wild tigers have disappeared.
- 2 Things are happening at long last to protect tigers.
- 3 At first, I thought she wasn't friendly, but actually she's just shy.
- 4 I loved this trip because we saw nature at its best.
- 5 Many wild animals are at risk of extinction.
- 6 The animals appeared at once.
- 7 At present, she's working as a wildlife reporter overseas.

- a finally b not less than c now
d in danger
- e as good as it can be f in the beginning
g immediately

WARMER

Books closed. Draw three columns on the board, headed If/When, Action and Result. Write some situations in the Action column, e.g. miss the bus, leave my phone on, don't have breakfast, have an argument with my best friend, leave my coursebook at home, don't know a word in English.

Elicit a model sentence for the first one, e.g. If I miss the bus, I get home late.

Underline the verbs (miss, get) and explain that we use the present tense when we are talking about factual results and results which are general truths. Nominate a student and ask 'What will happen if I miss the bus?' Elicit two or three different responses, to show that there are different imagined outcomes.

Put students into small groups to write zero and first conditional sentences for the class to identify as general truths/facts or imagined/predicted outcomes.

- 1 Read the instructions with the class. Ask students to read both sets of sentences and say which ones resemble the examples on the board and why (the sentences in pair 1 use the present tense and are about situations that actually happen). Monitor and help as students do the matching activity in pairs. Bring the class together and check answers. Add both sets of sentences to the board, underlining verb tenses and if / when / will / won't.

Answers

1 and 2: a
3 and 4: b

- 2 Ask students to read the sentence halves and check vocabulary as necessary, e.g. protection (something done to keep something or someone safe from something dangerous). Do one or two items as a class before putting students into mixed ability pairs to continue the exercise. Monitor and encourage stronger students to help their partner understand the correct answer. Ask for volunteers to give answers, and see if the class agrees before confirming. Tell students to underline the verb forms in each item and say which sentences use the first conditional.

Answers

1 c (1st conditional) 2 a 3 d (1st conditional) 4 e 5 b

- 3 Go through the instructions and do the activity as a class. Explain or elicit that Unless in the first pair of sentences 1 and 2 replaces the negative, so unless means the same as if not. Give one or two further sentence pairs to check students understand, for example, If flowers aren't protected, bees will be in danger. / Unless flowers are protected, bees will be in danger; If fishing isn't controlled, the bluefin tuna will be in danger. / Unless fishing is controlled, the bluefin tuna will be in danger.

Answers

1 don't do 2 don't protect

- 4 Monitor and help as necessary as students complete the sentences individually. Ask students to compare in pairs and nominate individuals to read the entire sentence when checking.

Answers

1 unless 2 If 3 if 4 Unless 5 unless

Second conditional

- 5 Do the exercise as a class. Direct students to sentences 1 and 2. Ask 'Are the sentences about the future?' (Yes). 'Which sentence suggests that bees probably won't disappear?' (2). Add sentence 2 to the board and underline the verbs. Point out that second conditional sentences also make a connection between a possible situation or action and its result. However, in the second conditional, the situation or action is completely imaginary.

LISTENING

-  1 Direct students to the photos and ask them to guess what Lola and Pete have to do for their homework. Ask for suggestions and write key words on the board and model pronunciation to scaffold student's listening. Play the recording for students to check their ideas and ask for further suggestions to add to the board. Play the recording a second time for students to check and discard any wrong suggestions.

Possible answers

Prepare a project on endangered species.

-  2 Ask students to read questions 1–5 and to underline key words in the questions to guide their listening. Put students in pairs to compare their ideas and explain why they have underlined certain words. Play the recording for students to write notes to answer the questions. Ask them to compare in pairs and give them the option of a further listening. Check answers and help students get their ideas across.

Answers

- Humans are destroying its habitat.
- Lola wants to focus on animals that have something in common.
- Marine animals live in water for most of their life. Pete thinks people need to know about these animals too.
- Start by explaining what 'endangered' means.
- turtle, whale and seal

SPEAKING

Discussing a topic (1)

- 1 Read the instructions and monitor and help as students do the exercise in mixed ability groups. Bring the class together and invite volunteers to give an example of a good piece of advice. Ask students why points 2 and 7 aren't examples of good advice (in both cases they do not give the other person the opportunity to speak). Ask a spokesperson from each group to give an additional piece of advice and the class to vote on which piece of advice they think is the best. Encourage students to give reasons.

Possible answers

1, 3, 4, 5, 6

-  2 Ask students to read the Prepare to speak box. Play the recording, pausing after each of the phrases for students to match the phrases 1–7 to the functions a–e. Check answers after each phrase and give students pronunciation practice to help them say the phrases fluently in preparation for the speaking activity.

MIXED ABILITY

Ask students to re-read the functions and choose three to focus on. Tell them to find the phrases in the box for those functions at the start of the activity first and then to continue with the remaining functions.

B1 PRELIMINARY FOR SCHOOLS

Speaking Part 4

In this part, students have a discussion expressing their likes, dislikes, preferences, habits and opinions. The topic relates to the Part 3 collaborative task of the Speaking Test. The first question will relate directly to the images and concept in Part 3, but the following questions will be broader, though still within the topic. The final question is often more general and less personal.

Tips Tell students to listen carefully to the questions. Advise them to ask for repetition if they didn't fully understand what was said.

- 3 Go through the questions with the class before putting them into same ability pairs to have their discussions. Monitor and remind students to use the expressions in the Prepare to speak box if necessary. Students give their own answers.

Animals and countries

Some animals are well-known symbols that make people think of certain countries. They may be national animals that appear on flags, coins or stamps because they have a special meaning. They might also be animals that only live in that country or imaginary animals from traditional folk tales.

When people think of the United States, there's one animal that comes to mind – the bald eagle. It's the national bird and has been a symbol of the USA for more than 200 years. It represents the qualities of independence and freedom.

Another symbol of the USA is the bison, which became the national mammal in 2016. The bison is the largest land animal in North America and it symbolises strength and power.

Canada has got two national animals – the beaver and the Canadian horse. Both animals were important to the first Europeans who came to Canada. They hunted beavers and used their fur to make warm coats and hats. Beavers are also hard-working animals, which makes them a positive symbol. In a similar way, Canadian horses were very useful to early farmers because of their strength and good nature.

The United Kingdom hasn't got a national animal, but its different countries have got traditional animal symbols. England is represented by the lion – a strong, brave animal that is often a symbol for kings. Scotland's animal symbol is the unicorn – a mythical white horse with a long, magical horn on its head. Similarly, Wales is represented by a red dragon with wings. This symbol appears on the Welsh national flag.

One of Australia's national animals is the red kangaroo, which isn't surprising. After all, kangaroos are unique to Australia. They don't appear anywhere else in the world. The same is true for the emu, which is Australia's enormous national bird. It can be up to two metres tall and weigh up to 60 kilograms. Many places and companies in Australia are named after kangaroos and emus because they're so typically Australian.

The kiwi is a small, brown flightless bird that only lives in New Zealand. It's such a famous national symbol that the word 'kiwi' has become a nickname for New Zealanders. Another unique animal from New Zealand is the tuatara. It's a reptile that looks like a lizard that only lives on 32 small islands. The tuatara's closest relatives died about sixty million years ago, so many people call them 'little dinosaurs' or 'living fossils'.

CULTURE VIDEO AND CULTURE VIDEO WORKSHEET: Only in Australia

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

National symbols tend to represent the culture and tradition of countries. They are generally adopted because they have a strong historical or cultural association with the country, or because they are found in large numbers there. However, they may also be chosen because they possess qualities that the country wants to be known for, such as a powerful or majestic presence. Some countries have two or more national animals or have animals which been changed in some way (for example, the two-headed eagle – Montenegro and Serbia). Two countries have the mythical dragon as a symbol (Wales and Bhutan). Currently, there are 34 flags with animals as part of the design.

WARMER

Challenge the students, in small groups, to name an animal for every letter of the alphabet. The names need to be in English and spelt correctly. Set a time limit and award points for every correct answer.

Here's an example of some well-known animals: ant, bear, camel, deer, elephant, fish, giraffe, horse, iguana, jaguar, kangaroo, lion, monkey, newt, octopus, penguin, quail, rabbit, seal, tiger, Ulysses butterfly, vulture, wallaby, x-ray tetra (a type of Amazon fish), yak, zebra.

- 1 Direct students to the photos A–K. Say the name of each of the animals for students to call out the corresponding photo number.

Answers

A kangaroo B emu C bison D lion E horse F tuatara
G beaver H eagle I kiwi J unicorn K dragon
Not real: unicorn and dragon

MIXED ABILITY

Books closed. Put students into mixed ability pairs and ask them to guess which country the animals are associated with. Review the answers after students have done Exercise 2.

Possible answers

A kangaroo – Australia B emu – Australia C bison – USA
D lion – Africa/UK E horse – Canada F tuatara – New Zealand
G beaver – Canada H eagle – USA I kiwi – New Zealand
J unicorn – UK K dragon – Wales / China

- 2 Go through the instructions and ask students how they are going to read the text (scan it to locate the names of the animals, and then read more carefully to find the names of the particular countries associated with the animals). Tell students there are two or more animals which are important for each country in the text, and monitor and encourage them to scan each paragraph to the end. When checking answers, ask students to say where in the text they found the information.

Answers

USA – bald eagle and bison; Canada – beaver and horse; UK – lion, unicorn and dragon; Australia – kangaroo and emu; New Zealand – kiwi and tuatara

- 3 Ask students to read the sentences and underline key words to help them locate the information in the text. Tell students to ignore any unknown vocabulary at this stage. Remind them that they should then read the relevant part of the text carefully to decide if the statement is true or false. Nominate individuals to give answers and to give reasons and see if the class agrees before feeding back. Encourage students to correct the false sentences.

Answers

- 1 false (bald eagle is a symbol of independence; bison is a symbol of strength)
- 2 true
- 3 false (good nature)
- 4 true
- 5 false (unique to Australia)
- 6 false (only on 32 islands)

 ⁴⁰ The Reading text is recorded for students to listen, read and check their answers.

- 4 Ask students to look at the highlighted words in the text and say what type of words they are (nouns and adjectives). Tell students to complete the exercise individually, and to compare their answers with a partner. Advise students to read each sentence and substitute the highlighted word for the meaning to check it makes sense. Nominate individuals to give answers, and others to say if they agree or not.

Answers

FAST FINISHERS

Ask the students to write down their favourite animal and three qualities they like about this animal. Next, tell them that they have just done a psychology test and the three qualities are how they would like other people to see them. For example, a horse – fast, strong, beautiful – suggests that the student would like others to see him/her as fast, strong and beautiful.

-  ⁴¹ 5 Tell students they will listen to a person called Sonia giving a presentation about one country's iconic animal, and that her presentation is similar to the project they will do. Ask them, in pairs, to identify and underline key words in the topics 1–7 to direct their listening. Ask for volunteers to give suggestions and write useful key words and phrases on the board. Play the audio for students to identify the topics the speaker talks about and nominate individuals to give answers.

Answers

She talks about topics 1, 3, 6 and 7.

-  ⁴¹ 6 Tell students, in their pairs, to identify and underline key words in questions 1–6. Ask for volunteers to tell the class their key words (including the wh- question). Monitor and give pronunciation practice if necessary so the students are more prepared to recognise the words when they hear them. Play the audio and ask for volunteers to give answers.

Answers

PROJECT A presentation about a national animal

Go through the instructions with the class and ask students to look again at the text and, individually, to make notes to answer questions 1–5. Ask for a volunteer to share ideas with the class and write key words and phrases on the board.

Monitor and encourage students to make a note of key phrases in the Useful language box. Put students into pairs to practise their presentations using their notes, and to give each other feedback, before giving their presentation to the class.

PROJECT EXTENSION

Ask students to find out some additional and/or unusual facts about one of their classmates' chosen iconic animals and tell them to write a summary. Next lesson, you could display the summaries or ask for volunteers to share any unusual information they found.

CULTURE VIDEO: Only in Australia

⁰⁸ When students have completed the lesson, they can watch the video and complete the worksheet.

COOLER

Ask students to imagine their country wanted to change the animal which is currently seen as their national symbol, and to write their name and the name of the animal on a slip of paper. Collect in the slips of paper and redistribute them. Ask students to make notes about the qualities the animal has which would match the image of their country. Students return the slips of paper to the person who made the original suggestion.

3 Are the sentences true or false? Correct the false sentences.

- 1 The bison is a typical symbol of independence.
- 2 Beavers and Canadian horses were useful in the past.
- 3 Canadian horses were strong but difficult to manage.
- 4 The national animals of Scotland and Wales aren't real.
- 5 Emus are found in Australia and some other countries.
- 6 Tuataras live in most of the areas of New Zealand.

4 Match the highlighted words in the text to the meanings.

- 1 imaginary or not real
- 2 an animal's coat of hair
- 3 small pieces of metal that we use as money
- 4 not able to fly
- 5 the quality of being strong
- 6 not afraid of anything

5 Listen to Sonia giving a presentation to her class. Tick (✓) the topics that she talks about.

- 1 when the eagle became a national symbol
- 2 where the bald eagle lives in winter
- 3 how Sonia feels about the bald eagle
- 4 why bald eagles became endangered
- 5 some other animals that people suggested
- 6 how a famous man felt about the bald eagle
- 7 how the bald eagle usually gets its food

6 Listen again. Answer the questions.

- 1 When did the bald eagle become a national symbol?
- 2 Why does Sonia think the eagle is a symbol of freedom?
- 3 When was the bald eagle more common: now or in the eighteenth century?
- 4 What mistake can you find on some old ten-dollar coins?
- 5 Why didn't Benjamin Franklin want the bald eagle as a national symbol?
- 6 How does Sonia feel about the bald eagle and what it symbolises?

7 Read the Useful language phrases. Complete them with the words in the box.

appears independence national represents symbol unusual

WARMER

Draw two columns on the board, headed Nouns and Verbs. Put students into mixed ability groups and set a three-minute time limit for them to write as many nouns and verbs connected with the topic of 'school' as they can. Ask each group to read their lists aloud, and write their words on the board. Award one point for each relevant word that no other group has thought of. Award an extra point if a student from each group can make a grammatically-correct sentence using one of the nouns and verbs from the board.

ABOUT YOU

-  You can begin the class and introduce the topic of the unit by showing the video and asking students to complete the video worksheet. Then, read the questions in the About you box and students make notes to answer the questions. Nominate individuals to give answers, and see who spends the most number of hours at school and the most time travelling. Tell students to count the number of hours they spend doing homework, and invite comments on the total time they spend on school-related activities, for example, school clubs or sports practice / competitions in a week.

VOCABULARY School

- 1 Read the instructions and direct students to look at the photos. Monitor and help with ideas as they do the exercise in mixed ability groups and encourage stronger students to give reasons and add any examples from their own experiences. Discuss ideas as a class and write any useful topic-related vocabulary on the board, e.g. dangerous (could harm you), challenging (difficult in a way that tests your determination), tiring (makes you feel tired). Students give their own answers.

-  2 Tell students they will listen to the photographer talking about journeys to school. Play the recording for them to identify which situation (A–C) the photographer is talking about. Pause after each one, and invite suggestions and examples of any topic-related vocabulary students remember. Help with pronunciation as necessary.

-  3 Tell students to read sentences 1–12 about the photos and check vocabulary as necessary. Put students into mixed ability pairs to complete the sentences using the words and phrases in the box. Monitor and help with pronunciation and meaning before playing the recording for students to check their answers. Ask for volunteers to give answers and give further pronunciation practice if necessary.

- 4 Complete the word for items 1–4 as a class before monitoring and helping as necessary as students continue in pairs. Ask students for answers and add them to the Nouns and Verbs columns on the board.

FAST FINISHERS

Ask fast finishers to mark the stress on the following words: qualifications, boarding, education and undergraduates. They check their answers in a dictionary, and feed in this information as you check answers to Exercise 4.

Answers

Verbs: attend, do well, broke up, done badly
 Infinitives: attend, do well, break up, do badly
 Nouns: qualifications, year, boarding school, degree, education, undergraduates

- 5 Ask students to read sentences 1–10 and check vocabulary as necessary. Give them time to tick the statements they agree with. Put students into pairs to discuss their opinions and monitor and encourage them to provide reasons. Give positive feedback where possible. Focus on each of the statements in turn and ask for volunteers to say whether or not they agree with them. Invite others to say if they agree with the first student's opinion and to give reasons.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

Malala Yousafzai, Nobel Prize winner and author, wrote that 'One child, one teacher, one book, one pen can change the world' and is quoted regularly during discussions about the importance of education for everybody around the world. Malala Yousafzai was shot while she was travelling on a school bus because she spoke up about the importance of girls' education. Many students have to overcome challenging circumstances to get to a class in some parts of the world, dealing with war, political unrest and poverty. In many other cultures, it's simply a matter of getting a bus or a lift from a parent. There are differences between education systems in which there are many small schools with not enough room for the number of students (without electricity, board, paper and pens), and private institutions with every facility you can possibly imagine. Education is seen in some countries as a way out of poverty.

- 1 Put students into same ability pairs to discuss the questions. Monitor and help with ideas. You could give the following topics: desks, size, design, decorations, type of board, colour and technology. Bring the class together and invite two or three students to report back to the class.

CLASSROOMS AROUND THE WORLD

Last month on TeacherWeb, we asked you to tell us about the most interesting classrooms you've ever taught in. We received hundreds of replies from teachers around the world. Here is a selection of our favourite stories.

A

Jack When I was looking for somewhere to teach English as a foreign language, I decided to apply for a school that was far away. However, this place was definitely further than I had imagined, and I never thought that a school classroom could be in a cave! It was a really unusual place to have a school. The families of a Chinese village had built the school, known as Middle Cave Elementary School, in the cave about 50 years before. They had transported the materials for the school furniture up the mountain. It took days, and then they made the tables and chairs by hand. Children come from many different places around the area and walk up a stone path to reach the school every day. I arrived at the school in early April to teach English conversation, and I helped the music teacher. There were always two teachers, which I enjoyed. Having these lessons in a cave was incredible because of the sound produced inside caves. The classroom made music by itself!

Katie I wasn't sure what to do in the summer after I left school and before I went university. Then I found out by accident about a teaching programme in Samoa for three months. I had never worked with children before, so I was a bit nervous. But when I walked into the classroom, the children were so welcoming! Our classroom was fairly ordinary, with desks and a blackboard. There were hardly any computers, but the walls were covered with colourful pictures and writing, mostly in English. I had an amazing time at the school, helping the class teacher, and teaching some classes myself. The teacher had the most beautiful wooden chair that her grandfather had made for her by hand to celebrate her first job. It was a very different school to the one that I had attended back home. I thought that the children all worked really hard and they mostly did well in their exams.

Georgie I had a very special experience when I went to this school in Cuba a few years ago. Three years earlier, the parents and teachers had built several outdoor classrooms for the summer terms. They had spent a lot of time talking about the design of the classrooms, and eventually they decided to have lots of different 'classroom areas'. There was a classroom in the vegetable garden, there was another one surrounded by trees and there was even a classroom in a rose garden, although there were a couple of sunflowers that someone had planted by mistake! The parents had put a lot of effort into making their children's learning a good experience. I think the children enjoyed it because they didn't feel as if they were in a classroom. However, I was teaching maths and I found I missed having a whiteboard!

- 3 Read the texts again. Which classroom ...

- 1 had the children's work on the walls?
- 2 was built by local people about half a century ago?
- 3 was inside a garden?
- 4 did the students like?

- 5 had very few computers?
- 6 was good for music?
- 7 was challenging for the teacher?
- 8 had a gift made by the teacher's relative in it?

- 4 Match the highlighted words and phrases in the text to the meanings.

- Juliana wasn't hungry because she'd had lunch at school.
 - Juliana had lunch at school.
 - Juliana wasn't hungry.
- Paul called me when he had finished his homework.
 - Paul called me.
 - Paul finished his homework.

4 Choose the correct form of the verbs.

- I was really surprised when I read the email: I had won / won the lottery!
- I decided to call my brother and say that I changed / had changed my mind.
- Yesterday, when the crime had happened / happened, I was at home.
- I had been / went to Malaysia for my summer vacation last year.
- I told him about the new restaurant that opened / had opened in my town the week before.
- Waterskiing was cool. I never did / had never done anything like it before!

5 Read about a school in Norway and complete the text with the correct form of the verbs.

Before I ¹ _____ (go) to Norway, I ² _____ (work) all over the world and I ³ _____ (see) many different classrooms. But this ⁴ _____ (be) definitely more impressive than anything I ⁵ _____ (experience) before. I ⁶ _____ (not / work) with a class before in which every child had their own computer. But I also ⁷ _____ (not / go) to a school before where children had to leave the island when they ⁸ _____ (reach) the age of 16, to continue their education on the mainland.

- had never done

- Tell students to read the text and say what the writer found interesting about the school in Norway (every child has their own computer; children have to leave the island at 16 to study on the mainland). Ask students to complete the text with the correct form of the verbs and remind them to think about the position of the negative where appropriate. Monitor and help, checking students are using the past participle and contracted forms of the auxiliary verb had. Check answers.

MIXED ABILITY

Give weaker students the past participles of the verbs before they begin. Stronger students can complete the exercise without this support.

VOCABULARY

Compound nouns

- Books closed. Write the words classroom, whiteboard and bus stop on the board. Ask students for suggestions of school-related words made up of two parts, e.g. blackboard, homework, notebook, playground, textbook, workbook. Give them the first half of the word if they need any help. Do the exercise as a class and underline and label the parts of classroom, whiteboard and bus stop on the board. Point out that sometimes compounds are written as two separate words, e.g. bus stop.

Answers

- noun + noun
- adjective + noun
- noun + noun

- Read the instructions and do the first item as a class. Ask 'Which word can you use with 'head' to make a compound noun?' (teacher). Ask students to find the definition of headteacher in 1–8 (1). Monitor and help as students continue individually. Advise students to make any compounds they already know before guessing others using the remaining words. Encourage them to work from the definitions if they can't think of, or are unsure of, their answer.

Answers

- headteacher
- homework
- lunchtime
- blackboard
- textbook
- timetable
- school bus
- break time

- Put students into mixed ability groups and tell them to elect a scribe and set a short time limit for them to identify compound nouns using the words given. Ask students to come to the board to write the words. Award one point for a correct answer and deduct points for wrong answers.

Possible answers

home time, housework, lunch break, train ticket, train time, train journey, school work, schoolhouse, journey time, bus ticket

- Ask students to turn to page 136 for this activity. Do the activity as a whole class or in small groups. This can also be turned into a game with two teams and points awarded for guessing the compound nouns correctly.

WRITING A story (2)

- 1 Books closed. Ask students if they have read or seen any of the Harry Potter books or films. Elicit what they know about Hogwarts School, the setting of many of the books (e.g. it teaches magic to students aged 11–18, it's in Scotland and looks like a big castle). Put students into mixed ability groups to discuss the questions. Monitor and encourage them to use the past perfect in their descriptions of the plots. Ask a spokesperson from each group to tell the class about a school story they know.

past continuous: was sitting, (was) feeling past perfect: had asked, hadn't done, 'd forgotten

- 4 Put students into mixed ability pairs to discuss the question, and then share their ideas with the class.

Possible answers

They add interest and drama to a story.

- 5 Do the first item as a class and monitor and help as students continue in mixed ability pairs. Encourage stronger students to check the indefinite article (a, an) doesn't need changing. Give positive feedback for interesting ideas. Nominate individuals to give answers.

- 6 Ask students to look at the box and to say what they notice about the position of the adverb in the example sentence (it's at the end). Then ask them which adverb is the odd one out (well, the others end in -ly). Elicit what the adjective related to well is (good). Direct students back to the text in Exercise 2 to look at the position of the adverbs. Point out that adverbs of manner (for example, quietly, quickly) often go straight after the verb in a longer sentence. Tell students to make as many sentences as they can for sentences 1–5 and monitor and help as they continue individually. Check answers and elicit ideas about the circumstances (or contexts) of each situation.

Possible answers

B1 PRELIMINARY FOR SCHOOLS

Writing Part 2

In this part, students can choose to either write a story or an article in about 100 words. They are given details of points they need to write about.

Tips Tell students to read all the instructions carefully. Advise them to read their writing to check they have covered all the points and to check for mistakes.

- 7 Read the instructions. Ask students to plan their ideas before comparing with a partner, and then to help each other by suggesting additional information. Remind them to use different tenses, and adjectives and adverbs to add extra detail.

Answers

- 8 Monitor and offer support to students who need more help as they write their stories. Students can swap their stories with each other and check they have followed the advice in the Prepare to write box. You could display stories around the classroom, or publish them on the class blog. Tell students to go to Prepare for the exam page 127 to revise the exam information and exam tips.

Model answer

I had to set off for school a little earlier than usual that morning. Mum usually drives me but she had taken the car to the local garage so I decided to take the bus. I had just arrived at the bus stop when I realised I'd left my new laptop at home. Oh no! It had all my presentation notes on it for my biology lesson. I immediately went back home to get it, but I knew I'd missed the bus. I began running really quickly and then it started to rain hard. I arrived out of breath and soaking wet, but in time to give my presentation!

COOLER

Tell students to review the unit to find ten nouns connected with school or education and to write the words in alphabetical order. Ask them to compare with a partner and to select a total of eight words to remember.

WRITING A story (2)

- 1 Have you read any stories that take place in school? What happened?
- 2 Read Alex's story. Choose the best first sentence.
 - a It was a really bad day at school.
 - b It was the first day back at school after the summer holidays.
 - c I was looking forward to the summer holidays.

_____ I was sitting quietly in the classroom and feeling very nervous. Before the holidays the teacher had asked us to do some simple homework. I hadn't done it because I'd forgotten all about it. I was really worried that the teacher would be angry. Then the teacher came into the classroom. She took the register, but she didn't mention the homework. She carried on with the class as usual. Finally, at the end of the class she said quickly, 'Don't forget to bring your homework tomorrow.' How lucky! I handed in my completed homework the next day – and I got a good mark!

- 3 Read the Prepare to write box. Read Alex's story again and find examples of verbs in the past simple, past continuous and past perfect.

- use adjectives to describe nouns.
- check that your story has a beginning, a middle and an end.

- 4 Look at the highlighted adjectives and adverbs in Alex's story. How do adjectives and adverbs improve the story?

- 5 Add a suitable adjective to the sentences. Use your own ideas.

- 1 A _____ man walked into the room.
- 2 The teacher gave us some _____ homework.
- 3 We had a _____ day!
- 4 The lessons take place in a _____ classroom.

- 6 Add an adverb to each sentence. Use the adverbs in the box or your own ideas. Compare your sentences with a partner.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

In Britain, a person who is over the age of 16 is considered an adult and can fly without their parents. Generally, children aged 11–15 can travel alone as long as an adult signs a special form at the check-in desk. However, different airlines have different rules. Budget airlines, such as easyJet and Ryanair do not allow children under the age of 16 to fly alone. Both British Airways and the tour operator Thomas Cook allow children aged 14 or over to travel unaccompanied.

- 1 Put students into mixed ability pairs to brainstorm answers to the question. Ask the class for suggestions and write key words on the board. Set a four-minute time limit for students to read the web page to see if their ideas were mentioned.

Possible answers

Make sure you have your passport or national ID; check out the country's embassy website about the rules for under 18s travelling on their own; buy travel insurance; make sure you get to the airport on time; book a youth hostel; don't choose somewhere that closes its doors at 8 pm; pack as lightly as possible

FAST FINISHERS

Ask fast finishers to think of reasons why people have a lot to do before they go on holiday. They could give their suggestions after you have checked their answers to Exercise 1, and the class could vote for the best idea.

- 2 Ask students to read the headings before matching them to the paragraphs and write the following key words on the board: home, stay, documents, flying and pack. Ask students to read paragraph 1 carefully and to underline parts of the text connected to one of the words on the board (for example: documents – ID, passport, letter, travel insurance).
Monitor and help as necessary as students continue individually. Encourage stronger students to give reasons for their answers when you check answers.

Answers

1 What documents to take 2 Flying 3 Where to stay
4 What to pack 5 Contacting home

- 3 Tell students to read questions 1–6 and check vocabulary as necessary. Ask them to make notes or underline sections of the text which answer the questions. Monitor and help as necessary and tell students to compare ideas in pairs before asking for volunteers to give answers. See if the class agrees before feeding back.

MIXED ABILITY

Put students into mixed ability pairs to guess the answers to questions 1–6 before asking them to read and check their answers.

Answers

- 1 a form of ID (passport or national identity card)
- 2 Some countries don't let people under 18 travel on their own without a letter of authorisation from their parents.
- 3 Two hours – three for the United States
- 4 some close early, and if your flight arrives late, you may not be able to get in
- 5 Only pack the essentials, as you have to carry your luggage, but do remember to take a raincoat.
- 6 to let your friends and family know you are safe and are enjoying yourself

45 The Reading text is recorded for students to listen, read and check their answers.

- 4 Ask students to read the meanings 1–6 and check vocabulary as necessary. Do the first item as a class, asking for a volunteer to suggest an answer. Ask students how they can check their answers (by re-reading the section of the text before and after the gap, and substituting the highlighted word or phrase for a meaning from 1–6 to check the sentence makes general sense). Monitor and help as students continue individually before inviting individuals to give answers and see if the class agrees before feeding back.

Answers

1 youth hostel 2 research 3 ID 4 airline 5 besties 6 stuff

TALKING POINTS

Before discussing the questions, put students into same ability pairs to write a note of useful vocabulary. As students discuss in pairs, monitor and encourage them to give examples of situations or reasons to expand on their answers. Give positive feedback where possible. Bring the class together to share ideas.

COOLER

Write the highlighted words and phrases from the blog post on page 69 on the board. Give students one minute to study the words and phrases, then erase them. Tell students to write down the words they remember and to look back at the blog post to check.

READING

1 What things do you have to do before you go on holiday? Make a list. Read the web page and compare your ideas.

2 Match these headings to the paragraphs.

Contacting home Flying What documents to take

Travelling WITHOUT your parents

Do you go on school trips abroad? Are you planning a summer holiday with your besties and without your parents? If your parents let you go away without them, you should do some of the research and planning yourself. Alice Maddison gives you some top tips.

1 If you want to go abroad, you have to take a form of ID with you. This could be a passport, or a national ID card, and it has to have your photo on it. You should also check out the rules for under 18s travelling on their own on the website of the embassy of the country you are going to. For example, for some countries, you need to have a letter from your parents giving permission for you to travel alone. If you don't have that, you might find that you are not allowed into the country! You should also buy travel insurance in case anything happens, for example, if you lose your luggage or if you have a medical emergency.

2 The rules here depend on the different airlines. For most airlines, if you're over 15 years old, you can travel alone. Remember that it's easy to book a flight, but it's also easy to miss it! You should make sure you get to the airport on time. For most flights you should get to the airport at least two hours before your flight. Although, if you are travelling to the United States, it's three hours. The airline staff will make you show them your ID again – it's normal, so don't worry about that!

3 For accommodation, you should book a youth hostel because it's cheaper and also you'll be able to sleep in the same room as your friends. You shouldn't choose somewhere that closes its doors at 8 pm. Many cheaper flights arrive after dinner and you don't want to be left out on the street.

4 The only person who is going to carry your stuff is you, so you should think carefully about what you need to take with you. You needn't take lots of clothes because most youth hostels have washing machines you can use. You need to check the weather so that you know what clothes to take. If you have a good rain coat, you don't have to take an umbrella!

5 While you're enjoying your holiday with your friends, it's easy to forget about everything else. Use social media to post pictures and videos of all the fun you are having. This will also let your friends and family know that you are safe and having a good time. And, of course, don't forget to call or text your parents every day so that they don't worry!

3 Read the blog post and answer these questions according to the text.

- 1 What do you always need to take when you travel to another country?
- 2 Why might you need a letter from your parents?
- 3 How long before your flight should you arrive at the airport?
- 4 What important point does Alice make about the times that accommodation closes?
- 5 What advice does Alice give about packing?
- 6 Why do you need to post things on social media?

4 Match the highlighted words in the article to the meanings.

- 1 a cheap, simple hotel, especially for young people
- 2 studying something to find out more information about it
- 3 an official document that shows or proves who you are
- 4 a company that takes people and things to places in planes
- 5 an informal word for best friends
- 6 an informal word for objects or things

TALKING POINTS

Have you ever travelled alone? If so, did you enjoy it? If not, why not?
At what age do you think children should be allowed to travel alone? Why?
What are the advantages of travelling alone, rather than with your family?

GRAMMAR

Modals: Obligation, necessity and advice (2)

1 Read the examples. Then complete the rules with the verbs in the examples.

- 1 If you want to go abroad, you have to take a form of ID with you.
- 2 You should also buy travel insurance in case anything happens.
- 3 If you have a good rain coat, you don't have to take an umbrella!
- 4 You shouldn't choose somewhere that closes its doors at 8 pm.
- 5 You need to buy a good guidebook.
- 6 You needn't take lots of clothes because most youth hostels have washing machines you can use.

We use:

Listening Part 3

In this part, ability to identify and record information is tested. It consists of a monologue and six gap-fill questions. Students listen and complete the numbered gaps with one or two words or a number from the recording they hear. They hear the recording twice.

Tips Remind students they might need to write one or two words. Tell them they should not change the words they hear in any way.

- 2 Ask students to read the notes and decide what type of information is missing. Do the first item together (noun – a language) before putting students into mixed ability pairs to continue. Check answers.

Answers

- 1 a language (noun)
- 2 a time
- 3 type of programme (adjective or noun)
- 4 an example of a vegetarian dish (noun)
- 5 something that you could buy on board a plane e.g. perfume or make-up (noun)
- 6 name of children's magazine

- 3 Read the instructions and play the recording for students to complete the notes. If necessary, tell students to go to Prepare for the exam page 130 to revise the exam information and exam tips. Give students the option to compare with a partner and listen to the recording a second time before going over the answers.

Speaking Part 1

In this part, students are tested on their ability to give factual and personal information. The interlocutor asks questions about personal details, daily routines, likes and dislikes, past experiences and future plans.

Tip Remind students that they can ask for repetition or say they don't understand.

- 4 Read the instructions and give students time to make notes to answer the questions. Put students into pairs to take turns to ask the questions and give their replies. Ask students to tick the phrases in the Prepare to speak box as they use them and monitor and give positive feedback. If necessary, tell students to go to Prepare for the exam page 131 to revise the exam information and exam tips. After students have completed the exercise, tell them that there is only one question on each topic in the exam (rather than eight, as there are in this exercise). Students give their own answers.

COOLER

Write the following words on the board: should, shouldn't, need to, needn't, have to, don't have to. Ask students to make a sentence about themselves using one of the modals and to write it on a slip of paper. Collect in the sentences and redistribute them for students to read out to the class. The class guesses who wrote each sentence.

LIFE SKILLS

Evaluating options

We make decisions every day of our lives. In some cases, we decide about little things, like what to do at the weekend. In other cases, we must make decisions about more important things like school studies, job choices and personal relationships. For those big decisions, it's good to evaluate our options carefully in order to make the best choice possible.

TOPIC: Life decisions

QUESTION: How do you make decisions? What advice can you give other people?

JENNA 2:46 pm

When I'm having trouble with a decision, I usually write things down because it helps me organise my thoughts. Sometimes I make a table with two columns, for advantages and disadvantages. I did that when I was trying to choose between Spanish and German classes after school. In the end, I chose Spanish, because it's similar to French, which I already speak. And more people speak Spanish, so it might be more useful. When I'm having a hard time making a choice, I also talk to myself out loud. I know that sounds a bit strange, but it actually helps!

BRYAN 5:53 pm

Sometimes I think too much when I have to make a decision. I think and think again, and when I've finally made a choice, I start to worry that I might be wrong! When that happens to me, I often go for a walk or I do some exercise to relax and take my mind off the problem. After a while, I can think calmly, without feeling so worried and stressed. The time of day is also important for me. I have a hard time making decisions in the morning or in the late evening when I'm tired.

MICHAEL 11:24 am

I hate making decisions quickly because I prefer to think carefully about all the options. For example, I had to choose a topic for a history presentation about Ancient Rome, and I spent four days reading lots of articles online. After all that, I decided that Roman architecture would be a good topic because there was a lot of information, and I found some great photos that I could use. That's how I often make decisions. I take time to think and explore different ideas, and then after a while the best choice usually becomes obvious.

EMILY 3:19 pm

When I need to make a decision, I always talk to people that I trust. Sometimes it's enough to chat about the problem and hear what other people have to say. Other times, I ask for practical advice and suggestions. I usually ask my friends or close relatives, but there's also a guidance counsellor at our school. She's really patient and she always has time to listen. I had an appointment last week to talk about my options for university and she's given me some things to read before our next meeting. Choosing a career isn't easy!

LIFE SKILLS

Learning Objectives

- The students learn about evaluating options.
- In the project stage, they evaluate options for a summer camp and tell the class about these.

Vocabulary

actually ancient calmly obvious relatives trouble

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

People have to make decisions all the time; some are about ordinary, everyday matters and others have a significant impact on our lives. Someone who finds decision-making difficult may prefer to let others do it for them, or else they may search for a long time for information to help them make a good choice. One reason why it can be hard to make a decision is because we may not always know what the consequences will be. An example of this is whether or not to look for a job in another city or country. The most effective way of dealing with a big decision is to write down all the positive and negative aspects – also known as the pros and cons. A second issue is that we don't always trust our own judgement. A good piece of advice is to get used to solving smaller problems, as this improves our confidence.

WARMER

Write evaluating options on the board and put students into pairs or small groups to discuss what the phrase might mean and why it's an important thing to do. Write the following key words on the board: think, choices, list, decision and advice. Ask students to explain the meaning of evaluating options, using as many of the key words as they can.

LIFE SKILLS

Evaluating options

Tell students to read the information and check vocabulary as necessary. Invite students to say if they agree or disagree with any points in the text and to give reasons. Encourage open-class discussion and help students make connections between their contributions.

- 1 Put students into pairs to discuss the questions. Monitor and help individuals get their ideas across and give positive feedback where possible. Bring the class together and ask for volunteers to share ideas on each of the questions. Add more key words and phrases on the board and ask students to give examples of specific instances when they have made different decisions.

MIXED ABILITY

If you think weaker students will struggle to answer the questions, give the class two minutes to write down some ideas before they discuss the questions with their partner.

Answers

Students' own answers

- 2 Read the topics 1–4 and tell students to underline key words and phrases they think will help direct their reading. Ask students how they are going to read the forum posts to find the answers (quickly, looking for relevant key words in each one). Set a short time limit of about five minutes for students to find topics 1–4 in the posts. Ask for volunteers to give answers and to say which words or phrases in the texts helped them decide their answers.

FAST FINISHERS

Ask fast finishers to make a note of vocabulary they are unsure of and to use the information in the text to guess meanings. Ask students to report to the class after checking answers to Exercise 3.

 48 The Reading text is recorded for students to listen, read and check their answers.

-  49 4 Ask students to read the two questions and to underline key words to focus their listening before playing the audio. Nominate a strong student to suggest answers and see if the class agrees before feeding back.

Answers

Patrick makes decisions more quickly. Molly needs more time, because she hates making decisions without enough information.

-  49 5 Tell students to read sentences 1–6 and to underline key words and phrases to focus their listening. Ask for suggestions and check pronunciation as necessary to help them recognise the word if or when they hear it. Play the audio before asking students to compare their answers in pairs. PROJECT Evaluating options for summer camp

Read the instructions and ask students, in pairs, which type of summer camp they will write about. Monitor and help as necessary as students discuss questions 1–5, encouraging them to use expressions from the Useful language box.

Ask students to tell the class about their preferred summer programme, to explain their reasons and to say how they evaluated their options. Ask other students to make a note of any useful ideas they heard. They can report back to the class at the end of each presentation.

PROJECT EXTENSION

Ask students to reflect on their answers to questions 1–5 in light of comments made by their classmates. They make changes to their answers and report back to the class.

COOLER

Ask students to look again at the Teen-world Forum text and make a list of any words that are new to them. They can then write a definition for the words using a dictionary.

3 Read the forum posts again and answer the questions.

- 1 How does Jenna organise her ideas more clearly?
- 2 What unusual thing does Jenna do sometimes?
- 3 Why was Michael looking for photos online?
- 4 Why does Michael need time to make decisions?
- 5 Why does Bryan get stressed about decisions?
- 6 Who is helping Emily think about her studies?
- 7 Which person is similar to you? Why?

4 Listen to Molly and Patrick. Who makes decisions quickly? Who needs more time? Why?

Summer Camps

Are you going to be here in July?
Sign up for one of our summer camps!
Monday–Friday 9:00 am to 2:00 pm

Outdoor Adventures

This camp offers a variety of outdoor sports and physical activities, such as football, cycling, hiking, swimming and rockclimbing. If you aren't in good shape, you will be!

French Culture

This camp combines French language practice with fun cultural studies, including music, film, art and literature. Participants must have an intermediate level of French.

Art and Design

This camp is ideal for anyone who enjoys art and creative expression. It includes activities like drawing, painting, sculpture and graphic design using computers.

Science 4 Fun

This camp offers fun, practical experiments for exploring sciences like biology, chemistry and physics. Classes will be in the science lab at Kingsway Secondary School.

5 Listen again. Are the sentences true or false?

- 1 Molly wants to be outdoors because she loves camping.
- 2 Patrick doesn't mind being indoors for summer camp.
- 3 Molly wants to know who is going to teach the art camp together.
- 4 Patrick suggests they sign up for the French camp together.
- 5 Patrick suggests they ask for more information about the summer camps.
- 6 Molly wants to talk to her friends before she makes a decision.

6 Read the Useful language phrases. Change the words in brackets. Use your own ideas.

USEFUL LANGUAGE

Discussing options

- 1 I prefer to be (outdoors) in summer.
- 2 I think I'd rather (go hiking) in July.
- 3 The (French) camp sounds boring to me.
- 4 The (science) camp might be interesting.
- 5 I'm not sure about the (adventure) camp.
- 6 I'd probably choose the (art) camp.

PROJECT

Evaluating options for summer camp

Imagine you are going to choose one of the summer camps above. How would you evaluate the options? Use the questions below to help you. Discuss the options with a partner and try to make a decision.

- 1 Do you usually think a lot about your choices?
- 2 Would you make a list or table of the options?
- 3 What additional information would you need?
- 4 How long might you need to make a decision?
- 5 Who would you ask for advice before deciding?

Tell the class which summer programme you would prefer, explaining your reasons and how you evaluated the options.

A very unusual school

Imagine if you went to a school with no books. Well, that's exactly what happens at the West Philadelphia School of the Future, where students do all their work on computers. They learn Maths on an app and the teachers use smart boards. This is all done (1) _____ purpose, in order to improve students' technology skills.

The school wasn't very successful (2) _____ first: some of the students didn't know enough (3) _____ technology to use some of the devices. Now, the school is much better. Its students (4) _____ doing well and getting high scores for their work. Many parents want their children to go there because employers need (5) _____ find people with the skills which the School of the Future provides them with. It's expected that students from this school (6) _____ get jobs easily when they graduate.

WARMER

Write the title of the unit (#NoFilter) on the board. Put students into pairs or small groups. Ask them to think of a famous person often seen in magazines or TV advertisements and to say what they think the differences are between the person in real life and their photo in the advert (e.g. hairstyle, clothes). Monitor and help students communicate their ideas. Invite two or three students to report back to the class and take a vote on the most interesting observation.

ABOUT YOU

-  You can begin the class and introduce the topic of the unit by showing the video and asking students to complete the video worksheet. Then, read the questions in the About you box and ask students to discuss them in pairs. Nominate individuals to give answers and write useful language on the board.

VOCABULARY Social media

- 1 Direct students to the 'before and after' pictures and put them into pairs to discuss the question. Monitor and help them communicate their ideas. Invite two or three students to explain their answers to the class, write any useful vocabulary on the board (eg facial, position, situation) and help with pronunciation as necessary.

Answers

Girl: in a different position, standing on a red carpet. Skin tone changed to reflect the outdoor / indoor locations.
 Boy: facial blemishes removed, skin tone made darker

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

Photo manipulation began in the 19th century, soon after the creation of the first photograph in 1825. There were many techniques for manipulating photos, for example, retouching with ink or paint, and the practice has caused much controversy.

One famous example was an altered image of the pyramids. In 1982, National Geographic made the Pyramids appear closer than they really were, and this raised issues about the credibility of the magazine. In another case, US politician John Kerry and actor and activist Jane Fonda were made to look as if they were together at an anti-war rally.

With technological developments, it is possible to digitally manipulate a photo which has been taken by a digital camera and input into a computer. The photo manipulation industry has been particularly active in glamour photography and the appearance of a person can be changed to suggest, for example, that cosmetics can improve appearance or that dietary aids can result in impressive weight loss.

Nowadays, many celebrities and companies are against photo manipulation. They feel it leads to unrealistic perceptions of body image and can adversely influence impressionable children and teenagers seeking to attain similar physical features.

However, in the era of smartphones and tablets, everyone has access to photo editing apps that they can use to manipulate their photos.

- 1 Write the following words and phrases on the board: digital editing, retouch, manipulate, photoshop, reality and false. Check meaning and give pronunciation practice before putting students into pairs or small groups to discuss the questions. Monitor and help students express their ideas before bringing the class together to exchange opinions, encouraging them to add extra information where possible.

Possible answers

No, and that people have to look perfect to be acceptable.

 PREPARE FOR THE EXAM

B1 PRELIMINARY FOR SCHOOLS

Reading Part 3

Reading Part 3 tests students' ability to read for detailed comprehension. It consists of five four-option multiple-choice questions, which test the understanding of attitude, writer opinion and purpose, gist, inference and global meaning. The questions follow the order of information in the text.

Tips Advise students to read the entire text before looking at the questions and options. Tell them that once they find a possible option which answers the question, they should read that part of the text very carefully to check. Suggest to students that they re-read the options again to check.

- 2 If necessary, ask students to go to Prepare for the exam pages 122–123 to revise the exam information and exam tips. Tell students to look at question 1 and options A–D and ask them to underline key words or phrases in the options which differentiate them from each other (A – not ... good results, B – celebrities, C – almost all ... airbrushed, D – equipment). Go through the options with the class before directing students to read the first paragraph carefully to find the answer. Nominate a student to give the answer and say in which part of the text they can find the information (see Answers). Monitor and help as necessary while students continue individually. Ask for volunteers to give answers and to quote from the text to support their suggestion.

MIXED ABILITY

Ask stronger students to find the following words and phrases in the text and to guess meaning from context: body image (what you think of your appearance), campaigning (organising activities to achieve something), scale (size or amount), and spreading messages (communicating). Feed this in when checking answers to Exercise 2.

Answers

- 1 C (it's difficult to find ... airbrushing.)
- 2 B (Research has shown ... body image.)
- 3 D (... unfortunately ... beautiful.)
- 4 B (... perhaps one day ... again.)
- 5 A (They've ... look.)

 ⁵¹ The Reading text is recorded for students to listen, read and check their answers

 TALKING POINTS

Monitor and help students make a note of useful vocabulary to answer the questions. Put them into pairs or small groups to discuss the questions, encouraging them to use phrases for adding extra information on page 71, Unit 12.

COOLER

Ask students to choose five words from the Vocabulary and Reading sections, and to write definitions for them, using their dictionary to help if necessary. Books closed. Put students into same ability pairs to read their definitions for their partner to guess the word.

READING

- 1 Look at the photo. Do you think the woman looks like this in real life? What message does this give to readers?

Don't
me!

A IRBRUSHING is when photos are changed by using computer software to make people look even better in them. In the beginning, it was used to 'tidy up' small problems in photos: a hair standing up on someone's head was removed, or a spot on their skin was hidden. These days, digital technology and editing are more advanced, and it's difficult to find a photo of a model or celebrity in a magazine which hasn't been 'improved' by airbrushing.

'You see these women with legs like sticks and perfect skin and you know they aren't real,' says 15-year-old Shelly. 'But when you're reading an article about a celebrity you admire, you forget that, and just want to look like them.' Corey, also 15, says, 'People think it's just girls that are upset by this stuff but it's boys, too. We're supposed to have big muscles, like sportspeople, but that's impossible to achieve if it isn't your natural body shape.' Research has shown that seeing pictures of 'perfect' models in magazines leads readers to feel less confident about the way they look. This also leads to negative body image.

Mobile phone apps aren't helping the situation. They allow us to change photos of ourselves until we feel happy enough with the way we look to post them online. And although stricter rules are now in place for adverts, unfortunately, there is still a long way to go in changing the media industry's attitudes towards what is thought beautiful.

Fortunately, there are plenty of people campaigning to change things. Former actress Meghan Markle and singer Paloma Faith have both spoken out about not liking magazines to airbrush their photos. Politicians have fought for even stricter rules on how airbrushing can be used. On a smaller scale, the Girl Guides (a UK Scouts organisation for young women) have already approached the government to get labels put on airbrushed photos (with no positive result so far). They've also introduced the 'Free being me' badge, which members can achieve by showing they can recognise airbrushed pictures and by spreading messages in their local community about how positive it is to have a natural look. These are small steps, but if people keep taking them, perhaps one day we'll find that the natural look is considered beautiful again.

PREPARE FOR THE EXAM

Reading Part 3

- 2 For each question, choose the correct answer.
- In the first paragraph, the writer says that
 - A airbrushing did not provide good results at first.
 - B celebrities prefer their photos to be airbrushed.
 - C almost all pictures in magazines are airbrushed.
 - D it is easier to access airbrushing equipment than it used to be.
 - What is the purpose of the second paragraph?
 - A to provide examples of how airbrushing is done
 - B to explain the effect that airbrushed photos have on people
 - C to warn young people against believing what they see in photos
 - D to advise readers to choose what magazines they read carefully
 - In the third paragraph, the writer shows that she is feeling
 - A surprised that some adverts were never shown.
 - B pleased that some mobile phone apps help people feel better.
 - C unhappy that the media is ignoring airbrushing rules.
 - D disappointed that things are not changing more quickly.
 - In the final paragraph, the writer says that
 - A famous people are more likely to change people's opinions.
 - B there is hope people will have different ideas in future.
 - C new laws will stop airbrushing being allowed in photos.
 - D not enough people are trying to give out positive messages.
 - What might a Girl Guide write in her diary?
 - A The work we're doing is already helping me to accept my body the way it is.
 - B The 'Free being me' badge is great – we're learning how to look better through exercise and food.
 - C We've just had an interesting session about making airbrushed photos look more natural.
 - D It isn't necessary to label airbrushed photos because it's our responsibility to understand what's been done to them.

TALKING POINTS

Should there be limits on how photos are changed in advertising? Why? / Why not? Why do companies use models, celebrities or sportspeople to advertise their products?

GRAMMAR

The passive

- 1 Underline the passive forms in the example. Which are present simple passive and which are past simple passive?

Airbrushing is when photos are changed by using computer software to make people look even better in them. In the beginning, it was used to 'tidy up' small problems in photos.

- 2 Complete the rules with the correct words.

be by past present subject

- a We form the passive with the verb _____ + past participle.
b For the _____ simple passive, we use is or are + past participle.
c For the _____ simple passive, we use was or were + past participle.
d We use the passive when:
• we want the object of a sentence to become the _____
• we don't know or it isn't important who does the action
e To say who does the action in a passive sentence (the agent), we use _____ + agent.

Modal passives

- 3 Read the examples and complete the rules.

- 1 It's amazing what can be done on a computer.
2 The images didn't show the true results that could be achieved.
3 The Advertising Standards Authority decided the adverts couldn't be shown any longer.

Modal verbs are often used in passive structures. We use: modal verb + _____ + _____.

GRAMMAR REFERENCE AND PRACTICE PAGE 159

- 4 Complete the sentences with the correct modal passive forms.

- 1 A lot of time _____ (can / spend) on preparing adverts.
2 Mobile phones _____ (must not / use) during performances at the theatre.
3 A visa _____ (may / require) for certain countries.
4 When _____ the photos _____ (must / send) to the company?
5 People arriving late for the concert _____ (may not / allow) to enter.
6 You _____ (might / give) a free ticket for the exhibition.

- 5 Choose the correct option.

- 1 A filter must / can be chosen to make the picture look better.
2 This game can be play / played online.
3 Then the vegetables must mix / be mixed together with the eggs and cream.
4 The assistant told me that all the equipment could be hire / hired.
5 The ceremony will open / be opened by our headteacher.

VOCABULARY

Phrases with in

- 1 Read the examples and match the phrases to the meanings a-g.

- EP
- 1 They couldn't consider the digital effects in detail.
2 In fact, most people say they prefer photos without airbrushing.
3 In general, photos in adverts are airbrushed.
4 In future, can you ask me before posting photos of me?
5 If you're going to be late, please let me know in advance.
6 Are you looking for anything in particular?
7 I was going to make a comment on the post but, in the end, I decided not to.

- a usually, or in most situations
b giving more information, which is often surprising c finally, after a lot of thought or discussion d before a particular time or before doing something e considering all the information about something or every part of something f special
g beginning from now

- 2 Complete the text with phrases from Exercise 1.

When I saw the advert, I couldn't believe my eyes – my favourite band was going to play in our town! There was a problem, though, because it was on a school night. ¹ _____, my parents don't let me stay out late during the week, but I had to persuade them this was special. So I told them about the concert two months ² _____ and after a huge amount of 'discussion', ³ _____ they agreed I could go! Dad was great and offered to drive me there with a friend and pick us up afterwards. ⁴ _____, he even wanted to get a ticket for himself, but Mum persuaded him not to be so embarrassing! Anyway, it was a great concert and we liked all the songs – the new ones ⁵ _____. I'll never forget it.

- 3 Work in pairs. Turn to page 136.

WARMER

Books closed. Write the sentence The model's image was changed. on the board. Ask 'What's the subject of the sentence?' (the model's image) 'Who changed the image?' (We don't know) 'Is it important who changed it?' (No). Underline the verb form (was changed) and elicit its name (the passive). Ask students to find other examples of the passive in the article on page 77, e.g. Airbrushing is when photos are changed ...

- 1 Ask students to do the activity individually and monitor and help as necessary, referring them to the example on the board. Check answers.

Answers

Airbrushing is when photos are changed by using computer software to make people look even better in them. In the beginning, it was used to 'tidy up' small problems in photos. Present simple passive = are changed
Past simple passive = was used

- 2 Do the exercise as a class, asking for answers and giving feedback rule by rule. For each answer, refer back to the examples in Exercise 1. Check students understand the term agent (who or what performs the action) in rule e. Write the following phrase from the text on page 77, are more advanced, and remind students that some adjectives have a past participle form, but that they should be careful not to confuse these with passives.

Answers

a be b present c past d subject e by

Modal passives

- 3 Do the exercise as a class. Point out that the words in bold in the example sentences are modal passives, and ask students to identify the modals (can, could, couldn't). Elicit examples of other modal verbs (must, may and might). Remind students that modal verbs are followed by an infinitive (without to), and complete the rule together.

Answers

be, past participle

» GRAMMAR REFERENCE AND PRACTICE ANSWER KEY TB PAGE 267

- 4 Monitor and help as students do the exercise individually and ask them to compare answers with a partner before checking as a class. To check answers, nominate one student to choose a sentence, and to name another to give the answer. The class decides if the answer is correct, before the second student nominates another to read a sentence for someone else to answer. Continue until all the sentences have been completed.

Answers

1 can be spent 2 must not be used 3 may be required
4 must ... be sent 5 may not be allowed 6 might be given

MIXED ABILITY

For Exercise 4, give weaker students the past participles of irregular verbs where appropriate before they begin. Stronger students complete the exercise without this support.

- 5 Ask students to read sentences 1–5 and check vocabulary before asking them to continue the exercise individually. Monitor and help as necessary, referring students back to the rules in Exercises 2 and 3 before asking for volunteers to read entire sentences to check answers.

VOCABULARY

Phrases with in

- 1 Books closed. Write the phrases in detail and in fact on the board and tell students that one means all the information about something and the other is a phrase used to introduce or link a comment that relates to a previous statement. Tell students to read sentences 1 and 2 and say which one has an independent meaning (in detail) and which connects ideas in a text (in fact). Put students into mixed ability pairs to do the exercise and monitor and help as necessary. Ask for volunteers to give answers.

Answers

1 e 2 b 3 a 4 g 5 d 6 f 7 c

- 2 Tell students to read the text and ignore the gaps. Ask 'Where did the writer want to go?' (a concert), 'What did the writer's dad want to do?' (go to the concert as well). Monitor and help as students complete the text individually, helping them understand the information before and after the gap to aid in the selection of the correct phrase. Nominate individuals to suggest answers and see if the class agrees before feeding back.

Answers

1 In general 2 in advance 3 in the end 4 In fact

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

Panono

Panono is a ball-shaped camera that takes high-quality panoramic images. It has 36 cameras, which all take a photo at the same time. The photos are digitally stitched together to form a single piece of media, which can be shared and viewed on multiple platforms. The camera can be held in the hand, used on a tripod or selfie-stick, or thrown into the air. The cameras are expensive, so if you throw it in the air, you need to be sure to catch it.

Polaroid camera

The Polaroid camera is an instant film camera; in other words it is a type of camera which uses self-developing film and prints a photo very soon after a picture has been taken. If you didn't like the photo, you could simply take it again. It was very useful for ID cards and passport photos, and police and fire officers used them because the photos couldn't be altered. Nowadays, the original Polaroid cameras have largely been replaced by digital versions.

GoPro

A GoPro camera enables people to transform content into an edited video which can be sent directly to a mobile phone. It's tough and waterproof to a depth of 10m, and has a touchscreen, making it easy to take shots on adventure holidays, either above or under water. It can be handheld or worn to leave hands free and some models respond to simple voice commands.

- Ask students to read the review and answer the questions individually. Check answers and explain any new vocabulary, ignoring adjectives and adverbs which will be dealt with in the next exercise, e.g. fit (be the right size or shape), fun (entertaining, as opposed to something which is funny and makes you laugh). Ask students if the review is positive or negative (positive).

Answers

- Read through the information in the Prepare to write box and ask students for an example of each point from the review in Exercise 2 (informal style = short forms It's, can't), adjectives (awesome – positive), adverb (annoyingly – negative), phrases to join ideas (Plus), final recommendation (Overall, it's ...). Monitor and help as students complete the table. You could put them into groups of three, with each student completing a different column. As you check answers, point out that reviews tend to emphasise positive characteristics and ask students to find two negative adjectives in the text (slow, complicated).

Model answer

This camera is brilliant. It looks amazing, and it's small and very easy to use. Another good aspect is the quality of the videos and photos, which are stunning, even if you use it when you are skydiving. Once you get used to the controls, you can use it when you're running, mountain biking and swimming. It's perfect for travel photography and catching everyday street life. It's also good fun to use the voice control. The only disadvantage is that it has a short battery life. Overall, it's a nicely made camera which works exceptionally well and I highly recommend it.

FAST FINISHERS

Put fast finishers in pairs and tell them to swap their reviews and check their partner's work for grammatical mistakes.

COOLER

Put students into small groups and ask them to think of a product and write a review sentence for it (without naming the product). They read their sentences aloud for others to guess the product.

WRITING An online review

- 1 What do you think these things can do? Which one would you like to try?

- 2 Read the online review. Which product (A-C) is it describing? Does the review recommend the product?

THIS PRODUCT IS AWESOME!

It's a ball that you throw up in the air and it takes amazing photos. People will be really impressed with your photos. Another advantage is that it's small enough to fit in your pocket. You can achieve a huge amount with this tiny piece of electronic equipment! For a start, it can take amazing photos that your phone can't, and the outdoor photos it takes are very impressive, in particular. Plus it's really fun! The only disadvantage is that you need a special app to edit and post your photos online. Annoyingly, the app goes really slow on my phone and it can be quite complicated to use. Overall, it's definitely worth saving up for!

14 LET'S COOK!

ABOUT YOU

Do you ever cook for yourself, or does someone else always do it for you? Describe your favourite meal. How is it made?

4 Match the verbs from Exercise 3 to the pictures below.

VOCABULARY Verbs for cooking

- Look at the dishes. What ingredients do you recognise in each one? Do you know how to cook any of them?
- Listen to three young chefs, Adam, Melissa and Ravi, talking about the dishes in Exercise 1. Match each chef to a dish.
- Read the descriptions of how to make the dishes and match them to the three chefs. Then listen again and check.

1 Barbecue the chicken pieces, or roast them in a hot oven for 40 minutes. Then bite into them. They're spicy and delicious! You can freeze this dish.

2 Fry the onion and garlic – but don't let them burn! ... Grill the aubergines first. Stir the stew occasionally with a wooden spoon.

3 Cook this really slowly on the stove – don't boil it. Taste it regularly and add salt and pepper. Bake some bread and steam some rice to serve with this dish.

- Work in groups of three. Each group takes one dish. Listen to the chefs again and each write down as many ingredients as possible for your group's dish.
- Tell the class as much as you can remember about your chef's dish.
- What dishes can you cook? Write a recipe for something tasty!

WARMER

In small teams, give students one minute to write food or drink words beginning with each letter of the alphabet, e.g. apple, bread, cake. Ask the fastest team to read their list.

ABOUT YOU

Nominate a few students to tell the class who cooks the most in their house. Ask for volunteers to talk about their favourite meal and to say how it is made.

VOCABULARY Verbs for cooking

- 1 Put students into pairs. Direct them to the photos and ask them which ingredients they recognise. Ask for a show of hands to indicate whether or not students know how to cook any of the dishes, and whether they have tried them.

Answers

- 2 Read the instructions and play the recording. Allow students to compare their answers with a partner before checking as a class. See if the class agrees before confirming each one.

Answers

Adam – B Melissa – C Ravi – A

- 3 Ask students to read the descriptions adapted from the recipes. Monitor and encourage students to use the pictures to help with new vocabulary where possible. Play the recording again for students to check their answers.

Answers

1 Ravi 2 Adam 3 Melissa

- 4 Write the following pairs of cooking verbs on the board: roast and bake, boil and steam. Ask students to say what the similarities and differences between the processes are (roast and bake both take place in an oven, but roasting usually uses oil to cook meat while baking involves cooking bread, cakes and tarts without extra fat; vegetables can be boiled or steamed – boiling involves immersing the vegetables in the boiling water, whereas steaming involves placing the vegetables over boiling water). Students do the activity individually before comparing in pairs.

FAST FINISHERS

Ask fast finishers to write definitions for spicy (containing strong flavours from spice), stew (a dish made of vegetables and meat cooked together slowly in liquid) and stove (something that you cook on). Elicit their definitions after checking answers to Exercise 4.

Answers

1 bite 2 barbecue 3 taste 4 burn 5 fry (or stir) 6 boil 7 stir
8 grill 9 roast 10 freeze 11 steam 12 bake

- 5 Put students into groups of three and tell each group to follow one of the dishes. Tell them to make a note of as many ingredients as possible for the dish as they listen. Ask students to compare with others in their group and give the class the option of listening again.

Answers

- 1 Adam: chillies, Moroccan spices (cumin), onion, garlic, vegetables (green beans, aubergine), tinned tomatoes, rice, fresh herbs
- 2 Melissa: bananas, cabbage, prawns, seafood, tomatoes, chilli, salt and pepper, bread, rice
- 3 Ravi: chicken, lime juice, salt, mixed spices (cayenne pepper and paprika), guacamole (avocado), salad

AUDIOSCRIPT TB PAGE 298

- 6 Ask students to elect a spokesperson to report what they can remember about their chef's dish. Encourage students to add any extra information they can remember.
- 7 Monitor and help with vocabulary as necessary as students write a recipe for something they cook. Encourage them to refer to the verbs in Exercise 4 and the ingredients in Exercise 5. Ask for volunteers to share their recipes with the class and take a vote on the one which sounds the tastiest.

READING

- 1 Direct students to text 1 and ask them to identify the text type and any features that helped them decide (an email, the 'from/to' labels, toolbar, scroll bar).

Answers

1 email 2 handwritten note 3 text message 4 sign
5 text message

- 2 Read the instructions and ask who the writer and reader could be in text 1 (colleagues, or a boss and employee). Ask students further questions about the text and establish that the topic is work, and the text is in a neutral style – not formal or informal.

Set a short time limit of about two minutes and tell students to read texts 2–5 quickly to get a sense of the relationship between the writer and the reader. Advise them to guess the meaning of new vocabulary. Ask for volunteers to suggest answers and see if the class agrees before feeding back.

Answers

1 colleagues, or boss and employee
2 mother and son 3 friends
4 manager of restaurant or head chef to kitchen staff
5 friends

PREPARE FOR THE EXAM

B1 PRELIMINARY FOR SCHOOLS

Reading Part 1

In this part, students are tested on their ability to understand meaning and purpose in short texts such as notes, messages, signs, postcards, emails and labels. Each of the five texts has one three-option multiple-choice question.

Tips Advise students to look at features of the text, for example, 'To:/From:,' the way the writer addresses the reader, and subject lines, to help them identify the text type. Tell students to look at the language (is it formal, informal or neutral?) to help them identify the writer and the person the text has been written for.

- 3 Go through the first question as a class and ask for volunteers to say which part of the text points to option B as being correct (the final request 'Could you ...?'). Ask for volunteers to say why the other options aren't appropriate (A – there is no reference to an earlier time than normal, C – the new chef was interviewed last month). Advise students to look at what the text says, and what is assumed, and monitor and help as they continue individually.

Answers

1 B 2 A 3 C 4 B 5 A

MIXED ABILITY

As you monitor students doing Exercise 3, help those who might be struggling by indicating one of the wrong options.

 The Reading text is recorded for students to listen, read and check their answers.

PREPARE FOR THE EXAM TEACHING NOTES AND ANSWER KEY TB PAGE 251

- 4 Ask students to read the meanings 1–5 and check vocabulary as necessary. Do the first item as a class, asking for a volunteer to suggest an answer. Remind students that they can check their answers by re-reading the section of the text before and after the gap, and substituting the highlighted word or phrase for a meaning from 1–5 to check the sentence makes general sense. Monitor and help as students continue individually before inviting individuals to give answers and see if the class agrees before feeding back.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

Working in a kitchen is known as being one of the most stressful jobs there is, carrying a high level of pressure and intensity. Chefs tend to work long hours, between 48–60 hours a week and they are often perfectionists who want to cook the best meal possible. Kitchens are noisy, extremely hot and dangerous places and it is usual for chefs not to know exactly what the next order is going to be. Because the cost of ingredients is always rising, chefs are expected to work for low wages and often end up doing a lot of unpaid overtime.

However, on the other hand, chefs love looking after their customers and seeing the pleasure their work gives people. Many chefs find the stress of a kitchen environment exciting, and actually enjoy it.

TALKING POINTS

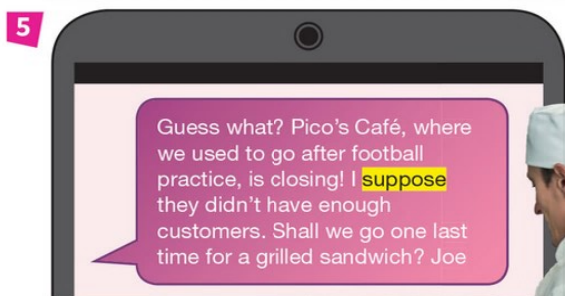

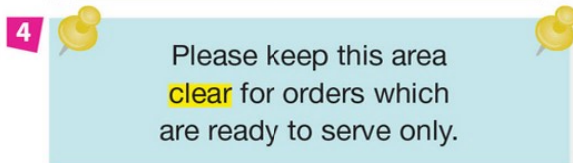

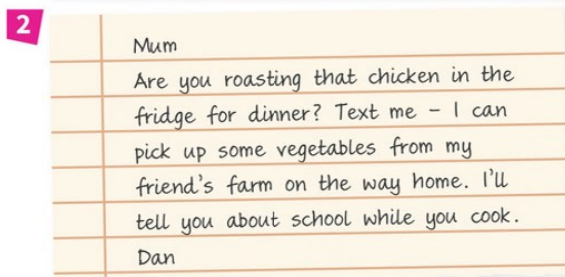

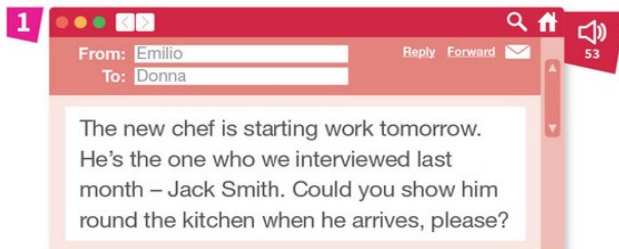

Direct students to the photo of the busy restaurant and ask them to imagine what it would be like to work there. Ask for suggestions as to why it might be stressful and make a note of key words and phrases on the board. Put students into same ability pairs to write a note of useful vocabulary to discuss the remaining questions. Monitor and encourage students to give specific example situations to expand on their answers. Give positive feedback where possible before bringing the class together to share ideas.

COOLER

Ask students to write as many cooking verbs as they can remember, and to match each one to a food item. They can look back to page 80 in their books to see how many of the verbs they remembered.

READING

- 1 Look at the texts below. What kind of texts are they (e.g. note, email, label)?
- 2 Read the texts quickly. Who could the writer and the reader be in each case?

PREPARE FOR THE EXAM

Reading Part 1

- 3 Look at the texts again. For each question, choose the correct answer.
 - 1 Emilio is emailing Donna to ask her to
 - A come to work earlier tomorrow.
 - B help a new employee.
 - C interview a chef.
 - 2 A Dan's mum needs to make a decision.
 - B Dan's mum is going shopping later.
 - C Dan and his mum will cook together.
 - 3 A Jim only wants his classmates to attend his barbecue.
 - B Jim has invited his friends to a barbecue on Thursday.
 - C Jim needs to know who is coming to his barbecue before the end of Thursday.
 - 4 The sign is telling restaurant staff to
 - A make meals only in this area.
 - B only put meals for customers here.
 - C clean dishes only in this area.
 - 5 A Joe wants to go to the restaurant again before it closes.
 - B Joe is sorry that the restaurant is no longer open.
 - C Joe is confused about why the restaurant is closing.

- 4 Match the highlighted words in the texts and questions to the meanings.

- 1 go to an event
- 2 think that something is likely to be true
- 3 not covered or blocked by anything
- 4 someone who is paid to work for a person or company
- 5 a choice that you make

TALKING POINTS

Why might working in a restaurant be stressful?
What are the benefits of cooking your own food?
Why do people like going out somewhere to eat?

GRAMMAR

Defining relative clauses

1 Read the examples and look at the underlined relative clauses. Complete the rules with the words in the box.

- 1 He's the man who we interviewed last month.
- 2 Shall I roast the chicken that I bought this evening?
- 3 My friend only eats food which is vegetarian.
- 4 That's the restaurant where the famous chef works.
- 5 She's the chef that became famous on a TV cooking competition.

who where which that (x2)

We use a defining relative clause to give essential information about the thing, place or person we are talking about. This information cannot be omitted.

We use the pronoun:

- a _____ or _____ to define a person.
- b _____ or _____ to define an object, or thing.
- c _____ to define a place.

Non-defining relative clauses

2 Read the examples. Then complete the rules with who, which and whose.

- 1 Ella, who is in my tennis club, has won a national cookery competition.
- 2 Pico's Café, which is near the football ground, is closing down.
- 3 Jim, whose sister is in my class, is having a barbecue at the weekend.

We use a non-defining relative clause to give more information about the person or thing we are talking about.

We put commas around the clause because it contains extra information, which could be deleted.

We use the pronoun:

- a _____ to introduce more information about things.
- b _____ to introduce more information about people.
- c _____ to introduce something that belongs to a person, thing or place.

GRAMMAR REFERENCE AND PRACTICE PAGE 160

3 Read the examples. Which has a defining relative clause? Which has a non-defining relative clause? Match the examples to the meanings.

- 1 The recipes, which teenagers have created, will be posted on our website.
 - 2 The recipes which teenagers have created will be posted on our website.
- a There are recipes from people of all ages, but only the ones from teenagers will be posted.
 - b The recipes are all by teenagers and they will all be posted.

4 Correct the mistake in each sentence.

- 1 The film was about a man lost his way in the desert.
- 2 It's a quiet place that you can study.
- 3 I must look after my brother, which is a baby.
- 4 We met a girl which my friend Jill knows.

5 Rewrite the information in single sentences. Use non-defining relative clauses.

- 0 Thai food can be quite hot. (it contains chillies and other spices) Thai food, which contains chillies and other spices, can be quite hot.
- 1 The waiter is very friendly. (he comes from Barcelona)
- 2 My mum's soup is delicious. (it is made from beans, garlic and tomatoes)
- 3 Kim will order my birthday cake. (her uncle is a baker)
- 4 This dessert is very rich. (it has 300g of chocolate in it)

VOCABULARY

Transitive and intransitive verbs

1 Look at these sentences. Underline the objects. Two sentences don't have one.

EP

- 1 Boil the carrots for five minutes.
- 2 The soup boiled for an hour.
- 3 Can I taste your food?
- 4 This ice cream tastes great!

2 Read these definitions and complete the rule.

Some verbs can be both transitive and intransitive. For example boil and taste. In Exercise 1, the verbs in sentences ___ and ___ are transitive.

3 Put the words in the correct order. Then decide which sentences include a transitive verb.

- 1 the / for / minutes / We / roasted / vegetables / 10.
- 2 roasted / vegetables / The / hour / an / for.
- 3 an / fried / I / egg / for / breakfast.
- 4 The / pan / frying / is / egg / in / the.

WARMER

Books closed. Write the following words on the board and tell students to put the words in order to make a sentence: who / man / interviewed / he's / we / last / the / week (He's the man who we interviewed last week.)

Point out that the relative pronoun introduces a piece of information about the man that distinguishes him from any other person. Ask students to identify the personal pronouns which refer to the subject and object of the sentence (we, he). Ask or tell the students whether who refers to the subject or object (object).

- 1 Tell students to read the examples and complete the rules using the relative pronouns in the box. Do the first item as a class and monitor and help students identify the person, object, thing or place in sentences 2–5. Ask students to identify the subject or object of the relative clauses as you check answers and give another example referring to people, objects and places they know.

Answers

a who, that b which, that c where

Non-defining relative clauses

- 2 Ask students to read sentences 1–3 and to underline the word or phrase the relative pronoun refers to (1 Ella; 2 Pico's Café; 3 Jim). Point out that the relative pronoun introduces an additional piece of information about people, things or places. Read each of the sentences in full, saying the non-defining clause in a quieter voice. Ask students to identify the extra information in each one (1 who is in my tennis class; 2 which is near the football ground; 3 whose sister is in my class). Put students into mixed ability pairs and ask them to read the sentences again and to complete the rules. Nominate individuals to give answers and see if the class agrees before confirming.

Answers

a which b who c whose

GRAMMAR REFERENCE AND PRACTICE ANSWER KEY TB PAGE 267

- 3 Do the exercise as a class. Read the instructions and example sentences, lowering the pitch of your voice when reading the non-defining clause in sentence 1 to signify that it contains extra information. Read meanings a and b and elicit answers.

Answers

1 b (non-defining) 2 a (defining)

- 4 Go through the first item with the class and monitor and help as students work in pairs to correct the mistakes. Ask students to read the entire sentence when checking answers.

Answers

- 1 The film was about a man who / that lost his way in the desert.
- 2 It's a quiet place where you can study.
- 3 I must look after my brother, who is a baby.
- 4 We met a girl who / that my friend Jill knows.

- 5 Read the instructions and go through the example with the class. Monitor and help as students continue individually, checking they are using correct punctuation. Invite students to give answers and see if the class agrees before confirming.

FAST FINISHERS

Ask students to write two pieces of information about a person, place or thing on a piece of paper. They swap with another student and write a single sentence using a non-defining relative clause.

Answers

- 1 The waiter, who comes from Barcelona, is very friendly.
- 2 My mum's soup, which is made from beans, garlic and tomatoes, is delicious.
- 3 Kim, whose uncle is a baker, will order my birthday cake.
- 4 This dessert, which has 300g of chocolate in it, is very rich.

GRAMMAR WORKSHEET UNIT 14VOCABULARY*Transitive and intransitive verbs

- 1 Write the following sentence on the board: I made a pie last night. and label the subject (I), verb (made) and direct object (a pie). Point out that last night is an adverb. Monitor and help as necessary as students continue the activity. Explain that there are two sentences which do not contain a direct object.

Answers

- 1 the carrots
- 2 no object
- 3 food
- 4 no object

- 2 Read the definitions and ask for volunteers to give answers. Ask students for more examples of food verbs which can be used transitively (for example, roast, fry, bake).

Answers

1 and 3

- 3 Monitor and help as necessary as students work individually to complete the exercise. Nominate stronger students to read the entire sentence to check answers.

Answers

- 1 We roasted the vegetables for 10 minutes. (transitive)
- 2 The vegetables roasted for an hour.
- 3 I fried an egg for breakfast. (transitive)
- 4 The egg is frying in the pan.

- 4 Direct students to page 136, and tell them that they have one minute to write sentences using the verbs in a column of their own choice. Tell them you will award one point for each correct sentence and two points for a transitive and intransitive sentence containing the same verb. Ask students to read their sentences to the class, who decide if they are correct or not before awarding marks.

LISTENING

- 1 Direct students' attention to each of the pictures in turn and ask them to say what they can see. Check pronunciation and write key words and phrases on the board.

Possible answers

- 1 café, park, tables, chairs, outside; self-service café, food; restaurant, river views
- 2 chillies, garlic; milk, glass, butter; lemon, salt
- 3 crisps; orange juice carton; packet of biscuits

Speaking Part 3

In this part, students are tested on their ability to make and respond to suggestions, discuss alternatives, make recommendations and reach agreement.

Tips Remind students that they should listen carefully to what their partner says so they can consider each other's options before they agree or disagree. Advise them that they can disagree with their partner, but should give reasons to support their viewpoint. Tell students they should listen and respond to what their partner says, e.g. That's a good idea.

- 4 Direct students to page 137 and put them into same ability pairs. Go through the instructions and the information about the task and the tips together. Tell students to go to Prepare for the exam page 133 to revise the exam information and exam tips. Give students time to look at the pictures and make a note of useful vocabulary. Ask for suggestions and write key words and phrases on the board. Monitor and give positive feedback where possible and report any interesting ideas to the class. Ask for pairs of volunteers to repeat the activity for the class, and students to identify phrases from the Prepare to speak box on page 83. Students give their own answers.

MIXED ABILITY

Pair students needing extra practice with a different student to repeat the activity. Ask stronger students to repeat the activity but to talk about a different dish they could learn to cook. Monitor and ask for volunteers to repeat their conversations for the rest of the class.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

Nomophobia is an abbreviation for 'no-mobile-phone phobia'. It was created to describe the anxiety experienced by mobile phone users, either when they lose their phones, have no power, credit or network coverage. A 2010 study found that 55% of 2,163 people experienced anxiety when they felt 'disconnected', as they were concerned that they were unable to keep in touch with their family or friends.

WARMER

Tell students to imagine they had to spend a week without social media. Put them into mixed ability pairs to write a list of the advantages and disadvantages of being in this situation. Bring the class together and write key words and phrases in two columns on the board.

ABOUT YOU

Direct students to the My life online questionnaire. Ask them to answer the questions with a partner and then to report back on their partner to the class.

Tell fast finishers to identify other new vocabulary and to guess meanings from context. Go over the vocabulary and students' ideas on meaning after you have checked the answers to Exercise 3.

- 4 Read the instructions and ask students to read items 1–4. Check vocabulary as necessary. Play the audio and ask students to compare their answers before feeding back. Ask students to say which words and phrases help them decide which speaker made which point. Make a note of useful key words and phrases on the board.

Answers

56 5 Tell students, in their pairs, to identify and underline key words in questions 1–8 to help focus their listening. Ask for volunteers to tell the class their key words (including the first word of the question). Check students understand the following words and phrases in the questions: 4 serious activities, 5 for the most part, 6 deal with, 7 nasty, bother, 8 keep in touch.

Monitor and give pronunciation practice if necessary so the students are more prepared to recognise the words when they hear them. Play the audio and ask for volunteers to give answers.

PROJECT A presentation about social media habits

Go through the instructions with the class. Direct students, individually, to look again at the text and to make notes in answer to questions 1–6 that are true for themselves. Ask for volunteers to share ideas with the class, then write any useful key words and phrases on the board.

Monitor and help students revise their notes as necessary, and encourage them to make a note of key phrases in the Useful language box. Put students into pairs to practise their presentations using their notes, and to give each other feedback.

PROJECT EXTENSION

Tell the students they are now going to collate information about themselves and four of their classmates. Ask them to interview others and to make a note of their answers to questions 1–6. Remind them to use the words and phrases generally, for the most part and overall in sentences summarising the answers to the questionnaire. Encourage the students to produce a slideshow presentation with pictures or a poster. They then give their presentation to the class or to students in another English class.

COOLER

Ask students to make guesses about your online personality (true or false) and to make notes to the answers to questions 1–6. They compare ideas. Monitor and give feedback on students' guesses.

LIVING ONLINE

TEENS AND SOCIAL MEDIA

Teenagers today have grown up using the internet and they use social media much more than their parents and other adults. However, young people may not be using this technology in a way that's effective or healthy. In a recent study, the CNN news agency followed a group of 200 North American teenagers for a period of six months to see how they were using social media. The results were quite shocking, especially for parents who thought they knew what their children were doing online.

During the experiment, scientists recorded 150,000 posts and messages, which means approximately 125 messages a month for each person, although some teens wrote more messages than others. However, the most surprising fact was how often some teens were checking their social media profiles. Some people looked at them up to 100 times a day, even at school or when they were hanging out with other friends. But why were they checking their profile so often? When the scientists asked, they discovered that: of teens wanted to know if people had written about them. They looked forward to positive posts, but they also worried about negative ones and how they should respond to rude comments.

36%

wanted to know what other people were doing and they worried about not being part of an online group. This 'fear of missing out' (FOMO) can be quite stressful for many teens.

61%

were checking their profiles for new 'likes', followers and comments on their posts. All of these things are extremely important in the world of social media.

In fact, a lot of what teens do on social media is related to self-image and popularity. Some people always want to look perfect, so they take hundreds of selfies and then post only the very best one. Other people upload photos of all the great places they visit, the fun things they do, and all of the amazing people they meet and know. This competition can be terrible, especially for people who aren't very cool or popular. It can also have a negative effect on schoolwork. The CNN study found that people who spent the most time on social media often had lower grades.

On the positive side, social media seems to create stronger connections between young people and their friends. Some people might write nasty posts, but many teens use social media in a good way, to support their friends and show how much they care. They send messages to each other, tell jokes and celebrate special occasions. Young people could never share information about their lives in this way in the past. The world might be changing, but fortunately young people are changing along with it.

ABOUT YOU

Do you live in a city, a town or the countryside?
Would you like to live somewhere different?
Where? Why?

VOCABULARY Artificial and natural world

EP 1 What type of person are you? Do the quiz and find out!

city or country

1 What is your perfect Saturday in summer?

- a waking up early to the sound of the wildlife, ready for an active day walking up the hill and down into the valley!
- b spending the morning with your friends at the shopping centre – there's air conditioning!
- c going to visit some historic buildings and learning something new
- d inviting your friends round to play video games and then ordering a pizza

2 Which would you like to do in your holidays?

- a look at historic monuments and ruins – all your history lessons come alive!
- b visit relatives who live in a small village. It's so quiet, and you can read your book!
- c go on a camping trip away from all the pollution and street lights
- d admire modern architecture (probably a shopping centre!) and bright city lights

3 Which is important to you in the place where you live?

- a peace and quiet, and open spaces
- b interesting things to see and do
- c people and shopping!
- d facilities such as sports centres, cinemas and health centres

4 Which is your favourite season?

- a I love all the seasons – I like seeing the differences in nature.
- b I love winter – winter clothes are so stylish!
- c I don't really like summer – too many bugs.
- d If the air conditioning or the central heating is working, it's all the same to me.

2 >> Turn to page 137 and add up your scores. Do you agree with the description of you?

3 Look at the words in the quiz. Decide if they are from the man-made world or the natural world.

artificial world	natural world
air conditioning	wildlife

58  4 Listen to three teenagers talking about where they live. Match each speaker to a picture (A, B or C). What do they like about the place where they live?

5 Choose the correct option.

- 1 Although it is an old town, there is quite a lot of modern architecture / historic buildings.
- 2 The levels of pollution / air conditioning in our city have increased a lot because more people have cars.
- 3 I love the countryside because of the valley / wildlife like small birds and animals.
- 4 With all the ruins / street lights on at night, it's hard to see the stars.
- 5 With the temperature going up to 40°C today, I'm glad we have air conditioning / pollution.
- 6 Our city has excellent seasons / facilities where you can find most things you want.

6 Discuss the questions.

- 1 What facilities would you like to have closer to your home? Why?
- 2 How important is it to look after historic buildings? Why?
- 3 Why do some people move to the countryside?

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

The name 'Australia' comes from the Latin word 'australis', meaning 'southern'. It is the world's 6th largest country by area and, because of its size, it is sometimes known as the 'island continent'. It is the only continent covered with a single country and it is the driest of any continent on earth other than Antarctica.

A desert area, known as the 'outback', covers much of the land, and even though Australia is so large, 90% of the population lives on the coast. Sydney is Australia's largest city, but NOT its capital – Canberra is the country's capital city. The Great Barrier Reef has its own mail box.

Australia is home to a variety of unique animals, including the koala, kangaroo, emu, kookaburra and platypus. Emus are large, flightless birds that can run as fast as 45km/h (28mph) and koalas sleep for about 20 hours per day. Kangaroos are considered a national icon and Australia has a larger population of camels than Egypt. There are about three times as many sheep as humans living in Australia.

Australia's indigenous people, Aborigines, are estimated to have lived there for roughly 50,000 years, yet they now make up only 1.5% of the total population.

- 1 Read the question and put students into pairs or small groups to discuss the questions. Advise students to look back to page 86 for useful vocabulary and point out that they can make positive and negative comments (for example, It has many open spaces. There are too many bugs).

2 You are going to read about two Australian teens. Read the texts quickly. Where do they live? Do they like living there? Why? / Why not?

TEENTALK ... DOWN UNDER

What is living in Australia really like? Can life in the outback be fun? We caught up with two Aussies who have very different experiences of life down under.

I live in a part of Sydney called Manly. It's incredibly beautiful and I'm really lucky to live here. In fact, tourists visit Manly all year round because of its amazing beaches. It's situated by the ocean – well, I guess most of Sydney is! In summer, there are almost more visitors than people who live here, and I don't like that. I catch a ferry and then a bus to my school, which is near the city centre. One of my friends lives in the Blue Mountains and he visited me during the last

I was born in the outback on a cattle station – that's a big farm with a lot of cows! It's about 7,000 km², so there are plenty of open spaces to be in! It's great when it gets dark, you can look up at a million stars – there are no street lights, no pollution, no noise except all the amazing sounds from the wildlife. I do loads of exciting things with my brothers – fishing, hiking, horse riding, quad biking and all that kind of thing. And when it gets really hot, we jump in a creek! I don't think that there is as much stress as in the city, although we have to be careful we don't step on a snake by accident! For me, country living is certainly healthier living. Something else that is different – I didn't actually go to a school until I was 12. The nearest school was a six-hour drive away, so I attended the School of the Air. That meant I had classes at home and did school work over the internet. Most terms there was a camp where we all joined in loads of different activities. It was great fun and I met all my friends. Now I go to a boarding school in a city and I definitely miss the open spaces and my animals.

summer holidays. I showed him around and we did loads of interesting things, including a trip to the zoo, and hanging out in my favourite mall. We hardly stayed in at all! But the best part was our surfing lessons on Bondi Beach! I think that being free in the ocean and seeing the tall buildings of the city at the same time is the best thing in the world. After all, it's the best of both worlds.

3 Read the texts again and answer the questions. Write M (Maddie), H (Harry) or B (both). Who ...

- mentions doing fun activities with a family member?
- mentions visiting interesting places?
- likes to cool down in water?
- mentions that they used the internet a lot for school?
- uses public transport daily?
- is living away from home at the moment?
- suggests that there are many things to do nearby?
- loves seeing nature and modern things together?

4 Match the highlighted words in the text to the meanings.

- riding a vehicle similar to a motorcycle with four wheels
- a stream or narrow river
- an informal word for Australian people
- the areas of Australia that are far away from towns and cities
- in or to Australia or New Zealand

Model answer

Hi Jon
 Thanks for your email and I'm happy to help with your interesting school project.
 I live in a quiet little town near the sea. In the summer young people usually meet on the beach, which is pretty. They like having a barbecue and catching up with each other. It's freezing here in the winter so people usually stay in and they play games or watch films.
 For teenagers coming to my town I suggest doing cool activities like surfing or paddle-boarding.
 It's great that you're coming to visit me because I want to show you round the town. Any time in April's good for me.
 Can you come then?

- 1 Where do you and your friends usually meet up? Compare your answers with your partner.
- 2 Read the task and Inês's email. Does she use all the notes in the task?

Read this email from your English-speaking friend, Jon, and the notes you have made. Write your email to Jon, using all the notes.

Hi!

I'm doing a project at school about where people live and I need some information about where you live. Can you help me? — Yes!

Where do young people meet where you live? Is there plenty for them to do? — Tell Jon

What activities would you recommend for teenagers visiting your city? — Suggest ...

I'm hoping to come and visit you soon. Let me know when is a good time for you. — Great! Say when

Jon

Hi Jon,

Yes, of course I can help you!

The city where I live is really lively, despite it being small. I usually meet my friends in a café on Saturday afternoons. The food's amazing. However, it can get crowded in summer. There are loads of other things to do, though – there's a skateboard park, shopping and cinemas.

I'd recommend visiting the famous City Museum. It's not like other museums! The art's cool and they show interesting films. Lots of students go there – you can get snacks and eat in the museum garden. Actually, I'm going there next week.

Finally, I've got some great news – I got the highest mark in class for maths last term! Woo hoo!

WARMER

Put students into teams and set a three-minute time limit for them to make a list of as many of the following as they can: film stars, directors, animated films and soundtracks. The team with the longest list wins. Take a class vote to see which film star and film is the most popular.

ABOUT YOU

-  You can begin the class and introduce the topic of the unit by showing the video and asking students to complete the video worksheet. Then, read the questions in the box and have students exchange ideas in pairs. Bring the class together and invite two or three students to share what they discussed with the class.

VOCABULARY Film

- Put students into mixed ability pairs to discuss the questions. Monitor and help with vocabulary and pronunciation as necessary before bringing the class together to exchange ideas. Add more film-related vocabulary to the board and help with pronunciation.

FAST FINISHERS

Ask fast finishers to use film vocabulary to write a similar item for the class. They can offer these after you have checked the answers to Exercise 4.

-  Tell students they will hear three people talking about different films. Advise them to listen carefully to everything the speaker says before making their choice, as a speaker may mention one or more of the elements associated with the options. Check answers and elicit which words helped students match the speaker to the film. Make a note of useful vocabulary on the board.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

The Boundary was Evan Hara's first feature film. The film is about a fighter pilot, Miles Cooper, who took a break from work so he could spend more time with his wife and family after being traumatised by a plane crash. Miles Cooper was known to be one of the best fighter pilots so he was approached by NASA and asked if he wanted to join their team on a mission to the edge of the universe. NASA had a theory that the universe wasn't what it appeared to be, rather, it was a simulation, and the only way to prove this would be for a team to go to the edge and somehow get outside the universe.

- 1 Direct students to the photo of Evan Hara and ask them to predict how old he is (16) and where he's from (the USA). Set a short time limit of about three minutes for students to read the text quickly, ignoring new vocabulary, and to match questions 1–4 to the paragraphs. Ask for volunteers to give answers and nominate fast finishers to say which key words and phrases helped them identify the best fit.

Answers

- 1 C (managed to fit everything in, zero free time, still able to do his homework)
- 2 A (always enjoyed, used to make films ... using his dad's video camera)
- 3 D (wants to be, he intends to, I intend to)
- 4 B (took the lead role in)

- 2 Ask students to read questions 1–6 and check vocabulary as necessary. Put students into pairs to compare their answers before bringing the class together to check.

Answers

- 1 There was a red carpet, paparazzi and movie posters.
- 2 He used to film his toy cars with his dad's video camera.
- 3 He was the lead actor in Round of your Life.
- 4 He loved it and enjoyed being on the other end of the camera.
- 5 He goes to acting classes and film classes.
- 6 To be one of the youngest directors of a feature film.

 ⁶¹ The Reading text is recorded for students to listen, read and check their answers.

 TALKING POINTS

Put students into mixed ability pairs to note useful vocabulary before discussing the questions. Monitor and help with pronunciation, as necessary, and encourage students to give examples of situations or reasons to expand on their answers. Give positive feedback where possible. Bring the class together to share ideas.

COOLER

Ask students to read the text again and make a note of vocabulary they are unsure of. Ask them to guess from context and then check in a dictionary. Put students into small groups and ask them to choose three words and write definitions for each one. They then read their definitions for other groups to guess the word.

MEET EVAN HARA: WRITER, DIRECTOR, FILMMAKER

Evan Hara was just 16 and still at school when he produced his first full-length feature film. At the film's premiere there was a red carpet, paparazzi and movie posters. Did it take place in Hollywood? No, in Plano, Texas. I've seen the film and it's great! It's called The Boundary and tells the story of astronauts who travel to the edge of the universe. I caught up with Evan to find out more about this exciting young filmmaker.

A Evan has always enjoyed all things related to film. He has won a local filmmaking competition, has run the school news channel, which he also created, and has written a series for TV. But his adventures began behind the camera when he was much younger, when he used to make films of his toy cars using his dad's video camera. There is, of course, a huge difference between the camera he used then and the DSLR camera that he had to use when he joined the Dallas Young Actors Studio. Evan also has his own YouTube channel. You can see some examples of his work there, ranging from comedy skits to short films.

B As if this were not enough, at just 14 years old, Evan took the lead role in the film Round of your Life. When asked about the experience of acting, he said 'I loved it. There really is no other experience like it – it was amazing to get to know what it feels like on the other end of the camera.'

C At such a young age, we wondered how he managed to fit everything in; after all, he is still at school! 'I basically have zero free time!' he explained. He attends acting classes and film classes and does the school news channel on YouTube. Despite all that, he says he's still able to do his homework, although it's sometimes difficult.

D Evan wants to be one of the youngest directors of a feature film. When asked how he intends to make this a reality, he said, 'I intend to fulfil my goal by submitting my films to film festivals around the country, getting feedback, and then fine-tuning my editing and directing skills.' However, he admits that he has competition from other young filmmakers like Ed Burns and Richard Linklater.

Well, I've seen him on the red carpet in Plano, and I hope that I'll see him on the red carpet in Hollywood soon. Good luck, Evan!

READING

1 Read the interview quickly and match the questions to the paragraphs.

- 1 How does he find the time for everything?
- 2 How did he become interested in film?
- 3 What does he hope to achieve in the future?
- 4 What else has he done?

TALKING POINTS

Which would you prefer to do – direct a film or act in one? Why?
 Would you like to produce a film? Why? / Why not?

2 Read the interview again and answer the questions.

- 1 In what ways was the premiere of Evan's film The Boundary similar to a Hollywood premiere?
- 2 How did Evan start making films?
- 3 What was Evan's first experience as an actor?
- 4 How did he feel about his experience as an actor?
- 5 What training is he receiving at the moment?
- 6 What are his hopes for the future?

GRAMMAR Reported speech

1 Match the examples of direct speech a–d to the reported speech 1–4.

a I basically have zero free time!

b It was amazing to get to know what it feels like on the other end of the camera.

c I hope that I'll see him on the red carpet in Hollywood soon.

d I've seen the film and it's great!

- The interviewer said she'd seen the film and it was great.
- Evan said it had been amazing to get to know what it felt like on the other end of the camera.
- Evan said he basically had zero free time.
- The interviewer said she hoped that she would see him on the red carpet in Hollywood soon.

2 Choose the correct words to complete the rules.

We use reported speech to report what someone said in the past.

- We usually change / keep the verb tense.
- We generally move the verb one tense back into the past / forward into the future.
- We sometimes need to change the pronouns / adjectives in the sentence.
- In reported speech, will becomes was / would and can becomes could.

GRAMMAR REFERENCE AND PRACTICE PAGE 162

3 Complete the reported speech with the missing verbs.

- 'I like making films.' → He said he _____ making films.
- 'I'm making a film.' → He said he _____ a film.
- 'I've made a film.' → He said he _____ a film.
- 'I made a film.' → He said he _____ a film.
- 'I'll make another film.' → He said he _____ another film.
- 'I can make good films.' → He said he _____ make good films.

4 Rewrite the sentences using reported speech.

- 'I really enjoyed the performance,' my dad said.
- 'I'm making your favourite dinner,' said Anna's mum.
- 'My parents haven't visited England,' said Maria.
- 'It was my first trip on a plane,' said Paul.
- 'I'll do my homework after dinner,' Tom said.
- 'I can ride my bike with no hands,' Jason told his friends.

5 Correct the mistake in each sentence.

- I told him that my brother isn't at home.
- He asked me if I want to go to the cinema with him.
- My mother said that I have to buy some flowers for my aunt's birthday, which was the next day.
- They asked us if we are going to the cinema.
- My step-mum told me she will help pay for my university course.

6 Tell your partner about one of the things below. Listen and make notes while your partner talks.

- Your favourite film
- Your favourite food
- Your favourite app
- Your weekend activities

7 Report what your partner said to the class.

VOCABULARY Reporting verbs

1 Read the examples and notice how the reporting verbs are used.

- She said she was terrified.
- I told him that I hadn't done it before.
- He announced that the instructor was going to be late.
- He insisted that she did the course.
- They suggested that I saw The Boundary.
- The teacher demanded that the students stopped talking.

Complete the rule about insist, suggest and demand.

In the past we use: suggested / insisted / demanded + that + subject + _____.

2 Choose the correct reporting verb.

EP announce demand explain insist suggest

- The train will arrive at 5.30 pm. announce
- First you have to press this button and then you can choose the channel you want.
- Give me that letter back!
- Why don't we visit the exhibition together?
- I really need you to help me with my homework.

3 Complete the sentences with the correct form of suggest, insist or demand and the verb in brackets.

- My mum suggested that I bought the cinema tickets online as they are cheaper. (buy)
- Our teacher _____ that we _____ the project before the end of the month. (finish)
- Sue _____ that I _____ her the letter back. (give)
- She _____ that we _____ the exhibition together. (see)
- He _____ that I _____ him with his homework. (help)

4 Work in pairs. Student A, turn to page 138. Student B, turn to page 140.

WARMER

Books closed. Invite two or three students to tell the class the last thing somebody said to them. Model by giving your own response, e.g. 'My students told me they had done their homework'. Monitor for the use of tenses and say and tell. Do not over-correct for accuracy at this stage.

- 5 Tom said (that) he would do his homework after dinner.
- 6 Jason told his friends (that) he could ride his bike with no hands.

- 5 Do the first item on the board, before putting students into mixed ability pairs to continue. When checking answers, ask students to say if the problem is with the verb, the pronoun or the modal will.

Answers

- 1 I told him that my brother wasn't at home.
- 2 He asked me if I wanted to go to the cinema with him.
- 3 My mother said that I had to buy some flowers for my aunt's birthday, which was the next day.
- 4 They asked us if we were going to the cinema.
- 5 My step-mum told me she would help pay for my university course.

- 6 Give students about 30 seconds to choose one of the topics and to write some useful key words and phrases. Put them into same ability pairs and tell them to take turns making notes on what their partner says.
- 7 Give students two minutes to re-read their notes. Ask for volunteers to report what their partner said to the class and ask the others to listen carefully to the verbs, pronouns and possessive adjectives to check for accuracy. Give positive feedback where possible.

Speaking Part 2

In this part, students are tested on their ability to describe a photo. They talk for about one minute.

Tips Tell students to say as much as they can about the photo and to speculate about the photo using expressions like It looks like a ..., It could be ..., Maybe they're ..., They might be ..., I don't know for sure, but perhaps ..., She seems to be .... Remind students to keep talking until they are asked to stop.

- 4 Put students into pairs and ask them to make notes on the type of areas they could talk about when describing a photo. Then bring the class together and make a note of ideas on the board (for example, Who are the people? What are they doing? Where are they? What are they wearing? What's the weather like? What objects can you see?).
Direct students to page 138. Tell them to decide who is A and who is B and ask them to think about which of the questions on the board would be appropriate to focus on when talking about their photos. Time one minute for each student to talk about their photo. Monitor and listen for use of the phrases in the Prepare to speak box on page 93 and report examples of good language use to the class at the end of the activity. Finally, tell students to go to Prepare for the exam page 132 to revise the exam information and exam tips.

LIFE SKILLS COMMUNICATION

GIVING PRESENTATIONS

LIFE SKILLS

Giving presentations

Presentation skills are important at school and in other areas of life. Some people don't like giving presentations because they don't know what to say or because they get nervous about public speaking. However, there are tips anyone can use to make presentations easier and more enjoyable.

1 Ask and answer the questions with a partner.

- 1 When was the last presentation you gave?
- 2 What was the presentation about? Did you do it alone or in a group?
- 3 How do you feel when you have to speak in public?

2 Read the text about presentations on the opposite page and complete the sentences.

- 1 You should have three or four main _____.
- 2 Don't show people too much _____ at once.
- 3 Use small _____ to help you remember.
- 4 Always _____ the audience when you finish.

3 Read the article again and answer the questions.

- 1 Why would someone start a presentation with photos?
- 2 What are two advantages of using visual materials?
- 3 How can too many visual materials be a problem?
- 4 What changes might people make after practising their presentation?
- 5 Why is it important to watch the audience carefully?
- 6 What can happen if the speaker sounds tired?

4 Listen to Sarah and her dad talking about her presentation. Tick (✓) the topics that they discuss.

- | | |
|----------------------|----------------------|
| 1 ___ weather | 5 ___ animals |
| 2 ___ holiday photos | 6 ___ the audience |
| 3 ___ outdoor sports | 7 ___ videos |
| 4 ___ a lake | 8 ___ transportation |

5 Listen again. Are the sentences true or false? Correct the false sentences.

- 1 Dad said that Sarah hadn't practised her presentation enough.
- 2 Sarah said she was feeling nervous about her presentation.
- 3 The teacher said that students needed to include lots of facts.
- 4 Dad told Sarah that she had spoken too quickly at times.
- 5 Sarah said that she wanted to make a documentary film.
- 6 Dad said that Sarah had looked at her notes too much.

6 Read the Useful language phrases. Complete them with the words in the box.

for instance like such well

USEFUL LANGUAGE

Giving examples

- 1 There are lots of natural sights, _____ as mountains and lakes.
- 2 I hope to see some wild animals, _____ bears and foxes.
- 3 The weather will be cold, and it may be snowy as _____.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

It is normal to feel nervous before giving a presentation, whether to a small or large audience. However, being able to overcome our nerves is a major life skill. Before giving a presentation, it's important to think about your audience: who they are, why they are there, and what information they want to hear. This not only helps direct the presenter's ideas when they are writing the presentation, it also makes the audience seem more human. Another way to reduce nerves is to visit in advance the room where the talk will be taking place. If there is a stage or platform, it's a good idea to stand on it and imagine talking to the audience. If it is a small room, the speaker might decide to involve the audience more by asking them questions occasionally. This will also take some of the attention off the presenter. The very best way to deal with nerves is to plan well and practise – and it's worth remembering that the audience wants the speaker to do well.

WARMER

Write communication on the board and put students into pairs or small groups to think of examples of ways of communicating. Ask students for suggestions and to describe the ways in which a presentation is a way of communicating (for example, giving information to several or many people, maybe using visual support). Tell students that the lesson will look at how to give a good presentation.

LIFE SKILLS

Giving presentations

Tell students to read the information and check vocabulary as necessary. Invite students to say if they agree or disagree with any points in the text and to give their reasons. Encourage open-class discussion and help students make connections between their contributions.

- 1 Put students into pairs to discuss the questions. Monitor and help individuals get their ideas across and give positive feedback where possible. Bring the class together and ask for volunteers to share ideas on each of the questions. Write key words and phrases on the board.

Answers

Students' own answers

- 2 Tell students to look at items 1–4 and see if they can guess the missing word. Write suggestions on the board before directing them to read Perfect Presentations. Ask students to use the section headings to say where they think they will find the information to complete the sentences. Tell students to go to the appropriate part of the article and to read it quickly until they come to relevant information and advise them to read carefully at this point. Ask for volunteers to make suggestions and see if the class agrees before feeding back.

- 3 Ask students to read questions 1–6 and monitor and help as necessary as they work individually. Encourage students to guess the meaning of new vocabulary from context. Ask them to compare answers in pairs before feeding back.

Answers

- 1 for an interesting or amusing start
- 2 They can make the presentation more exciting, and can help the speaker to remember what to say.
- 3 They can be confusing or boring for the audience.
- 4 They might cut information if the presentation is too long.
- 5 They might be confused or unable to hear.
- 6 The audience will also feel tired and won't be interested.

FAST FINISHERS

Write the following words on the board: consider, experts, amusing, improvements, confused and annoying. Ask fast finishers to find the words and use the context to decide what they mean. Ask students to report to the class after checking answers to Exercise 3.

-  ⁶⁵ The Reading text is recorded for students to listen, read and check their answers.

- 64  4 Prepare students for the listening by asking them to look at topics 1–8 and to mark the syllable stress for each word as you model it. Write the words on the board and indicate syllable stress (weather, holiday photos, outdoor sports, lake, animals, the audience, videos, transportation).

Answers

They discuss topics 2, 4, 5, 6 and 7.

- 64  5 Tell students to read sentences 1–6 and to underline key words and phrases to focus their listening. Ask for suggestions and help with pronunciation if necessary. Play the audio before asking students to compare their answers in pairs. Give students the option of another listening before checking answers. As you check answers, ask for volunteers to correct the false sentences.

PROJECT A presentation

Ask students to read the instructions and questions they will need to answer for their project. Monitor and help with ideas if necessary as students make a note of key words and phrases about the nature park, and remind them to make notes of examples and details. They should also make a note of any visuals they could include. Put students into pairs to take turns rehearsing their presentation using their notes, before giving it to the class. Ask students to write down any interesting suggestions for questions 1–7 as they listen to other presentations.

MIXED ABILITY

Put students into mixed ability pairs to practise their presentations and encourage stronger students to help with correcting any grammar or vocabulary mistakes.

PROJECT EXTENSION

In pairs, students write answers for questions 1–7 for a different nature park on a slip of paper. Collect the slips of paper and redistribute them. Ask students to plan a different presentation and to give this to the class. Alternatively, students could prepare a poster presentation on the nature park they want to visit, supplementing and decorating it with information and visuals from the internet. Remind students to acknowledge the source of any visuals they use by writing the website addresses next to them. They could also acknowledge any interesting suggestions from their classmates.

COOLER

Ask students to copy the paragraph headings in Perfect Presentations and to make a note of key words for each point as a reference sheet they could use the next time they are asked to give a presentation.

Perfect Presentations

Five essential steps for public speaking

1 Get organised

The best presentations are well planned and clearly organised. You can brainstorm lots of ideas and write them down, but then choose the most important ones. Consider the amount of time you have, and don't include too many topics. In most cases, three or four main ideas will be fine. For example, if you're making a presentation about a film, you can talk about the characters, story, music and special effects. The beginning of your presentation should also be interesting. Show some photos or a video clip, or tell a short, amusing story to make people laugh.

2 Use visual materials

Many people find it difficult to stand up in front of an audience without any materials to help them. Even experts use a variety of visual props, such as photos, charts, diagrams and digital presentation tools. These things make your performance more exciting for the audience and they can also help you remember what you are going to say. However, you shouldn't use too many visual materials or show too much information at once. That can be confusing or boring for the audience. The 'star' of your presentation should be you, not your materials.

3 Rehearse your performance

Professional musicians know how important it is to practise before a concert. Similarly, you need to practise your presentation many times before the 'big day'. Start by reading the text aloud until you know it well. Then write the main ideas on small notecards and use them to help you remember. Practise again in front of a mirror and time your presentation. If it's too long, you may need to cut some material. Finally, you can record your performance or ask a friend to watch you and then make suggestions for improvements.

4 Connect with your audience

On the day of your presentation, be sure to watch the audience. Are people interested or do they seem confused? Do you need to speak more loudly? Try to stay calm, but make sure to keep up your energy. If you sound like you're tired or bored, your audience will probably feel the same way. Stand up straight, act confident, and don't move around much. That can be annoying and then people won't pay attention to your words. Finally, be sure to thank your audience when you finish speaking. It's a simple but effective way to end any presentation.

PROJECT

A presentation

Plan a presentation about a nature park that you want to visit. Use the questions below to help you. Practise your presentation with a partner.

- 1 What's the name of the park?
- 2 Where is the nature park located?
- 3 What time of year do you want to go there?
- 4 What is the weather like at that time of year?
- 5 What are some interesting natural sights there?
- 6 What plants or animals do you hope to see?
- 7 What activities do you want to do there?

Give your presentation to the class.

WARMER

Write the following grammar labels on the board: the passive, articles and reported speech. Ask students to put them in order of difficulty, with the easiest first, and then to compare their answers with a partner. Tell students that they will look again at this at the end of the review.

VOCABULARY

- 1 Write the following three vocabulary areas on the board: social media, verbs for cooking and artificial and the natural world. Ask students to read through the definitions individually and to classify each one according to the topic the vocabulary comes under. Tell them to compare their ideas with a partner. Demonstrate the activity by doing the first item together with the class.

MIXED ABILITY

Monitor and help students who are finding the activity challenging by giving them the first or first two letters of the word.

Answers

1 share 2 tag 3 block 4 grill 5 burn 6 stir 7 seasons
8 performance 9 direct 10 wildlife 11 follow 12 ruins

- 2 Advise students to match the words which are often used together from each of the boxes before doing the activity. Check answers before advising students to read the entire sentence before completing the gaps.

Answers

1 health centre 2 historic buildings 3 air conditioning
4 street lights 5 open spaces

- 3 Ask students to say if the phrasal verbs in the box are transitive or intransitive (or can be both), and whether they're usually followed by a noun and/or some other form, such as an -ing form. Do the first item together as a class and ask students how they decided on their answer (going out is topically connected to staying in). Remind students to think about the meaning of the phrasal verbs in the box before doing the activity.

Answers

- 1 stay in (intransitive and so does not take a direct object)
 - 2 show around (transitive and separable, for example, show somebody around your house)
 - 3 end up (both, for example, She ended up in London.; She ended up working in a bank.)
 - 4 catch up with (transitive and inseparable, for example, I caught up with my friend on the way home.)
 - 5 move in (intransitive, for example She moved in yesterday.)
 - 6 move out (intransitive, for example, I'm hoping to move out next week.)
- 4 Give students three minutes to think about the meaning of phrases beginning with in and followed by the words in the box. Point out that one of the phrases includes the word the and ask students to give you the complete phrase (in the end). Ask for volunteers to give answers and direct them to Unit 13 page 78 to review if necessary before they do the activity.

GRAMMAR

- 1 Read the first item to the class and ask students to identify the subject (a top advertising agency) and object (the adverts) of the sentence. Direct students to the second line of item 1, elicit the sentence and check students understand the change in the verb form (created – were created), and the addition of the agent introduced with by. Ask students to look at items 2, 3, 4, 6 and 7 and ask what they have in common (they all include modal verbs). Do the second item together with the class and check or remind students that in the passive, modal verbs are followed by the bare infinitive be + past participle.

What's your favourite way to communicate with your friends? Instant messages, tweets and Facebook posts are quick and easy, but if you want to apologise for a mistake or complain about a problem, isn't it better to speak on the phone or talk face-to-face? Messages are useful to remind someone where to meet or to warn them you'll be late – or to joke about something funny – but we wonder whether messages can be used in more serious situations? What do you do when you disagree with your best friend? Do you ever actually talk on the phone? Do the questionnaire on page 139 and find out about your communication preferences. Send us your answers and we promise to publish the results soon.

Put students into small groups and ask them to list as many ways of communicating as they can in two minutes. Write their suggestions on the board and take a vote on which one is the most popular.

Possible answers

face to face, texts, Skype/Facetime, phone call, email, Tweets, letters, mobile messaging apps

ABOUT YOU

 You can begin the class and introduce the topic of the unit by showing the video and asking students to complete the video worksheet. Then, read the questions in the box and have students answer the questions in pairs.

VOCABULARY Verbs of communication

1 Direct students to the photos and put them into pairs or small groups to discuss their answers to the questions. Monitor and join in where possible before bringing the class together and asking for suggestions. Write key words and phrases on the board (for example: phone, online, selfie, uploading, talking) and help with pronunciation as necessary. Students give their own answers.

2 Ask students to read situations 1–8 and check vocabulary as necessary. Direct them to the paragraph in the speech bubble and ask for a volunteer to suggest a matching situation for the bold words. Nominate a student to give the answer, give pronunciation practice if necessary, and see if the class agrees before confirming. Ask for more detail on each of the situations to help clarify meaning for the students as you check answers (see Answers).

7 Put students into small groups to discuss the questions. Monitor and join in with the discussions, giving positive feedback for good or interesting ideas. Bring the class together and set up open-pair conversations. Nominate one student to ask a question, and to name another to answer. Continue until all three questions have been answered at least once. Students give their own answers.

READING

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

Messages found in bottles tend to be romanticised by popular culture as they directly connect the sender of the message with the finder, often separate in time and place. In 2014 a 101-year-old message in a bottle was found off the coast of Germany. It was thrown into the Baltic Sea in 1913 and was discovered by fishermen, who donated it to a local museum. On social media, people were saying at the time that it was the oldest message in a bottle, but someone somewhere will probably find an even older one.

The current oldest message in a bottle was found in 2013 in British Columbia, Canada. The Canadian message in a bottle dates back to 1906, and was found by a man named Steve Thurber when he was out walking along the beach — which means the bottle was 107 years old when it was discovered.

- 1 Books closed. Ask students to think of unusual ways of communicating, e.g. smoke signals, or drumming, and see if they mention send a message in a bottle. Books open. Direct students to the photo and answer the questions as a class.

Answers

- 2 Ask students to read the article and answer questions 1–4 individually. Monitor and help with any problematic vocabulary as necessary, e.g. genuine /'dʒen.ju.ɪn/ (really what it seems to be). Put students into mixed ability pairs to compare answers before checking as a class.

Answers

- 2 It's very old.
- 3 Students' own answers
- 4 Possible answers Perhaps he was worried about damaging the bottle or destroying the message by exposing it to the air. Perhaps he was worried about negatively affecting its value (the correct answer according to the media coverage of the story).

FAST FINISHERS

Ask fast finishers to imagine they have found a message in a bottle. Ask them 'When was it sent? Why was it sent? Who sent it? What might be written in it?' Elicit their ideas after checking answers to Exercise 2.

- 3 Elicit different types of text (text messages, handwritten note, notice, email). Set a short time limit for students to quickly read the messages and match them to a text type. Put students into mixed ability pairs to compare their answers and to say what aspects of the text helped them identify the text type. As a follow up, you can also ask students to say who the messages are for.

Answers

B1 PRELIMINARY FOR SCHOOLS

Reading Part 1

In this part, students read five short, unrelated texts consisting of public notices, labels on packaging, and personal messages such as emails and text messages. Each text has one three-option multiple-choice question. Part 1 tests understanding of the main ideas in short texts.

Tips Tell students to pay attention to the different reporting verbs they meet, e.g. offer, request, say, mention, ask and recommend. It is sometimes important to understand these in order to choose the correct answer to the questions.

- 4 Tell students to go to Prepare for the exam page 120 to revise the exam information and exam tips. Put students into mixed ability pairs and tell them to underline important words in the questions or options to help guide their reading. For example, 1 Why, Max, sent, text; 2 Dolores, says; 3 note, Anna, mentions; 4 giving, seeing, asking; 5 is keen, recommend, ask. Check vocabulary as necessary, e.g. recommend (say that something is good), delivery (when someone takes a parcel to a place and hands it over), souvenir (something that you keep to remember a special event). Tell students to complete the exercise individually, before comparing their answers with a partner. Check answers.

Answers

1 C 2 A 3 C 4 B 5 B

The Reading text is recorded for students to listen, read and check their answers.

TALKING POINTS

Monitor and help students make a note of useful vocabulary to answer the questions. Put them into pairs or small groups to discuss the questions, and encourage them to use phrases for adding extra information on page 71 of the Student's Book.

COOLER

Play 'Test a partner'. Put students into pairs and tell them to take it in turns to define one of the verbs of communication in Exercise 5 on page 98 of the Student's Book. Their partner then has to identify the correct verb.

READING

- 1 Look at the photo. Why would someone send a message in a bottle? What kind of things do they write?
- 2 Read the article and answer the questions.

MESSAGE in a BOTTLE

Canadian Steve Thurber was walking along the beach one morning when he noticed an old bottle lying in the sand. He could see an envelope inside signed by Earl Willard and dated September 29th, 1906. Earl was on board a ship that was sailing north along the west coast of the USA and 'posted' his note during the voyage, by throwing the bottle into the sea.

If it turns out to be genuine, this message in a bottle will be the oldest ever found. However, the content of the message remains unknown, as Steve Thurber has refused to open the bottle and find out exactly what Earl wrote. There were a lot of angry comments online about this. Many people wanted to know why Steve wouldn't open the bottle and solve the mystery.

- 1 Who sent the message?
 - 2 What was unusual about it?
 - 3 What do you think the message said?
 - 4 Why do you think Steve wouldn't open the bottle?
- 3 People write a lot of messages in daily life. Read messages 1-5. What kind of messages are they (text, email etc.)?

PREPARE FOR THE EXAM

Reading Part 1

- 4 Read each message in Exercise 3 again. For each question, choose the correct answer.
- 1 Why has Max sent this text?
 - A to offer to do a favour for Paola
 - B to arrange a meeting with Paola next week
 - C to request help with school work from Paola
 - 2 Dolores Winter says that
 - A delivery of the repaired laptop can be arranged.
 - B a new laptop model is available at CC Computers.
 - C if the laptop is delivered you must pay a fee when you receive it.
 - 3 In this note, Anna mentions
 - A who she met at Kelly's party last night.
 - B when their mother will be back from work.
 - C where Ben will find something he needs.
 - 4
 - A Mrs Harris is giving students a gift for taking part in the concert.
 - B Mrs Harris is seeing which performers would like a souvenir of the event.
 - C Mrs Harris is asking whether any student in the audience filmed the performance.
 - 5
 - A Martha is keen for her family and Giulia to meet.
 - B Martha would like Giulia to recommend something locally.
 - C Martha wants to ask whether she can stay with Giulia in July.

TALKING POINTS

If you sent a message in a bottle, what would you write about?
Will we still be writing messages like these in the future? Why? / Why not?
What other methods have people used in the past to communicate?

GRAMMAR Reported questions

1 Read the examples of reported questions and match them to the direct questions a–d. What do you notice about the tenses used in 1–4?

- 1 Many people wanted to know why Steve wouldn't open the bottle.
- 2 We asked teens which activities they had done in the last 24 hours.
- 3 We wondered whether teens often used email.
- 4 We asked them if they agreed with the comments.

a Do you often use email?

b Why won't you open the bottle?

c Do you agree with the comments?

d Which activities have you done in the last 24 hours?

2 Complete the rules with the words in the box.

never positive question whether which

When we report questions:

- a we can use ask, want to know or wonder to introduce the reported _____.
- b we use the same word order as in _____ statements.
- c we start reported yes / no questions with if or _____.
- d we _____ use the auxiliary verb do in reported yes / no questions.
- e we start reported wh-questions with a wh-question word, such as _____ or why.

GRAMMAR REFERENCE AND PRACTICE PAGE 163

3 Correct the mistake in each sentence.

- 1 My mum ask them if they know about the trip.
- 2 I asked her if I can take someone with me on the trip.
- 3 You wanted to know how was the house.
- 4 She asked who was the owner of the wallet.
- 5 Joanna wanted to know what should she do to join the group.
- 6 He started laughing and I wonder why.
- 7 Have you ever wondered how many messages do we send each day?
- 8 They asked me did I enjoy the film.

4 Complete the reported questions. Make the necessary changes to pronouns, possessive adjectives and tenses.

- 0 'Do you miss your aunt in Canada?'
Rob asked me if I missed my aunt in Canada.
- 1 'Will there be any food at the party?'
Rob wondered _____ any food at the party.
- 2 'Have you ever lost your phone before?'
Sally asked _____ phone before.
- 3 'Why haven't you bought yourself a new phone?'
Sally wondered _____ a new phone.
- 4 'When did you last see your cousin?'
Rob asked _____ cousin.
- 5 'How many songs have you downloaded for your trip?'
Sally asked _____ trip.

5 >> Work in groups of three. Turn to page 139.

VOCABULARY Adverbs of degree: fairly, pretty, quite, reasonably

1 Read the examples and answer the questions.

- EP
- 1 Do you keep your bedroom reasonably tidy?
 - 2 Are you fairly reliable as a person?
 - 3 I'm pretty good at table tennis.
 - 4 He spoke quite slowly.
 - 5 We're working reasonably hard at the moment.
 - 6 It's quite an expensive phone.
- a Do the bold adverbs mean 'very'?
 - b How is the meaning similar or different to 'very'?
 - c What types of word follow the bold adverbs?

2 Complete the description. Combine adverbs from Exercise 1 with the words in the box. More than one adverb may be possible.

confident happily large typical well-behaved

I'd say I'm a ¹ _____ person who doesn't mind performing in front of a ² _____ audience. I can ³ _____ do a long solo on my guitar, for example. It doesn't bother me. At school, I'm a ⁴ _____ student – I do most of my homework on time and I'm ⁵ _____ in class!

3 Complete the sentences about you. Use fairly, pretty, quite, reasonably and very, and suitable adjectives and adverbs.

- 1 I'd describe myself as ...
- 2 My friends would say that I'm ...
- 3 My bedroom is always ...
- 4 I usually do ... in exams.

WARMER

Books closed. Write the following reported question on the board: She asked him if he often wrote emails. Ask students to make the direct question Do you often write emails? Elicit the differences between the direct question and the reported question (the change of pronoun from you to him, change of tense from present simple write to past simple wrote, the addition of if and the changes in word order from question words order to statement word order). Follow up by asking one student 'How often do you write emails?', and another to report your question: She asked me how often I wrote emails. Write both sentences on the board and elicit the differences.

- 1 Direct students to read the examples and ask what they have in common (they are all reported questions). Put them into mixed ability pairs to do the matching exercise. Check answers and elicit what happens to the verb tenses.

Answers

1 b 2 d 3 a 4 c

The tenses in sentences 1–4 are one step 'back' from the tenses in the direct questions. For example 'Do you often use email?' is written in the present simple and the reported question is in the past simple.

- 2 Put students into pairs to complete the rules. Monitor and encourage stronger students to explain using the examples in Exercise 1. Nominate individuals to give answers and see if the class agrees before confirming.

- 3 Ask students to read sentences 1–8, check vocabulary and do the first item together. Point out that there might be more than one error per sentence and monitor. If necessary, mention that the context of item 7 is the present, as students continue in mixed ability pairs. Nominate pairs to give answers.

Answers

- 1 My mum asked them if they knew about the trip.
- 2 I asked her if I could take someone with me on the trip.
- 3 You wanted to know what the house was like.
- 4 She asked who the owner of the wallet was.
- 5 Joanna wanted to know what she should do to join the group.
- 6 He started laughing and I wondered why.
- 7 Have you ever wondered how many messages we send each day?
- 8 They asked me if / whether I had enjoyed the film.

- 4 Write the example question on the board and elicit or take students through the changes involved in making the direct question into a reported question. Tell one student to ask the original question in the example item and then nominate another to report what was said. Ask the class 'Who is reporting the question?' (The person who was asked it) and 'How do you know?' (The object pronoun is changed from you to me, and the possessive pronoun is changed from your to my). Ask students to read items 1–5 and to decide if they are yes/no questions or wh- questions before they complete the exercise individually. Monitor and direct them back to the rules to check if necessary. Allow students to check their answers with a partner before whole-class feedback.

Answers

- 1 if / whether there would be
- 2 if / whether I had ever lost my
- 3 why I hadn't bought myself
- 4 when I had last seen my
- 5 how many songs I had downloaded for my

MIXED ABILITY

Put weaker students into pairs to work together on Exercise 4 while stronger students work individually.

- 5 Put students into groups of three, ask them to turn to page 139 and go through the instructions. Choose three strong students to demonstrate the activity with the first sentence. Monitor and help as necessary, paying particular attention to accuracy as students continue.

VOCABULARY

Adverbs of degree: fairly, pretty, quite, reasonably

- 1 Do the exercise as a class. Read the examples to the class, and ask questions a–c. Put students into pairs to ask and answer questions 1 and 2 about themselves.

Answers

- a No
- b They mean quite, or a little. They make the adjectives less strong.
- c adjectives (examples 1, 2, 3, 6) or adverbs (examples 4, 5)

- 2 Do the first item with the class and explain the position of the article would need to change if quite were used (for example, I'm quite a confident person). Monitor as they complete the exercise individually before asking them to compare their answers with a partner and checking as a class. Explain that, for item 3, quite happily is an idiom which means willingly.

Answers

- 1 pretty / fairly / reasonably confident
- 2 pretty / fairly / reasonably large
- 3 quite happily
- 4 pretty / fairly / reasonably typical
- 5 pretty / fairly / reasonably / quite well-behaved

- 3 Ask students to complete the sentences so as to describe themselves. Put students into pairs or small groups to say their sentences. As an alternative, ask them to write one of their sentences on a piece of paper. Collect the slips of paper and redistribute them for students to guess who wrote them.

WRITING An article (2)

- 1 Tell students to look at the photo and complete and answer the questions Who? Where? What? How? Ask for volunteers to share their ideas.

Ask students to read the article and say how similar or different to the writer they are. Direct them to the Articles wanted! text to read adverts A, B and C, and to say how they decided their answer (see Answers).

Answers

Task A – the text mentions what the writer does online (researching for homework, checking Snapchat, chatting on WhatsApp, using Instagram account)

- 2 Tell students to read the Prepare to write box and ask them to make sentences using the phrases to express their own opinions answering the questions in Task A, the 'Time online' article. Monitor for accuracy.

Read items 1–5 and ask students to write some key words and phrases they could use to give their opinion on the topics. Now ask them to write full sentences and monitor and help as necessary. Go through each topic in turn, asking for volunteers to give their opinions of the topics. Write key words and phrases on the board.

FAST FINISHERS

Write the following extra topics on the board: Responding to text messages quickly and Using your phone when walking down the street. Ask fast finishers to write opinions. They can share their opinions with the class at the end of Exercise 2.

PREPARE FOR THE EXAM

B1 PRELIMINARY FOR SCHOOLS

Writing Part 2

In this part, students are given a choice of writing an article or a story. They are given information to respond to and should write about 100 words.

Tips Advise students that they should read the information carefully and to review and check they have used all the information given. Tell students to make sure their language is consistent, and in a style which is appropriate to the task and to always check their spelling, punctuation and grammar.

- 3 Read through the instructions and ask students to choose Task B or C. You could select one of the tasks if you think it would be more appropriate for your students. Tell students to go to Prepare for the exam page 127 to revise the exam information and exam tips. You could also photocopy the model answers, and write the following four assessment categories on the board. Go through each of the categories and explain the meaning of each one before students use them to analyse the model answers.

Content = Is everything relevant or does it depart from the topic?

Communicative achievement = Does the writer attract the reader's attention and make them want to read on?

Organisation = Is it well organised? Has the writer used linking expressions to help the reader follow their writing? Is the sentence length appropriate? Is the punctuation used accurately?

Language = Has the writer used a variety of vocabulary and structures? Do the mistakes make it difficult to understand what the writer is trying to say?

Model answer B

I usually send messages using WhatsApp on my smartphone because it's very easy to use and it's free. I think it's the best app because you can share so much with people, for example, photos, your location and videos. Also, your chats are protected and conversations can only be read by the sender and the person you're writing to. Many of my friends say that Google Hangouts are best, but I don't have a Google account so I don't know about that. I send about 10 messages a day, and even more at weekends. My sister thinks I send too many as she only sends about 10 messages a week.

Model answer C

Some people think that Flickr is best for photo sharing because you can share photos with people all over the world. However, I don't use it anymore because you can't remove any bad photos you posted and don't like any more. In my opinion, Pinterest is very simple to use and you can do many things once you are familiar with the language. You can look at boards created by others and you can like, re-pin or comment on what you find. I used to post photos every day, but now I only share my best ones at the end of the week.

COOLER

Put students into pairs and ask them to read each other's articles. Tell them to use the four categories mentioned in the Exercise 3 notes in order to check and give feedback.

WRITING

An article (2)

- 1 Read the article. Which task does it answer, A, B or C?

Nowadays, people spend a lot of time online. Thanks to mobile internet and wi-fi, we can easily access our social media accounts and look things up wherever we are. I often research things when I'm doing my homework, for example.

I check Snapchat many times during the day. My friends and I are always chatting on WhatsApp or other apps - it's fun and I like to find out what everyone's been doing. I don't want to miss anything! I also have an Instagram account and I post photos of food there. It's a 'foodstagram'! That's what I love doing most online.

WARMER

Put students into teams of three and ask them to choose a secret celebrity. They write three sentences about the celebrity, e.g. where they are from, who they are married to, etc., and tell the class. Teams try to guess the identity of the celebrity.

ABOUT YOU

-  You can begin the class and introduce the topic of the unit by showing the video and asking students to complete the video worksheet. Then, read the questions in the box and have students exchange ideas in pairs / answer the questions.

VOCABULARY Personal feelings and qualities

-  1 Tell students they will listen to five people talking about celebrities. Ask them to read questions 1–4 and to underline key words and phrases to direct their listening. For example, 1 isn't really interested; 2 celebrities should be careful, fans do the same; 3 felt sad, celebrities did; 4 surprised by, celebrity. Play the recording. Ask students to give answers and see if the class agrees before confirming answers.

Answers

1 Phil 2 Andy 3 Maggie 4 Nicole

-  2 Read the instructions and ask students to read sentences 1–12. Say each of the words in the box aloud so they hear the pronunciation. Annoyed /ə'noɪd/, curious /'kjʊə.ri.əs/, professional /prə'feʃ.ən.əl/ and unexpected /,ʌn.ɪk'spek.tɪd/ may be difficult. Point out that more than one word from the box might fit some of the sentences, and ask students to listen carefully. Play the recording, pausing after each of the sentences to give students time to complete the gaps. Tell students to re-read the sentences to check they make sense before checking answers. Help with pronunciation if necessary.

Answers

1 mad 2 curious 3 lonely 4 shy 5 unexpected 6 stressful
7 nasty 8 charming 9 professional 10 delighted 11 rude
12 annoyed

- 3 Books closed. Write the five names of the speakers on the board: Maggie, Andy, Nicole, Joanne and Phil. Ask students what they remember about what each one said, and write key words next to the names. Take a class vote on who shares the same opinion as each of the speakers and elicit reasons. Students give their own answers.
- 4 Demonstrate the activity. Draw two emoticons on the board, ☹ and ☺. Say the word curious and ask students to read sentence 1 in Exercise 2 and say which emoticon they associate the word with (☺). Put students into mixed ability pairs and monitor and help as they continue. Check answers and give extra pronunciation practice as necessary.

Answers

About half of them are positive and half are negative. (Positive: charming, curious, delighted, mad (about), professional, unexpected; Negative: annoyed, lonely, nasty, rude, shy, stressful)
Stressful and unexpected describe situations and not people.

- 5 Put students into same ability pairs to discuss the questions. Monitor and join in, encouraging students to make eye contact with each other. Give positive feedback for interesting ideas and comments. Invite students to report back to the class.

Possible answers

Taylor Swift is letting delighted fans take selfies with her. A professional footballer is signing a football for a rather shy fan.
Fans are watching a live gig and reacting to it. They're clearly mad about the artist/band they are watching. Being in the audience could be quite stressful as there isn't much room.

READING

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

Famous people, for example actors, musicians and sports personalities, are liked by many for what they do, but many celebrities do other work in addition to leading a glamorous life. Some stars use their fame (and Instagram or Twitter accounts with lots of followers) to speak about politics and human rights. Many well-known musicians help raise money for victims of natural disasters, for example, Hurricane Katrina. A different kind of example is somebody who became famous because she was shot fighting for women to have the right to an education. She has become the youngest person to receive the Nobel Peace Prize. She is Malala Yousafzai.

- 1 Books closed. Ask 'Would any of your friends do any of these things for you?' Read the list in Exercise 1 and have students answer yes or no for each thing.

Books open. Put students into mixed ability pairs to discuss the question and nominate individuals to comment on each item and give their reasons. Help students communicate their ideas as necessary. Ask students to tell the class about any stories they have heard involving famous people doing these or other things.

Answers

Students' own answers

- 2 Direct students to the photos and ask them to identify the people. Set a short time limit for students to read the article and find any ideas listed in Exercise 1. Check answers.

Answers

hang out with you visit you if you are not well help you when you are ill buy you food or drink

- 3 Ask students to read the questions and to say how they will find the information in the text (they should read it quickly to find the name of the celebrity and then read the section carefully for the specific information). Tell students to answer the questions and monitor and help as necessary before asking them to compare their answers with a partner. Ask students to give answers and see if the class agrees before confirming.

FAST FINISHERS

Ask stronger students to try to answer the questions in Exercise 3 from memory before reading again to check.

Answers

- 1 She spent two hours having lunch with the fan.
- 2 When a fan returned his wallet, he gave him all the contents (money) and a bit extra.
- 3 He dedicated a goal to a young boy with a serious illness and paid for his medical treatment.
- 4 so they could get away from the reporters
- 5 She raises money through charity concerts for various charities, including ones for people who are ill.
- 6 They were camping out overnight to see him in a show.
- 7 read about celebrities, watch their movies, buy their music, clothes or perfume
- 8 show celebrities respect and give them space

The Reading text is recorded for students to listen, read and check their answers.

- 4 Before students do the exercise, remind them that they can check they have the correct meaning of a word by re-reading the sentence with the definition to see if it makes sense. Monitor and help as students do the exercise individually. Check answers.

Answers

- 1 notice 2 unwell 3 happened 4 bullying 5 camped out

TALKING POINTS

Put students into same ability pairs to discuss the questions. Monitor and help them communicate their ideas. Ask the first question and nominate a student to answer, then gesture for this student to ask another for their opinion. Repeat until several students have given their opinions. Ask the second question and invite different students to offer suggestions.

COOLER

Ask students to read the text again and make a note of vocabulary they are unsure of. Ask them to guess from the context and then check in a dictionary.

READING

1 Which of these things do you think a celebrity might do for you?

- be your Facebook friend
- buy you food or drink
- give you their autograph
- hang out with you
- help you when you are ill
- give you money
- send you a signed photo
- visit you if you are not well

2 Read the article quickly. Which ideas from Exercise 1 are mentioned?

CELEBRATING THE CARING CELEBS!

The charming American singer-songwriter Taylor Swift once spent two hours having lunch with a fan who was unwell. In fact she is a celebrity who regularly reaches out to her fans. She noticed a comment on social media and sent a care package to one of her fans – a box full of lovely things including a letter, a signed photo and a cheque for over $1000 to help the fan pay for her studies.

What would you do if you found a wallet? Especially one that had a lot of money in it, and that belonged to a celeb? This happened to a 17-year-old who found Thor's wallet. He was able to return the wallet to actor Chris Hemsworth on a TV show. Kind Chris then gave this young fan all the money from the wallet, and some more!

Now what about the footballer Cristiano Ronaldo? He's been in the news for football, girlfriends and ... helping a young boy? Well, yes! A young fan with a serious illness was delighted when he watched Ronaldo play a game and dedicate a goal to him. But that's not the end of the story. The boy is now having his medical treatment paid for by Ronaldo. What a great thing to do!

Selena Gomez usually takes the time to stop and have a chat with her fans. We heard that once, because of a huge number of crazy reporters and photographers, she even invited some excited fans into her car! She has also used social media to stop bad behaviour like bullying. She wants her fans just to be themselves. Go Selena! People notice things like that!

And of course, Ariana Grande! What a superstar! We love her. She supports lots of charities and performs at concerts raising a lot of money for people who are ill with various diseases. She has helped raise millions of dollars for patients and their families.

Can you imagine waiting in line to see your favourite celeb and then suddenly he surprises you? That's what happened when One Direction singer Niall Horan appeared with hot chocolate for fans who had camped out all night because they wanted to see him the next day! We think he's the cutest ever!

But what do we fans really expect of our celebs? Well, we can respect them for their talent, or the way they look. We like reading about them in magazines and online. We enjoy watching their movies and we buy their music, their clothes or their perfume. We love it when they do good things, and we don't like it when they don't. But remember, show them respect and give them space. They are people, like you and me, and they just want to live their lives.

3 Read the article and answer the questions.

- 1 How did Taylor Swift help a fan who was sick?
- 2 What did the actor do for the boy who found his wallet?
- 3 What good thing did a football player do?
- 4 Why did Selena Gomez invite fans into her car?
- 5 What good things does Ariana Grande do?
- 6 Why did Niall give his fans hot chocolate?
- 7 What does the author think it is OK for fans to do?
- 8 What does the author say fans should remember to do?

4 Match the highlighted words in the article to the meanings.

- | | |
|-----------------|---|
| 1 see something | 4 saying or doing bad things to someone |

TALKING POINTS

Why are many people so interested in the lives of celebrities?

Do the celebrities have a responsibility to be good people? Why? / Why not?

GRAMMAR

have something done

1 Read these sentences. What is the difference between them? Choose the correct words to complete the rule.

- 1 She washes her car on Sundays.
- 2 She has her car washed at a garage.

We can use have something done to talk about something that we do ourselves / someone else does for us.

2 Match the sentence halves.

- 1 Every day she has her emails
 - 2 She has her clothes
 - 3 In the evenings, she has her food
 - 4 Tomorrow she is going to have her hair
 - 5 She always has fresh flowers
 - 6 Yesterday she had her nails
- a cut and coloured by her hairdresser.
b delivered in time for the weekend.
c read to her every 10 minutes.
d cooked for her by a chef.
e painted.
f chosen for her by a personal shopper.

3 Look at the examples and choose the correct option to complete the rule.

When I was at the swimming pool, I had my phone stolen from my locker.
Our neighbours are so unlucky – they've had their house burgled twice recently.

We also use have something done to talk about victims of crime / people who commit a crime.

GRAMMAR REFERENCE AND PRACTICE PAGE 164

4 Correct the mistakes in the sentences.

- 1 First they have to make their car serviced at a garage.
 - 2 The ladies go to cut their hair at a hairdressers.
 - 3 I just stole my bike by a thief.
 - 4 I did not miss the opportunity to ask the artist if I could have our photo taken of us together with my phone.
 - 5 The students will be pleased to be taken some photographs.
 - 6 When Mum and Dad did some work on our house, the workmen made a lot of noise.
- 5 Tell your partner about five things that you have had done or would like to have done.

I'd love to have my hair coloured blue.
I had my football shirt signed by my favourite player.

3 For each question, write the correct answer. Write one word for each gap.

So you want to be a model?

¹ _____ to top model agencies, there's plenty you can do to get seen. Wear something bright instead ² _____ a boring pair of jeans. That's obvious, but what else can you do ³ _____ looking after your appearance if you want to be a model?

Well, you could try imagining that whenever you step outside, the cameras will be there. ⁴ _____ of that, you'll have to think hard about how you look. And unless you've got enough money for a whole new wardrobe, you'll have to get creative instead!

⁵ _____ doing all of these things, some people just won't get seen. But don't give up! However, being a model isn't easy, so don't try to become one ⁶ _____ it's what you really want.

WARMER

Write these words on the board for students to make a sentence: has / Renata / cut / hair / every / her / month (Renata has her hair cut every month). Ask students about Renata: 'Did she cut her hair? Who cut her hair?' Underline has and cut.

- 1 Do the exercise as a class. Ask students to underline the actions in both sentences and to say who does the action (She washes – the owner of the car; has her car washed – we don't know, maybe someone who works at a garage). Elicit other examples of things we get people to do for us (e.g. have food delivered, have our nails painted). Complete the rule as a class.

Write sentence 2 on the board and explain the form. Ask 'How do you make the structure?' (have + object (her car) + past participle (washed)). Ask 'What tense is this?' (present tense).

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

Fans are people who follow famous people, such as musicians, film stars or sports people. At a time when mass media enables people to be easily connected and communication is almost instantaneous, it's relatively easy for a large group of people to follow and admire a person, a book, or a film. Many celebrities are inspirational, and use their fame to convey important ideas and messages to their fans.

However, the cult of celebrity sometimes has a negative aspect. When newspapers and other media publish stories about a famous person, some fans are easily influenced and start to compare the celebrity's achievements, appearance and wealth with their own. This can be isolating and harmful, because the comparison isn't realistic.

WARMER

Say to the class 'Imagine you could be a famous person for a day. Would you be a sports star, a film star, a TV actor or a musician? What would you do for the day? Would you play a match or make a film?' Allow the students a short time to think about their own answers. Then, in pairs, encourage them to share their ideas.

- 1 Ask the students to read the instructions in Exercise 1 and find a word that means famous people (celebrities). Organise them into small groups and appoint a secretary for each group to write down the names of the celebrities. Set a timer for two minutes. If the students enjoy competition, award points.

Answers

PROJECT A poster about a celebrity

Tell students that they will be preparing a poster, and either give them sheets of paper or ask them to use a page of their notebooks. Go through the instructions with the class and ask students to answer the questions about their favourite celebrity individually. Monitor and help students if necessary, and encourage them to make a note of key phrases in the Useful language box. Put students into pairs to tell each other about their favourite celebrity and to give each other positive feedback. Tell the class to decorate their poster with photos or drawings and that they will be displayed next class.

PROJECT EXTENSION

Tell the students they are going to make a questionnaire to find out about other people's opinions of another well-known celebrity and that they will interview people they know and then produce a short report, including some charts, to summarise their findings. They could either produce a poster of their findings, or give a mini presentation next class.

Put students into groups or pairs to choose another celebrity and ask them to write three or four questions for the questionnaire. Tell them they should interview a range of people from their school, family, sports teams, etc. and to make two charts like those in Culture 1: Shopping in London to summarise their findings. When students present their results, ask the class to listen or read and identify anything they found interesting or surprising.

 CULTURE VIDEO: Collectors

- 15 When students have completed the lesson, they can watch the video and complete the worksheet.

COOLER

Ask students to make guesses about your favourite celebrity. Then confirm or deny their suggestion so they can make notes to the answers to questions 1–7 in the Project. Students compare their guesses in pairs before sharing their ideas with the class.

FANS AND FANDOM

A There have always been celebrities and there will always be fans. In the early years of cinema, film stars had their own fan clubs, and many pop singers in the 1950s had huge crowds of fans who loved them and followed them around everywhere. This shouldn't be surprising, since the word fan is actually short for fanatic – a person who is so interested in something that they may seem a bit mad!

B In typical fan clubs, people can buy photos, posters and other products. They may also get discounts on tickets to films and concerts. Some clubs organise annual conferences to get together and celebrate their fandom. Modern technology also offers new ways for club members to share interests, such as online forums, fan sites and social media. They also give fans more direct contact with the celebs they love.

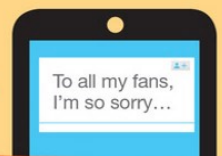

C The most successful celebrities today understand the value of a good relationship with their fan base. They upload photos and messages to keep their fans up to date, and some celebs ask their fans for advice. For example, the singer Rihanna was going to make a new remix, so she tweeted her fans and asked them who she should invite to sing with her. Then she accepted their choice.

D Celebrities who treat their fans well can benefit in many ways. They get more followers on social media, which lets them advertise important events and spread the word about products that they want to sell. In only a few seconds, superstars like Beyoncé and Cristiano Ronaldo can contact millions of people around the world and create interest or 'buzz' about anything they want, without paying anything.

E Of course, modern fandom can also have disadvantages. If fans are disappointed with a film, the bad news can spread very quickly and be bad for ticket sales. If famous people say offensive things or make mistakes in public, they may need to apologise online to avoid losing fans. In addition, celebrities may pay too much attention to their biggest and loudest fans and lose popularity with the general public.

F On the bright side, loyal fans can also rescue their favourite celebrities. For example, when the directors of the popular TV show Glee talked about replacing some of the main characters after the third season, millions of fans went crazy and started a campaign to prevent the changes. In the end, the characters continued on the show, thanks to the energetic support of their fans.

PROJECT

A poster about a celebrity

Make a poster about your favourite celebrity. Use the following list of questions to help you. Decorate your poster with photos and drawings.

- 1 Who is your celebrity and why is he/she famous?
- 2 What are some important events in his/her career?
- 3 How does your celebrity communicate with fans?
- 4 Does your celebrity sell or advertise any products?
- 5 Does he/she use social media to get more publicity?
- 6 Do you belong to this person's official fan club?
- 7 Do you follow this person on any social media?

Present your poster to the class.

READING

PREPARE FOR THE EXAM

Reading Part 2

1 You are going to read descriptions of eight places offering work experience to teenagers. Look at the eight titles in A-H. Answer the questions.

- Which ones probably include some work outside?
- What might teens be asked to do in each place?

2 Read the descriptions of the eight places quickly to check your ideas.

3 Read about five teenagers who are looking for work experience. Decide which place (A-H) would be the most suitable for each teenager.

- Leila is interested in the arts, including live music and dance, and she also has IT skills which she is happy to use. She doesn't mind travelling so that she can get necessary work experience.
- Ben wants to avoid work where he would be sitting at a desk. He has good local knowledge and is reasonably strong, having spent lots of time doing outdoor activities such as riding and climbing.
- Helen loves working with computers and wants to gain further experience using them in a job. She's interested in film and hopes to join a team of experts to see how they handle challenging industry projects.
- Marco would like to experience the kind of work involved in the tourism industry. He enjoys researching topics online and is good at communicating with younger children.
- Jade has above-average ability in maths and wants to use this skill in the area of leisure – especially in sport. She would like to find a company with easy access to the city centre.

Work experience is a period of time in which a secondary school student temporarily works for an employer to get experience. The photo shows teens (A) stacking shelves in a supermarket, (B) training to be a camera operator, (C) planting trees and shrubs (D) doing woodwork/joinery.

- 2 Tell students they will listen to four people talking about their work experience. Play the recording for them to match each speaker to a photo. Allow students to compare their answers with a partner before checking as a class. Alternatively, if you think the listening will be challenging, pause the recording after each speaker, check answers and ask students to report any words or phrases they remember the speaker using.

Answers

Connie D Vera C Ali B Gordon A

- 3 Ask students to read sentences 1–12 and check vocabulary before reading the words in the box aloud in a random order for students to place a tick as they hear them. Point out that students may need to change the form of the verbs, then play the audio for them to complete the sentences. Ask students to compare their answers with a partner before playing the recording a second time for students to check. Ask for volunteers to read the entire sentences to check answers and help with pronunciation as necessary.

MIXED ABILITY

If you think some students will find Exercise 3 difficult, write the following words next to the name of the speaker on the board: Connie – calculate, arrange, produce; Vera – handle, deliver, organise; Ali – manage, run, develop; Gordon – update, deal with, install

Answers

1 arranged 2 produce 3 calculating 4 were delivered
 5 handle 6 organised 7 runs 8 managing 9 develop
 10 dealt with 11 install 12 updated

AUDIOSCRIPT TB PAGE 304

- 4 Put students into mixed ability pairs to compare what they know about the jobs. Ask for volunteers to give one fact for one of the jobs and monitor and help by guiding students to the verbs in the box in Exercise 3 as they continue the activity. Ask for volunteers to suggest answers and see if the class agrees before feeding back.

Possible answers

An accountant has to calculate figures and manage the company's money.
 An engineer has to develop new machines, or roads and bridges. Software engineers install and update software and run computer programmes.
 A shop assistant has to deal with customs, handle money and arrange the products on the shelves.
 A teacher has to deal with children, handle/manage a class and organise lessons.
 A website designer has to produce and update websites for their clients.

B1 PRELIMINARY FOR SCHOOLS

Reading Part 2

In this part, students are tested on their ability to read for specific information and detailed comprehension.

Tips Remind students to underline what the teenagers want from work experience to focus their reading. Tell them not to simply try to match words from the people's descriptions to the texts. It is important to read each text, paying careful attention to its meaning since the information in the descriptors will mostly be paraphrased in the text.

- 1 Ask students to go to Prepare for the exam page 121 to revise the exam information and exam tips. Go through the instructions and direct students to the titles A–H on page 109. Put students into pairs to answer the questions and monitor and help with ideas as necessary. Students give their own answers.
- 2 Ask students to read descriptions A–H quickly to check their ideas and ask for volunteers to offer suggestions.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

The Prince's Trust, which was founded by HRH The Prince of Wales in 1976, has an international branch and works with organisations around the world which support young people aged 11–30. It works with local partners to help build skills and confidence for the future work place.

Another group offering help to young people is Movement to Work, a group of British employers who work together to help 18–24 year olds get the skills and experience they need to enter work and build a successful career.

People who get a Movement to Work placement will be given a minimum of two weeks' work experience. This involves training in employability skills, for example, time management, communication and presentation skills, work conduct, CV writing and interview skills. These will prepare them for different types of job opportunities in the future.

More generally, many small local companies employ young people to help out, and in return, offer the chance to learn about specific jobs, as well as general skills. Such companies include those in the fast food industry, local delivery services, activity schools, sports clubs and media companies.

- 3 Read the instructions aloud. Ask students to read the information about the five teenagers and to underline key words to direct their reading. Doing this will also help them check they have found the answer which is relevant for all the given information. Monitor and tell students to look again at parts of the descriptions if they seem to be having problems. As you check answers, ask students to give reasons for their choices. You could also highlight some common collocations here, e.g. gain experience, working with computers, join a team, research online, above-average ability, and encourage students to record them in their vocabulary notebooks.

FAST FINISHERS

Ask students to find and underline the following words in the texts: although, whereas and while. Ask them to decide if the words are used to express contrast, purpose or reason (contrast). Monitor and help as necessary.

-  ⁷⁵ The Reading text is recorded for students to read, listen and check their answers.

 TALKING POINTS

Put students into same ability pairs to discuss the questions. Monitor and help them communicate their ideas.

Ask the first question and nominate a student to answer, then gesture for this student to ask another for their opinion. Repeat until several students have given their opinions.

Draw two columns on the board and make a note of key words and phrases, as students make suggestions about the advantages and disadvantages of working indoors and outdoors.

Ask students to rank the jobs from important to not important, then get volunteers to explain their opinions to the class. Encourage students to use phrases for agreeing and disagreeing with each other.

COOLER

Ask students to read the texts again and make a note of words or phrases they are unsure of. Ask them to guess the meaning from context and then check in a dictionary.

WORK EXPERIENCE

Spent two weeks at a local company and learn about a job!

A Delivery company

If you know the area around the city quite well and enjoy travelling around, come and help us. We provide a fast delivery service for online orders and we also transfer products for other companies. We need someone to help the drivers lift heavy boxes and parcels.

B Cruise ship

Our company is important for tourism because it provides cruises worldwide. When ships are in port, we get them cleaned and make sure cabins are ready for new passengers. You will spend 40% of your time on board helping our staff with cleaning and general repairs, and also work in the office on a busy customer service desk.

E Football club

Every year, students on work experience get the chance to meet players at our club, which is located close to the heart of the city. Last year's students worked outside preparing the training ground, whereas this time you'll be in our financial department, learning about costs and other issues from top accountants.

C Riding school

You'll look after one particular horse while you're here, dealing with everything from its food to its appearance and daily exercise routine. Although your work will be mostly in the fresh air, you'll be at a desk for brief periods, in order to answer phones and arrange customers' lessons.

F Television studio

We make comedy shows, drama and wildlife programmes. Our busy IT department welcomes students with knowledge of this area. You will develop new skills and stay with a single work group, learning from experienced people coping with demanding situations, like installing systems software.

G Primary school

We encourage secondary school students to work in our classes, reading to the youngest children and helping older ones with maths problems. If you are good at sport, why not help to teach our junior football team what you know? As the school is in the north of the city, it takes about an hour from the centre by bus.

D Festival office

This city's cultural festival is world-famous and our small out-of-town office is open all year round, booking next year's performers. Join our friendly team, helping with general phone enquiries, printing, and design of our advertising. You will find out a lot about the entertainment industry.

TALKING POINTS

Do you think it is useful to gain some experience of work as a teenager? Why? / Why not?
What are the advantages and disadvantages of working indoors / outdoors?
Are some jobs more important than others?
Which ones and why?

H City museum

While you don't have to know about local history, we do expect you to put your internet skills to good use! Find out interesting facts about the objects on display, which you can then pass on to kids and their parents as you guide them around the building. Many of these visitors come from other countries.

THE WORLD OF WORK 109

GRAMMAR Different types of clause

- 1 Read the examples and match the clauses to the types of clause (a–c) in the rules.
- You'll have to be strong so that you can lift the heavy boxes and parcels.
 - Last year's students worked outside, whereas this time you'll be in our financial department.
 - As the school is in the north of the city, it takes about an hour from the centre by bus.

We use linking words to join clauses.

- Contrast clauses
To add different or surprising information in the same sentence, we can use the linking words although, whereas and while.
- Purpose clauses
To explain the purpose of something in the same sentence, we can use the linking words so that and in order to.
- Reason clauses
To explain the reason for something in the same sentence, we can use the linking words because and as.

GRAMMAR REFERENCE AND PRACTICE PAGE 165

- 2 Complete the sentences with the correct word.

- I'll be late home _____ I've got football practice.
- _____ I arrived very late, my friends had waited for me.
- You need to place your order one week in advance _____ that it can be delivered on time.
- _____ I enjoy my job, I'd like to be paid more.
- Why don't you arrange an appointment with the careers officer in _____ to discuss your plans?
- The report states that there was no damage to the environment, _____ actually, local wildlife suffered greatly.
- We enjoyed this film very much, especially _____ of the brilliant acting.

- 3 Match the sentence halves and join them with a suitable linking word.

- People who work at a desk are often unhealthy
 - Farmers need to listen to weather forecasts
 - Accountants normally have a degree in maths
 - Some of our greatest performers have no drama training
- company directors sometimes lack financial skills.
 - they admit that their acting has improved with experience.
 - they don't get any exercise during the day.
 - they know when to bring young animals inside.

- 4 Complete the sentences so they are true for you. Use linking words from Exercise 2.

- I hope to / I don't want to earn a lot of money ...
- I'm learning English ...
- I really like / dislike science ...

VOCABULARY as and like

- 1 Read the examples. Which preposition, as or like, introduces an example?

- EP
- One guy in my group thinks he might do it as a job.
 - I did jobs like printing and photocopying.

- 2 Read the text. Match the bold examples of as and like to the uses a–d below. There are two examples of one use.

Although we were only on work experience, my friend and I were just 'like any other employee in the company – we had the same coffee breaks and were able to buy cheap meals in the canteen. Most mornings, I was working 'as a receptionist on the front desk, so I had to wear smart clothes, but my friend was outside helping the gardeners, so she was able to wear things 'like jeans and t-shirts. We got to know quite a few of the staff and were known 'as the Terrible Twins, because we look so similar. When we left, they gave us a big bag of souvenirs, 'like coffee mugs with their company name on, mint chocolates and special pens.

- used to introduce an example
- used to mean 'similar to'
- used with a verb to talk about a job
- used with a verb to mean 'called'

- 3 Complete the sentences with as or like.

- When Luke worked _____ a waiter, he had to balance several things on his tray at the same time, _____ dirty plates and glasses.
- What can you see? I think the clouds look _____ castles in the sky.
- Everyone dressed up _____ their favourite character and went to the party by bus.

- 4 >> Turn to page 140.

WARMER

Books closed. Dictate the following sentences and ask students to complete them with their own ideas:

You have to study hard so that ...

Accountants work in offices, whereas ...

As we didn't finish our homework, the teacher ...

Ask students to compare answers in pairs before asking individuals to give their answers.

Possible answers

You have to study hard so that you get a good job in the future. Accountants work in offices, whereas teachers work in schools. As we didn't finish our homework, the teacher gave us extra homework for the weekend.

- 1 Do the exercise as a class. Write the first example sentence on the board and ask students to identify the main verbs (have to be and can lift). Underline so that and elicit the relationship between the two clauses. Ask 'Does part of the sentence explain why you have to be strong?' (yes) and 'Is the relationship between the two clauses one of contrast, purpose or reason?' (purpose). Ask students similar questions about examples 2 and 3. Point out that although is similar in meaning to despite the fact that, and is used to talk about something unexpected or surprising. Whereas / while both contrast two things, but do not indicate that a situation is unexpected or surprising.

Read the rules aloud, and give further examples of each type of clause, e.g. 'Go to the gym every day so that you'll be fit for the competition.', 'In Spain people finish work late, whereas in the UK people finish work at around 5 pm.', 'As he works in an office, he spends most of the day sitting down.'

Writing Part 1

In this part, students are tested on their ability to reply to an email. There are notes to help and students should use these to write their reply. They write about 100 words.

Tips Tell students to think carefully about what the notes mean, and remind them to check spelling, punctuation and grammar carefully when they have finished.

- 6 Tell students to go to Prepare for the exam page 127 to revise the exam information and exam tips. Monitor and help if necessary as students continue individually. Ask students to swap emails and check each other's spelling, punctuation and grammar.

Answer

Hey Ben,
 Your class sounds really interesting! Why would you want to be a firefighter? It's an exciting job but also scary!
 My perfect job would be being a vet, because I love animals, and I'm doing really well in biology at school. I'd get to see so many different pets as a vet, and I could work in other countries, which is great because I love travelling too. I could ask my local vets if I could do some work experience there. Would you ask your local fire station if you could do that?
 Bye,

Thanks for your email. That's awesome news. You're lucky to have such a nice aunt!

If I were you, I'd go for the restaurant because gardening can be really hard work. You might meet some interesting people and I guess you'll get to try some of the delicious food, too!

I'm going to do some work experience at the wildlife centre near where I live, feeding the animals. I'll probably have to do some cleaning, as well. I think it'll be fun, although I won't earn any money doing that.

Anyway, let me know what you decide!

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

Many schools in England offer school activity holiday courses. In some places there are 60 or more courses to choose from, including art, horse riding, water sports, musical theatre, master chef, cheerleading, computer coding and rugby. They are usually organised for children whose parents are working.

- 1 Books closed. Divide the class into two. Ask one group to imagine they have a long holiday in winter and to think of activities that might take place and the other group to focus on summer activities. Set a short time limit of about two minutes. Write key words and phrases on the board and ask students to say which activities are meaningful activities – ones which will be fun but also provide an opportunity for learning. Ask students to make a list of what they usually do in the summer holidays and ask for volunteers to make suggestions. Add them to the board.

A meaningful summer

The summer holidays are most definitely a time for rest and relaxation. But after the first few days of staying in, you might start to get bored. After all, watching videos on YouTube all day isn't the best way to spend your free time! How about choosing to take on a few meaningful activities these holidays? It'll be a challenge, but we think you'll have a lot of fun, and learn some incredible life skills. Whatever you choose to do, you're certainly going to make some great memories, and maybe even a bit of extra cash. Here are some ideas.

Home camp

Plan a week of activities as though it were a summer camp week. First, make a list of things you can do, for example, go for a cycle ride in your local park, visit a museum in the city, go swimming at the local leisure centre. Perhaps you could volunteer as well by helping out at a local charity, hospital or care home? Encourage your friends to join in the activities and then find a week when you're all free and plan what you're going to do each day. Aim to include at least two activities per day and you'll see that you have a very busy week, and certainly no time to be bored!

Grow your own food

You don't need to live in the countryside to grow your own food. You can do this on your balcony if you live in an apartment block. You can grow fruit, vegetables and herbs. It might be an idea to begin this project earlier though, in the spring, as the plants need a few months to grow. Go to a local garden centre to get some ideas. And what better way to enjoy the food you grow than by using it in your own cooking? Why not find recipes online or ask family members to teach you how to cook their favourite dishes?

Your own holiday business

Do you want to earn some extra pocket money this summer? The summer holidays are the perfect time to start your own 'holiday business' and gain some skills. What type of thing you can do depends on your abilities and interests. Are you good with your hands? Do you enjoy making things? You could start making your own jewellery or clothes and then sell them online. Are you good with computers and technology? Maybe you could help your friends and neighbours with their IT problems. Are you an animal-lover? You could look after your neighbours' pets while they are on holiday or offer a dog-walking service.

Raise money with a run

There are sports activities taking place all the time, even during the summer. Have a look online and find one near you that's open to young people. Why not take part in a 5-km run, or a cycling event? If you do this, people can sponsor you and then you can give your favourite charity the money. This is a great way to do two great things – helping people and exercising!

3 Read the article and answer the questions.

- 1 Why did the writer write this article?
- 2 Why should the camp week have different activities?
- 3 What does the writer suggest for creative people?
- 4 Why do you need to begin the garden project early?
- 5 What are the advantages of taking part in a sponsored sports activity?

4 Match the highlighted words to the definitions.

- 1 help or work for an organisation without being paid
- 2 a building with a swimming pool and places where you can play sports
- 3 to give money to someone to support an activity, event or organisation
- 4 useful or important
- 5 things you do well because you have practised them

TALKING POINTS

Which of these ideas would you like to try?
Do you think it's important to plan what you want to do? Why? Why not?
How important is luck in achieving your aims?

GRAMMAR

Verbs with two objects

- 1 Read the two examples. Which verb has two objects? Which is the direct object and which is the indirect object?

Books closed. Write the following words on the board: some flowers / for / they / bought / me and put students into mixed ability pairs to make a sentence (They bought some flowers for me). Write the sentence on the board and ask students to identify the following: subject (they), verb (bought), object (flowers) and indirect object (me).

- 1 Do the exercise as a class. Go through the instructions before going through each of the sentences in turn. If necessary, give further example sentences to help students understand the difference between a direct and indirect object. For example:

I bought a new phone yesterday. [a new phone is the direct object]

She showed her holiday photos to her friends. [her holiday photos is the direct object; her friends is the indirect object]

Answers

In sentence 1, give has two objects: money = direct, favourite charity = indirect

- 2 Put students into mixed ability pairs to complete the rules. Monitor and encourage stronger students to give further examples of verbs with two objects. Check answers.

MANAGING STRESS

LIFE SKILLS

How to manage stress

It's normal to have some problems at school, at home or with friends. These problems can cause negative feelings, or stress. Everyone has some stress in life, but too much stress can be bad for a person's health. That's why it's important to deal with stress and reduce its effects.

1 What things are stressful for you? Rate the issues below from 1 (not stressful) to 4 (very stressful).

- a ___ homework and school projects
- b ___ personal problems with friends
- c ___ worries about tests and exams
- d ___ nasty messages on social media
- e ___ not having enough pocket money
- f ___ looking good and being in style
- g ___ bullies and other negative people

2 Read the text on the opposite page. Which suggestions would be the most helpful for you?

3 Match the following ideas with the tips in the text.

- 1 Doing your homework at the last minute isn't a good habit.
- 2 Take some time to enjoy yourself after your work is done.
- 3 Make sure you have a good diet and get plenty of rest.
- 4 It's important to think about the possible causes of your stress.
- 5 Talking to someone about your worries can make you feel better.
- 6 Sports and exercise are good ways to reduce feelings of stress.

4 Match the highlighted words in the text to the meanings.

- 1 based on good decisions
- 2 spend your free time in a place or with someone
- 3 feeling nervous or worried
- 4 related to school and studies
- 5 when you feel how something happens to you
- 6 have something inside or as a part

5 Listen to four people: Paul, Emma, Marco and Vicky. Match them with the problems they mention.

arguments bullying homework money parents sisters social media sports

- 1 Paul _____
- 2 Emma _____
- 3 Marco _____
- 4 Vicky _____

6 Listen again. Answer the questions.

- 1 How did Paul finally solve his problem?
- 2 Why hasn't Emma got very much free time?
- 3 Why does Marco tell his friends that he's busy?
- 4 What do her sisters do that annoys Vicky so much?

7 Work in pairs. Think of suggestions to help Paul, Emma, Marco and Vicky.

8 Read the Useful language phrases. Complete them with your own ideas.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

It is normal to have a physical or mental reaction to everyday responsibilities and serious life events. Sometimes, the effects of stress are positive as they help prepare our bodies for difficult situations, for example, by getting our muscles ready to respond to a situation. However, if people experience stress over a long period of time, this can cause a range of symptoms which include anxiety, headaches and depression. More seriously, long-term stress can weaken our immune systems, making us more likely to get infections. High blood pressure is a further possible effect of stress and, over time, this can increase our risk of having a heart attack.

WARMER

Write emotional skills on the board and put students into pairs or small groups to discuss what the phrase might mean. Ask for suggestions and write key words and phrases on the board. Tell students that managing stress is an example of an emotional skill, and check students understand the phrase.

LIFE SKILLS

How to manage stress

Tell students to read the information and check vocabulary as necessary. Invite students to say if they agree or disagree with any of the points in the text and to give their reasons. Encourage open-class discussion and help students make connections between their contributions.

- 1 Go through the instructions and check students understand each of the issues a–g. Go through the first item as a class, eliciting which aspects of homework and school projects would make them more or less stressful (for example, time limit, length, difficulty). Monitor and help if necessary as students rate the issues, encouraging them to explain their rating. Bring the class together and ask for volunteers to tell the class about how they feel about the issues.

- 3 Read the ideas 1–6 and tell students to underline key words and phrases they think will be helpful to direct their reading. Ask students how they are going to read the text (quickly, looking for relevant key words in each one). Set a short time limit of about five minutes for students to find ideas 1–6 in the article. Ask for volunteers to give answers and to say which words or phrases in the texts helped them match the ideas to parts of the text.

Answers

- 1 Tip 2 (the last minute = wait until Sunday evening, bad habits)
- 2 Tip 5 (enjoy yourself = activities that you enjoy)
- 3 Tip 3 (good diet, plenty of rest = healthy habits, healthy meals, get at least eight hours of sleep)
- 4 Tip 1 (think about the possible causes = without understanding the reasons, stop and think)
- 5 Tip 4 (talking to someone about your worries = helpful to speak with someone)
- 6 Tip 3 (sports, exercise, reduce, stress = do at least one hour of exercise)

The Reading text is recorded for students to listen, read and check their answers.

- 4 Tell students to complete the exercise individually, and to compare their answers with a partner. Advise students to read each sentence and substitute the highlighted word for the correct meaning 1–6 and check it makes sense. Nominate individuals to give answers, and others to say if they agree or not.

PROJECT A report

Ask students to read the instructions and questions 1–6 which they will need to answer for their own project. Monitor and help with ideas if necessary as students make a note of key words and phrases about their personal stress and how they deal with it. Tell them to choose some expressions from the Useful language box.

Put students into pairs to rehearse giving their presentation using their notes, and to give each other suggestions to improve their work. They should then revise their reports and present them to the class.

Ask the class to make notes of other ideas to answer the questions 1–6 as they listen to their classmates' presentations.

PROJECT EXTENSION

In pairs, students write answers to questions 1–6 for another stressful situation on a slip of paper, using some of the ideas from their notes on their classmates' presentations. Collect the slips of paper and redistribute them. Ask students to guess the situation, suggest possible solutions and to prepare a poster presentation for a class display.

COOLER

Ask students to look at the paragraph headings in Stress-busters! and to put them in order of importance. Tell them to list five key words or phrases associated with each point that they can review the next time they feel stressed.

Stress-busters!

There are lots of things that cause stress in our lives, such as school problems, arguments with friends and negative feelings that we sometimes have about ourselves. We all experience stress at times, but it's important to manage it properly and reduce its effects. Here are some helpful tips for dealing with stress.

1 Stop and reflect

Sometimes we feel stressed without understanding the reason. For example, you might be anxious about a maths exam tomorrow because you haven't studied enough. However, your real problem isn't the exam – it's the way you organise your studies. Whenever you're stressed, you should stop and think. What is really happening? How can you improve the situation? Try keeping a diary about your problems and the possible causes.

3 Watch your health

Healthy habits are very important for reducing stress. Be sure to eat healthy meals with lots of fruit and vegetables. Try to get at least eight hours of sleep and don't drink too much coffee or tea in the evening. They contain caffeine, which can make you nervous. And don't check your mobile phone or use the computer before bedtime. It will keep you awake! Finally, you should do at least one hour of exercise every day. Physical activity keeps your body strong and healthy and it's also very relaxing.

2 Manage your time

Do you forget when your school projects are due? Do you wait until Sunday evening to do homework? These bad habits can cause 'last-minute' stress, as well as poor grades. It's more sensible to plan your studies, for example with a calendar. You can also divide big projects into smaller tasks that you can do in parts. In addition, you should plan your other activities, like sports and clubs. In this way, you'll always know how much time you really have.

4 Reach out for help

When you're feeling stressed, it's helpful to speak to someone who understands your situation, such as your friends and family. Sometimes it's enough to talk about your problems and share your feelings with other people. Other times, you might ask for advice or suggestions. At school, you can also speak to teachers, especially if you're having academic problems. Don't keep your worries to yourself. Remember that you're not alone!

5 Have some fun!

Finally, find some free time for activities that you enjoy, such as sports, hobbies and meeting with friends. Why not make plans to see a film or hang out in the park at the weekend? You can also spend some time listening to your favourite music or playing computer games, but make sure you've done your homework first! If you take some time to relax and enjoy yourself, you'll feel better, have more energy, and reduce your level of stress.

PROJECT

A report

Prepare a report about the things that are stressful for you and how you deal with that stress. Use the questions below and add more ideas of your own.

- 1 When do you usually get stressed?
- 2 What things do you hate or find annoying?
- 3 How well do you manage your time?
- 4 Have you got healthy habits that reduce stress?
- 5 Who do you talk to when you feel stressed?
- 6 What do you do to relax and have fun?

Share your report with a classmate and ask for suggestions to improve your work. Then revise your report and present it to the class.

WARMER

Write the following words on the board: promise, curious and develop. Ask students to classify them according to the following topics: communication, qualities and work. Ask students to give further examples of each category.

VOCABULARY

- 1 Write sentence 1 on the board for students to find the scrambled form of the word in the box. If students are struggling, give them the first couple of letters for the word. Monitor and offer further help if necessary.

Answers

1 promise 2 apologise 3 remind 4 disagree 5 wonder
6 warn

- 2 Give students about three minutes to think of as many adjectives as they can which describe personal feelings and qualities. Ask them to check in Unit 18 page 102 before they do the activity. Point out that the number of spaced lines indicates the number of letters in the target word and that the first letter of the word is given.

Answers

1 curious 2 annoyed 3 delighted 4 lonely 5 shy 6 rude

- 3 Ask students to look at the words in the box and to suggest a connection between them. Direct them to Unit 19 page 108 to check their ideas. Remind them to read the entire sentence before deciding on an answer.

FAST FINISHERS

Ask fast finishers to think of synonyms for each of the words in the box (for example: arrange – plan; calculate – work out; develop – make; handle – manage; run – own; update – revise). They could check their ideas in a dictionary.

Answers

1 develop 2 handle 3 arrange 4 run 5 update 6 calculate

- 4 Do the first item together as a class, pointing out that there is a choice of three options for each item. Remind students to think about the differences between the options and to read the entire sentence before deciding which option is correct.

Answers

1 go for 2 tried my best 3 admire 4 chose 5 dream 6 aim

GRAMMAR

- 1 Write the following reported question on the board: Many people wanted to know why Steve wouldn't open the bottle. and ask students to transform it into spoken words (Why won't you open the bottle?). To follow up, nominate a student to give a simple question and elicit the reported speech version from the class. Tell them to turn to Unit 17 page 100 to check their answers and to review the grammar section if necessary.

Answers

1 how many celebs actually enjoyed their status.
2 if we had all enjoyed the film.
3 if I had finished the maths homework.
4 if he could speak more than one foreign language.
5 if I had seen the new James Bond movie.
6 where Stefan was going on Saturday.

- 2 Do the first item together as a class and ask students what they notice about the subject in the first and second sentences (the subject becomes the object in the second sentence). Point out or elicit that the sentence given in item 1 is the active form, whereas the new sentence follows the have something done pattern. Remind students to pay attention to the tenses in the active sentences before re-writing them.

Answers

1 had, painted 2 had, brushed 3 am having, taken
4 have had, fixed 5 am going to have, cut

- 3 Do the first example together with the class, pointing out that students need to think of the relationship between the ideas in the clauses in order to choose the correct linking words. Ask them to decide whether the sentence as a whole expresses a contrast, purpose or a reason (1 reason; 2 contrast; 3 reason; 4 purpose; 5 contrast). Direct students to Unit 19 page 110, to revise if necessary.

Answers

1 because 2 whereas 3 As 4 in order to 5 although

- 4 Remind students that the general word order of most English sentences is subject + verb + object. Copy the first item on to the board and ask for a volunteer to make the sentence. Ask students for an example of an object pronoun (me), and a possessive adjective (my) and to say what type of pronoun I in item 4 is (subject). Check students understand the difference between a subject pronoun and an object pronoun, and do a quick review of these and elicit further examples if necessary.

MIXED ABILITY

Tell students who might find the activity challenging to choose the order they do the items in. Monitor and help them choose the easier items first (for example, items 3, 6 and 5).

Answers

- 1 My mum gave me a new bike for my birthday.
- 2 Susan wrote them an email explaining everything.
- 3 Jessica showed us her holiday photos.
- 4 I took my aunt a bunch of flowers.
- 5 Our biology teacher told us our grades. / Our teacher told us our biology grades.
- 6 My grandmother sent me a gift.

- 5 Remind students to think about the differences between the options and to read the entire sentence before selecting their answer.

Answers

1 what was 2 he came 3 having her car washed
4 if I enjoyed

- 6 Do the first item together as a class. Ask for a volunteer to say what the grammar focus of the first sentence is (linking words) and why the sentence is wrong (despite is not a linker of contrast). Advise students to read the sentences very carefully in order to find the mistake.

Answers

- 1 I like the summer although it can be too hot sometimes.
- 2 We play video games together because we both enjoy them. (focus: reason clauses)
- 3 When you write, please tell me about your school. (focus: verbs followed by direct objects)
- 4 Please send me an email with the information. (focus: verbs followed by direct objects)

1 B1 PRELIMINARY FOR SCHOOLS Reading Part 5

Briefly review what students need to do in this part of the exam and if necessary read out the information about the task and the tips on pages 46 and 114.

Ask students to read the text, ignoring the gaps, and to say what the advantage of being a volunteer is (you could get a better job because you were a volunteer). Remind students to look very carefully at the options for each space and to think about the type of words which normally come before or after each one, for example, prepositions used after adjectives (item 3), verbs (item 5) and conjunctions (item 6). Advise students to think about the differences in meaning between the options and re-read the sentence with the new word before making a final decision.

COOLER

Ask students to review their answers to the Vocabulary sections. Tell them to give themselves a mark out of 5 for how well they think know the meanings of the words from Units 17–20. Ask them to decide on one topic they will review again.

3 Choose the correct linking words.

- 1 I went to the shop because / although we didn't have any bread.
- 2 My favourite colour is red, whereas / as my best friend's is blue.
- 3 As / Although we have to get up early tomorrow, I'm going to bed now.
- 4 We're going to check in online in order to / because get the best seats.
- 5 I like most kinds of rice dishes, although / because I don't really like fried rice.

4 Put the words in order to make sentences.

- 1 mum / my / a / me / new / my birthday / for / gave / bike
- 2 them / email / an / explaining / Susan / wrote / everything
- 3 showed / her / Jessica / photos / holiday / us
- 4 bunch / took / flowers / aunt / a / I / of / my
- 5 teacher / our / us / told / biology / our / grades
- 6 grandmother / sent / my / me / a / gift

5 Choose the correct option.

- 1 I found a large case. I wondered what's / what was inside.
- 2 He started to tell me about where did he come / he came from.
- 3 She's having her car washed / washing her car at the garage because she doesn't have time to do it herself.
- 4 She asked me if I enjoyed / did I enjoy the film.

6 Correct the mistake in each sentence.

- 1 I like the summer despite it can be too hot sometimes.
- 2 We play video games together. Because we both enjoy this.
- 3 When you write, please tell about your school.
- 4 Please send to me an email with the information.

Matching people to short texts (Unit 8, Unit 19)

1 Read the exam instructions and complete the task.

The people below all want to find a music website they haven't seen before. Opposite are eight music website reviews. Decide which website would be the most suitable for each person.

- 1 George wants to watch band members from the past talking about their work and get albums that are difficult to find. He also wants to read reliable reviews by experts.
- 2 Ella likes writing about her favourite music and posting it online. She wants to find out about future live events and be able to download interviews with musicians which she can listen to later.
- 3 Bojing often invites friends round to listen to music and they try out music from bands they've heard about. He's also interested in the musicians his parents used to like and seeing pictures from concerts those bands gave.
- 4 Saanvi is into classical music and rock and prefers reading opinions written by people her age for advice on what to listen to. She listens to music at home rather than going to concerts.
- 5 Rob wants to be a radio DJ one day and he likes listening to top DJs talking about their work. He's into dance music and enjoys watching the latest dance music videos, too.

MUSIC WEBSITES

A THE MUSIC SCENE

This website provides advance information on various festivals and free concerts. There's also an opportunity to win a prize every month by uploading your own album reviews. You can also hear question and answer podcasts with the most famous performers of today, which you can save to your phone.

B BEATS

This site is where you can find albums for free through its fantastic exchange service. You can also upload clips of the music you've got to offer – whether it's pop, rock, dance, metal or more traditional stuff. Buy tickets for upcoming concerts, too, via the 'What's on' page.

C SOUND BUZZ

Although its reviews of live performances aren't always written by experienced journalists, this website has an amazing amount of unusual music to listen to, from electronic sounds to folk songs. It also provides downloadable advice from experts on how to produce demo tracks without access to a studio or a sound technician.

D MUSIC LIVE

Watch live concerts on this brilliant new website. For a small fee, you can see a choice of performances as they're happening! You can leave a review, too, for others to read and decide whether they want to go and see the band in the future or not. See photos of the concerts, too.

E HOT STUFF

Set up by a well-known radio presenter, this site offers brilliant suggestions for what to include in playlists for an event at home and has some free dance music downloads. There's also a gallery where you'll find photos from performances of your favourite bands from the past, but the site has no music videos, unfortunately.

F COOL TUNES

If you like both modern and classical music, then this review site is the one for you. There are also loads of reviews on here, by teenagers rather than music journalists or DJs. This means you can find out what people like you really think is cool. Listen to clips for free!

G MUSIC FREAKS

Some of the best music journalists write reviews for this website, which also has a good collection of video interviews with musicians who were performing twenty years ago. You won't find up-to-date news, or photos of today's celebrities – it's serious stuff! But there are links to online music stores, where you can buy rare CDs.

H PLAY IT

This site is for anyone who's hoping to work in the music industry. Full of advice and stories from a range of experts in the industry, this is the place to come to find out about what's happening right now on the dance floor. Download the videos of the moment – and find out how to produce your own.

- A are less serious than those with his friends at home.
 - B never last beyond the short time they spend together.
 - C allow him to talk about himself in an honest way.
 - D help him to decide where he would like to travel to in the future.
- 3 What advice does Andy give about travelling with a backpack?
- A Carry things you can throw away when you've finished with them.
 - B Make sure you practise packing it before you go away.
 - C It doesn't matter what kind of backpack you have.
 - D Buy small bottles to carry any liquids in.
- 4 In the final paragraph, Andy suggests that
- A backpacking can make it harder to access certain places.
 - B backpackers help to support less well-known locations.
 - C backpacking can be a disadvantage on some forms of transport.
 - D backpackers are not welcome in some types of accommodation.

5 Which text message would Andy send to a friend?

A Why don't you fly out to visit me and we'll stay in a luxury hotel in one of the big resorts on the coast. I stay in them all the time.

B I'm glad I filled up my backpack – I've got everything I need, though it isn't easy carrying it around as I can hardly lift it!

EXAM TIPS

Read the questions and text. Underline the part of the text which gives you the answer. Then check that the other three options are definitely wrong.

C I've met some great people. Tomorrow we're going by boat to an ancient village in the mountains together.

D I'm leaving here tomorrow and then a few of us will hire a car and drive along the coast.

- 2 Read the first paragraph and options A–H. Which sentence fits in gap 1? How do you know this is the correct answer?
- 3 Now read the exam instructions and complete the rest of the task.

Five sentences have been removed from the article below. For each question, choose the correct answer. There are three extra sentences which you do not need to use.

EXAM INFORMATION

Reading Part 4

- You will read a text from which five sentences have been removed.
- The five sentences are placed after the text. They are not in the correct order. There are three extra sentences which are not needed.
- You need to read the text and then choose the sentence which best fits each gap.

EXAM TIPS

Read the whole text first. Then read the options and decide which one fits best. Read the sentences directly before and after each gap carefully. When you have finished, read the whole text again and make sure it makes sense with the options you've chosen.

EMILY HAGINS: YOUNG MOVIE-MAKER

American teenager Emily Hagins was born in the city of Philadelphia in the USA, but her family moved to the city of Austin in Texas when she was just a baby. (1) _____ She would often happily sit through the same movies several times at her local movie theater, including The Muppet Movie, which she particularly enjoyed.

When she was in second grade at school, around the age of seven, her classmates were already calling her 'Movie Girl'. A few years later, after reading The Hobbit by J. R. R. Tolkien for school, she became inspired by the Lord of the Rings movies. This was the point at which she decided she wanted to make movies herself. (2) _____ In his reply, he suggested a useful contact for Emily, who she later got in touch with.

Emily started her career at the age of just 11, by producing several short movies and a documentary.

(3) _____ This was due to his job in advertising. However, although he guided her through what needed to be done, he made sure he left all the directing up to Emily.

This keen young movie-maker then went on to write the script for a full-length movie called Pathogen, and the filming of this took place in her home town when she was just 12. (4) _____ Somehow she managed to get everything done. Her efforts at directing the movie won Emily a grant from the Austin Film Society, which made it possible for her to turn the results into a finished 68-minute movie. She was the youngest ever person to receive the money.

Emily went on to produce another full-length movie, The Retelling, by the time she was 16. (5) _____ These include one called Coin Heist, a crime drama, which received good reviews. Emily Hagins is definitely a name to look out for in the future!

- A Emily could only do this work at weekends and during vacations from school.
- B He let Emily watch him while he worked and she learned about filming techniques.
- C So, she wrote a letter to the series' director, Peter Jackson.
- D She isn't really sure what kind of movie she'd like to produce next.
- E After that experience as a child, Emily decided not to ask for advice again.
- F Emily showed a strong interest in movies and movie-making at a very young age.
- G Her father was helpful early on, having spent time with directors on movie sets.
- H She has been making movies ever since.

- Talk about other things in the photograph

Examiner Thank you.

i EXAM INFORMATION

Speaking Part 2

- The examiner will give you a photo to talk about.
- You need to look at the photo carefully and describe what you can see.
- Your partner will be given a different photo to talk about. You do not need to talk to your partner.

✓ EXAM TIPS

Make sure you say as much about the photo as you can: What are the people doing? Where are they? What's the weather like? What objects can you see? If you can't remember the word for something, try to describe it in a different way. Keep talking until the examiner asks you to stop, but do not talk about anything which is not in the picture.

Speaking Part 3 Discussing options
(Unit 6, Unit 14, Unit 20)

- 1 Look at the pictures. What can you see in each one?
- 2 Work in groups of three. One student is the examiner and the other two students are Candidate A and Candidate B. The examiner reads the script, while Candidate A and B answer the questions. Then change roles until everyone has had a turn at being the examiner, Candidate A and Candidate B.

Part 3

Examiner Now, in this part of the test, you're going to talk about something together for about two minutes. I'm going to describe a situation to you.
A teenager is writing to a new penfriend and is deciding what to write to him/her about.
Here are some topics the teenager could write about.
Talk together about the different topics the teenager could write about in the first email, and then decide which would be most interesting for the penfriend to read about.
All right? Now, talk together.

Candidates _____

Examiner Thank you.

Topics to write about

i EXAM INFORMATION

Speaking Part 3

- The examiner will describe a situation to talk about with your partner.
- You will be given some pictures to look at and asked to discuss them together.
- You need to try to reach an agreement with your partner.

✓ EXAM TIPS

Listen carefully to the situation and look at the pictures. Discuss the pictures and situation with your partner. Make sure you give your partner time to speak and encourage him/her to speak if he/she is quiet.

- 1 Read the Part 4 questions. What is the general theme of the questions?
- 2 Work in groups of three. One student is the examiner and the other two students are Candidate A and Candidate B. The examiner reads the script, while Candidate A and B answer the questions. Then change roles until everyone has had a turn at being the examiner, Candidate A and Candidate B.

Part 4

Examiner

- Have you got a penfriend in another country? (What do you write to him/her about?)
- Do you like writing and receiving emails or letters? (Why?)
- How do you usually communicate with your friends? (Why?)
- Which do you prefer: making phone calls or texting? (Why?)
- What kind of information do you share with other people through phone calls or emails?

Back-up prompts

- How/What about you?
- Do you agree?
- What do you think?

Thank you. That is the end of the test.

EXAM INFORMATION

Speaking Part 4

- The examiner will ask questions related to the topic of Part 3.
- The examiner will ask questions either to individual candidates or to both candidates.
- You need to answer the questions as fully as possible.

EXAM TIPS

Listen carefully to the questions and say as much as you can. You may need to explain your answers. If a question is directed at you and your partner, make sure you give your partner a chance to speak. Don't be afraid to ask the examiner to repeat a question.

READING

Reading Part 1

Multiple-choice notices and messages (Unit 14, Unit 17)

Remind students of the format of Reading Part 1 and refer them to the exam information and tips boxes. This part is also practised in the Student's Book on pages 81 and 99 and in the Workbook on pages 57 and 69.

- 1 Ask the class to look at the example text and to answer the questions in pairs.

Answers

A text message
Jenny and Max are friends who have planned to play tennis.

- 2 Ask the students to read texts 1–5 and ask 'Why was each text written?' (1 to advertise the end of a sale; 2 to give information about a competition; 3 to ask a favour; 4 to tell a friend about a holiday; 5 to give information about a postal delivery). Tell students to choose the correct option, A, B or C, for each text to describe what it says. Check answers and encourage students to say which words in the options suggest the answer. Point out that just because some words appear both in the text and the options A–C (e.g. Text 1: B price), this doesn't mean it is the correct answer.

- 1 The descriptions talk about the kind of things that the young people would like to see on music websites.

Ask the students to read George's description and underline the three things he would like to see on a music website (watch band members from the past talking about their work, get albums that are difficult to find, read reliable reviews by experts). The best website for George is G. It has reviews written by the best music journalists (= experts), video interviews with musicians from the past, and links to places where you can buy rare CDs (= difficult to find). Remind students of the format of Reading Part 3 and refer them to the exam information and tips boxes. This part is also practised in the Student's Book on pages 21, 55 and 77 and in the Workbook on pages 13, 37 and 53.

- 1 Direct students to the photo and ask what the text is about before setting a short time limit for them to read the text quickly and answer the question.

Answers

Yes, he does.

- 2 Go through the instructions and ask students to read question 1 and the options. Check vocabulary as necessary. Put students into pairs to choose the correct answer and to discuss why the other options are wrong.

Answers

- 1 D (A is wrong because Andy says he has 'spent time with people of many nationalities'; B is wrong because he doesn't say he finds it difficult to share, even if he doesn't have much in common with the person he's sharing with; and C is wrong because although he has fun visiting sights with them, he doesn't say they know more about the sights.)
- 3 Direct students to the exam tips and tell students to follow the procedure for questions 2–5. Monitor and help as necessary, and ask students to decide why the other options are wrong when they have finished the exercise.

Answers

- 2 C (A is wrong because Andy says the opposite, that is, that friendships can be just as strong as friendships back home; B is wrong because he suggests that although he won't meet people again, they may stay in contact online; D is wrong because he doesn't mention that backpacking friends affect his choice of a future destination.)
- 3 A (B is wrong because Andy talks about a few instances when he failed to travel light; C is wrong because he mentions using a size of backpack that's suitable; D is wrong because he suggests a backpacker shouldn't bother buying mini bottles.)
- 4 B (A is wrong because Andy doesn't mention difficulty in accessing places; C is wrong as he mentions using trains and buses to be kinder to the environment; D is wrong because he mentions staying in places for an unlimited period of time.)
- 5 C (A is wrong as backpackers tend not to stay in luxury hotels or visit big resorts on the coast; B is inappropriate as Andy would be more concerned that he could carry his bag around easily; D is wrong as Andy specifically says backpackers are kind to the environment and would use public transport rather than travel by car.)

Reading Part 4

Gapped text (Unit 1, Unit 5)

Remind students of the format of Reading Part 4 and refer them to the exam information and tips boxes. This part is also practised in the Student's Book on pages 11 and 33 and in the Workbook on pages 5 and 21.

- 1 Read the question and set a short time limit of about four minutes for students to scan the text and find the answer to the question.

Answers

She has made several short and full-length films and a documentary.

- 2 Ask students to read the first paragraph and the options. Remind them to read the sentence directly before and after gap number 1, and to re-read the paragraph to check it makes sense with the option they have chosen.

Answers

- 1 F. We know this is the correct answer because in this part of the text, we are reading about Emily when she was young, and we know she was interested in watching films. Option F refers to her being a very young age (the preceding sentence says she was just a baby). Option F also mentions her interest in the movies, and we are told that she was happy watching the same movie several times in the sentence after the gap.
- 3 Ask students to re-read the instructions and to complete the task. When checking answers, nominate individuals to explain say why they have chosen an option.

Answers

- 1 F (The sentence before the gap mentions Emily being a baby and the following sentence continues the idea of watching movies repeatedly).
- 2 C (The sentence before the gap explains that Emily wanted to make movies and the sentence following the gap refers to a reply to the letter she wrote).
- 3 G (The sentence before the gap refers to Emily at the age of 11, and the sentence after the gap contains the word 'his' referring back to her father, mentioned in sentence G)
- 4 A (Sentence A refers to the work being done at weekends and in holidays, and the sentence after the gap refers to the huge amount of work that had to be done).
- 5 H (Sentence H refers to Emily's continued movie making and links to the following sentence which gives a specific example of her movie making).

- 2 Direct students to the first gap and options A–D in question 1. Put students into pairs to discuss the reasons why three of the options are wrong.

Answers

- 1 B (A is incorrect because the word 'partners' is a plural countable noun and does not function as an adjective or as part of a compound noun; C and D are wrong because they do not function as part of a compound noun.)

- 3 Ask students to complete the task, thinking carefully about why each of the other options is wrong for each of the gaps.

Answers

- 1 B (friendship is the only option that functions as part of a compound noun with 'group')
- 2 D (keep collocates with secret – the other verbs don't)
- 3 C (separate is the only option that can be followed by the preposition from)
- 4 A (deal can be followed by the preposition with + object; manage is followed by to + infinitive, challenge is followed by direct object + to + infinitive and act is followed by on or out).

Hi Sam,
Thanks for your email. Your visit to the café in town sounds great.
I sometimes go to a café near my house with my friends. They sell lots of different types of sandwiches and the most amazing kiwi juice you've ever tasted.
I like Indian food too, but my favourite food is Italian. Last year we went on holiday to Naples and I really loved the pizza.
Why don't you make Italian food for your party? You could prepare a lasagne the night before and you could serve it with salad.
Have a good time and let me know how it goes.
See you soon,
Alice

Question 3: Write a story which starts with the sentence given.

- 2 Ask students to read the instructions and to write an answer to one of the questions. Remind them to check their spelling, punctuation and grammar carefully. You could ask students to write the answer to the other question for homework.

Question 2

Model answer

I think that doing exercise and eating healthy food are both important for being healthy but doing regular exercise is much more important.
People who exercise regularly often want to eat fruit and vegetables more than pastries, pies and fried food. Eating unhealthy food makes people feel tired and they find it difficult to exercise.
I usually go to the gym about four times a week and I go swimming with my brother twice a week. I try to walk to places, and I don't use lifts and escalators. Another thing I do is stand up and walk around for a bit when I am playing games on my computer.

Question 3

Model answer

Jake ran towards the building as quickly as possible. It was the day when Mr Perry, the school's headteacher, was announcing the winners of the Robot Design Competition. Jake's heart was beating fast when he entered the hall. All the teachers and parents were looking at the clever robot designs, including Jake's. His robot was called 'Scarebot'. It turns around when it is in a garden and scares away the birds – very helpful for vegetable gardeners! It was painted and decorated to look like a scary animal.
Suddenly the hall became quiet. Jake closed his eyes as Mr Perry was speaking. Finally he heard the words '... and the winner is ... Jake Browning!'

Speaking Part 3

- 4 Work in pairs. Read the instructions and look at the pictures below. Then talk together. Use the phrases from the Prepare to speak box on page 83.

Two friends are planning to attend a one-day cooking course. Here are some different things they could learn to cook. Talk together about the different things they could cook and say which would be most useful to learn.

Things to cook

Add up your scores.

1	a 1	b 4	c 2	d 3
2	a 2	b 1	c 1	d 4
3	a 1	b 2	c 3	d 4
4	a 1	b 4	c 2	d 3

What your score says about you

Low score (4–7)

You love nature and being outdoors. You especially love animals and know when they are unhappy. You like walking home and being in open spaces. You're an awesome country teen!

Medium score (8–12)

You are a bit of both. You like the excitement of the city but not the pollution and crime. As for the country, well, that's just a bit too quiet for you. You like your facilities, and you're interested in history, too. So you are a town teen! All the good things of the city without the bad things! Rock it down, town teen!

High score (13–16)

You love the street lights, the sounds, and the smell of the city! It's just so exciting! You like surprises in the city but not in the countryside. All those animals? Not you at all! You are a city teen – go city you!

3 Hi Jan,

I went to see a careers adviser yesterday. He asked me what my favourite subjects were and if/whether I preferred playing video games or taking part in sport. He wanted to know what languages I spoke and which foreign countries I had visited in my life. He asked if/whether I could imagine working in an office. He also wanted to know how much I wanted to earn. He didn't suggest a career, but he helped me to think more clearly about the decisions I have to make in the next two years.

Hope you're well. Write soon,

Kai

If you enjoy writing, our competition could be for you! We'd like you to write an article for our website about friendship and online relationships between friends in particular. We're interested in reading articles about how social media is making a difference to friendships. In your article, we'd like you to include answers to the following. What does the word 'friend' mean to you? Do you know all of the friends you've made on the internet personally? Why are you interested in reading the updates of 500 people on their pages? Do they have anything particularly interesting to say? Do you want to read their comments on what you've posted on your own page? We'd like you to tell us about a really great friend you have. Don't tell us about their weak points – we've all got those! – but about the qualities they've got which make them such a good friend. We'd also like you to compare the friendships you have with online friends and friends you see in real life. Tell us about a situation in which a friend – online or 'real' – helped you. We don't need every detail – just a description of what your friend did and why they are special to you. We'd also like to know about the things you chat about with friends. Do you have different conversations with online friends to the ones you see every day? In what way are they different? Are the activities you do together different, too?

When you've finished your article, you can upload it directly to our website. It should be within our word limit of 275 words, which is 25 words shorter than last year's 300 word limit.

We look forward to reading about your friends and we'll publish the best articles on our website.

Interviewer: Here with us is Lacey Anderson, who writes a blog about the weather. Lacey, why did you decide to blog?

Lacey: We have extreme weather in this region – storms, tornados, floods – and though there are articles and photos of events online – including some of mine! – there was a lack of useful information. That's what made my mind up about it. I had to share facts. I used to think being a TV weather forecaster would be great – I'm not as interested in TV reporting now, though.

Interviewer: Your blog has lots of followers.

Lacey: Yeah! The social media sites are linked to it, so it's easy for people to access. There's a page where they can contact me to find out about what's going to happen and whether they'll be affected. I always reply and I know they find that helpful.

Interviewer: So, what does your blog contain and what do readers say about it?

Lacey: Basic information about what to do and what not to do in extreme weather conditions. I didn't expect so many people to follow the recommendations! I'd like to do other things on my blog, like get people to leave comments about how they dealt with recent weather events to help other readers in similar situations.

Interviewer: Isn't your local weather centre helping you?

Lacey: Yes, they provide their own forecasts to me for free, which I use for my blog. Previously I found out what was happening from the radio, TV or forecast sites and included details on my blog, but it used to take ages! I've always liked finding and uploading pictures and maps, so I don't need theirs, but I'm grateful for their help.

Interviewer: Your parents help with your blog. Why?

Lacey: They're volunteer firefighters, who help out when there are bush fires. One big one started recently because it had been so hot in the area and the grass was dry – and someone had a barbecue in the woods, which started it. My parents knew then that they wanted to help, so they wrote a post for me about how to prevent this kind of thing happening when the weather gets hot in summer.

Interviewer: Have local organisations been helpful?

Lacey: Yes, our local newspaper publishes great stuff about the blog. It sells lots of copies, so people get to know about my work. A local outdoor shop pays to advertise on my site – they sell equipment and clothing for extreme conditions. My school supports what I do, but I can't update the blog during classes, so I do it during breaks.

Interviewer: Thanks, Lacey!

M: You're yawning again!
F: I'm tired after playing football all afternoon. Maybe I shouldn't do practice and then play a match. I almost fell asleep in the changing rooms at school today. I sat on a bench and closed my eyes for a moment. Yesterday, I was on the bus coming home from school and the next thing I knew, the driver was shaking me on the shoulder. We were at the bus station and everyone had got off. At least, I've never fallen asleep in class – my teachers would be angry!
M: Have you cut your finger?
F: Yeah – on a knife when I was making breakfast. It's nothing much. I'll get something from the school nurse. Anyway, that's not the worst thing. I injured my ankle during break. It really hurts – I can hardly walk on it.
M: You ought to go to the medical centre after school.
F: Yeah. I'll ask my mum to pick me up and take me. At least, it isn't as painful as when I broke my toe. That really hurt!
M: Well, I hope it feels better soon.
- 3
F: Shall we go to a café for lunch?
M: Sure, why not? I'm recovering from my operation, though, so I'm being super healthy! I'd love to go to our usual place – the views of the lake are great. The food isn't too healthy, though – I should eat things like salads or soups...
F: How about the café in town? They do things like that.
M: You mean the place on the main street? That's not bad ... I know! Let's make a picnic to take to the lake – then we can have anything we want.

- F: Great idea!
- 4
F: Are you the nurse?
M: That's right. I can see you've burnt yourself – what happened?
F: I was preparing lunch and touched the pan by accident. I put my hand under cold water for ten minutes, but it still really hurts.
M: OK ... Let me give you a cream to put on it. Use plenty of it and then cover the burn to protect it. It's not a bad burn, so it should get better quite quickly. You don't have to see a doctor, but if it gets worse, come and see me again.
F: OK, thanks.
- 5
F: Shall we go for a run this afternoon?
M: I'm not sure I feel like it. My head's aching from too much studying! Maybe I could go for a short run. Shall we do something easy like go through the forest? We usually go along the river, but it's too far for me today.
F: I've actually found a new route you might like. It goes across the farm fields. You get great views of the countryside and it isn't too long.
M: I like the sound of that. OK, I'll get my trainers on.
- 6
F: My heart's beating really quickly and I haven't done anything today.
M: Maybe you ought to sit down and try to relax. Is it something you've eaten? What did you have for breakfast?
F: Nothing. I haven't had breakfast yet – so it isn't because of drinking coffee. I had some chocolate yesterday, but not very much – just one or two small pieces.
M: You did have a lot of cola at that party, though. And you were full of energy, dancing all afternoon!
F: That's true. That's probably the reason!
- 7
F: Have you just got back from school? It's quite late.
M: No, I've been out with my friends. We had a game in the park.
F: Oh, did you try the new basketball court? I heard it's really good.
M: We wanted to, but there were already some people on it, so we went to the football field instead. When we arrived we realised we'd left our ball at home, so we hired a tennis court and some rackets and tried to have a match. No one was very good at it, though!

F: How do you like your new house?
M: It's not bad. My parents wanted something bigger, and it is – I prefer the room I used to have, though. And I thought there'd be spectacular views of the countryside. But although we live right next to a farm, there isn't much to see at all. Our garden's enormous, though. My neighbour, Josh, is the same age as me, so we play football there every day after school. I thought it'd be incredibly boring living in the country, but I help Josh feed the cows and we climb trees and go fishing in the river ...
F: Cool!
M: I love your bedroom! Do you think Mum and Dad will let me decorate mine, too?
F: Of course they will! Do you like the paint I've chosen? I know everyone has white walls, but I thought I could hang some interesting pictures up and ask Dad to build some shelves for my books.
M: Good idea. Your new furniture's cool, too.
F: Yeah – I love modern stuff. Traditional's not my thing! Anyway, I used to like sitting on my bed looking out of my window and listening to my music. That new building's not great to look at.
M: You'll get used to it.
F: We've got to start that design project for homework.
M: I know. I thought we'd have a bit more time to do it – we've only got two weeks and we have to design an original, contemporary apartment.
F: Well, it only has to be a simple plan, so we'll be fine. We'll have to start getting a few ideas together. I don't think that'll be too hard, do you?
M: I don't think so. Our teacher has shown us lots of examples of plans. It's not as exciting as I hoped it would be.
F: I know, but we've got to do it!
M: What a great school trip!
F: Yes, what a cool idea – staying away from home but in our own city and looking at it in a new way – as if we were tourists.
M: And now we've got to write up our recommendations for ways to improve the experience for visitors.
F: Staying in an apartment wasn't very realistic. Most people go to hotels.
M: Yes, but they're more expensive and we had to think about things to do, not accommodation.
F: True.

- M: Anyway, I'm going to sleep for a week now! I can't believe how much we managed to do in one weekend.
F: I know! Brilliant!
M: Are you going to help on the project at the weekend – help dig in the fields to find stuff?
F: I think so. Where is it again?
M: Near the church. They think there are some ancient remains there.
F: What, like walls of houses?
M: Well, they think there could be an old village there. That'd be more interesting than finding old plates and bowls like we did last time.
F: Definitely! It was pretty good finding those coins that time – the town museum was really happy about that. Maybe we'll find some more!
M: Maybe, but it would be nice to see something different this time.
M: My uncle's just built this awesome house by the sea. He said we can go and stay for the weekend, if we want.
F: Yeah? What's so good about it?
M: It's super-contemporary. Like, there's this wall of glass doors, which completely open up, so you're kind of inside and outside at the same time!
F: Sounds fantastic! It must have amazing views as well.
M: I preferred the countryside, where he lived before, but you'll love it. It isn't as big as his old house, but it doesn't matter. It's just really interesting – the bedrooms are downstairs and the living rooms are upstairs!
F: Really?!

I like it because it's smaller than my laptop, so I can carry it around with me. It's larger than my phone which means I can see/look at things better on the screen. I think the idea that people spend too much time on their devices is a bit old-fashioned. They're just part of our lives and they do so many amazing things. - Ben: What a great idea for an exhibition – using photos to show how our planet is changing!
- Lindsay: I know! I loved it, even if it was a bit busy – there was still enough space to look at the photographs. Weren't they awesome?!
- Ben: Yeah! I can't stop thinking about the scenes from the rainforest – they were on the left as we went in.

Lindsay: I didn't like those so much, but I loved the photo of the bird with the fish in its mouth, just as it was coming out of the lake – the image of the drops falling from the fish was amazing. I thought it was a really strong photo – in fact, I didn't see anything else as good as that in the exhibition.

Ben: I don't agree. It was a great photo of the bird, but I don't think it showed anything about our changing planet. Besides, the competition clearly said that the photographs shouldn't be edited – you know, on the computer. I don't think the water looked real.

Lindsay: I'm not sure about that ... Anyway, did you like the photo of the desert landscape?

Ben: Well, yes and no. I liked the idea, you know, the evening light on the sand, but I didn't think it was that original.

Lindsay: Oh, I don't know about that – it was taken in such a remote area, hardly anyone's likely to have that same photo!

Ben: Maybe you're right. So, when do they announce the winner?

Lindsay: On the last day of the exhibition. Can't wait to see which photo wins!

Ben: Me neither!

 Hi everyone, my name's Lisa and I'm from an organisation called Teen Travel. I'm here to talk to you about the language exchange programmes we run.

What is a language exchange programme? Well, you're all learning Spanish, so in your case, you would travel to Spain to stay with what's known as a host family, who have a teenager your age. Your homestay, as we call it, includes living with the family for a week and taking part in everyday life.

Most trips happen not during summer time when the school holidays are, but during term time instead. This is so you have the opportunity to go into school with your partner, which is a great way to improve your language skills really quickly, because you won't be able to speak English!

Some of the activities you take part in depend on the family you stay with. If they usually go to a restaurant for dinner on Wednesday evenings, for example, then you will, too. If your partner loves going to the sports centre, you'll go, too!

On two evenings each week, the Teen Travel organisation holds social events, which everyone attends. This could be a party, for example, or if the town has interesting places to see, such as a castle or museum, we might go there. This is so you get even more practice of speaking Spanish!

What's included? You won't have to pay extra for your flights, and accommodation is free. Meals are also included in the price of the trip, but if you want snacks while you're out, you should take a small amount of cash.

If you'd like to find out more, go to our website, and read reviews from students who've already done an exchange. You can also email me at lisabentley@teentravel.org. My surname's spelt B-E-N-T-L-E-Y.

Right, so does anyone have any questions?

M: Do you think it's too cold to eat outside this afternoon?

F: Why? Are you thinking of barbecuing the lamb we bought?

M: That was my idea. We haven't managed to barbecue yet this year ... Oh! Actually, though, I don't think there's any gas – grilling them might be better.

F: Yeah – we could build a fire, Dad, and grill the meat over that! I can make a salad, too!

M: I meant, let's cook inside, actually. Look – there are some dark clouds appearing.

F: Aww, OK then.

F: What shall we have for lunch?

M: What is there? Weren't you going to roast that chicken you bought? That would be tasty with some chips and vegetables!

F: Well, yes, it would but we won't want a big meal at midday. Why don't I do the chicken with steamed vegetables later on and for now, we could chop up some garlic and onions and tomatoes and boil them up? I'll bake a bit of bread to go with it.

M: Great!

Come on down to Denny's Diner for dinner! This brand new restaurant, which has just opened on Church Street, is already getting fantastic reviews online. This cosy little place is perfect for vegetarians or anyone who's decided to go super healthy! With a wide selection of fresh salads, breads, soups and grilled vegetables, all our food is cooked just as it is, with no extra ingredients like oil, butter or cheese. Our prices are just as good as our food, so come on, book a table today!

M: What shall we do today? Do you fancy going to the park? We could have a game of football and when we get tired, maybe we could stop at the café and have a drink or a snack.

F: Great idea – the café only does proper meals, though, so if we just want sandwiches, we should probably do something else.

M: Take some along with us? We could eat on those picnic tables in the barbecue area. It won't be busy down there today, 'cause it's not as warm as it usually is.

F: Perfect!

I've loved baking ever since I was a young girl. My grandmother was a baker and she would show me how to make all kinds of things during the school holidays – her bread was the most delicious I've ever tasted – I've never been able to make any as tasty as hers, which is annoying! Cakes, though – they're my special skill and there's nothing better than when I see someone eat one I've made and really enjoy it. I'm going to try biscuits next – I believe they're more difficult to do, but worth the effort!

F: It's mushroom season again! Can't wait to make that gorgeous mushroom pasta we love!

M: I know – yummy! The supermarkets have got loads – there doesn't seem to be a particularly large variety, though. I'd like some of those little yellow ones you sometimes put in omelettes – know the ones I mean?

F: Oh, yeah – they grow in the woods outside town. They'll have loads at the market.

M: Why don't we go down and get some, then? I don't feel like going and picking them myself.

F: Good idea.

M: I'm making dinner for everyone tonight.

F: Cool – what are you going to do? I did pizzas last night, so don't do that again!

M: I wasn't going to. I'll make a sauce – we can have it with pasta. What's that sauce called that you like? It's got those little fish and black olives in it, with tomatoes.

F: Can't remember – but look. These onions look like they need using up. You could cut up some peppers as well.

M: I'll do what I was planning, but put those onions in, too.

M: I know, but I'm going to write a script instead of having any music.

M: Our drama teacher's brilliant! He's taught us so many techniques. I never thought I'd be able to convince people I was crying!

F: Ha-ha! He doesn't like it when you can't do something immediately, though, does he?

M: You think he expects us to get things right straightaway, you mean? I don't know about that – we do get time to practise. And we have loads of fun – his sense of humour's great.

F: True, but I do think we could do more of a range of things in class – so far we've done loads of laughing and crying techniques and not much else.

- M: Well, they're the hardest things to get right, so I don't mind.
- 3
- F: What did you think of that musical we saw at the cinema with our class?
- M: Not my thing! But we have to study musicals as part of our music course. I think musical films are better than stage ones – the acting can be really poor in those, so I'm glad we didn't have to see it at the theatre.
- F: Yes, at least the actors' performances were good. I hated that music though – it sounded old-fashioned to me. The songs were terrible!
- M: The background music was good, though, in between the songs. And the special effects were amazing.
- F: You think so? I wasn't convinced. Anyway, never mind.
- 4
- F: When are they announcing who's got a place at drama school? It should be soon, right?
- M: Yeah. It's so competitive it's difficult to guess, though I thought my audition went well on the day. How about you?
- F: Don't know. I made a mess of the speech I gave – I forgot one of the most important lines! I answered all the questions in the interview, but you never know if you've said the right thing. Anyway – did you do that little scene about the scooter? That was funny – it'd be strange if you didn't get a place after that.
- M: Well, I hope so!
- 5
- F: What we did in our camera skills class today was hard. The teacher insisted that we only had an hour for it! I don't like working under stress – it makes me nervous. I feel like I won't be able to finish it all, and it's complicated to decide what order to do everything in.
- M: I think the point was for us to understand what it's like working in the industry.
- F: Sure. I didn't have a chance to think about whether what we were doing was particularly enjoyable.
- M: Me neither but I'm sure it was useful.
- F: Yeah.
- 6
- M: I couldn't be an actor, could you?
- F: No – too dull! You have to film the same thing over and over. They deserve all the money they get for probably spending most of the time being bored!
- M: True! But I reckon it's an easier job than most people have! And it's not like they do anything to help other people, is it?
- F: I can see why you say that – entertainment isn't like being a doctor or doing something that changes people's lives.
- M: And they think too much of themselves – too confident in their abilities.
- F: I don't know – some seem pretty normal.

- 10 Craig: So, Kathy, what do you think about setting up our own business?
Kathy: I'm not sure. Do you think that our homemade fruit juices are that good?
Craig: Everyone at school likes them and you said that your parents loved them. I think we have a great idea, and no one else has done it. A fruit juice in a bag!

Kathy: I know, Craig, but that was only because we didn't have any paper cups left! But that's how all the great ideas start, isn't it? People make a name for themselves with crazy ideas or have ideas just because something strange happened. That could be us! So, what should we call them? Bag of fruit? Fruit in a bag?

 Craig: So, Kathy, what do you think about setting up our own business?

Kathy: I'm not sure. Do you think that our homemade fruit juices are that good?

Craig: Everyone at school likes them and you said that your parents loved them. I think we have a great idea, and no one else has done it. A fruit juice in a bag!

Kathy: I know, Craig, but that was only because we didn't have any paper cups left! But that's how all the great ideas start, isn't it? People make a name for themselves with crazy ideas or have ideas just because something strange happened. That could be us! So, what should we call them? Bag of fruit? Fruit in a bag?

Craig: Neither sounds very attractive. I think the name is as important as what we're selling. How about posting on social media sites for people's opinions of the names?

Kathy: I like that idea! Brilliant! Do you want to do that or should I?

Craig: I can do that. But first, we need some photos, some cool pictures of people drinking our fruit juices in beautiful places too, you know, not just at school. We could take photos on the beach.

Kathy: I'm not sure, I mean how many people go to the beach to drink a fruit juice? It would be better to have the photos of people in everyday places. So, at the shopping mall, at the gym. The message, the idea, is that wherever you are, whoever you are, you are so cool that you can have a fruit bag!

Craig: But I think we should be careful about who we choose to show in the photos – there's so much advertising that gives the idea that unless you're really good-looking, the product's not for you. So, let's have the kind of people you'd see every day in ordinary places – and no editing the pictures either!

Kathy: OK! Let's buy some fruit and go for it.

STUDENT'S BOOK AUDIOSCRIPTS

Unit 1, Student's Book page 10

Presenter: Daisy

Daisy: I love shopping anywhere, so I don't really mind where I go. I hate it when I don't have enough money, though, so I guess that markets are probably my favourite place to shop. You don't have to spend much money there, but if you're a tourist, then you should be careful because sometimes they can charge you high prices.

Presenter: Sean

Sean: I think that online shopping is the best thing ever. My parents do their food shopping online. If you spend a certain amount, then you don't have to pay the delivery charges. Also, we sometimes buy clothes and books online – there are plenty of sites! And if it's not right, you can usually send the item back.

Presenter: Alec

Alec: Well, I love video games and I'm always looking for new ones. Last week my favourite department store was offering a ten percent discount on some games, which is really good. Also, they're really good about refunds, like when Mum bought me a game I already had, they just gave us the money back – easy!

Presenter: Rose

Rose: I love shopping malls, especially when I meet up with my friends and we stay there for the whole day. I have several store cards for my favourite stores; you know, those cards that get you a discount for the next time you purchase something. My favourite store has regular promotions – you just text a word and you get a code sent to your phone. It's great. Some older kids from our school work in the stores and it's nice when you know the person who serves you. And you get great service that way!

Presenter: Iris

Iris: I think walking down the main street in a town and going into all the little shops is fun. It's better when it's nice weather – it isn't much fun in the rain! These are just regular shops and if you buy something and it's not right, you can exchange it. You just have to show them the receipt.

Boy 1: Have you got any bus tickets?

Girl 1: There are no tickets in my wallet. Have you got any money?

Boy 1: I have. So we can buy our tickets on the bus.

Woman 1: Let's make this dish. We've got plenty of rice, and a lot of flour and some milk.

Boy 2: Do we have some eggs?

Woman 1: There are three here.

Boy 2: How many more do we need?

Woman 1: Not many – only two.

Girl 2: Which shop has a lot of discounts at the moment?

Boy 3: Not sure, but there aren't many discounts here. Let's go somewhere else.

Woman 2: Do any families come to this park? Are there plenty of activities for young children?

Man: Not sure. But it's free – and for adults too.

Woman 2: Is there much parking?

Man: Yes, and that's free too!

- Sophie: Hey Ben, look, here's a quiz about the kind of friend you are. Do you want to do it?
- Ben: OK.
- Sophie: Let's see what kind of a friend we are! So we look at the sentences and choose the ones that are most true for us. Oh look! Here's one for you. 'I'd do anything to help my best friends.'
- Ben: You think so? That's a nice thing to say. Thanks, Sophie!
- Sophie: Well it's true! You are thoughtful and you always listen to people, especially us girls and our problems! And you know how to keep a secret, so we all trust you with our secrets.
- Ben: Yes, that's true. OK, well here's one that's true for you, Sophie: 'I love hanging out with a big group of friends.' I mean, that's because everyone loves you. You're a fun girl!
- Sophie: Thanks, and I do love my friends. This one is also true for me: 'I have lots of best friends – girls and boys.' You know I'm not the kind of person who only has one or two best friends. I have loads, really!
- Ben: Well, that's because you're reliable and honest!
- Sophie: Aw! Thanks, Ben!
- Ben: If you say you'll do something, then you do it. That's the kind of person you are. I like that. I think that's a great personal quality. Oh, now here's one that definitely isn't you. 'I prefer to listen to other people's ideas.' Haha! Er, no!
- Sophie: Well, I can't be perfect! I just have loads to say! Mind you, like you, I don't mind listening to other people's problems. Do you agree?
- Ben: Yes, I do actually, and I guess the one thing here that isn't true for either you or me is this one about feeling anxious.
- Sophie: Hmm no, I don't feel that, but there are plenty of people who do. OK, er, and this is also true for me: 'I love my friends but I really love being on my own,' you know, doing my own things.
- Ben: OK, well, is that it? Can we see now? I want to know what kind of friend we are.
- Sophie: Let's see. If we just go to page ...

You will hear a teacher telling his class about a new project, writing a quiz.

Teacher: OK, everyone. I'm going to tell you about our next project, which is writing a quiz! I'm sure you'll enjoy it! The idea is to get to know people better, which we've talked about in class, so we'll call it our 'Understanding others' quiz. You're going to write a questionnaire to find out more about a friend.

First, you're going to write ten interesting questions. A quiz which only focuses on facts, like what hobbies people like doing or where they come from, isn't as interesting as finding out about their qualities – so you're going to write questions to find out what someone's really like.

How should you write the questions? Well, give people a situation – ten different ones, in fact – to think about. Instead of asking 'Are you generous?' – people can only say 'yes' or 'no' to that – write something like 'You want to buy a gift for a friend but don't have much money. What will you do?'

Then, offer readers three answers to choose from, each of which says something about them. One option could explain what a shy person might do, another someone who's sociable and so on. Avoid asking about being jealous or other negative things, though. The quiz should be fun! You should also provide a 'key' at the end of the quiz, which explains people's personalities depending on the answers they give. They may not agree with you, though!

You've got plenty of time to do the project. Today's the first of July, and I'd like you to send me your completed questionnaires no later than the seventeenth, which gives you just over two weeks.

You'll do this work outside of class, so talk to your classmates for ideas. If you have any questions outside school time, email me at the school address, using my name, so, vickers@ourschool.uk. That's V-I-C-K-E-R-S.

Right, is there anything ...

Interview 1

- Examiner: What's your name?
Ahmed: I'm Ahmed.
Examiner: What's your surname?
Ahmed: It's Qureshi.
Examiner: Where do you live?
Ahmed: I live in Muscat. It's the capital of Oman.
Examiner: Do you study English?
Ahmed: Yes, I do. I have English three times a week.
Examiner: Do you like studying English?
Ahmed: Er, no, I don't like it because I think it's hard. I prefer Maths.
Examiner: Do you get up early or late?
Ahmed: Hmm, it depends. At the weekends, I get up late because I love sleeping but when I have school I have to get up early because my first lesson is at 7.30 am!

Interview 2

- Examiner: What's your name?
Sandrine: I'm Sandrine.
Examiner: What's your surname?
Sandrine: It's Bonnard.
Examiner: Where do you live?
Sandrine: I live in Montpellier, in the south of France. It's near the sea.
Examiner: Do you study English?
Sandrine: Yes, I do. I have four hours of English every week and I like it because I think it's important.
Examiner: Do you listen to music?
Sandrine: Yes, I do. I like music and I usually listen to it on my phone on my way to school. I'm also learning to play the guitar.
Examiner: How often do you go to the cinema?
Sandrine: I sometimes go to the cinema but I usually watch films at home or on my computer.

- Woman: Let's talk about shopping habits now. How do teenagers in the UK really spend their money? Charlie?
Charlie: Well, we asked nearly 500 teenagers to complete an online questionnaire about shopping habits, and we had some very interesting replies. First of all, we asked:
Woman: How often do you go shopping?
Charlie: And people answered that 14% of them go shopping every week, while 22% said every two weeks and a huge 38% said they go shopping every month. Then after that we asked:
Woman: What do you buy when you go shopping?
Charlie: Well, 43% of you put clothes at the top of your list here, which isn't surprising. 16% of you put electronic goods at the top and 15% put books, which is more than music at only 10%, which I found quite surprising, to be honest. Then we asked:
Woman: Do you count shopping as one of your hobbies? An amazing 80% said yes! Then we wanted to find out how people usually do their shopping, so we asked:
Charlie: Do you shop more in-store or online?
Woman: This really surprised us – 77.5% of you said that you shop in stores more than you shop online. We then asked:
Charlie: Have you bought anything online in the last three months?
Woman: And only 26% of you said that you have. Digital world, where have you gone?
Charlie: Finally, we asked:
Woman: Where do you usually get the money from when you go shopping?
Charlie: For most of you, this seems to be pocket money or money that people have given you as presents, for your birthday, Christmas, and so on.
Woman: Obviously, we asked a lot more questions than this, and if you're interested, you can find all the results online at our website www.vwssradio.com.

Speaker 1: Well, I was on holiday by the sea with my parents but the weather was awful, so we couldn't go to the beach or even swim in the sea. We had to stay in the hotel. Fortunately, there was a pool. There was a girl there who swam every day for about an hour, up and down. One night at dinner, we talked and she invited me to join in her practice. So the next day, I got up at 5 am! That's how it all started! I just loved it! I love being in the water. I'm quite good too, and I enter competitions. I won my first medal last week! I can go really fast. The only thing I dislike about it is not being able to have breakfast before practice.

Speaker 2: I'm like lots of kids my age – I play one of the most famous games in the world! I usually play on Thursdays after school, and I think I'm quite good at it. I score quite a lot of goals when we play matches, but yesterday I wasn't concentrating. The ball came to me and I had to score a goal because if not, we were going to lose the match. And it was the last match of the season, you know, so an important one. Unfortunately, I didn't score. I was really angry with myself. Fortunately, another player in my team managed to score, so we still beat the other team – we won 3–2! It was a great result!

Speaker 3: Last winter I went along to the ice rink in my town with my best friend. He invited me to have a go at his sport. It's a team game and a lot of fun! I joined the club the next day! The coach gave me the chance to learn the basics in a few individual classes, which was great. We only play in the fall and winter months when it's really cold. We have practice on Thursdays and Fridays and then we often have matches at the weekends. There's a lot to learn – you have to be able to skate, and follow the puck, play as a team – but I love it. I'm studying for exams at the moment and so I can't play in the regional tournament. It's a pity as I'm missing a great opportunity.

Speaker 1: I'd heard the weather forecast the previous evening – they predicted some snow. But no one expected the amount we got. Imagine, the centre of New York stopped in its tracks by a snowstorm! The city had a power cut too – you know, no electricity for a while. I don't know whether this was because the wind blew so hard or if it was the type of snow that fell.

Speaker 2: My family used to live just outside the Australian city of Canberra. On that day, there was a storm. It was so hot and dry. Then we had a lightning storm and that's what started the fire, and with it, a fire tornado. Awesome to watch, but really scary too. I'll never forget it.

Speaker 3: I live in a fishing village in Cornwall, which is in the southwest of Britain. We've had plenty of bad weather, so we all know what to do in case of a flood. Last week, so much rain fell that the river rose two metres above normal. It poured for hours. We watched the dirty water flow along our street as it flooded our village.

Speaker 4: There was a big earthquake a few years ago. The earth shook and then the roads opened up, and lots of buildings fell down. Since then we have had smaller ones, and lots of them. It can be pretty scary but now everyone knows what they have to do.

You will hear an interview with a teenage boy called Jake.

Interviewer: Here with me today is Jake, who had a big adventure one New Year's Eve when he got lost on a freezing mountain in Oregon. Jake, what happened?

Jake: I was skiing with my parents in the afternoon, when I lost a ski. It disappeared in deep snow. So there was no way I could catch up with them. I took off the other ski, put it down and started to walk.

Interviewer: But it began to get dark?

Jake: Yeah, so I stopped. There were stars everywhere! I knew I couldn't get the whole way back, so to stay alive I had to think of something else. I used to love watching Bear Grylls' TV shows about living in the wild and thought, I can use his techniques to help me.

Interviewer: So you built a snow cave?

Jake: Right. I had to protect myself – it was freezing cold by then and it started snowing hard. I dug a kind of cave, which went up a hill, so the wind blew over it and didn't hit me. I was wearing gloves and they froze on my hands! I couldn't get them off.

Interviewer: Amazing! And were people out looking for you by this time?

Jake: My parents reported me missing at five-thirty and stayed inside waiting for news. I heard helicopters but they couldn't see me in my snow cave and never came back, unfortunately. But there were several rescue teams walking over the mountain.

Interviewer: And Bear Grylls came to your help again?

Jake: Yeah. The storm passed and I started walking again. On one programme, he explained what to do if you get lost in woods – search for tracks and follow them – so that’s what I did. I found some ski tracks, and when they disappeared I got down on my hands and knees to look more closely at the ground and find them. And then I saw lights I could aim at. I met up with the folks who were out to rescue me soon after.

Interviewer: How did your mother feel when she had you back safely?

Jake: It was great. While I was missing, my mum said that although she couldn’t use her mobile phone, she kept sending me warm thoughts and tried to let me know that people were coming for me. I don’t think that helped me but it made her feel good, I guess! I just felt so thankful to Bear Grylls for his expert knowledge. It can save lives, you know?

Interviewer: Absolutely. Jake, an incredible story. Thank you.

Unit 4, Student's Book page 27

Interviewer: Where do you come from, Mariann?

Mariann: I’m from Hungary. I used to live in the mountains, quite close to Romania, actually.

Interviewer: And what was your favourite outdoor activity as a child?

Mariann: Do you mean as a small kid?

Interviewer: Yes.

Mariann: Well ... I loved playing in the snow. Every winter I used to build a snowman with my friends. That was fun!

Interviewer: How much time did you spend outdoors when you were younger?

Mariann: A lot! I didn’t mind getting cold, I just wanted to be outside. And, er, every summer, I used to stay with my grandparents. They had a farm, so I played outside all the time.

Interviewer: Tell us about the things you did during good weather.

Mariann: Let me think. Um, I often swam in the river. And I used to pick flowers in the fields, that kind of thing.

Interviewer: Thank you.

Life Skills: Working as a team, Student's Book page 28

David: [on phone] What? Oh, I don’t know! Ask Kevin what he thinks. OK, Bye.

Mum: What’s wrong, David?

David: Oh, hi Mum. I’m just stressed about my project for PE class. We have to do a team presentation, and we can’t decide on the topic! I hate team projects.

Mum: Calm down. What ideas have you got?

David: Well, Anna wants to do a presentation about exercise and staying fit. You know, the typical thing. Everyone is going to do that, I’m sure.

Mum: Well, maybe not. You need to stay positive and listen to your friends’ ideas – they might surprise you!

David: Well, Kevin thinks we can talk about good eating habits, you know, like ‘don’t eat too much junk food’, or ‘eat lots of fruit and vegetables’ ...

Mum: OK, well that sounds interesting ...

David: Really? I mean, I told Kevin it was OK, but it’s the same problem. Lots of people are going to do food and nutrition as a topic ...

Mum: Well, it is PE class! Why don’t you ask your teacher to give you more information about the project? It sounds like maybe the goal of the project isn’t very clear.

David: Yes, I did ask and she said it can be anything about PE that we’re interested in. I thought maybe extreme sports, you know, like rock-climbing or bungee-jumping ... but Anna and Kevin don’t agree with me. They say it’s too unusual.

Mum: Alright ... and those are the only ideas? What about ... taking care of yourself, wearing safety equipment when you do sports ...

David: Hey ... that could be a good idea ... or we could do first aid! You know, what people have to do when there’s an emergency, if someone has an accident and breaks a leg, or something.

Mum: First aid? Well, you took that course last year at the community centre.

David: Yes, and I really liked it, too. That’s a great idea, Mum. I’m going to call Anna and Kevin.

Mum: OK, but see what they think. They might not like the topic ...

David: Oh, don’t worry. Anna will like it ... and then Kevin will listen to us. Thanks, Mum!

Mum: You’re welcome.

David: [on phone] ... Anna! I’ve just had an idea ...

Mark: Dad and I worked on this project together. We had a look in our garage to see what we had. We found a clock, an old bicycle and some old pipes and other things. In fact my brother Jake was fixing the bike a couple of years ago but then he stopped because he moved away. But we took some bits from his bike! Anyhow, you can see that this is a kind of musical instrument, a bit like a guitar, except it's mostly made of metal instead of wood, and there's some leather there as well. I really like the clock! That was Dad's idea. When we create something new from something old, it's really satisfying. It's called 'upcycling' and it's really cool. I guess because we all know it's important to recycle. I couldn't have done it without Dad though, that's for sure.

Leah: My trainers! Yes! Well, it started with a Year 7 project. We had to bring in a pair of old trainers. I had an old pair at home, but one of the trainers had a hole in it, so I had to mend it first. Then we had to customise them, you know, make them our own. First, we designed them on the computer and thought about how we wanted them to look. That was fun, especially because everyone had completely different ideas! I drew a cool pattern with coloured pens, and I decided to sew some bits of material on too. It was such a fun project – I'm going to do design next year!

Will: My mum had a go-kart that she built with her dad when she was younger. So she asked me if I wanted to help her repair it. We decided to rebuild it. I mean, we took it apart and then put it back together again! Then we thought it would be a great idea to decorate it, so we're going to paint it with gold and silver spray paint and stick some stickers on it! Some people invent amazing accessories but I just want it to go fast! And it does!

Man: Hi! I'm Marvin and I'm going to quickly go through this quiz with you. Let's see how many you got right. So first, the burn. Well, lots of people think that butter is the right answer, but that can make a burn worse. And you shouldn't put ice on a burn either – extreme cold can damage the skin even more! The answer is C, put your hand under cool running water, so under the cold water tap.

Number two. Well, if you cut yourself, the first thing you should do is stop the bleeding. Press a clean cloth or handkerchief on the cut for a few minutes. Then clean the cut under cold water. You don't need to see a doctor or to hold your hand in the air unless you can't stop the bleeding. So answer B.

Now, if your nose starts to bleed, what should you do? Many people put their head back, but that's wrong because the blood will go down your throat, so you should hold the top of your nose with your finger and thumb. Do not blow your nose because that won't help. Answer B.

Now, number four, we all spend too much time looking at a computer or TV screen. When we look at a screen, and we're, say, writing something, we don't blink as much as we should. So our eyes get really dry. It's important to look away from the screen from time to time and to blink regularly. You can close your eyes for five minutes, but you don't need to. That's too long and you might fall asleep! And you should only wear glasses if you need them. Don't turn all the lights in the room off either. This will only make your eyes hurt more. So the answer is A – blink regularly.

OK, so number five. We've all had this. You're in a situation and someone starts coughing. It can be really annoying. If you give your friend something like a bar of chocolate that won't actually help them. But a sweet, like a cough sweet, will definitely help. You shouldn't hit them on the back – that won't do any good. So the answer is B – offer your friend a sweet.

Now, injuries, well, they happen to everyone. Imagine you're out playing football and you injure your foot, you know, you hurt it. Well, the best advice is to stop playing immediately and then rest for a few days, to give it time to recover. So answer C for that one.

Now question seven, muscles do ache. This can happen to all of us when we do a lot of exercise, especially if we haven't warmed up properly. Your dad probably doesn't need to take an aspirin, as that won't really help, and he definitely doesn't need to go to hospital. Lying in a lovely warm bath will relax his muscles. That's the best answer. Add some bath salts too! So that's B.

And finally the question about yawning. There are many reasons why you might yawn, and being bored is only one of them. But you don't want to tell the teacher you're going to yawn! Some people suggest thinking about your heart beating, maybe even trying to feel it, but that doesn't work for me. The best thing is to really focus on your breathing. If you breathe in through your nose and out through your mouth, hopefully you won't yawn! So the answer is B.

So those are the answers to the quiz, everyone. Hope you enjoyed it.

Man: I'm just going for a run.

Woman: In this heat? Remember your hat and a bottle of water.

Woman: Hey! Look at the sign! No cars here!

Man: OK, sorry!

Girl: Are you ready?

Boy: I am! It's going to be awesome! I can't believe it! 30% discount on all sports things! Awesome!

4

Woman: Excuse me! This is a hospital. No running!

Man: Oh sorry!

Woman: Where's the dog? Supper time!

Boy: I've done it already!

Girl: Ouch! That hurt! Argh!

Man: Oh gosh! Right, try to keep calm. Just come here and let's turn the cold water on. It's OK.

1 Where did Lola leave her phone?

Man: Hi, this is a message for Lola from James at the gym. You rang yesterday about your lost phone. We've had a good look around and I'm pleased to say someone's found it and handed it in to reception. You should collect it from there when you come in to the gym again. You thought you'd left it somewhere in the changing rooms. Actually, you'd put it by one of the machines while you were exercising. Anyway, we'll keep it safe for you until we see you again. Bye.

2 What's wrong with the boy at the moment?

Woman: What's the matter, William? Are you feeling ill?

Boy: Yeah, I don't know what's wrong with me! I wonder if I'm getting flu.

Woman: It's probably just a bad cold. You're coughing a lot. You shouldn't keep going out without your coat when it's wet. How's your ear today?

Boy: The ache's gone – it's been really sore. I think the medicine the doctor gave me has worked. I had stomach ache earlier, too – it isn't painful now, though.

Woman: Well, go and lie down and I'll get something from the pharmacy.

3 What do they decide to eat for lunch?

Girl: We mustn't have pizza for lunch again. Let's have something healthy. Is there anything good in the fridge?

Boy: Not unless you want to eat these old mushrooms and tomatoes.

Girl: Let's have a look ... There's nothing wrong with those! I could put them in a sauce with pasta.

Boy: I'd rather go to the supermarket and get a salad.

Girl: Don't forget we're going out soon – we'd better just make something quickly.

Boy: OK, let's do what you said. And why don't we get some fresh fish on our way home?

Girl: Great idea!

4 What does the woman say many teenagers should do more of?

Woman: There's loads of information about how to stay healthy, but not everyone follows the advice. Many adults find exercise boring but they should watch how teenagers do it – spending time on things they enjoy, such as dancing or running. Now you might be surprised by what I'm going to say, but teenagers really do need more hours sleep than adults, so try to go to bed earlier! I'm sure you'll be happy to hear me say that! Cooking healthy food is something which lots of young people have started doing, though, which is fantastic.

5 What does the doctor say the boy should do now?

Boy: Hello? Is that Doctor Brown? I've cut my hand and it won't stop bleeding. I've tried holding it up in the air.

Woman: Well, that usually stops things bleeding.

Boy: Yes, but I can't do it forever! Should I just run cold water over it?

Woman: How big is the cut? Water's only useful for smaller cuts, or if you've burned yourself.

Boy: It's fairly deep.

Woman: OK, get a clean cloth and press down on the cut. Keep holding it. If it still doesn't stop bleeding, you ought to go to hospital and ask someone to look at it.

Boy: Right, thanks.

6 What does the girl hope to be able to do today?

Girl: Hi Mel. How's everything going? I hope you're OK. I'm finally recovering after injuring my ankle playing volleyball. I still won't be able to take part in any matches for a bit but I just have to get out of the house. I think I can manage to walk down to the beach to watch you guys practise. My brother's lent me his bike but cycling makes my ankle sore, so I won't bother with that. Anyway, shall I meet you somewhere and we can go together? Let me know!

7 What will the friends take John in hospital?

Boy: Do you think we should take John a gift when we visit him in hospital this afternoon?

Girl: Yeah, we ought to take something. What were you thinking of? Some fruit, like most people take?

Boy: Well, actually they're operating tomorrow, so he might be a bit nervous. We should get something to stop him thinking about it.

Girl: Like something to read? He's really into football magazines.

Boy: How about taking his laptop in so he can download some games?

Girl: That's a better idea – let's do that.

Man: Good morning. My presentation today is about an unusual sport from Canada, called lacrosse. It's a fast and exciting field sport that the native people of Canada invented, many years before the first Europeans arrived in the country. A French explorer was the first person to write about the sport in 1637. In the 1800s, lacrosse became popular with Canadians from European countries, like Britain and France. In 1867, those people established the National Lacrosse Association of Canada, which made decisions about the official rules for playing the game. After that, the sport became popular across the country.

So, how is the game played? Well, there are two competing teams that try to score points by throwing a ball into the other team's goal. In that way, it's similar to football or rugby, but the players don't kick the ball with their feet and they can't use their hands. Instead, players have to throw, catch and pass the ball by using a special stick with a net at the end. The ball is also much smaller and harder than a football. Each team has got 10 players on the field, and everyone has to wear a helmet and other safety equipment for protection. Lacrosse matches are one hour long, with four quarters of 15 minutes.

Nowadays, lacrosse is not only a Canadian sport. There is a Federation of International Lacrosse which organizes a world championship every four years. There are 52 different countries in the federation and more countries are joining all the time.

Man: Good luck with finding your way out of this crowd.

Man: And now we have the Sydney Symphony Orchestra, who'll be joined by the Russian musician, Irina Akifieva. Her performance will be the Beethoven Piano Concerto Number 5, also known as the Emperor Concerto. She has also played on many soundtracks for films. While we are waiting, to remind listeners who have just joined us, we are live from the Sydney Opera House – a concert hall that is familiar to our regular listeners. And here she is, Irina Akifieva, walking onto the stage ...

Recording 4

Woman: Hi! I'm Belinda! And this is WTV – the only music channel that plays your music. First up, we have an important announcement about everyone's favourite band, Morning Tea. They're advertising for young people to appear in their next music video. Go to our website to watch a clip of the band's recent show in Boston and to find out more. But first, let's take a look at boyband EE's latest music video, which has already had over two million views! Here it is!

Recording 5

Man: Hello! And in today's programme, I'm going to talk to two people who get the music to you. They produce the music. Do you know how they do it? Like me, you probably think the musicians record their music and that's it. I've just come back from the London Sound Studio where I spoke to sound technician Bob Jackson and he has introduced me to a whole new world – the world of sound production ...

Recording 1

Mike: Hello, and welcome to the morning show! I'm DJ Mike playing your favourite music. We just heard Gina Suarez and a track from her album Peace and Hope. And this morning, Gina is in the studio with us. Welcome, Gina!

Gina: Hi! It's great to be here.

Mike: Now, Gina, you're famous in your own country, but it's your first time in London?

Gina: That's right. I guess you could say I've been a celebrity at home for about three years now. But tonight is my first gig in Europe. Woo hoo!

Mike: Alright! But how did it all happen?

Gina: Well, one day I was just ...

Recording 2

Woman: I can't see anything!

Man: Well you don't have to look! Just listen! You know, it's live music! That's what it's all about! The bass guitarist is amazing, don't you think? He plays so well.

Woman: No, I've stood here long enough! I'm tired and you know what, the music is awful. These lyrics make no sense. They're awful! I'm leaving. I don't think they have even done a proper sound check. And it's all recorded anyhow – not even live! They shouldn't call this event a live music festival! I'm off!

Girl: So what do you think are the advantages and disadvantages of these houses?

Boy: Well, this first one is an amazing house. It's the most modern of the three. In fact it's brand new – it was built this year! I love the design – the shape is just so original. It looks like a spaceship or something.

Girl: Wow, I can see! So, what about the advantages?

Boy: Well, this website says it was built so that, in summer, the inside of the house is in the shade. You know, so it stays cool. But, in winter, the sunlight does enter the rooms and helps to keep it warm.

Girl: Wow, that's really clever. And what about the disadvantages?

Boy: Hmmm, I suppose that the main disadvantage is that, because the walls are all made of glass, everyone can see what you're doing all the time.

Girl: Yeah, that's not good!

Boy: What about the second house? Look how tall it is! It looks like a castle!

Girl: Yes. I saw a TV programme about this house recently. This is actually a historic building, built in the 16th century. It's a classic example of a Tudor tower built in a traditional design. But now it's a house. I love it!

Boy: What about the advantages and disadvantages of living there? The views from the top of the tower must be spectacular.

Girl: Yes, they are. It's very light inside too thanks to all the windows on each side of the tower. The design inside is very traditional, and the rooms look very warm and cosy. The main disadvantage is that it doesn't have a lift, and there are a lot of stairs.

Boy: Well, at least you'd get a lot of exercise living there!

Girl: That's true. What about this last home? It's really unusual – I don't think I've ever seen a house that narrow before.

Boy: Yes, the architects' website says it's one of the narrowest houses in the world! On the outside it looks really small, but when you go inside, there's quite a lot of space. It looks bigger and lighter than on the outside. There are lots of windows. It has a really stylish and fresh design. But, as it's so narrow it might be hard to get all your furniture in, I think.

Girl: I think it would be annoying as you would always leave, say, your phone on the wrong floor. You'd spend a lot of time going up and down stairs looking for things.

Boy: Yeah, but the same is also true for the historic tower.

Girl: Yes, you're right. What do you think about ...

1 You will hear a boy talking to his friend about her move.

Boy: Have you been away, Helena?

Girl: Yeah, to visit Manchester, where we're moving to.

Boy: How do you feel about moving to a city?

Girl: I felt upset about it at first – I didn't want to leave all my friends behind. It takes hardly any time to get there by train, though, so everyone can come and visit, which is great!

Boy: There must be lots to do in the city.

Girl: There are bigger shops and cinemas, though I won't be able to go horse riding any more.

Boy: Why don't you come back at the weekends, then?

Girl: Maybe.

 Unit 8, Student's Book page 49

2 You will hear a boy talking to his friend about his new school.

Girl: What's your new school like, Pete? Do you like it there?

Boy: It's huge! I don't know if I'll ever find my way round it! The building's been there for a long time, so the classrooms aren't that big, though the equipment in them is really up to date. The sports fields are better, too. And the library's incredible – it's got that whole series of books we're both reading at the moment – you know, the adventure ones?

Girl: Yeah. Do you think I can borrow them?

Boy: Maybe.

3 You will hear a boy and a girl talking about making friends.

Girl: Last Saturday I went with my family to the village we're moving to.

Boy: What's it like?

Girl: It's quite cool – there was some kind of festival on in the village square. People seemed really interested in us and we were there for a while talking to them. It was lovely and made me feel better about what everyone'll be like when we move there. I'm sure I'll meet more people in my school year group who will be just as nice. It's going to be strange trying to make new friends!

Boy: You'll be fine.

4 You will hear two friends talking about the boy's new family home.

Girl: Have your parents found somewhere to live in Mansville, yet?

Boy: Yeah – they've bought a flat. It's really modern, with enormous windows. We move there next week.

Girl: Sounds amazing!

Boy: It's lighter than the house we've been in – it isn't as cosy, though ... I'm sure it'll look better once all our furniture's moved in.

Girl: Have you got your own space now?

Boy: Yeah – no more sharing a room with my brother at last!

Girl: Is it in that block beside those fields – where it's all quiet and stuff?

Boy: Fortunately not – we're near all the shops.

5 You will hear a girl telling her friend about the town she is going to live in.

Boy: Is there much to do in the town you're moving to?

Girl: A few things. There's an amazing football club. But you know me – I'll still come back here to support our team!

Boy: Will you still be able to go to drama lessons?

Girl: Well, I heard there was a good club in the town. When I rang up they said it wasn't there anymore. That means I'll have more time to try street dancing – some girls I met invited me to go along to their class. I can't wait!

6 You will hear two friends talking about moving to the countryside.

Girl: It's funny how both our families are moving to the countryside, isn't it?

Boy: I know. I'm not looking forward to it – I love being in the city where there are loads of exciting things happening. We won't be able to carry on with the photography course we're doing at the weekends.

Girl: True – there'll be some amazing views to take pictures of, though. And we can teach ourselves.

Boy: I didn't think of that. Great idea!

Girl: I can't wait to get out of the city – it's too crowded and noisy.

Boy: That's why it's fun!

Julia: OK, well, I can see a room in what looks like a house, but it's a very unusual one. It's a rather strange, new, modern room. It's got designer lights and things like that. The most unusual thing is the walls. They're incredible ... they aren't ... normal ... er ... straight. There's a guy on a skateboard – I think perhaps he's going to skate up the walls!

This room has lots of space, but not much furniture. And the furniture is quite strange, too. On the left a guy is sitting on some kind of seat against the wall, and there's something soft behind him. Not pillows exactly, but a bit like pillows? Yeah, they look like comfortable square cushions. And I think someone else is standing on a kind of shelf above him! It looks like he has a skateboard too. There's a strange, long chair – it seems to be made out of skateboards. And there's a tall wooden screen, which looks a bit like someone has cut skateboard shapes out of it. This place looks more like a skate park than a house! But I guess it is perfect for these cool Californian guys who just live for skateboarding!

Kate: Hey, Sam. Have you got a minute?

Sam: Sure, Kate. What's up?

Kate: Oh, not much. I wanted to ask you about your story for English class. You know, the homework for today. Have you written a complete story?

Sam: No, we didn't have to do that. We just needed to write a plan for today, to help us write the story later.

Kate: Oh! That's good, because I've only made some notes. And what type of story are you planning?

Sam: Well, it's a mystery, but not a typical one. I wanted to do something unexpected.

Kate: That sounds interesting. And where does it take place?

Sam: In an old house in the countryside, in the middle of winter. Maybe in Scotland, but I'm not sure yet. My grandparents live in a house like that near Edinburgh, and I know it really well.

Kate: That's a good idea. I mean, you can describe it easily, then.

Sam: Yes, but I might write about a time in the past ... maybe in the 19th century ... before people had phones or televisions.

Kate: And who are the main characters? Your grandparents?

Sam: No. I want to write about a group of friends, people our age ... maybe two boys and two girls. Or, they could be cousins. I'm not sure yet.

Kate: Hmm ... and what's the plot? I mean, what happens?

Sam: Well, at first, they're walking in the countryside, and they find this old house and next they decide to explore inside, because the door is open. They look upstairs and then downstairs, and finally down into a dark, cold basement, but then all of a sudden the door closes and they can't get out.

Kate: Oh! That sounds like a suspense story! You said it was a mystery.

Sam: Well, yes ... it's both at the same time. A while later, some people arrive ... and it's a group of criminals who've just robbed a bank. The boys and girls in the basement can hear them, but they can't phone for help ...

Kate: ... because the story takes place in the past, and people didn't have phones then! I understand now!

Sam: Yes, because nowadays, it'd be easy to call the police.

Kate: OK, so what happens in the end? How do they get out? Do the criminals find them?

Sam: I haven't written that part yet. If you want to know the ending, you'll have to wait until I finish the story and read it in class.

Kate: Hey, that's not fair! I know! They could make strange noises in the basement at night to scare away the criminals.

Sam: I don't know, I was thinking ...

Boy: Are you looking forward to getting your driving licence? Maybe you won't need to! You can get a self-driving car. What exactly is this invention?

The idea of a self-driving car isn't new. It was in the 1920s that engineers first began to think about it. So what does it really mean? Well, to put it simply, there are no drivers in a driverless, or 'autonomous' car. A computer drives the car. So you won't need to pass a test!

Now, what do self-driving cars run on? Electricity! That's great news because recently, countries such as France, India and Norway decided to stop the use of fuel cars in a few years' time.

So what does that mean for you and me? Does it mean no more stops at the petrol pump on a long journey? Well, no, as we've said, you will of course have to stop for some kind of fuel, and for these cars it's electricity. Like an electric car, you plug it in to charge the battery so that it gets the power it needs to continue.

How does the self-driving car work, I hear you ask. Well, there are radars on the driverless car which provide information about nearby cars. Now, I can hear you asking the next question, which is mine too. How will the car know where to go? Just like the map app on your phone, it will get directions from GPS satellite signals and that will show up on the display in the car. Satellites will also allow for up-to-date maps to be downloaded. But many autonomous cars will not have a connection to the internet because of safety concerns. At the moment, companies are carrying out a lot of safety tests and experiments on these cars.

What do you think about them? I reckon you should still get your driving licence. It doesn't look like self-driving cars will be around any time soon. Next week ...

- Daniel: Everyone knows that bees make honey, and I love honey! But it's not just about saving something sweet and tasty. This problem is as serious as saving the rainforest. It's really important. Why is that? Well, you see, the population of honey bees today is far lower than it used to be, even a few years ago. And why does that matter? Well, because bees and other insects help our crops to grow in the fields. Besides, if there weren't any bees, we wouldn't have nearly as many plants and flowers. If bees disappeared completely, we would all suffer and our food would be more expensive.
- Ruth: Some people say that the bluefin tuna is one of the tastiest living creatures in the sea. But you wouldn't eat a tiger, would you? Well, this large fish is also endangered, probably more so. It is overfished, because it's such a popular ingredient in sushi and other dishes. If we don't stop this soon, the balance of the ocean environment will be damaged forever. There are other kinds of tuna besides the bluefin that we can eat instead and these exist in bigger numbers, so why don't we eat those?
- Tommy: Over the last hundred years, at least ninety-five percent of tigers living in the wild have disappeared. There could be as few as 3,200 left today. This is all due to the actions of humans. Besides hunting, tigers are facing another challenge. The landscape where they live is changing, as more and more trees are cut down for wood, and the areas of jungle are getting smaller. Their habitat is decreasing all the time. This is serious because animals die out if they have nowhere to live. However, many things are happening at long last to protect tigers and increase their numbers, so by the next Year of the Tiger in 2022 we could all have better news.

- Pete: Hey Lola! Cool, I can see you now. So have you found any good photos for the project yet?
- Lola: Well, I'm looking but there are some that really aren't great. I'm sending you one now. It's a blue whale.
- Pete: OK. Oooh, that's nice. We could definitely use that. It's beautiful.
- Lola: And that's the tragedy. This animal is definitely on the endangered list.
- Pete: I missed that. Can you repeat that please?
- Lola: It's on the endangered list.
- Pete: Why?
- Lola: It's because of humans. We're destroying their habitat by fishing and their numbers are falling quickly.
- Pete: That's right, I read about that. OK, we could also include tigers?
- Lola: We could, but why don't we concentrate on something that they all have in common.
- Pete: OK, so do you want to do marine animals?
- Lola: Sorry, I don't understand.
- Pete: Animals that live in water for most of their life.
- Lola: Ah, I see.
- Pete: People always think about tigers and pandas, but some of the most endangered animals live in the sea. I think we should talk about these animals, so that people know that we need to protect them too.
- Lola: Oh yes, that's a good idea. But going back to endangered animals, what do we mean by that? I mean are we ...
- Pete: Here ... I'm sending you a photo of a turtle now. Sorry, what were you going to say?
- Lola: So, are we going to define 'endangered'?
- Pete: Yes, we should do that. We should start by saying what endangered means, and then show some examples of endangered animals.
- Lola: Do you mean we're going to show the pictures using the projector?
- Pete: Yes, we can show the pictures while we're talking.
- Lola: Cool. Remember we can only have three photos though.
- Pete: Yes, that's true. We have the turtle and the whale, which means we can choose one more animal.
- Lola: When I was online earlier I found an amazing picture of a koala climbing up a tree in Australia. It looks so cute!
- Pete: That's a nice photo, but koalas don't live in the sea. Like I said before, I think we should just talk about marine animals. What about a seal? There's a species of seal that lives in the sea around Hawaii and is endangered. They're also really cute.
- Lola: Awesome! Let's include that then. On a completely different subject, what are you doing this weekend?

Sonia: Hello, everyone. It's my turn today to give a presentation of my project, which is called 'The bald eagle: symbol of the free and the brave'. Obviously my project is about the bald eagle, the symbol of the United States, our country, but I'm going to talk about the symbol rather than the bird itself. This is a bald eagle, on the screen now. The bald eagle has been the symbol of our country for over 200 years. It was chosen in 1782 because it's known for its long life and for being a strong animal, and of course it looks so beautiful. Perhaps more than this, though, it is a symbol of freedom, of a free country, in the way that it can fly away into the air from the tops of mountains, as you can see here. Of course, in the 18th century, the bald eagle was very common and could often be seen in the sky. It isn't as common now, but at least it isn't in danger any more.

So, where can you see images of the bald eagle? It appears on several of our coins, on postage stamps and also on some old flags. Look carefully, though – there have been mistakes on some coins, in particular ten-dollar coins, and they have actually got pictures of golden eagles on them – a totally different bird! You could see if you have any coins with the wrong bird in your pocket.

Although we welcome the bald eagle as our national symbol now, it was not a totally popular choice when it was made. Benjamin Franklin, in particular, one of the fathers of our country, hated the idea of the bald eagle becoming our national animal, because, in his opinion, bald eagles are birds of bad character, who don't get their living (I think that means their food) honestly – they're too lazy to catch fish for themselves, so they wait until other birds have caught fish and then they go steal it from them.

Well, whatever Franklin thought, I think the bald eagle is a magnificent bird, and a great symbol of our country. Thank you.

Photographer: A couple of years ago I was working on a project about journeys for a magazine. And then I heard about the amazing journeys some kids make on their way to school. Some are really dangerous. After I had taken the first photo, I decided to find out a little bit more about the kids and where they went to school.

This first one I took in the Philippines and it was early in the school year. I had heard about children crossing a fast river to get to school, but seeing it was completely different. The children are very young and go to the primary school in the village. I'm not sure where they will go to school when they are secondary school age. One boy was very small, and he looked so scared as he crossed the river with his brother. I think he was in Year One, so age six. I wonder what qualifications these children will end up getting and what jobs they'd like to do.

In the next picture, I was doing a trek in the Sichuan province in southern China when I noticed some children ahead of me. They were climbing up ladders that went straight up the mountain. I had heard that the ladders were made of wood before, but now they are made of steel and so they are safer. The children attend a school which is on the other side of the mountain. Fortunately, the children can live at the boarding school and so they don't have to do this journey every day. The children and their parents will want them to do well and to go on to university and get a degree.

And in this last picture, I was in Kashmir, India, staying with my friend. We had been undergraduates together at the University of Cambridge. Anyhow, it had been raining a lot. The children had two more weeks before they broke up for the holidays but they had exams. So they had to get to school! One young teen I spoke to afterwards thought he had done badly in his exams. The children were so keen to get to school – it seems that education is a priority for this community.

Speaker 1: My cousin has just got married and he and his wife decided to go away on a Mediterranean cruise for their honeymoon. They'd never been abroad before, so they flew to Venice. They checked in and found their ship waiting in the harbour. The passengers were all waiting to get onto the ship but the crew on board were busy working and getting everything ready, so the passengers had to wait. Finally the ship set sail on the Saturday afternoon. They sailed down the Adriatic Sea and reached Dubrovnik, in Croatia, on the Monday morning.

Speaker 2: Well, my Dad works 300 miles away and so he travels there by plane. He sets off from home at 7 am every morning, and he always boards the plane first! He lands about an hour later and gets a taxi to his office. He says he doesn't mind it – it's like a bus in the sky!

Speaker 3: We moved here when my mum got a job here about three years ago. We go away in the summer. Mum plans amazing road trips for us. Last summer we travelled over 3,000 km! If we're in a city, we usually go on a tour with a guide but otherwise we just let the holiday happen. But as we're travelling so much we don't really ever unpack. One summer, I slept in 20 different places! And by the end, I think the best thing is getting home.

Speaker 4: My next door neighbour has just moved to Taiwan. He lives in Taipei but sometimes has to travel to the other end of the island. It used to take ages, but now there is a high-speed train, or a bullet train. The trains almost always run on time. If the train is held up, the rail company gives him a refund. It's really fast and if he misses one, he can just catch another one. There are lots of trains running throughout the busy times of the day.

You will hear an announcement on board a plane.

Woman: Welcome on board this international flight to San Francisco. My name's Karen and I'll be looking after you this evening, along with my cabin crew colleagues Billy, Suki and Juan. Together we speak English, Spanish and Chinese, so please ask if there's anything we can do to make your flight more comfortable.

We apologise for our late departure this evening due to the weather conditions. However, the captain has just informed me that we should reach our destination only about ten minutes later than expected, at twenty to eleven local time, instead of ten thirty p.m. Our flying time will be approximately fifteen and a half hours.

Your individual video screen will provide you with entertainment during the flight. There's a range of films available, from action adventure to documentary films. We also have a brand new comedy channel where you'll find all your favourite shows.

We'll soon be coming through the cabin to offer you drinks and snacks, and we'll start the meal service in about forty-five minutes' time. On the menu tonight, we have two options for the main course – lamb or chicken pie – and for those of you who don't eat meat, we have a tomato pasta dish. There's also a choice of fruit or cake for dessert.

A little later, we'll be coming through the cabin again with our great range of products for you to buy on board. We carry a wide selection of perfumes, and this month we're offering fantastic discounts on sunglasses. We also have some great travel products.

If you've travelled with us before, you'll be familiar with our in-flight magazine, Discover. This month we've also published the first edition of our new kid's magazine, called Explore, which is available for a small charge.

That's all from me for now, so sit back, relax, and enjoy your flight!

- Luca: Actually, I like all kinds of transport but above all I love travelling by train. You can see loads out of the windows and walk around.
- Kasia: I guess it would be a helicopter because they look exciting. I'd love to go on one in New York and fly between the buildings!
- Luca: We don't go away. I usually stay at home with my family and do fun things. For example we go to the pool and go on bike rides and stuff like that.
- Kasia: Yes, I'm going to visit my cousin in London for a few days. I've never been before and I can't wait to see all the famous stuff in the city, like Big Ben and Trafalgar Square.
- Luca: I want to go to Mexico to see the Mayan ruins. They're ancient and look really interesting and the coast is supposed to be gorgeous, too.
- Kasia: Last year, we went to Spain to visit my grandparents. I'd never been abroad before and we spent a lot of time at the beach – it was really hot and so much more exciting than our usual trips!

- Patrick: Hey, Molly. Are you going to be here in July? You know, after classes finish for the summer?
- Molly: Yes, I am. My parents haven't got holidays until the 1st of August, so I'll be here all month. Why do you ask?
- Patrick: Well, I was at the Community Centre yesterday, and I picked up a pamphlet about their summer camps. Look ... What do you think?
- Molly: Oh, you mean summer courses! I thought you were talking about real camps, in the forest with tents! You know I don't like camping!
- Patrick: I know! But these are activities at the centre ... well, most of them. There's one camp at our school, in the science lab. That's the one I'm interested in. Why don't you sign up with me?
- Molly: Hmm. I don't know. I love science ... but I don't want to be indoors all month in the lab. That's a big disadvantage for me. I prefer to be outdoors in summer. I think the art camp sounds better ... but that might be indoors too. I'd need to ask about that. And who's organising the camp? Because it might be interesting or really boring – it depends on the teacher and the other people in the group. You know me! I always ask lots of questions before making a decision like this! I should probably make a list of the advantages and disadvantages, then see which programme is the best.
- Patrick: OK. You've got a point. But ... I was thinking ... How about the outdoor adventure camp? We could do that together, and you'd be outdoors all the time.
- Molly: I'm not sure about the adventure camp. I mean ... sports are fun, but it's also really hot in July. I wouldn't mind swimming and maybe cycling, but I'm not a big fan of hiking, and I hate football. Do we have to participate in all the activities or can we choose? The pamphlet doesn't give much information.

Patrick: I know, you're right. I just wanted to show you the choices. We can go to the Community Centre together and ask for more details, if you want. Maybe they've got other programmes, too. My sister does volunteer work there, teaching classes for older people who don't know how to use the internet.

Molly: OK, that sounds like a good idea. You know me. I need time to think about things. I hate making decisions without enough information. I should also talk to my family. That always helps me decide.

Patrick: I understand you, but I don't think about things as much as you do. I know what I like, so it's easy for me to choose. And if I'm wrong ... well, it's not that important.

Molly: You're so funny. How can you be so relaxed about everything?

Patrick: What about you? Why do you worry so much about everything? ...

Girl: It's amazing what can be done to a photo! My brother downloaded a photo editing app and he wanted to try out a few digital techniques with it – he's really into all that. Anyway, he found an old photo of me at the end-of-year school party. Then he downloaded another image of the Oscars ceremony, and brought the two pictures together. So here I am on the red carpet with Hollywood actress Pippa Cox! Straight away, I posted it on social media and tagged Pippa, of course! Loads of my friends liked it and they then started to follow her! I think someone must have shared it and then there were people who commented on it, asking me to take it down because it wasn't real. Well, of course not ... duh!! I block people like that. I mean, it was just a bit of fun!

Adam: My sister's vegetarian, so I try to create interesting new recipes for her. This one uses fresh chillies and Moroccan spices, which I keep in a special tin. You fry onion and garlic in oil until they're golden. Be careful not to let them burn. Then you add whatever vegetables are available – her favourites are green beans and aubergines, which I cut into slices. I usually grill the aubergines first – they taste better I think! Then add a tin of tomatoes, a couple of chillies and spices like cumin, and cook slowly for 40 minutes, stirring occasionally. Serve it in a bowl and decorate it with fresh herbs.

Melissa: I'm from Louisiana, whose most famous dish is gumbo. My own recipe for gumbo has a couple of unusual ingredients – bananas and cabbage! Weird, huh? Anyhow, it's got the traditional prawn and other seafood too, as well as tomatoes and lots of chilli. A true gumbo sits on top of the stove for a whole day, cooking slowly. But you don't boil it. Believe me, it's worth waiting for. You need to taste it regularly and add the right amount of salt and black pepper for flavour. Then I bake some bread and steam some rice and serve the gumbo in bowls with the warm bread and steamed rice.

Ravi: This is my favourite dish, a kind of tandoori chicken like my uncle used to make, but a bit Mexican too. You leave chicken pieces in lime juice and salt overnight. The next day, you take them out and cover them with mixed spices – include cayenne pepper or paprika for a rich red colour. You can barbecue them or roast them in the oven, whichever's easier.
I serve them with guacamole – that's mainly avocado – and plenty of salad. When you bite into the chicken, which should be served warm, it's spicy and delicious. And you can freeze this dish as well.

1 Where do the friends decide to eat?

Girl: The film doesn't start for another hour. Let's go and eat somewhere – how about your uncle's restaurant?

Boy: Well, it's got great views of the river but it'll take us a long time to get there. Why don't we go to the park café?

Girl: We could, but they only do salads and sandwiches and I'd prefer a proper meal – I'm so hungry! I know, let's try that new place near the cinema. You help yourself to whatever you want and pay for it at the end. It isn't expensive.

Boy: OK, why not.

2 Which ingredients would the girl prefer to use in her cooking?

Girl: Mum works late, so I cook our meals during the week. There are a few of us in my family and everyone's got things they like and dislike, so it's hard keeping everyone happy! I usually avoid milk and butter because Dad can't eat them, though I love them. Spicy food with lots of chillies and garlic are what I would really like to use but my grandparents aren't keen on that kind of thing. I usually make quite plain dishes and add salt and lemon juice – that tastes great with fish.

3 Which product do the students select for their art project?

Girl: We've got to create a magazine advert for a food product for our art project. What should we choose?

Boy: Crisps might be interesting – we could invent a new flavour for them as well. Or fruit juice – you're always drinking loads of that! I'm sure you could come up with an idea for the label.

Girl: I was actually thinking about doing chocolate biscuits – the packet might be more interesting to do.

Boy: Good idea, though we might not have enough time to design all four sides. Oh, let's do it anyway – it'll be fun!

Girl: OK.

4 What will they have for dinner?

Mother: Billy, I'm thinking of just making soup tonight. We've got some tomatoes and onions which need using. Is that OK with you?

Boy: I'm pretty hungry after football practice, Mum. Why don't I make some pasta instead?

Mother: Well, I suppose you could make a sauce from the vegetables, and I could get Dad to buy some bread on his way back from work. Or, even better, why don't I ask him to collect a pizza from the takeaway instead?

Boy: Mm, great idea! I'll just have a snack for now, then.

5 Which cake does the man decide to bake?

Man: I thought I'd make a cake from that recipe book you got me for my birthday. I've got all the main ingredients – eggs, flour, butter, sugar – but I'm not sure which one to make. The orange cake looks good – you put fresh orange pieces on top.

Woman: The instructions look a bit complicated.
Man: Well, everyone loves chocolate cake. Why don't I do that? I think that'd be more interesting than the usual plain one I make with jam in the middle, don't you think?

Woman: Definitely!

Man: OK, that's what I'll do!

6 Where is the new café?

Man: Good morning and welcome! Our brand new café is now open on the ground floor, so come along and try our delicious breakfasts and lunches. The entrance is next to the car park and there are fantastic views out over the fields. All our food is bought fresh from local farms and chef Paul has created a very tasty menu! From baked sausage omelette to fried fruit with ice cream, and a choice of hot and cold drinks, there's something for everyone. See you there!

7 What will they give players after the football match?

Girl: Dad, it's our turn to take some snacks for the players tomorrow – you know, to have after the match.

Man: Oh, right. We'd better think of something, then. What do you usually have? A sandwich or something?

Girl: Everyone does that ... and they have fruit at half-time – bananas and stuff. Maybe we could take some peanuts – if we get the right kind, without salt and oil, they're fairly healthy, and they'll give the players some energy back till dinner time.

Man: OK, let's go to the supermarket, then.

 Unit 14, Student's Book page 83

Laura: OK, Ben, let's talk about the food for the party. It's going to be outside, so how about a barbecue with sausages, chicken legs and burgers, that kind of thing?

Ben: But quite a few of our friends don't eat meat, do they? And buying meat would be expensive.

Laura: Good point! Well, what if we made our own pizzas then?

Ben: I don't know, the weather's so warm at the moment. Let's go for something fresh and cool – if we cooked something, it would be hard work!

Laura: I agree, but just serving a plate of sandwiches or a few bowls of crisps at a party shows very little effort!

Ben: Salads might be a better choice? We could make lots of different types, with separate ones for the vegetarians.

Laura: That's not a bad idea, although we'd need to borrow enough plates for everyone, which might get broken.

Ben: Hmm, and knives and forks too. Using our fingers would be so much easier, wouldn't it? Come on, it's time to decide!

Laura: So, why not have sushi then? It's easy to eat, we can get fish and vegetarian, and everyone loves it. Are you OK with that?

Ben: Yeah, that sounds good to me.

Culture: Social media, Student's Book page 63

Greg: I'm on social media, but probably less than most people. Some of my friends are always posting things, but for the most part, I like talking in person. Some of my friends say I need to be more active. You know, more popular online. But I usually have sports practice after school and in the evening I've always got a lot of homework to do. When I spend too much time online, my grades go down ... and then I get into trouble with my parents!

Zoe: I'm totally into social media. I couldn't live without it! I'm joking! But seriously, I tend to go online quite a lot, to see what my friends are doing, and exchange messages and funny memes. I've got a friend – Vanessa – who always sends me videos about cats! And I LOVE writing comments on Twitter, about everything – my favourite shows, celebrities ... there's always something to chat about. For the most part, I use social media for fun and for entertainment. I don't take it seriously.

Marta: Well, I've got two or three profiles, but I don't usually spend much time online. I've got an Instagram account where I upload artistic photos from my phone, but that's all. I sometimes check it to see how many people like my photos, but it's not super-important. I just like sharing photos, and if people like them, that's great. If they don't ... well, I don't worry about it. And if someone's rude to me, I block them! Overall, I'm not really an online person. I'm more into real life, with friends, in person.

Tyler: Social media? Hmmm. Well, it depends. I like making videos for a channel that I've got online. Most of my videos are reviews, about films and books and games that I like. I record myself and then I post the videos to see what other people think. I like reading the comments, even the nasty ones! Sometimes they're funny! I also use instant messaging apps, to make plans with friends, but I don't keep a profile with lots of photos about my life or the things that I do. For me, that's boring.

Speaker 1: Well, I live in a historic town. It's really old and beautiful. I just love it. We have everything – you know, we have lots of historic buildings, monuments and ruins, and we have modern stuff – they built a new gallery last year. So now we also have modern architecture! There are lots of modern facilities – schools, health centres, shopping centres, restaurants and so on. There's always building work going on! But we also have older shops, too. And then you can drive straight to the coast to get some sea air! We are close to everything – perfect, in my opinion.

Speaker 2: We live on the edge of a big city. A modern jungle! We can easily get into the city to see the latest shows, and getting around is no problem – we have a great transport system and there are street lights everywhere, so it's safe in the evenings. We've got most facilities in our area. There're nice modern apartments, with air conditioning or central heating, but there are always people moving in and out. So we don't really know our neighbours. It's pretty quiet during the day as everyone is at school or work, but in the evenings there's a bit more happening.

Speaker 3: I live with my parents in the countryside. Mum's a writer, so she likes a quiet place to concentrate. Some people might think it's a bit boring, and we stay in all the time, but in fact there's plenty to do. The scenery is spectacular! There are loads of open spaces! We live in a valley, and there's a lake where we go sailing and kayaking! I like watching the countryside change in the different seasons. Last night the moonlight was so bright I didn't need a torch when I got home after dark! There's no pollution here, and no noise – it's just a great place to live!

Speaker 1: Oh, look what's on at the Showhouse Cinema! Everyone says this is a really good film. Anna George acts in it, and according to all the reviews she gives a really good performance. I can't remember the director's name, but I know he's one of the big names – everyone's heard of him! I know you usually prefer animated films, but I'm sure you'll like this. What do you think? Shall we go and see it? It's really easy to get to the Showhouse. There's a direct train from Central Station.

Speaker 2: This film looks good. I don't know the film-maker who directed it – I think it's his first film. This looks quite interesting, and like many of these films, it's for all ages. They've got some quite famous actors doing the voices, and there are some good songs in it – I've heard a bit of the soundtrack. The reviews all say that the animations are amazing, so I definitely want to go and see it. Do you want to come with me?

Speaker 3: Do you want to go and see this? It's just come out. I'm not sure who the director is – I don't think it's anyone well known, but the film still sounds good. It was filmed in Ireland, so there's some amazing scenery in it. But the story is the best part and the fact that my favourite actor appears in it – you know, the one who won that TV competition? He's got the lead role, so I'm sure it'll be a great film. Why don't we go and see it together?

1 You will hear two friends talking about a film they have both seen.

Girl: That was brilliant – I love action films.

Boy: So do I, though this one wasn't as good as I'd expected. I can see why they chose that actor to play the lead role, though when I read the book I imagined him to be taller somehow, and stronger. When I read the book I couldn't put it down – I didn't feel the same excitement during the film. And why did he end up alone on that island? I hate it when they change stuff. At least the music wasn't bad.

2 You will hear two friends talking about a film club they both attend.

Boy: Hey! Why didn't you come to film club yesterday evening?

Girl: I didn't feel like it and I'd already seen the film they were showing – which was unusual 'cause normally they show stuff I haven't seen. That's what I like. I just can't get there for the start. I always miss the first few minutes of everything.

Boy: Yeah, I know. Anyway, we're getting some new chairs in the hall next week!

Girl: What's wrong with the ones we've got?

Boy: Nothing I suppose, but they said the new ones are super soft.

Girl: Oh, OK. Cool.

3 You will hear a girl talking to her friend about film locations.

Boy: Did you see that film, India, at the weekend?

Girl: Yeah – wow! What an incredible setting! It was based on a book I'd read and I didn't know much about India when I read it, so it really brought the place to life for me. It's almost like I was part of the whole thing myself. And the characters were just like I'd pictured in my head, which was cool. I don't know whether I'll ever go to India, but I loved seeing what it's really like.

Boy: Sounds good.

4 You will hear a boy talking to his friend about the main character in a film he has seen.

Boy: Normally I really like Sandie Newsome in films but I wasn't convinced this time.

Girl: Why was that? I thought she played the character well – from the book the film was about.

Boy: Yeah? I'm not sure I totally agree. I mean, yeah, the character's pretty true to life – I felt like I could understand her – but maybe that's cos of the situation she was in. The acting just wasn't all that great.

Girl: She reminded me of the character in that last film Sandie appeared in.

Boy: I'm not sure I see that myself. I still enjoyed the film, though.

Girl: Yeah, me too.

5 You hear two friends talking about film directors.

Girl: He's such a talented director. It must be difficult telling actors how to play a character, especially if the director hasn't been through something similar in life themselves.

Boy: I guess most directors don't. I mean, they probably aren't in car chases every day!

Girl: No! Maybe it's all about selecting the films they know they can do a good job on.

Boy: So they can tell the actors what they want the film's message to be. Right.

Girl: I think they need to let the actors play the role their own way, though.

6 You hear two friends talking about making short films.

Girl: Have you ever made a short film? You know, to put online?

Boy: No, but I'm thinking about making one. You've done a few – any advice?

Girl: Well, I haven't used actors in mine – it's just been me talking about my own experiences. You don't have to do that. The thing to do is decide on your message – what do you want people to get from watching it?

Boy: That's a good point ... But what if people don't like it?

Girl: Listen to their ideas – it'll help you make something better next time.

Boy: OK, thanks!

Sarah: ... In summary, our visit to Snowdonia National Park was the best part of my holiday in Wales this summer. It's a wonderful place to spend a few days, or longer, if possible. Thank you!

Dad: Hey, that was really good, Sarah. I can tell you've practised a lot.

Sarah: Thanks, Dad. And thanks for listening. I'm really nervous about the presentation tomorrow.

Dad: Why? Your classmates will enjoy hearing about the park and our trip there. And you've got some great photos to show, as well. For example, I love that photo of your mum and me at the end!

Sarah: That's a great one. And should I add more photos of places in Snowdonia? Like Mount Snowdon or Bala Lake?

Dad: Sure, but maybe you should also have more photos of wild plants and animals. For instance, I took some pictures of mountain goats, and your mum was photographing wildflowers all the time. Ask her later for some pictures.

Sarah: OK. And did I say 'such' too many times? The teacher said we didn't need to describe everything in the park. She said we only needed to give the most important facts, such as the location and size of the park, and then talk about things that we really saw.

Dad: Hmm. It all seemed interesting to me, and not too long. You were talking too fast in some places, but that's because you're nervous. When that happens, you need to stop and take a breath.

Sarah: OK ... and I was thinking ... maybe I should add a short video as well. I found a really nice documentary film about Snowdonia on the Internet and it's got some fantastic scenes I could show.

Dad: Well ... I think you're fine without video, but maybe you can show 20 or 30 seconds at the beginning. That's a nice way to start, but you have to spend most of your time speaking, right?

Sarah: You're right. But it'd be easier to just show the video!

Dad: Sure! But anyone can do that. Oh, and I wanted to say. Don't look down at your notes too much. You need to look up more, right at the audience. Well, that's it, really. You'll do great.

Sarah: Thanks, Dad. That really helps.

Unit 16, Student's Book page 93

Interlocuter: Now I'd like each of you to talk on your own about something. I'm going to give each of you a photograph of people taking part in something. Marcus, here is your photograph. Please tell us what you can see in your photograph.

Marcus: In my picture, I can see lots of people. It looks like they are making a film. I can see cameras and other things for making films. There's a big camera, or microphone, I'm not sure which it is. But it's above the people. There's something that is used for the sound, but I don't know what it's called. In the foreground there are lots of actors. They're dressed like soldiers, so I think the film is about a war. It looks like they're fighting. There are other people in the photo too. Some people are wearing coats and there's a man wearing a hat. It might be cold, but I'm not sure. There's a man in a red coat. I think he's the director and next to him is someone with a badge. There's a guy behind them and he's eating something. There's someone with a microphone too. Maybe he's telling the actors what to do. Some more actors are waiting because everything has to be ready. They aren't the leading actors, but sometimes a film has extra people to make the scene look real.

- Presenter: OK, we promised to give you the results of our questionnaire today, so, Fran, have you got them there?
- Fran: Yes, I have.
- Presenter: Good. So, first, we asked teenagers which activities they had done in the last 24 hours. What did they say?
- Fran: Most teenagers said they had visited a social media site in that 24-hour period, so that's the most popular form of communication. However, only 28% said they had commented on a blog, for example.
- Presenter: Interesting. And what about the things they do at least once every day?
- Fran: Well, we wondered whether teenagers often used email to send a thank you message for example, and it seems that only 30% do. Messaging and texting is definitely the most popular, with 68% doing that at least once a day.
- Presenter: Right. Then we asked them about social media, didn't we?
- Fran: Yes. Well, it seems that over 80% of teenagers agree that social networking helps them to keep in touch with friends they don't see that often. That's very high, isn't it? And of course some sites are for photos, and others encourage words. It was about equal as to whether teens use just a photo, or a photo and some words to let their friends know how they feel.
- Presenter: So, what's their favourite way of communicating overall and why?
- Fran: Well, teenagers still like communicating face-to-face with parents and with pals. They say it's easier to laugh and joke about things face to face, and of course that's what teenagers love doing! They also like messaging and texting because it's so fast, especially with friends! For example, they can easily send a text to remind a friend that they're meeting up. They also find it easier to apologise for something in a text than they do face-to-face, which is interesting.
- Presenter: And what about phoning?
- Fran: No, they don't use the phone much. They all complain that it's too expensive.
- Presenter: Finally, when they have an argument, or disagree, what do they do?
- Fran: They do everything except pick up the phone.
- Presenter: Right, well thank you, Fran. Interesting. Now please do send us your reactions to this conversation with Fran. Send an email, or a message ...

- Joanne: I'm just mad about my celebs! I buy a magazine every week and I follow their lives. My friends think I'm crazy, but you know, it's just like any interest! I'm curious! I love knowing what they're doing and where they are. I follow quite a few on social media. People say that celebs just do things for money, but that's not true, well, not for all of them. Some are really kind and have a lot of good qualities. I'd love to be a celeb myself. It'd be just great!
- Phil: Honestly, I don't really follow the lives of celebrities, but the papers and magazines keep telling us what they're doing. I do sometimes get curious, especially if there's something about a football player. But I think that people who are mad about celebs, well, they must be a bit lonely really. I read about this one woman. She has her car washed at a garage just because she'd seen a celeb there. Ridiculous, if you ask me.
- Nicole: I had this amazing experience. We were in Las Vegas on holiday and this really famous guy was next to us, with his girlfriend and family. There were fans who were asking for autographs, you know, when they write their name on a piece of paper, and he was so easy-going and nice. I wanted to ask for his autograph, but I was too shy. I just felt embarrassed. But then, after he'd gone, I saw he had left his sunscreen behind! I picked it up and kept it. I was actually surprised that it wasn't a better quality one! But I didn't mind – it was an unexpected souvenir!
- Andy: Well, you know, I think that the way celebs behave is really important. I'm sure it must be stressful sometimes, you know, all the cameras, but they shouldn't get nasty, you know what I mean? But I think that most of them are charming. I think they know it's really important that they are professional, because there are so many fans who watch what they do and then copy them.
- Maggie: Well, I was a really big fan of this band, so you can imagine I was delighted that they'd chosen our town to play in. Everyone was really excited. But you know what? It was like they didn't notice us. We weren't there. They came on and played, but they didn't talk to us or anything. I thought it was a bit rude. I mean, without the fans, they're nothing! I was quite upset about it. Also, the sound was really poor quality, so people couldn't hear properly and I think some fans even left. They were really annoyed because they couldn't hear. So, I guess the band got what they deserved!

DJ: And so here we are guys! Another year! And what a year! Now this morning, we want you to phone in and tell us about your achievements. What have you achieved this year? And first on the line is Chris! Chris, hello!

Chris: Hi there!

DJ: So Chris, what have you achieved this year and what did you have to do?

Chris: Well, I won a medal. I ran my first half marathon and I came first!

DJ: Well, wow! So was that like a lot of work?

Chris: Yes, it was really hard work but it worked! It was definitely worth it in the end. I had to train so much it was crazy, like I was getting up at 6 am every day, and doing gym stuff, and then school work and then more training. But winning the medal was the best thing!

DJ: Thank you, Chris! Next up is Nathan. Hi Nathan!

Nathan: Hi everyone!

DJ: What have you been up to this year?

Nathan: Well, I've done some music technology courses. It's really cool; you know, like mixing and stuff. The best thing was the great teachers and I've just been offered a really cool recording project! And I'm going to do it!

DJ: How cool is that! Well done! Now, we have Sophia on the line. Hi Sophia!

Sophia: Hi! I just wanted to say that I've just passed the first part of my driving test! I did a lot of practice tests on the computer and yesterday I sat the real thing. I was so nervous but I passed!

DJ: Well done, Sophia! So now you can start your driving lessons?

Sophia: Exactly! I can't wait!

DJ: OK, and we have another caller. Hello Lucy! What have you achieved this year?

Lucy: In school we decided to have a class blog. But like everything, in the beginning everyone is enthusiastic, and then they aren't. So, my job was to make sure that every week there was at least one post for the whole year. And I did it!

DJ: Good for you, Lucy! Was it hard?

Lucy: Yes, it was at times. You know, you have to keep asking people to do things but now I can see that I learned a lot of people skills!

DJ: OK, thank you! Now we have time for one more, and we have a caller on the line ... yes, hello Tom!

Tom: Hi everyone! Can I just say how much I love this show?

DJ: Sure! And thank you! Now what have you done this year? What has your big achievement been?

Tom: Well, lots of things really but at the beginning of the year I started a video project. I like watching videos online and then – oh, I should say, I'm really into cycling. Anyhow, I decided to put together some 'how to' videos, like, how to fix your bicycle, and so on. It's been great – I've learnt a lot about making videos, talking on camera ... Great for future presentation skills!

DJ: Well, that's awesome, Tom! What great achievements there! Now, let's have some music!

Interlocuter: I'm going to describe a situation to you. A boy is going to do a summer activity course during his holidays. Here are the different things that he could do. Talk to each other about the benefits of these different activities and then decide which would be best.

Jon: Well, can I start? I think that sleeping is a waste of time. I mean, why would you want to sleep in your holidays? That's silly, and you don't achieve anything! Do you agree with me, Jessica?

Jessica: No, I don't agree with you, Jon, because I actually like sleeping! I need to rest, and when I am working very hard during the year, I imagine myself sleeping! You know, because I work very hard. But no, if someone showed me a picture of sleeping and said, 'Here, this is your summer holiday', no, I would think, 'That's boring!' And you, Ana, do you like sleeping?

Ana: Not at all! In summer I want to do things. I think that the boy should aim to do something different, you know, learn something new. That is always nice to do and gives you good memories. You know, kind of like, ah, that was the summer I learnt how to draw an animal! Or whatever!

Jon: Yeah. That's a good idea, but what about this one – he is doing something on his computer. I think that's the same as drawing, you know, you are doing it on your own, and painting too. I think it would be better to do something together, you know, a team activity.

Jessica: That's true, Jon, and it's more fun and you know if you are learning something as a team, you have to keep on trying. If not, you'll disappoint everyone, you know what I mean? Like, I mean a good one would be doing rock climbing? Do you agree with me?

Jon: Yes, I do, Jessica, but I don't think rock climbing is actually a team sport!

Ana: Yes, it is! If your friend isn't watching you, you might fall. Ah, but I guess it's actually only two people. OK. I agree with you!

Jon: Thank you, Ana! So a team sport could be handball, but I think everyone knows how to play that.

Jessica: I have an idea. What about if the boy was going to show other children how to play it? That might be nice and he would learn because he would be teaching. Ah, but hang on, we have to choose the best one. Which are we going to choose?

Ana: It's difficult, but I think he should do all of them!

- Jon: Well, maybe he can do two, you know, rock climbing because we think that's good – even if we aren't sure if it's a team sport or not – and also handball, but he has to show other kids how to do it. And the others, he can do them later!
- Jessica: That's an excellent idea!
- Ana: I agree, too.
- Interlocuter: Thank you.

 Life Skills: Managing stress, Student's Book page 116

- Paul: What makes me feel stressed? Well, lots of things, really. But recently, I had some problems online. I'm really into social media, and I spend a lot of time chatting, commenting, you know, the usual thing. And, well ... there were some people who weren't very nice to me. When I posted a photo or a message, they wrote nasty comments. I didn't worry too much at first, but then they continued writing and bullying me, so I finally had to block them. That solved the problem, but it wasn't a fun situation!
- Emma: Stress? Well ... I'm usually a calm, relaxed person, but there are times when I'm too busy. I'm on the basketball team and the swimming team, so I don't have a lot of free time. That means I have to do homework in the evening, usually after dinner when I'm feeling tired. Sometimes, I'm sleepy and I can't keep my eyes open, so I go to bed. Then I have to finish my homework in the morning, before breakfast or when I'm on the bus. I know that's not a good idea, but I can't think of a solution.
- Marco: I get stressed sometimes, but not about school. I got good grades in my tests and final exams and my parents are happy about that! My problem is money, especially when I go out with my friends. They always want to go shopping or see a film at the cinema, but that costs money, of course. And I don't get very much from my parents. I mean, they give me some pocket money for helping with housework, but that's not really enough. Sometimes I tell my friends that I'm busy, because I don't have any money to go out. I'd like to get a part-time job, but my parents won't let me.
- Vicky: For me, the most stressful thing is sharing a bedroom with my two little sisters, Julie and Janet. We don't get along very well because they're always using my things without asking, and I'm not very patient with them. I know that ... It's annoying when they take my things. We often have arguments and that upsets my parents. They always tell me I have to be nicer to my sisters, because I'm older, but that's not fair! I'd love to have my own bedroom one day. It would make life so much easier!

- Listening Part 1. For each question, choose the correct answer.
- One. How has the girl changed the appearance of her jeans?
- Boy: Hi Suzy, great jeans! Have you just bought them?
- Girl: No, they're my oldest pair, actually. Mum wanted to throw them away because of the holes, but I decided to fix that by putting some material behind them.
- Boy: Cool. The stripes look great – you could have the same stuff round the bottom of each leg.
- Girl: Do you think so? Well, maybe. I wondered about a big pocket on each leg as well, but I haven't got any material left and I bought it ages ago so the shop probably won't have any more.

- Two. Which concert is the boy talking about?
- Boy 1: I went to a brilliant concert last weekend. The concerts I've seen on TV have always been in huge halls, you know, with a light show and big screens showing the band because they're so far away! This was very different – a small, upstairs room above a café in town. They played for over two hours, doing all their own songs. Just two guitars – not electric, no other instruments, and they both sang. The girl was fantastic. She also sings with a band at some festivals.

- Three. What happened to the girl during her hockey match?
- Boy 2: Hello, you OK? I heard you got injured during the hockey match. Did someone's stick hit your knee like before?
- Girl 1: My leg's fine. It was my fault, really. I ran into someone who had her back towards me. When she turned round in surprise, her elbow flew up and hit me in the face by accident!
- Boy 2: Oh, no! What happened next?
- Girl 1: I was alright but they still took me off the field. They said I should sit down for the rest of the match but I refused!

- Four. What does the boy decide to eat?
- Boy 3: This is a nice café.
- Girl 2: Yeah. My sister came last week and she said the food was brilliant. She had the roast chicken with chips. It does sound tasty.
- Boy 3: Yeah, the chicken sounds good – so does the grilled fish with rice. I always have fish, though. Maybe I should try something else for a change.

- Girl 2: The fried cheese sounds amazing! I've never even heard of that. Maybe you should give that a go.
- Boy 3: I'm not a big fan of cheese. I think I'll have what your sister had. It sounds delicious!

Five. Which animal are they looking at?

- Boy 4: I love this wildlife park.
- Girl 3: Yeah – you get to look at so many interesting species you wouldn't normally see. Look – here in the brochure it says they've got a new male tiger – we'll have to go and see that.
- Boy 4: Definitely. It's a shame they're moving the sea life centre. This is the last time we'll get to watch the dolphins.
- Girl 3: They're amazing – did you see how high that one just jumped?
- Boy 4: They're really intelligent, too. My favourites will always be the elephants though. Let's go and find them.

Girl 3: OK!

Now listen again.

[The recording is repeated]

Six. What did the girl do yesterday?

- Girl 4: Hi, I had a brilliant day at the racing track yesterday – thanks for the ticket! Our team won the race! I got to go and see them afterwards and I asked Brandon to sign my T-shirt. He's an amazing driver, isn't he? I also won a competition to go round the track in his racing car – with him driving. I'm really looking forward to that. I thought I'd at least get a chance to sit in the car yesterday – there was a big queue though, so I didn't bother. Anyway, call me!

[The recording is repeated]

Seven. Where is the new sports shop located?

- Girl 5: Have you been to that new sports shop in town? It's called Supersports.
- Boy 5: No, not yet. I guess it's in the main shopping centre on the high street?
- Girl 5: You're thinking of the Fast Feet shop. That closed a while ago, actually. They were going to open the new shop there – I think it's become a café instead, though. The one I'm talking about is just beyond the car park on Sandy Street.
- Boy 5: Oh, right. Well, shall we go and have a look this afternoon?

Girl 5: Sure.

Listening Part 2. For each question, choose the correct answer.

One. You will hear a boy telling his friend about a cooking course.

- Girl: Have you started the cooking course you mentioned yet?
- Boy: Yeah – I went to the first class on Monday. I didn't know anyone else there and that had made me a little nervous. After a while, though, I realised it was OK – everyone was so friendly. I expected the others to be better than me in the kitchen as well – we were all about the same level, though, so that made me feel better, too. The class started exactly on time, so it's a good thing I asked for a lift – the bus is always late. I enjoyed the course, though!
- Girl: Good.

Two. You will hear two friends talking about a trip to the mountains.

- Boy 2: That was an awesome trip! I love the mountains in winter.
- Girl 2: Well, I spent most of the time on the ground when I was snowboarding – or trying to. It wasn't bad for a first-time experience – I doubt I'll do it again, though – everything hurts!
- Boy 2: You just have to keep trying. And you can't be brilliant at everything! What are you going to spend your prize money on?
- Girl 2: From the ski competition? Some new skis! I only just beat Fatima – it was stressful! Hanging out with everyone at dinner was more fun. I love winter sports – you do get tired, though.

Now listen again.

[The recording is repeated]

Three. You will hear two friends talking about a film they're making.

- Boy 3: I'm pleased with the progress we've made on the film project, aren't you?
- Girl 3: Yeah – there's still quite a way to go before we complete it, though. Do you think we'll be ready by Wednesday?
- Boy 3: I don't see why not. It's been an amazing opportunity to find out more about filming. I think when we look at the finished film we'll see loads of things that could be improved on.
- Girl 3: Well, it's our first project – think how much better our next one will be. We've gained so much knowledge and we just need to remember what went wrong and avoid that next time.

Now listen again.

[The recording is repeated]

Four. You will hear a girl telling a friend about her father's job.

- Boy 4: Isn't your dad an architect? Didn't he design that new cinema?
- Girl 4: Yeah. That was completely different to his usual jobs. It took him loads longer than usual – normally, it seems like no time at all. It's a gorgeous design, though – unlike those office blocks he does most of the time ... He's got this cool software. Sometimes he shows me what he's doing if he's working on a project in the evenings. You can make these models on the screen – so you know what the finished building will look like. He told me it wasn't cheap but some things are worth paying for.

Five. You will hear two friends talking about writing blogs.

- Boy 5: I read your latest blog last night.
- Girl 5: Yeah? Did you agree with what I said about footballers getting paid too much?
- Boy 5: Well, like some other people commented, it's just what the job pays.
- Girl 5: It's amazing how people think about things in such different ways. I don't always look forward to people's replies – I know I sometimes create arguments!
- Boy 5: Isn't that why we write blogs, though? Sharing what you think with everyone and finding out their views?
- Girl 5: Sure – you have to be strong and not get too upset when someone disagrees, though.

Boy 5: True.

Now listen again.

[The recording is repeated]

Six. You will hear a boy telling a friend about a journey he's going to make.

- Girl 6: So, you're off to Canada to stay with your cousins! Fantastic!
- Boy 6: I can't wait to see them – I've never been on a plane before, though. I wonder what it'll be like. I guess you get to see plenty out of the windows.
- Girl 6: Only if it isn't cloudy.

Boy 6: Well, let's hope it isn't – it'll give me something to do. All those hours just sitting there – I thought flying was meant to be fast ... Is it scary taking off?

Girl 6: Not really. Mostly, flying's just a bit boring – unless you get someone interesting sitting next to you.

Boy 6: I think I'd rather sleep than chat.

Woman: Good afternoon, my name's Angel Bright. Thanks for coming to visit Appleton Animal Park!

It's a great place to visit and now summer's here, you'll be pleased to know that you'll be able to stay here a couple of hours later. So instead of leaving at six thirty, you can stay until eight forty-five this evening. The last tour starts at seven pm, however.

87 Prepare for the exam, Student's Book page 130

Listening Part 3. For each question, write the correct answer in the gap. Write one or two words or a number or a date or a time.

You have 20 seconds to look at Part 3.

You will hear an announcement about an animal park.

Woman: Good afternoon, my name's Angel Bright. Thanks for coming to visit Appleton Animal Park!

It's a great place to visit and now summer's here, you'll be pleased to know that you'll be able to stay here a couple of hours later. So, instead of leaving at six thirty, you can stay until eight forty-five this evening. The last tour starts at seven pm, however.

At the park you can see farm animals like my personal favourites, the goats and sheep. Then there are the penguins – and also the monkeys. I've never met a visitor who doesn't like those best! They're now in a brand-new building, so do go and see them there.

There are lots of things for you to do. Many visitors want to feed the animals – we just haven't got the facilities to allow this at the moment. If you're into riding, however, you can now do this at the horse and camel field which has just opened.

And now some exciting news – a baby giraffe was born just this morning! He's very cute, so don't miss the chance to see him – he's at the top of the park, next to the dolphin pool. We're also expecting a lion later – he's coming from another wildlife park to be with our female.

After you've seen the animals, why not eat in one of our cafés? Our latest one – The Sandwich Place – serves great snacks. The Green Restaurant is situated in the forest and serves a choice of hot meals if you'd prefer that.

If you're interested, we're running a competition. You have to answer some questions from the information boards you'll find around the park – I'll give you a sheet later. Hand it in before you leave and we'll let you know who the winner is on 23rd May – it's the 19th now, so not long to wait!

 Prepare for the exam, Student's Book page 130

Listening Part 4. For each question, choose the correct answer.

You have 45 seconds to look at the questions for Part 4.

You will hear an interview with a girl called Ruth Leyton, who plays tennis.

Interviewer: I'm here with prize-winning tennis player, Ruth Leyton. Ruth, who suggested you should start playing tennis?

Ruth: Well, my mum used to take me along with my older brother – he had lessons with the club coach, Patrick, and I had to sit and watch. Ballet was my after-school activity then, and Mum wasn't keen for me to take up anything else. One day Patrick noticed I looked bored – and asked if I'd like to have a go. I loved it immediately.

Interviewer: What happened in those early years?

Ruth: Until I was about nine, tennis was just something fun I did. A friend had classes at a different club, so sometimes we practised together. Then a new coach arrived at my club, who encouraged all of us under-10s to enter competitions. I won a lot of events that year. Then, at 11, I was selected to have training at the national centre, so tennis became much more serious.

Interviewer: And you started a different kind of training, then?

Ruth: Yeah, I'd go to the centre after school every day. I expected to feel exhausted – in fact it gave me a real buzz which helped me get my schoolwork done. The lessons at the training centre were hard work – but I felt more enthusiastic than ever about the sport. The only disadvantage was not being able to spend my evenings with my family.

Interviewer: At 15 you took part in an important competition.

Ruth: Yes, against players from some of the best clubs in the country. I knew I had a chance of winning, though I wasn't upset when I didn't. Like any sport, tennis is really competitive and you mustn't give up even if you feel like it. It was a great opportunity to look at what techniques others were using, which was helpful.

Interviewer: When you were 16, you were unable to attend an international competition.

Ruth: Right – I'd broken my ankle! That sort of thing happens to everyone at some point, so I tried to be cheerful about it. It isn't like you won't recover and get back playing again. In fact, it was not getting the chance to go abroad that bothered me most!

Interviewer: What are your ambitions?

Ruth: I've accepted that I'll never be number one in the world, which is fine. Lots of people ask me whether I'd like to become a coach – it's not for me. A dream of mine which I've had since I was a kid is to be in one of those sports clothes adverts – not just to be on TV but because it encourages interest in the sport.
