A new student

My name is Amy. I'm sixteen years old. I used to live in Barford, but my family moved to Chicago in August. Barford is just a small town in the mountains – it's not as big as Chicago.

I'm a new student at Emerson High School. I've been here for three weeks. Being a new student was difficult at first, because I didn't know anyone, and I spent a lot of time by myself. On my first day, no one talked to me!

After a few days, I decided to make some new friends, so I went to Music Club. I've played the piano since I was ten years old, and I wanted to meet other students who enjoy music.

Mr. Thomson, the music teacher, is the person who organizes the club. We meet every Thursday evening after school. The auditorium is the place where we meet. You don't have to be a musician to come to Music Club – some members can't play instruments, but they come because they enjoy listening to music.

I'm not an extrovert, and I'm cautious about meeting new people. But I've been to Music Club twice, and I've already made some good friends. There are a few other clubs at the school, like Drama Club and Environment Club, but I haven't been to them yet. Actually, I might go to Drama Club this evening, but I'm not sure. I have to finish my homework first!
