Hi Molls,
How are you? Last weekend I <sup>0</sup> went to watch my football team play. Unfortunately, our players <sup>1</sup> _____ brilliant this season so far. The other team was very good and the predictions weren't good for our team. We thought: 'We won't beat them'. But when I looked up at the scoreboard near the end of the game I saw we <sup>2</sup> _____ by 20 points! I made the prediction: 'We <sup>3</sup> _____ this game.' But then, with just a few seconds left in the game, the other team scored again and won. It was bad because it means we <sup>4</sup> _____ up to the top league now – we can't change anything. <sup>5</sup> _____ (you/ever) a game like that?

Things to do in Liverpool?

Our family is going on a city break to Liverpool next month for a few days. Any advice on things to do?

Nessa365

A

I love football, and I'm a huge supporter of Liverpool F.C., so when I was there I went on an excursion to the internationally famous stadium. You can visit most parts of Anfield Stadium, then walk out and see the pitch. You can also take your photo in the best seats or your favourite player's seat in the changing room (my mum took a photo of me in Van Dijk's seat). After the tour, you can visit the stadium shop and buy a football kit with your name on the shirt! Even if you're not a football fan, it's a great day out.

I've done the stadium tour with my brother because he supports them. It was quite interesting, but I didn't like it that much. If you're a fan of entertainment, your city break to Liverpool should definitely include a visit to the home of British pop music, the Cavern Club. We went there during the day and families are welcome then, so you can all go together. It first opened in 1957, and many famous musicians have performed there. And The Beatles became famous there! From 11.15 a.m. every day you can watch bands play. Many bands play The Beatles' songs (and even look like them).
Macca

C

There are lots of things to do in Liverpool. I went there with my family last year for a week. We visited the Cavern Club and had a delicious lunch in the Cavern Restaurant. We wanted to go to the stadium for a tour but there weren't any available tours that week. We all really like walking though, and Liverpool is a great city to see on foot. We went on a brilliant walking tour. The guide wore old-fashioned clothes and entertained us while they brought the city's history to life. Highly recommended!
