

Unit 7 Test | B

Listening

- 1  Track 9 Listen to someone talking about a friendship they made and choose the correct answer.
- Who started the Talking Friends project?
 - the retirement home
 - a college
 - Alison's school
 - Alison joined the project
 - to make friends.
 - to help her find work in the future.
 - because she was bored.
 - Alison and Rosie became good mates
 - after about a year.
 - immediately.
 - after one or two weeks.
 - Alison and Rosie are friends because they
 - love telling each other stories they invent.
 - like talking about their problems.
 - enjoy spending time together and talking each other.
 - Since taking part in the project, Alison
 - has improved as a person.
 - has learnt a lot about herself.
 - has made lots of friends.

____/10

Vocabulary

- 2 Choose the correct option.
- The person you like the most is a best friend / stranger.
 - Let's get / make together at the weekend and do something fun.
 - Juan doesn't really make / spend time with his brother.
 - Maite got excited / upset yesterday because she did badly in a test.
 - I keep / have a friend who's in the hockey team at school.
 - My stepson / half-brother is my husband's child.
 - Veronica and her stepsister / half-sister both have the same mother.
 - I got / brought an email from Saanvi yesterday.
 - Do you do / have much in common with your parents?

____/8

3 Complete the words in the sentences.

- My friend Sam and I both have the same sense of humour.
- Another word for friend is m____.
- Do you get o____ with all your brothers and sisters?
- It can be difficult to k____ your old friends when you move to another city.
- What time do you usually g____ home from school?
- I often work with Dalton in class, but we never really s____ each other after school.
- Wake up and get d____! Your uniform is in the wardrobe.
- Did you m____ any new friends at the party?

____/7

Grammar

4 Choose the correct answer.

- Mrs Downing is the person ____ you need to speak to.
a where b who c which
- If we ____ many interests, we'd be friends.
a share b shared c 'd share
- Rome, ____ is the capital of Italy, is a city I'd like to visit.
a where b that c which
- What ____ if you had lots of brothers and sisters?
a would you do
b you would do c would do you
- A power bank, ____ you can buy here, is a good thing to have when you are travelling.
a which b that c where
- We wouldn't have so many arguments if we ____ on better.
a get b got c 'd get

____/5

Unit 7 Test | B

5 Complete the second sentence so that it means the same as the first one. Use no more than four words.

- 0 This is the house. My grandad lives here.
This is the house where my grandad lives.
- 1 This is the swimming pool. They made friends here last year.
This is the swimming pool _____ last year.
- 2 I don't have much time. I'm not able to finish my homework.
If I had more time, _____ to finish my homework.
- 3 Mrs Branshaw taught me English in secondary school. She retired last year.
Mrs Branshaw, _____, taught me English in secondary school.
- 4 We are good friends. We have fun together.
If we weren't good friends, _____ fun together.
- 5 My friend lives next door. She's in my class.
My friend, _____, is in my class.

____/5

Reading

6 Read the article and complete the sentences with 1–3 words in each gap.

How to stay friends after an argument

Even the best relationships are never easy. Whether it's your best friend, a classmate or even a teammate, there are always times when arguments happen. But it's important to repair the damage after arguments if you want to continue being friends. Here is some advice on how to do exactly that. Firstly, it's important to take time to calm down. When you and your best friend are fighting, things can get worse quickly. When this happens, the only way to finish the argument is to stop and leave the place where you are.

Before you speak to your mate again, think about what you both did in the argument. Remember that a fight always involves two people. So take the time to think about what the argument was about and what you said to each other. Is there anything you would change? Consider other things happening in your life - are you worrying about something else in your life? It's not an excuse, but telling your friend about your own problem might help them understand you better, too. If they had those problems, you'd want to help them too. Plan carefully how to speak to them. But don't leave it too long (no more than a few days) otherwise it will be more difficult. Wait until you feel ready to say sorry and start with something like, 'I really miss talking to you at break time.' If your friend is not ready to speak to you, then wait until they are. If you try to make things better with them again and they're not ready, you might just make it worse. If they are, then really listen to what they say and try to understand. Once they've finished, you can do something nice for them to make them feel better, like saying something nice about them. Finally, don't share any details with other people, either in person or on online. If you did it would make things much worse.

- 0 The article says that getting along with others is never easy.
- 1 You can end the argument quickly if you just _____.
- 2 The article reminds us that there are _____ people in an argument.
- 3 Don't wait longer than _____ before you speak to them.
- 4 When you stop arguing, _____ for them that they would like.
- 5 Don't give any _____ about the fight to anyone else.

____/10

Language Functions

7 Complete the dialogue with the words below. There are two extra words.

behind front in next ~~on~~ one tall to Carlos: Hi, Rachel! What are you up to?

Rachel: Hi, Carlos. I'm just looking at these photos from my brother's 18th party.

Carlos: Oh, can I see? Who's the boy ⁰ on the left?

Rachel: Which ¹ _____ do you mean?

Carlos: He's talking ² _____ the tall man.

Rachel: That's my stepbrother, Lucas. He's wearing his favourite T-shirt.

Carlos: Oh, I see. And who's that girl ³ _____ the foreground?

Rachel: That's my cousin, Marissa. She's standing ⁴ _____ my dad.

Carlos: Oh, I see. Is that your dad?

Rachel: That's right. He's ⁵ _____ to me.

____/5

Total: ____/50